SMALL SIZED JEALOUSY

Salem is Not Whining about the Census, but Will be Satisfied with her Showing.

A few of the narrow souled editors of the state are exhibiting an unworthy disposition by such squibs as the following from the McMinnville Tele-Register:

It is necessary for the newspapers of Salem, Albany and other towns whose population has been extended to twice its size to now make the cry that the enumerators have not enumerated more than one-half the people.

Now the fact is Salem's population has not been extended beyond the real facts by its newspapers, but the city and its environs are so peculiarly arranged as to make it difficult to ascertain its exact population.

Salem precinct, which was the only part of the city known to the census enumerators ten years ago, embraces only a small part of even the corporate limits, and the corporate limits embrace only a small part of what is Salem in every recognized business way.

Salem precinct reaches back from the river only three blocks, taking in the business part of the city where, as is usual, only a few people reside, while the incorporation reaches back to Ninth street, and the blocks here are 250 feet square.

That there was a great fault in the manner of districting this city for purposes of ascertaining its exact population is very apparent, but even so, when the figures are all in and they are put together in an intelligent manner a reasonably accurate estimate can be made and it will then be seen that the claims of population made by Salem newspapers are not extravagant.

Salem people have no desire to crowd over those of neighboring towns or cities. Their growth means growth and prosperity. The more live, active, thriving, growing towns in the Willamette valley the greater will be the advancement of the capital city.

BOARDING TRADE.—At the special meeting of the board of trade last night, the advisability of keeping a man at Portland for the purpose of turning immigration to Salem was pretty thoroughly discussed both pro and con, but no definite action was taken in the matter.

WILL LIVE HERE.—W. D. Fenion, who recently purchased the Col. Knight residence on Cottage street, will make his future home in Salem.

OPEN AIR CONCERT.—The Second Regiment band will this evening delight Salem music lovers by the rendition of the following program at the band stand in Willamette square, beginning at 8 o'clock.

THREE STATE HOUSE HYDRANTS.—A member of the Salem fire department approached a JOURNAL reporter this morning with the salutation: "Do you know when those state house hydrants were opened or cleaned out? I don't believe they have been opened for a year. A few weeks ago a member of the department broke two hydrants and failed to open one of them."

THE REPORT SCHOOL.—The governor was questioned about the state report school project yesterday, and said: "The other two members of the board are now away, so there is nothing doing, and will not be until the 22d inst., when the bids are to be opened. The contracts for the work will then be awarded, and the buildings at once got forward."

NO ONE CLAIMS IT.—The huge stone drawn by ticket 91 is yet unclaimed for at the grocery store of Cox & Boggs. They are becoming very uneasy but no one comes up and claims the property. The tickets were so wisely numbered that it may require some time for the holder to be heard from.

GOT HIS LIBERTY

A handsome Gordon setter which had been hatched to a rack full of canes, which stood at the entrance to a shop near First and A streets created considerable amusement for people in that vicinity yesterday. The dog was uneasy at being tied up, and flitting around for awhile finally pulled the rack over. This scared the animal, and he started off down the pavement at a lively gait, the canes flying in all directions, causing the poor beast to become more and more frightened. He dragged the rack along as if it weighed nothing, and caused pedestrians to scatter in all directions, several who were not active enough being caught by the rack, and thrown to the sidewalk. It took the owner of the rack and canes some time to get them in their original position, and he now ties his dog loose.—Oregonian.

THAT POWDER EXPLOSION

Some time ago a young lad near Chemawa had two fingers blown off while playing with blasting powder and caps, and a correspondent from Hayesville took occasion to criticize in the JOURNAL the parties who left the powder where boys could reach it. It transpires that the criticism was not deserved. The powder and caps were securely locked up in a little house and a card posted on the door warning persons of the contents. It seems the boy broke through the roof, sent a smaller lad in for the material and was enjoying a game with what they filled when the accident occurred, hence the owners of the powder are not to blame.

INJURED IN A WELL

Timothy, formerly of Eugene, has been working with a well boring gang in this neighborhood, but received a wound yesterday morning while boring on Allen Snyder's place, four miles north of the city, which will lay him up a few days. He was down in the well, from which his fellow-workmen were hoisting him in the usual way, when a slip of some kind occurred and a sharp hook caught in his body, inflicting a painful, though not serious wound. He was brought to the city in John Knight's buggy, Mrs. K. being driving there, and a physician dressed the injury. He will be all right in a few days.

BRIDGE REPAIRS

Street Commissioner Graham has been doing good work among the bridges of late. The old covered bridge leaning south, which was very shaky, is now firmly supported by new timbers 18 by 24 inches, of good sound timber, which will last until a new and improved structure is built, open bridge can be put in place of the old one. He has also put in a new beam in the Front street bridge, near the Capitol dome, and made that a solid structure. The Church street bridge on South Mill creek has been somewhat repaired, so that it is safe for travel, but it is only by means, in good condition, and it will need considerable work and material before written.

NEW SIDEWALK

Mr. Brown and Mrs. Ellis are having a cement walk laid in front of their residence on State between High and Cannon streets. It will be eight feet wide, instead of the usual six foot walks, which will make it a fine thoroughfare. This is only the beginning of a movement, suggested by the JOURNAL some time ago, and it is hoped the example thus set will be followed until State street is given a cement walk of full length to the Capitol. Then the residents along Court street will have their share, and Salem will have two of the hand-somest grandest streets in the state.

THE BLACK FLAG

Will be the play of the open house tonight, by the popular Chicago Comedy company. Last evening the sensational play, "Hidden Hand," was presented to a small but appreciative audience. The play for tonight was given Monday night to a large audience, who spoke in high praise of it and will hear it again tonight. Jas. Devlin and Miss Belle Roman are the principal characters in this fine play, and play their part in perfection. The company is a good one now, with every part well acted out.

TRAIN FIXES

Now the bare of the horse car street railway there is a curve at which great danger of overturning has existed, and several times recently the cars have jumped the track, so that the place was a terror to timid passengers, but that fear has now been dispelled. The necessary fixtures have been made so that cars make the turn smoothly and without danger.

NEWS SAID IT

The paper is not dependent for liberty.—Jefferson. The above is from an exchange. We do not believe he ever said it. Thomas Jefferson was noted for employing correct grammar.

DIEN'T GO BERRYING

If there is anything a well treated, well trained family horse doesn't like to do it is to go off with a crowd black-berrying and be compelled to stand around all day and wait for the vessels to be filled before getting back home. This fact was discovered not long since by Frank Crawford, Harry Thompson and George Ladue, who had planned to this enjoy themselves at the expense of old Snuff. Mr. Crawford's horse, who knows a thing or two himself and may be said to be "up to snuff" in all matters for his own comfort, Frank hitched him to an old cart, with a saddle bil in his mouth, put in all the pons and buckets he expected they could fill, the other two boys piled in and away they went. Old snuff shook his head and started, thinking to himself, "I'll bide my time and show 'em a little trick." It was raining a little and the boys hoisted an umbrella, which was not fairly in position when the light of their anticipated joys was "snuffed out" in short order. The pony snorted, took the bit between his teeth and away he sped. He doubled the first street corner like a streak of lightning and away went the boys like sky-rockets, performing more gyrations in the air than Barnum's best tumblers, but luckily none was hurt to any extent. The horse was captured in East Salem, but the berrying trip with "Snuff" is indefinitely postponed.

EMITTING RUNAWAY

This morning as Miss Edna Moody, accompanied by Mr. Fred Wilson, of The Dalles, son of ex-Congressman Joseph Wilson, deceased, was enjoying a ride in the phaeton behind the family horse, the animal became frightened at the electric street car at the corner of Court and Liberty streets, and ignoring the control of the reins he ran with determination to Commercial street, where he wheeled around and turned eastward again. In the short turn the breeching became caught in such a way as to annoy him so that he kicked vigorously and ran the phaeton against the high sidewalk in front of Stevens' bakery, breaking one of the shafts, while his kicking had by this time badly damaged the whole track. Here the occupants jumped out, and the animal, somewhat scared, and dazed at the time, ran back, finding himself loose from the rig he ran to the corner of Commercial street and south to the corner of State, where he was caught by the sidewalk and sent about to enter Smith & Steiner's drug store, doubtless thinking he was hurt by his experience and needed some attention. Here he was caught without trouble and was lodged without a scratch. Mr. Boney took Miss Moody home in his cab and Mr. Wilson led the fractious animal to his quarters.

SHOWING THEMSELVES

Mr. S. A. Clarke is at last dowed by the irrepressible esdlin moth. He informed a JOURNAL man this morning that while Mr. Fabritus R. Smith and himself could not find a moth in their orchards two weeks ago, now they are sufficiently plentiful to do immeasurable harm. Mr. C. will never again contend that they only hatch out in the beginning of May, as they seem liable to come at any time, when least expected and most liable to be damaging. It is very evident that Col. Varney and the horticultural commission know what they are talking about and that it will be safest to heed their advice and act upon it.

CASUS IN CHAMBERS

Judge Base was engaged yesterday afternoon hearing some cases in chambers, of which the following is a synopsis: E. Wolfard against B. A. Wolfard, divorce, decree granted and plaintiff allowed the custody of the minor children and to assume her maiden name. Adelle Holman against Walter Holman, divorce, defendant files a cross bill. Custody of child awarded to Mrs. Holman until further orders. J. B. Lucas against Jas. J. Walton, amended answer filed. George Seagle against Nancy Belle et al., an equity case, judgment in favor of plaintiff.

CHICKS NOT EXTRA

George Brunk of Ebersburg, Wash., a son of Harrison Brunk, of Ende, P.M. county, is in the city. He has been in the stock business in Eastern Washington several years and is back on a visit to the old home. He says crops to that part of Washington are not very good this year. The early warm weather in April took nearly all the snow out of the mountains and there has not been sufficient water for irrigating purposes. The sheep business is good but crop raising will be a poor start this season.

GRAND GRAND

The game of hand between the Vancouver and Salem clubs will be called at the grounds in Highland tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and will probably be the most interesting game ever played in Oregon since the Portland game. The next match, generally considered to be between the McMinnville and Salem clubs, Saturday and Sunday, July 19 and 20, the Vancouver having at last decided they would drop the long and length it remains.

FUN ON THE DIAMOND

The knights of the glass and muddler and those of the lathering brush and razor had a baseball contest at Highland grounds yesterday, in which the grog slingers came out ahead by a score of 32 to 13. Several blacksmiths told a reporter to-day they were ready at any time to meet the real estate fellows in a contest for money or marbles. There promises to be a season of great sport in this line if the trades all become interested.

SOME MISTAKE

Members of the Tiger tender team inform a JOURNAL reporter that they know nothing of a challenge having been sent to the Albany team and that there certainly must be some mistake about it, as no action of that nature has been taken by them. The same mistake of Capitals' team, so the announcement in the Albany papers must be the result of some outside talk, based upon nothing tangible.
