MORE CISTERS WANTED.

At the meeting of the board of fire delegates last night the question of more cisterns was thoroughly discussed. It was the opinion of the delegation that the county should help to maintain cisterns near the court house, as will be seen from the following resolutions, which were adopted.

A RESPONSIBLE POSITION.

The board of directors of the Salem public schools have decided to have Mrs. Grubbe devote her entire time to the various schools of the city as superintendent, and elect some one as principal of the East Salem school.

A COLLISION.

The Albany local did not reach this city last night until about ten o'clock, owing to an accident at Aurora. The local was ordered to pass the down freight at Aurora and also a pile driver. The freight stood on the main track, and a box and flat car on the side track. The signal whistle was given while the passenger train was crossing the bridge and they did not hear it, so a collision was the result.

SALEM'S BIG HOTEL.

Again the report is out that the big hotel has a name; so it has, but a JOURNAL reporter was reliably informed that Mr. Bush and Mr. Wagner were the only men in the city who knew what the name was, that would be applied to the "great elephant."

IS IT POSSIBLE?

That New Houses are Being Erected in the City for Such a Purpose as Contemplated Below?

Several complaints have reached the JOURNAL from denizens of the neighborhood that several new houses are going up in different parts of the city, that are being erected to be used for houses of ill-fame. One new house was pointed out to a reporter near Church and Ferry, that is said to be contracted to be leased in advance as a house of prostitution, and the party putting up the building is a person prominent, wealthy and quite respectable (at least has been so considered in the past).

A JOURNAL reporter was sent to look up the city plat and records and ascertain the owner of the property. The name will not be given to the public at present. Investigation was also made among the contractor and the architect who designed the house interviewed, who said:

"I know only this. I get good wages and no questions are asked. The bid I put in for the house was at a good fair figure and it was promptly accepted. I know nothing as to what the house is to be used for, but you can judge from its mate that it will not be for Sunday school purposes."

The reporter was astonished to discover that the new house referred to was built right up tight against its disreputable neighbor, regardless of all danger of fire.

The contractor who is building the house in question was seen and interviewed on the subject. He said: "I can't tell positively who is to occupy the house, but am sorry to say I think it will not go to the most respectable tenants. I am building it for a responsible party in the country." A carpenter well acquainted with the builders said: "It seems too bad to have a new building in the heart of the city rented for such purposes, especially when plenty of good tenants can be had. It looks to me like a poor speculation to let a house for illegitimate purposes when there is such a good demand for tenements. It will damage the value of the property for all time and be a detriment to all other buildings in the neighborhood."

was seen in the course of the reporter's rambles in search of information. The mayor is a difficult man to interview, but said: "As the position described is out of the fire limits, I do not see that the city has any control over the matter. I recommended the extension of the fire limits in my message to the council. Our city laws are in an unconfined chaotic state and it is hard to tell how to get at those things until we can get the ordinances out of the hands of the city attorney."

One of the aldermen was seen and he said he could give no opinion as to how to avert the evil. "It is destroying the value of property all around there for residence purposes," said the city father. "If the property owners do not get up and kick, who is to do it?"

"But they are kicking," suggested the shaver of the Barber.

"The man who is putting up the building would come to time too quick if all who own lots along there would get after him. He has the property in his wife's name, and tells everybody his wife is having the house put up. But I happen to know that he is having it done and will pocket the proceeds. The fact is such things and Chinese tenements are a curse to the whole neighborhood, and a curse to the city that tolerates it."

As the conclusion threatened to become personal and use names, the reporter was compelled to put his fingers up to his ears and withdraw. He will continue his investigations however and give JOURNAL readers the facts.

MARION SQUARE.

Street Commissioner Grubbe is having all the rubbish that has collected in Marion Square for a time unrecorded, raked up and hauled off. The work is being done with hand rakes and is a good job. In a few days all the dead trees will be sawed down and seats arranged on the stumps, which will give the square a little more attractive appearance than it has had recently.

NEW IRON.

Two car loads of iron arrived last night for the new steel bridge across the Willamette river at this place. Work will be pushed as rapidly as possible and before many weeks travel will again be carried on between Marion and Polk counties by a bridge over the Willamette.

Mrs. M. E. Wilson has just received the first new goods of the season, and can please all her customers in the new Bush block.

HONEST PEOPLE.

A gentleman, who is recently from Kansas, was heard to remark a few days ago to one of Oregon's farmers, that it was a great surprise to him that farmers could leave their grain sacked up out in the field without it being stolen. He said, "If a man should leave his grain out in the field one night, in Kansas, it would all be gone before morning. Not that the people are so dishonest, but that poverty drove them to such deeds." Farmers leave their grain out in the field all over the valley, sometimes for weeks, and it is a rare thing that a sack of grain is ever molested. Whether the people of Oregon are more honest than their friends in Kansas or that in a land of plenty the temptation is lost, it is hard to say.

STRIKE.—This epidemic seems to have reached Salem, and first attacked the men on the big bridge, about twelve of them were seized with the malady yesterday afternoon and demanded higher wages. They were promptly paid off and requested to hunt for higher wages to their satisfaction. Their places were filled this morning and everything went with its usual order. It was not learned what wages the men were paid nor how much they demanded. Nor whether their grievances are well founded or not was learned. With the building that is going on in Salem, and the prosperity that is manifest on every hand there seems but little call for a strike and something must be wrong on one side or the other.

SOMETHING NEW.—W. F. Boothby was accused this morning by a JOURNAL man, when he said that Special Agent Leland would probably be up to night and that part of the force would go to work tomorrow, and the full corps of enumerators would be in the field Monday. The work will be completed in five or six days. The people are asked not to be backward in giving the required information and if there are any persons employed about the house to inform the census man so that no one may be omitted. Doubtless the census has been talked about and published until it is getting to be a little monotonous. It is hoped the present work will be done in such a manner that nothing more need be said.

DAY AND NIGHT.

The Salem Canning Co., have increased their force of help and are now running the cannery to its fullest capacity both day and night, and are using an immense lot of valley fruit. During every hour in the day wagons are being unloaded of the products of the orchard at this establishment.

FROM THE GOLDEN GATE CITY.

C. M. Lockwood and Cooke Patton returned this morning from a three weeks' visit in California. The boys speak in the highest terms of the sights they saw in our sister state. They went down by way of the ocean, but they were unfortunate in having fine weather all the way and have nothing to relate in the experience of seasickness, which is always something to be remembered. They visited a number of the principle cities and have a great deal to tell of what they saw.

AT THE BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Mr. Staley, principal of the Capital Business college, is now in charge of the work, and may be found at the college office each day from 9 till 12 in the forenoon, from 1 till 4 in the afternoon, and from 7 till 9 in the evening. Students who expect to begin on the opening day, Monday, Sept. 8th, are requested to call and register this week. 8 25-6t

INCORPORATIONS.

The California Baking Co., of Portland, Or., bakery and confectionery, stock $6000, by F. A. Fischer and J. F. G. Haehlen, filed articles to-day.

STUDENTS COMING.

Every train now brings from two or three to a dozen students to the Willamette university, and the building which has seemed so dead for the past two months has taken on the garb of life and activity. Everything promises a large enrollment Monday morning.

PERSONAL MENTION.

L. McNary was a passenger north this afternoon.

Capt. L. S. Scott went to Mehama to-day for a few days vacation.

J. S. Hontelaus, of Waiteburg, Wash., is in the city on business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Waite started to Newport this morning to complete their summer vacation.

W. H. Bagley, traveling agent for the State Insurance company, came down from Walla Walla to-day.

Frank C. Baker, state printer, went up to Albany last night on business.

Rev. D. H. Glass, a young minister of Portland came up this morning, and will enter the Theological department of the Willamette University.

Miss Alice McCormick and Nellie Carnahan, of Astoria, passed through Salem on the 1 o'clock train on their way home from a visit in Southern Oregon.

Wm. France, his sister Minnie and Stella King of Grays Harbor, and Ella Jacks and a young lady friend of Tacoma, were among those who came up this morning to enter the university Monday.

Rev. Jas. T. Abbott, brother-in-law to Prof. VanSoy, who recently came to Salem from Indiana, went over to McMinnville this morning, where he was stationed by the M. E. conference to fill the pulpit for the coming ecclesiastical year.

Miss Eva Cox is still at Mehama, on account of the illness of her mother. She will not commence teaching at the beginning of the school year, but will probably begin later on.

Miss Jennie Skaffe, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Eugene Freyman, starts in the morning for a short stay at Long Beach on her way to Helena, Mont., where she will spend the winter before returning to her home at Dubuque, Iowa.

WAR ON THE POLES.

Cheap Tins and Placards Given the Come-down at Two-Forty Time.

A JOURNAL reporter followed an electric light man around several blocks this morning, and watched him dislodge the tin, cardboard and wooden advertising cards that are suspended from and attached to the telegraph, electric light, telephone and other poles. The man had a sharp pointed iron that he stripped off the cheap advertisements surreptitiously attached. As he ran his iron rod up the pole down he flew a shower of tin, cardboard, Dwight's Soda, quack medicine and other advertisements.

"They have no right to use our poles for any such purpose, but we cannot remove them fast enough," said the man. "We try to get them all cleaned off once a week, and as a rule they are not up over a day. It won't be long before they will be nailing them up on those nicely painted electric carline poles."

The advertisements of several enterprising merchants were ruthlessly strewn on the ground and run over by wagons.

AN ADVERTISER TALKS. The scribe on the scent for a row accosted a Commercial street dealer whose placard had been obliterated and he looked at it sorrowfully. "I was aware they were stripping them off, but I have no more to put up. I have about tired of fence advertising and all other kinds of outside lettering, that is changed, torn down or made ridiculous. Riding along the other day with my wife I found one of my store ads. nailed over a place I would not have had it appear for a good deal. A letter had been changed on the sign so that my name represented a bothersome insect, some boy's work. I am tired of it!"

This man will make the companies owning poles no more trouble.

WILL OPEN AGAIN.—The store room formerly occupied by J. W. Crawford as stove and tinware store, is being refitted up and a new floor is being put in, and every thing fixed up in good shape. In the course of two weeks, W. D. Wheeler and H. Doe will open a new meat market in it. They have bought a ten acre tract of land on the Turner road, near E. C. Cross' slaughter house and will soon have a fine slaughter yard completed there. Mr. Wheeler is well known in Salem and Mr. Doe is recently from California.
