SCHOOL ITEMS.—A reporter took a run over to the North Salem school this morning, and found that the building now being constructed fast taking the appearance of a school house. The metallic roof will almost all be on by six o'clock to-night. The carpenters began to put on the lath this morning, and every part of the work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The East Salem school had a number of new pupils on hand this morning to be registered. The building will soon have all the pupils that room can be found for. The other schools are likewise fast filling up. A number of new students entered the university this morning. County Superintendent D. W. Yoder started out this afternoon to visit the public schools. He first goes to the Southern part of the county. He will continue his work until all the schools in the county have been visited.

NO ONE HURT.—It was reported at the JOURNAL office this morning that there was some shooting going on in the neighborhood of the North Salem school house at a late hour Saturday night. A reporter went over to hunt up the affair but could not develop anything out of it more than that a party of men, as it appeared from the noise they made, were feeling hilarious from what they had seen and tasted at the fair, were only airing their lungs, that the people might know they were in the vicinity they fired a revolver several times. The people who heard them mistook it for a row in which some one was being shot. If such was the case the reporter failed to find it out and thinks the first the more probable story.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Those here who know the man read with sorrow in yesterday's Oregonian of the death of Emil Adler, the famous bridge engineer, of the firm of Hoffman, Bates & Co., who died in Portland Saturday evening. At the time of the excitement about the Granddahl pier, Mr. Adler came up and was very gentlemanly in consulting with the officers here and giving them all the required information. Mr. Adler was a native of Denmark, but received his scientific education at Zurich, Switzerland. He was only 35 years old, and died of heart disease. His best known work on this coast is the Morrison street bridge, Portland, which he designed. His death will be a sad loss to the firm.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.—B. C. Miles, of Newberg, came up to the city Saturday and was visiting with his brother, I. N. Miles, superintendent of the horse car line, when he had the misfortune to lose one of his horses Saturday night. The horse was in the barn of Dr. Minthorn, and got his head fast in the pocket of one of the new fashioned crib hay mangers and pulling back fell back and broke his neck. The horse was a fine animal. Mr. Miles hired a horse of the Oregon Land company and returned home this morning.

NOT RIGHT.—Yesterday afternoon during two or three hours there was a constant fusillade by shot gun or rifle kept up just south of University addition, barely outside the city limits, to the great annoyance and disturbance of families in that end of the city. There should be some way of stopping such unnecessary loud disturbance, if the would-be sports will not otherwise regard the feelings of their neighbors.

RICH GOLD ORE.—Joseph Brombaugh is up from Jackson county, and has some fine specimens of gold bearing quartz. He has sunk a shaft 50 feet and run a forty-foot tunnel. The specimens, when examined with a glass, show considerable free gold. He calls the mine, which is located near Gold Hill, The Helen.

IMPORTANT MEETING.—Residents and property owners in Albert's addition east of Cottage street and south of Mill street, should not forget the meeting to-night at A. W. Scott's residence corner Oak and Summer streets, at 7:30 p. m. Monday evening, Sept. 22, 1890, to discuss the advisableness of taking some action toward asking for improvements of streets, fire protection, electric light and similar rights due the taxpayers in said district.

MORE FRUIT.—Squire Farrar & Co. are buying all the fruit that comes their way, consequently have the best in market.

LAST OF THE FAIR.

Closing Events of Saturday Evening Too Late for that Issue—Everything Satisfactory.

RUNNING—1 MILE DASH.
The final regular race of the day was a 1-mile dash, purse of $200, no entrance fee. There were only three starters in the following: Bob Wade, Joe D and Jim Miller. Auction pools sold for a short time at $30 for Bob Wade and $8 for the field. There was little excitement, the general belief being that Wade would walk away with first place. A good start was made, all crossing the line in a bunch, but Bob Wade swept to the front immediately and held the place home, with Joe D hugging him closely, time 35 seconds.

SUMMARY.
W. H. Bab's Bob Wade, by Roan Dick, dam unknown, 115.
McLaughlin, 1
Hugh Smith's Joe D, by Sherman, dam unknown, 115.

FOOTRACE—500.
A matched foot race had been arranged for 50 yards, with Joe Day, a boy about 17 years old, from Gray's Harbor, and Chas. Brethwaite, of McMinnville, a great strapping fellow that could cut him, as contestants. Brethwaite had an easy victory. Bally Martin, who was in the crowd, offered to run the winner 100 yards for $100 and there was some talk of taking the bet, but the match didn't materialize.

The races closed with a half-mile dash, match race for $50 each, with Sorrel Dick, old Rye Straw and Harry Bluff as starters in that position from the pole. The great age of old Rye Straw—18 years—made the contest one of vast interest, and it was watched with as much excitement as any race of the day. The patriarch had run many a hard contest with success in the past and his admirers were legion. When the start was made and the old chap took first place a cheer went up from the grand stand which seemed to still further animate him and he held the leading position to the wire, winning the heat and the race in 52 seconds. Some say it would have been an easy matter for Harry Bluff to have won, but respect for old age kept him back.

SUMMARY.
John F Miller's g. g. Rye Straw, 18, by Doc Lindsey, dam unknown Belt 1
Jas Foster's Harry Bluff, 4, by Conner, dam unknown Jones 2
Wm Kay's Sorrel Dick, breeding unknown Holman 3
Capt. J. T. Apperson, in announcing the result of the closing event of the day and of the fair, paid an eloquent tribute to Rye Straw's past achievements and said this was probably the last time he would ever be seen in a racing coat.

WHOEVER CAN SING.—The Phil harmonic society will open up again at 8 o'clock for their vocal drills of once a week. This class affords a fine opportunity for drill in difficult anthems and cantata singing. All the singers of the city are invited to join the class. No fee is charged and all that is asked is that they attend regularly. The class meets in the conservatory rooms at the Woman's college this evening at 8 o'clock.

WHO ARE THEY?—The Oregonian's Washington correspondent says there are messages pouring into the census department from Salem declaring the census recount here a fraud. It would be interesting to know whence these dispatches emanate. Perhaps the authors would not mind having their names published.

FINE BAND.—Bobt. Scott, of Scott's Mills, Butte Creek, furnished fifty head of fat beef cattle to McCrow & Willard, the Salem market men. They were as choice a band of grain-fed beefs as has been led into this city in many a day, and this leading firm wishes the public to know that they are always on the lookout for such.

Clothes pins—three dozen for 5 cents—at Crissman's 5 and 10 cent store.

Stadio.
The undersigned will open a studio and those wishing lessons in crayon drawing, oil and water colors, will please call at Cherrington's art gallery, on or before Oct. 10th. Special inducement offered.

AGENTS WANTED.—To canvass with crayon or pictures, to take orders for enlarging photo work. Address or call, 496 Liberty.

ALL PROPERTY OWNERS.—And residents between Cottage street and O. C. R. R. track, and between Mill and Mission streets are earnestly urged to attend a meeting at west house of A. W. Scott, corner Oak and Summer streets, at 7:30 p. m. Monday evening, Sept. 22, 1890, to discuss the advisableness of taking some action toward asking for improvements of streets, fire protection, electric light and similar rights due the taxpayers in said district.

SWISS BELL RINGERS.

The advertisement of the Oakes Swiss Bell Ringers and Comedy Sketch Club will be found in this issue, and their appearance takes place at Reed's opera house next Wednesday evening the 24th. Of this company the Walls Walls Daily Journal says: "The Oakes Swiss Bell Ringers and Comedy Sketch Club performed before a large and appreciative audience at Small's opera house, Monday night, and gave entire satisfaction. This is truly a fine company, for every member is an artist, and deserve good houses wherever they put in an appearance."

SALEM PASTORAL UNION.

An Earnest Effort to Bring the Churches into a Nearer Relationship—Progressive Preachers.

Only a few ministers were present this morning at the parsonage parlors of the Baptist church, in answer to the call of the ministers for the purpose of organizing a pastors' union. The object of the union is to bring the various churches into a closer working relation. A JOURNAL representative was present this morning at their meeting and he picked up from the general drift of the talk of those present, that in their opinion there was a lack of interest in the churches to co-operate. One pastor remarked that all successful business and professional men united their efforts to promote their cause, and that the churches would never accomplish their object fully as long as they stand aloof and work with a selfish end in view, or as long as an unfriendly feeling exists between the different denominations.

It seems that other cities with a less fame for their piety and christian work have such organizations and much good is accomplished by them. By the mingling of pastors of different churches and creeds the old view that every other church was an impostor has almost completely died and such an effort is one more progressive step. By the same work in other cities ministers exchange pulpits and thereby widen their views and lessen their prejudices. The above was the summary of the argument set forth this morning. It was decided to hold another meeting in about two weeks and at that time to get a sufficient number together to perfect the organization of a Salem Pastoral Union.

OREGON AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Interview With the Capital City Member of the Board of Lady Managers.

Sunday's telegrams brought the first intelligence to the public of Oregon that they were to be represented on the national board of woman managers of the world's fair at Chicago. Interested people, who had been keeping close track of the details of the national commission's work and the act of congress under which the whole vast machinery of this stupendous enterprise is being carried on, knew that there was to be a national board of woman managers, but it was not known that the selections were to be made so soon. The matter was kept very quiet however except among aspirants and it now transpires that about one thousand Oregon ladies had been mentioned for these honors, among them the wives of Oregon's most distinguished honorables.

THE LADY APPOINTED.

The appointment of Mrs. Dr. Mary Payton was a genuine surprise, if not to that lady, at least to all her friends. A reporter of the JOURNAL sought her out this Monday morning early, for an interview, and it was graciously accorded, at her home at Mrs. Arben's house, No. 347 High street.

Mrs. Payton is a native of Baden-Baden, speaks German fluently, has been a resident of Oregon for 26 years, but had for the five years just preceding her return to Salem last winter, been traveling in Europe for pleasure and information. She said to a reporter:

"I assure you I do not wish any notoriety in this matter. I do not know what the work will be, and if there is a great deal of hard work connected with it, I do not want it. In fact, I do not know anything about it and have no idea how I came to be selected. I do know that a great many prominent ladies wanted it, and I might have been mentioned by some friend here but cannot imagine who it could have been. I am a regular old Oregonian and shall do my best to do Oregon credit if I accept the place. The official documents have not yet arrived. I have traveled a great deal and can talk Oregon with any of them. I have visited the Liverpool exposition, opened by the queen. I also attended the London Colonial world's fair last year. If I take the position I shall make it a success, if I have to employ a stenographer at my own expense. The compensation consists of mileage to and from Chicago, and $6 a day while in attendance."

Mrs. Payton asked to be excused from saying any more about it at present, until she has further time for consideration.

THAT'S WHAT.—If you have something to do in the plumbing line, and want it well done without paying a fortune for it call on Patsel & Bernardi on State street. They propose to work up their business on its merits.

WHO WILL BE SECRETARY?

Interview With J. T. Gregg as to the Future Management of the State Fair.

A reporter colluded with J. T. Gregg, secretary of the Oregon state fair, as he was taking the afternoon train for his home in Portland, and extracts the following general information:

UNSETTLED BUSINESS.
"I have left all the bills and unsettled business of this year's fair with Geo. W. Watt, at 85 State street, who has been my assistant secretary for the past six years, and who thoroughly understands all the details of the work. Bills and money will be coming in for some time yet, possibly for a month, but I think I can furnish you an approximate statement of this year's business. The exact footings cannot be made for several weeks, and the annual report of the secretary to the governor will not be submitted until Dec. 1st."

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The State Board will be held on the third Tuesday in November, when new officers are elected. "Will you be a candidate for reelection?" "I'd rather you would not be asked that question," said the modest representative of agriculture and clerical efficiency. "A good many of the board of managers have asked me not to say, as they do not like to be submerged by a host of applications, but would rather make a selection quietly and without any exciting contest over the matter."

NOT A CANDIDATE.

"Would you decline a reelection?" persisted the JOURNAL'S querist. "It is quite likely I shall not be a candidate; in fact I know I shall not be. The secretary ought to live in Salem, where the business all has to be transacted. The principal business and actual work of the fair and arranging for the exhibition must be done at Salem and the success of the fair in a large measure depends on a man being right on the ground."

A NIGHT OFF.

Only to-morrow evening and this delightful drama will be presented by the best of juvenile home talent in the city, under the efficient training of Mrs. Hazen. The young ladies and gentlemen engaged in the piece have thrown their full spirit into it and the JOURNAL risks the prediction that they will excite anything in the home talent dramatic line yet attempted. Do not fail to get a seat and give the company encouragement and appreciation. Tickets at Patton's.

IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

Sheriff E. M. Croisan brought Al and Cal Patton, of Marion, down this afternoon, when they were tried before Justice Goodell on the charge of larceny of thirty bushels of wheat from John Gentry. They were let out on bail of a $100 each. The old feud of D. M. Evans and Charles Oleman was in progress at the time of going to press. They have some half a dozen witnesses each. The case has been up a time or two before and is becoming a little stale.
