A JOKE ON A SALESMAN—Our correspondent "Polk" at Zena, under date Oct. 22, writes: "A banker of your city came out to visit friends and relatives near this place. Towards evening he concluded to go down into the fields after some China pheasants which he could hear cawing there. He struck across a small piece of timber coming to the outer edge he came across a band of dogs, they not being used to dogs. They started for the dog and it, of course, started for its master for protection. Thinking that he was more fleet of foot he struck out and ran for dear life for a few rods about one hundred yards away, the dog coming up close to him. The dog left his master and struck out for the house. Mr. Banker being between the dog and the dogs, the latter being better runners, came up and were about to take Mr. Banker down, and he will about 9 yards from the fence. A large China pheasant jumped up on the fence about this time and yelled out, give it to him, give it to him. Someone who happened to be plowing near heard the noise of the dogs and pheasant, and Mr. Banker's call for help, dropped their lines and rescued him from the now thoroughly maddened dogs, while the poor money man would have sold his notes and accounts at a large discount, could be by so doing, have been back in the parlor which he so recently left. He will not likely forget his experience very soon."

FINE HALL AND ORCHESTRA—Those who attend the ball to be given by the Salem City Band this evening and who have not kept informed as to the improvements being made by this organization, will be delightfully surprised both in the furnishings and in the music to be supplied. To their fine collection of musical instruments they have now added a beautiful cherry case Colby piano from the store of P. H. Easton at a cost of nearly $500, which will enable their accomplished pianist, Miss Pearl Scott, to eclipse herself in giving out sweet strains. This makes some thousand dollars invested by the band in making their hall complete. The orchestra for dance music is composed of Frank Haas and Walter Warren, cornets; Mr. Newell, clarinet; Carl Deuston, violin; Prof. Chas. de Felice, piccolo, and director; Miss Pearl Scott, pianist. There will be no need to send to large cities for an orchestra so long as this remains in existence. It is the intention of the band to give a ball every Friday evening during the winter, limiting tickets to the accommodations of the hall. The back rooms are to be fitted up for reading rooms, open to members during the day. The membership of the band is now limited to 25 and the initiation fee is placed at $10. A handsome Hibbard charter has been ordered which, when signed, will hang in the place of honor. This organization is certainly blessed with a basis for a successful future.

AT HIS OLD HOME—The following is from the Salina (Kansas) Sun, a copy of which has been received by a friend in this city, and shows that the Captain is doing good work for the land of his adoption: "Captain W. W. Bartlett, who was sheriff of this county in 1886 and 1887, returned to Salina this week from Salem, Oregon, where he has been engaged in the real estate business, and will remain with us and his family through the winter. He went out there about a year ago and has prospered reasonably well. The Captain thinks Oregon an immense country, and will return in the spring, intending to make it his home. He brought with him excellent specimens of wheat, oats, buckwheat and potatoes. One sample of wheat yielded forty-two bushels to the acre, which he says is his average—not quite so good for four as Kansas wheat but fine. He says the Alliance is an unknown organization in Oregon."

A RELIC—At the Singer Machine Co's office is a relic in the shape of one of the old original Howe Sewing Machines, about forty years old. The power was given by crank motion, turned by hand, and transmitted by cog gears. It is an interesting relic of the progress made in the manufacture of sewing machines with a pinhead and an elegant Singer of the newest pattern.

CHAMPION CONTRACTOR: "I am not saying but I would buy up the county's engineer and get him into my camp if I could." COUNTY COMMISSIONERS: "What can we do to save it and make it substantial?" CONTRACTORS: "We think if you cut it down and put some in a pier on top, then we can tell better what to do next." COMMISSIONERS: "What will this cost?" CONTRACTORS: "We don't know; not more than $10,000 or $15,000, probably. We are here to build up or blast down anything you want, so you pay for it. We are not here for our health."

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR MEETING.

The meeting of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar at Albany yesterday and last evening was a grand success, from the account contained in today's Herald. Each Temple Commandery represented reported marked progress and increase of members during the past year. Among the officers chosen for the coming year is Capt. F. J. Stabcock, county clerk of this county, who was re-elected rector. Following is a complete list: F. N. Shurtlett, E. G. C. D. P. Mason, D. G. C. S. M. Moran, G. J. M. Hodson, C. G. J. W. Pratt, Prel.; R. E. Lippincott, S. W. G. E. Chamberlain, J. W. B. G. Whitehouse, Pres.; F. J. Babcock, Rec. A grand banquet, concert and ball filled up the pleasures of the evening and night. Among those present from Salem the Herald reports F. J. Babcock, E. B. McElroy, P. H. D'Arcy and others. Dr. J. M. Keene was also among those who enjoyed the ball.

THE MENDELSSOHN.

Last evening the music loving people had a rare musical treat in the entertainment given by the Mendelssohn Quintette club; but alas, the turnout was extremely small. It seems to be the misfortune of Salem people to miss the best things that come to us. The program last evening consisted of a high order of music, and was masterfully executed. The violin, cello, flute and clarinet were in the hands of superior artists, each of whom held the audience spellbound with his part. The prima donna, Miss Marie Barnard, has a beautiful clear and well cultivated voice and at the same time lacks those disagreeable affectations so common to many members of her profession. If the Mendelssohn return to Salem at some future time, the JOURNAL speaks for them a larger if not more appreciative audience.

OREGON PACIFIC OFFICIALS.

The Albany Herald says. One of the directors of the Oregon Pacific railroad was seen by a Herald reporter yesterday. He stated that a meeting of the board of directors was held at Corvallis Monday, at which no business of public interest was transacted. Col. T. E. Hogg, president of the road, returned yesterday from a trip to Eugene and went to Corvallis. He will visit Albany in a day or two and will remain here several days before returning to New York City. The affairs of the Oregon Pacific Co., as near as can be learned, are in a most satisfactory condition, and the work of pushing the road eastward will not be much longer delayed.

THE BUILDING CENTER.

The Albany Democrat acknowledges that Salem is the "building center of the state." This is a just and correct recognition of Salem's enterprise in the matter of building the past two years. There is no doubt that there have been more business blocks, manufacturing buildings and residences built here in that time than in half of the other towns and cities of the valley combined, and this is not detracting from the advancement made by the other towns either, as the progress of Salem has been the marvel of all observers. Now the Democrat will more than likely claim this is a perversion of the intent of its language, but it is the only natural deduction just the same.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

A Farmers' Institute will be held at Junction City Friday and Saturday, November 7th and 8th, under the auspices of the State Agricultural college. Among Saturday evening exercises will be a paper on "Mixed Husbandry," by Hon. Robert Glou, member of the state railroad commission, and an address by Hon. T. T. Geer, member of the legislature from this county. Mr. Glou and Mr. Geer are both practical farmers. Other prominent farmers of the state and professors of the Agricultural college will read papers and deliver addresses.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

There is to be a meeting to-night at 9 o'clock of the stockholders of the Capital City Railway company on important business.

ENGINEER LEDERLE'S VIEW.

The Journal's Position Fully Sustained.

BLASTING THE PIER.

Geo. Lederle Won't Stake His Reputation on a False Foundation.

Work is in progress this afternoon blasting off the top of the big pier of the Salem bridge. Groudhah came up this morning and Commissioners Watson and Grimm are here also. The plan now is to take the top of the pier off down to within seven feet of low water mark and erect cylinder piers on the old base. Holes will be drilled in the concrete to give them as firm a footing as possible. They will be then filled with concrete and the great steel bridge must rest on this combination for support.

Geo. Lederle, engineer at Van Couver, has answered the report of Engineer Homan, who was here with the diver and examined the base of the pier. He says to make the bridge absolutely safe, the whole thing should be taken down and start on a new foundation. While the system now being adopted may support the bridge, he has too much at stake to say that it will stand. He concluded by saying that if it was a railroad bridge he might recommend it. The commissioners were in session until late this afternoon with Engineer Groudhah looking over plans for cylinder piers. Leo Hoffman and the contractor's engineer were also at the court house during the session.

THE VERY LATEST.

The only communication received from Engineer Lederle is in the shape of a telegram received this forenoon in which he says that even should the pier be cut down to high water mark, it will not, in the condition reported by the diver and Engineer Homan, support the weight to be placed upon it, and that the only proper way to proceed would be to blast it out from the bottom.

This dispatch was not in the hands of the commissioners when applied to, it having been referred to Engineer Groudhah, but that is the substance as given by the county clerk.

Engineer Lederle's view is the one expected by all citizens with whom the JOURNAL men have talked and will be received with hearty approval.

The county court is now in a more quagmire than ever and a dispatch has been wired to the members of the Polk county court to be here to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Till then this is all that can be known.

MARRIED.

ELLIS-BRIDLE—At the residence of the bride's parents in Polk county, Wednesday, October 23, 1890, Mr. H. J. Ellis and Miss Sarah E. Bridle, Rev. Fulton officiating. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the bride's home within three miles of Dallas, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Miss Bridle is the daughter of a prosperous and highly respected farmer of Polk county and is spoken of by those who know her as a lady of sweet disposition, fine accomplishments and endearing qualities throughout. Mr. Ellis is a partner in the livery business of Ellis & Whitley, this city, and is a man whose friends are only circumscribed in number by his acquaintance. He formerly resided in Dallas and is well known all over this part of the valley. "Jap" is a good business man, enjoying a prosperous trade and will now be presented earnest wishes for a long life of happiness in his new relation.

PROBABLE CONSOLIDATION.

Messrs. Porter and Watson, representing the Chicago syndicate that has purchased the Salem Street Railway (horse-car) system, this afternoon met with the directors of the Capital City Railway (electric) company and made overtures for the purchase of that system to be incorporated with and become a part of the system they now own. It being a matter hitherto unthought of by the electric company, a decision could not be reached forth with, or without a full consultation with all parties interested. It is expected that this will be done within a few days and a conclusion arrived at. Messrs. Porter and Watson made the JOURNAL office a most agreeable call this afternoon and expressed themselves well pleased with the city and its prospects. They said that Chicago had plenty of money for which she is seeking fields of investment, and when a city as prosperous and with as bright a future as Salem is found, there capital is planted liberally and without fear of loss. It is the intention of the company these gentlemen represent to turn the horse-car line into an electric line in the very near future and also to increase the system to perhaps twice its present length. Messrs. Porter and Watson start this evening by the overland on their return to Chicago, going by way of San Francisco. They expect to hear from the electric company about the time they get home. Those citizens who have spoken on the subject, think the consolidation would be a good thing and would result in even a better service than under separate control.

STILL THEY COME.

Miss Effie Taylor and Louis Haack were granted a license to-day allowing them to commit matrimony. The clerk has issued as many marriage licenses this month as there has been legal work days, and one additional, and still there are others to come.

TWO MORE CAGED.

Deputy Sheriff Misenor came up from Portland last night with G. W. Miller and J. J. Johnson, each sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for larceny in a dwelling.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

The extension of the Electric car line track on State street is about three to four inches below the horse car line track. The necessity for this difference in levels, where the tracks are side by side, is not easily accounted for, and suggests that either the old track was too high, the new track too low, or the public authorities are negligent in allowing the tracks to go down in such an unsightly manner. If the Electric is putting its track where it should be the grade of the other line is wrong. If the Electric track is lower than it should be it has not kept its agreements with the city. The JOURNAL favors a liberal policy toward street railways, but will always urge that public streets should be left in good slightly condition. Whoever is responsible, this should be remedied.

DITCHER.

The driver on the early 6 o'clock car for the fair grounds had the misfortune to have his horse ditched in the fog this morning. The animal shied at a new covered platform the company has been building, with the result of landing on his spinal column quicker than one could say "sit," tho' that was not exactly what the driver said.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL.

Rev. C. E. Cline returned home from Portland last evening. A. E. Strang came in from a business trip to Albany this afternoon. Ex-Gov. S. F. Chadwick was a Portland passenger this morning. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Waite will entertain a few friends at cards this evening. J. W. Hamilton, a young attorney of Roseburg, is in the city on legal business. Hon. Tilton Ford returned this afternoon from a trip to Albany on legal business. Miss Ethel Cusick returned to-day from Albany, where she has been visiting relatives. Hon. F. X. Mathieu, of Butteville, was in the city over night, as cheerful as ever. Sheriff Croisan came home this afternoon from Albany, where he has been on official business. Mrs. W. G. Westcott, who has been visiting relatives at Chico, Cal., arrived home this morning. The JOURNAL should have said Rev. N. D. Aire instead of Rev. C. E. Cline as the officiating clergyman in the marriage of R. D. Teter. C. A. Schilfede, who has been here and in Portland on business a few weeks, returned to Roseburg last night. Dr. Herbert W. Carlwell, of Portland, was in the city over night, visiting his old friend, Dr. J. M. Keene. H. A. Thomas is having some terra-cotta and otherwise beautifying his hands residence property on the corner of Winter and Mill streets. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hunt and daughter came home on the morning overland. Mr. Hunt is quite ill and is now confined to his bed under a doctor's care. A. O. Condit, of Salem, J. R. Lesterman, of Washburn, and A. R. Battolphi of Lane county were appointed notaries public by the governor to-day. Patrick Foley, who has been working in the Albany woolen mill, came home sick this afternoon. He went to work too soon after his severe spell of fever a few weeks ago. C. W. Scriber starts to-morrow morning for La Grande and other points in Eastern Oregon. Jeff will accompany his father as far as La Grande where he has a position in a bank.
