The Spanish have a proverb demanded opplignose—"too much is dangerous." "If brevily is the soul of wit," this means a great deal. Excesses and other imprudences in eating and drinking are productive of one tremendous evil—the progenitor of many others and these are among the follies to which this pithy saying has direct application. The evil to which we allude is indigention to the relief and cure of which Houtster's Momand Hitters has contributed more than any medicine which science has given to the American people. Quaker brick machines, each of which will turn out from 20,000 to 25,000 per day, while the water, which is an important factor in a brick yard, is supplied by a wheel from Mill creek, thus saving an immense amount of labor. The boys have just discovered a large vein of the choicest clay for tile right on beir own ground adjoining the yard, and with the present big demand for that article in view, they seriously contemplate putting in tile machinery in the spring. This would require a largely increased force of men, and should be encourged. This firm has employed on n average twenty men all summer, which is no small item in the wage roll of our city. They are men who understand their business, and are rapidly building up in it. They look for a heavy demand for brick next year, and propose to be prepared to meet it with the best article in the market and at prices to compete with the world.
