THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

HOFER BROTHERS, Editors.

PUBLISHED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY, BY THE Capital Journal Publishing Company. (Incorporated.) Office, Commercial Street, in F. O. Building entered at the postoffice at Salem, Or., as second-class matter.

TO SUBSCRIBERS OF THE WEEKLY JOURNAL.

The subscription list of the WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL has been increased by over 100 names the past week. The circulation of the weekly has been steadily gaining during all of this year, and its popularity shall not wane unless our efforts to make it a fair, clean and reliable paper for the people shall utterly fail.

A number of improvements in the WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL are contemplated. In a few weeks the large size of the page will be reduced to more convenient dimensions, and about fifty per cent. more reading matter will be added. This will be done by inserting two pages additional, making it a six page paper. A regular agricultural and horticultural department will be maintained and some of the best writers in the state will be secured as contributors. The necessity for the development of farm, orchard and garden will be fully recognized.

We shall appreciate a continuance of the good will that has been shown toward the WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL, and shall spare no efforts to make it the best paper for the month in Oregon. A popular paper, widely read, safely and consistently edited in the interest of the people, should have a large circulation and we appeal to all friends of such a paper to continue their subscriptions and aid in extending its circulation. See prospectus which will be issued.

A mailing machine has been added to the JOURNAL equipment and all names of subscribers are now set up in type and, with date to which each subscription is paid, are printed on a label on each paper mailed. By looking at the slip you can see how much you are in arrears. All subscriptions in arrears must be computed at $1.50 a year, but if you will remit all back subscription dues up to January 1st, 1891, and for the year 1891 in advance, we will receive subscriptions for the whole period covered by these terms at the rate of $1 a year. This offer is only good however if taken advantage of by you without our having to send a dunt or without our collector having to call on you. If you wish to pay up and discontinue the paper please remit for all arrears at the rate of $1.50 per year, as these are the terms printed upon the paper.

If you are in need of other papers along with the JOURNAL please make your wants known, and we shall give our subscribers the benefit of the lowest club rates for any other publication. Address, Publishers JOURNAL, Salem, Oregon. Subscribers who come to Salem will be welcome to call at the JOURNAL office next door to the postoffice, and settle their accounts, or leave orders for other papers.

RESULT OF UNWISDOM. The papers of Eastern Oregon begin to see the evil results of the fraudulent advertising conducted by Portland real estate sharks. The Baker City Revielle under the heading "Words of Wisdom" says: "The following from the Dalles Times-Mountaineer contains several grains of common sense: 'We have always been averse to the methods of advertising places that have no natural facilities, and believe it works to the disadvantage of the places of merit. For this reason the Times-Mountaineer will lend no aid to the advertising rocks and sand-hills, which nature has never designed to be sites for cities, and do not possess any of the elements of development and prosperity. It is an outrage against the principles of Christian honesty to deceive people and induce them to invest their means where there is no hope of receiving interest on their money or to many instances the first price. Such real estate dealers 'blossoming' sterile desert lands, with no commercial advantages, have injured the north west more than any one thing, and it is time the press of this state acted conscientiously with the people and warned them against these money sharks, who care for nothing except increasing their own ill-gotten gains.'

It is a fact, and no longer a theory, that confronts the Portlanders—what can be shipped from Puget sound, safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned, and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and then the money power of the country will prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people, until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the Republic is destroyed. I feel that at this time more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before exists in the midst of the war. God grant that my fears may prove groundless.

The prophecy has been working through 25 years toward its ultimate fulfillment. When anyone considers the numbers of millionaires in this country, and the numbers of five, ten and even one-hundred and three-hundred millionaires, can be challenged in 1890 the truth of what Lincoln said in 1865, looking forward to the future?

The Keystone state dropped out of the republican party this year but it will be in place all right again another year.

The editor of the Woodburn Independent has been writing some very interesting letters to his paper describing the Sound country and otter.

No one but the funny man, Peck, who is also a pioneer and an old soldier, and intensely popular personality, could have accomplished the result in Wisconsin going democratic.

The papers of the state are copying the very worst statements General Varney had published about the Salem nurseries, but are careful to not print his bungling attempt at a retrial.

Geo. W. Peck, mayor of Milwaukee, now governor elect of Wisconsin, is not at heart a democrat. He will have to open his message to the legislature with an apology for being so little of a democrat in so strongly a democratic state.

The Oregonian no longer rules alone in Oregon. There is a Pharoah risen in this state that knows not the Portland Joseph. The press of the whole state is organized and is a power in the land for good. The Nebelium Journal says: If the Oregon papers stand together for a good showing at the World's Fair as well as they did in kicking for a recount, the Webfoot state will be well up in the front ranks at Chicago's big picnic.

The Chicago Herald asks the following question: "Two Polk county, Iowa, widowers had each a grown daughter, and each took the other's daughter as his second wife. Through these marriages children were born to each. These children now reside in Polk county. What was the relationship between the two men and their wives, and in what relationship did the children stand to each other and to the old folks? The old farmers were father-in-laws to each other and also sons-in-laws to each other."

In his late tribute to Philadelphia to Walt Whitman, Robert G. Ingersoll uttered an exquisite passage on the hope of immortality, and one which indicates that however short his star of hope shines undimmed. Mr. Ingersoll quoted a line from Whitman, in which death is spoken of as a disappearance in the darkness, and said: "And is this all? Will the forthgoer be lost, and forever? Is death the end? Over the grave beds Love's sobbing, and by her side stands Hope and whispers: 'We shall meet again. Before all life is death, and after all death is life. The falling leaf, touched with the beetle's flash, that testifies of autumn's death is, in a subtler sense, a prophecy of spring.'

PRESS OPINIONS.

Dayton Herald: While Marion and Polk are discussing the proper way to build a bridge pier, Portland and Vancouver are having bridges built, and Albany is getting a "good ready" to build one, and Oregon City is enjoying the blessings of a substantial suspension bridge.

Baker City Revielle: British capital is being invested in large iron concerns in Ohio in enormous amounts. If British capital continues to be invested in this country we may soon expect to have a law across petitioned to pass a law to keep it out. This would be consistent with the protective legislation now enjoyed and looked upon as a blessing.

have about half the crop on their vines left. If the people at the towns north of here knew how rare a quality of table grapes is grown in this county they would call for enough of them to clean out the vineyards in short order. The grapes from the vineyards down the valley have been selling at 50 cents a box. For table grapes they are finer than the best varieties grown in California, to the taste of most people, but where they are not known they will not sell half so readily as the more showy varieties from the "Golden State."

No one except a cheerful Christian can grub heavy stamps and keep sweet tempered enough to whistle and quite selections from Longfellow and Whittier while the work is going on. This is what an old gentleman does who has been working near the depot lately, and he says the poetry helps very materially. Now this may be what the Chinese grubbers are getting off when they all break into a jubber which amounts so much like the conversation going on between a flock of geese flying over head. Who knows?—Newberg Graphic.

Probably there never was a man who could run a paper to suit everybody more than a day at a time.—Jefferson Review.

City ordinances would look better in the columns of the Review than they do posted on fences and buildings. The city council should remember that all cities use their newspapers as a legal medium for official advertising.—Jefferson Review.

Roseburg Review, dem: The bill to be introduced in the legislature by the committee on taxation which recently assembled at Salem with the McKinley bill as means of enriching the rich at the expense of the poor. Among other methods it proposes to tax certain corporations upon their net earnings. It will be remembered that Oregon City locks were to pay a certain percentage upon their earnings. Not one cent has ever found its way from the corporations into the state treasury. Further the bill repeals the mortgage tax law. It is time for the people to wake up! There is to be an organized effort by capitalists to secure the passage of a tax bill in their interest. As the legislature is now republican, and the leaders of that party have made an unholy alliance with monopolists, the people may expect the worst.

Out of 185 barbers in Portland 108 signed a petition to be presented to the next legislature asking for a law to close all shops on Sunday. Twenty-seven refused to sign the petition. In Astoria and East Portland it was signed by every one. In Astoria it was signed by 15, only one declined. The barbers' union, of Portland, will send circulars all over the state, and secure the signatures of a majority of the craft. This is a good move on the part of the barbers. Leaving out the moral view of the subject (we believe every good citizen should observe the Sabbath) the barbers are deserving, and should have a day of rest, as should all mankind—not excepting women, who often find Sunday the busiest day in the week, because of cooking and preparing big dinners on that day.—Dayton Herald.

Cor. to Washington Democrat: The exemption of indebtedness is a fraud, a delusion, and an incentive to crime. If our correspondent has any doubt of this he should converse with the county Judge of Multnomah county, and he would soon be convinced that this exemption is a bonanza for the rich and a curse to the honest man of moderate means. It will be fought for in the next legislature by the bankers and rich men of the city of Portland, using as their tools such honest farmers as their friend at Buxton. If there was no exemption of indebtedness the tax rate would be so low that it would be an invitation to immigration. It would do more to settle up the hills in our friend's neighborhood than a million spent in exhibiting our products at the Chicago exposition; and if, in addition to this, it was a penitentiary offense for an assessor to assess property at less than its true cash value, Oregon would in a few years outstrip her northern neighbor and take her proper place at the head of the procession.
