ABSOLUTELY PURE

Mortgage and Labor.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—It appears that our law makers have not been able to make any assessment laws that will give satisfaction nor can they, while our present monetary laws prevail. The money of a nation is the basis of its laws; if that be unjust and changeable, the law that is enacted to enforce it must partake of the nature of the case. Men will readily perceive that the law is wrong, but may not be able to show where the trouble is. I will as briefly as possible, show where the trouble lies.

The average increase of the wealth of our nation is supposed to be three per cent. per annum. That, is three per cent. is the most that the aggregate labor can produce above the cost of keeping itself. Hence we may conclude, that if any kind of labor or property add, or could add to its income its proportion of income its proportion of the total gain, each and every kind of property could be of the same value. This would in fact be the result of the three per cent. gain from labor was made the basis of our laws, and its provisions were enforced. Unfortunately for us this is not the basis of our laws; but instead, we have made six, seven and ten per cent. the base and have permitted a variation of from six to 20 per cent. From this I will endeavor to show why our assessment laws do not give satisfaction.

The lowest legal rate of interest in any state in the Union is six per cent. The per cent allowed by law on money is the basis of contracts, and the laws of the country are for the purpose of enforcing contracts. The per cent is also the value of the money and by it we measure the value of all other property; and here I wish to say, that I think most men wish to be just, and would be if they knew how to determine what was just and right.

In order to show wherein the law was at fault, I must call attention to the powers of the different per cents to accumulate, three per cent being the extent of the power of labor to accumulate; six per cent, we will say, is the basis of contract. From this we will be able to see where a part of the trouble is. To illustrate we will loan $100 at 3 per cent per year and we shall get $3 for its use. We now loan the $3 the ensuing year at 3 per cent and we get 9 cents for its use. We now loan the $100 one year at 6 per cent and we get $6 for its use, again we loan the $6 at 6 per cent and get 36 cents for its use, just four times nine. From this we can see that the basis of our laws are unjust, for it demands of the producer just four times as much for the use of capital as can be gained by its use. If the interest on money was fixed and kept at 3 per cent it would then have no greater power to accumulate than labor, but if it rises from 6 to 12 per cent it will then accumulate sixteen times faster than labor.

Property is assessed very much as if it were so many dollars set apart to the credit of each individual, that had a fixed value that could not be changed while the fact is, that the power of money is so great that it makes the basis of our wealth, that is, our farms, almost worthless, and makes it impossible for any considerable portion of our laborers to rise above the condition from which they started. It also accounts for the mortgaged and dilapidated condition of our farms.

The idea of assessing property at what it may have cost the owner, as being equitable could not be entertained for a moment by a man that understands the nature and quality of money. FARMER.

A Telegraph to the Brain

From the stomach is the great sympathetic nerve in the epigastrium. Let digestion become seriously disordered, and that disorder is sure to find a reflection in sympt ms which resemble nervousness upon the organ of thought. Insomnia, a restless, cumbrous depression and anxiety, are all manifestations of dyspepsia. The best means of removing and restoring true quality to brain and stomach, and of regulating it may be added, bilious secretion, is to take a wine glass of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before meals during the day and before retiring. This comprehensive red cross is the directions of countless bodily well being has begun with it. Constipation, sick headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and malarial complaints are among the troubles in which the bitters is speedy and thoroughly beneficial. Don't delay, but take the sure course at once.

Children Saved from Severe Sickness.

Dr. Holden: I notice by the papers that you are placing your valuable Ethereal Cough syrup before the public. It is a charitable act. I have used it in my family for many years, to my satisfaction. I believe the use of it in time, to my children has saved them from sickness. H. H. Lane. Large size $1.00 small 50 cents. For sale by all Druggist.

THE OLDEST PIONEER.—Mrs Eliza Warren, a daughter of Rev. H. H. Spaulding, claims to be not only the first born white child in Oregon but also the first west of the Rocky mountains, having been born in the year 1837, was present at the Whitman massacre in Eastern Oregon, and was taken prisoner at that time by the Indians, and at present lives on a farm two and one-half miles east of Brownsville. The story of woe which she gives of the awful massacre is heart rending in the extreme. She was only a young girl at the time and her fate would have been similar to that of many others, but she was left on the ground as dead by the blood thirsty redskins. Her escape from the fort had all the trials and horrors of war times in the pioneer days. Of those who witnessed that human slaughter but few now remain to tell the story.

SONS OF VETERANS.—Sumpter Camp, S. of V. will hold their annual election of officers on next Monday evening, Dec. 8th. all members are requested to be present. S. E. HOWARD, Sergt. 12-4-3t
