Mr Ross will whistle a bird solo and to all who have heard him this is a sufficient inducement to go. Get your seats at Dearborn's. The admission is fifty cents.

ANTHRACITE COAL.-Grant Truilinger returned vesterday afternoon investigate the coal discovery renear Newburg, mention of which was made in the Astorian several days ago. Mr. Trullinger brought down with him a "grip" sack full of the black diamonds taken from a seam which was uncovered twelve feet below the surface. A drill sunk twenty feet further brought up more coal, and it was decided to go to work on the mine at once. Pros pecting is to be done away with and a shaft will be sunk to bedrock immediately.-Astorian.
