STILL AT WORK.—The railroad commission are still at work on the report to the next session of legisla ture. The report will be complete and will furnish some recommendations. They will also make a report to Manager Kohler, of the Southern Pacific, with regard to the re sult of their recent tour of the road examining the trestles and bridges on that part of the road which lies in their jurisdiction.

RETURNED TO MEET JUSTICE.—E. W. Odie, police officer at Port land, came up to Salem yesterday afternoon and took Emmitt How ard and Fred Williams back to that city to answer for the crime of lar ceny. The crime was committed on last Sunday night. They broke into the office of H. Wise, the pawn broker, and secured several watches, revolvers and other articles. They then came to this city, where they were detected and lodged in jail by Marshal Ross. Some of the articles were found when the arrest was made and others had been pawned here in this city, while one or two watches are yet unaccounted for. Howard is said to be a tough char acter.

ACTIVITY AT THE PAPER MILLS.—The Crown paper mill turns out daily four tons of excellent straw paper, for which there is constant demand in Portland and San Fran cisco. The machinery runs as slick as a whistle. When the fractional parts of the machinery yet lacking arrive from the East, the manu facture of straw board will begin, which will increase the output of the mill to twelve tons daily, and make it a money-making establish ment of the first order. The build ing of the paper mill of the W. P. & P. Co. is about completed. Twelve iron cylinders, four feet in diameter and six feet in length, and other parts of the machinery for making paper are now under its roof.—Ore gon City Courier.

DEDICATION.—The Methodist Episcopal church will be opened for service next Sunday and dedicated to God. Rev. Alfred Kummer, D. D., is to preach at 11 o'clock a. m. Dr. Kummer is pastor of Taylor street church, Portland, and is well known as a preacher and lecturer. In the evening Rev. C. C. Stratton, D. D., is announced to preach. Nearly 30 years ago he was sta tioned in this city. Dr. Stratton was president of the University of the Pacific for ten years, and at present is chancellor of Willamette University.—Oregon City Courier.

SCHOOL VACATION.—School was dismissed at the University at 5 o'clock this afternoon not to take up again until January 5, 1891. This gives a vacation of two full weeks. Many of the students will go to their respective homes to spend Christ mas and New Year, while a few who live at a greater distance, will remain in Salem and share the Christmas pleasures with the people here.

ROBBERY AT MEAT MARKET.—Some unknown parties broke into the meat market of McCrow & Wil lard, on Commercial street, Wednes day night and obtained some $9.30 by breaking open the register with the meat cleaver. The robbers effected an entrance by cutting a hole in the screen in the back door. The matter was kept quiet Thurs day in the hope that the robbers might be detected, but such was not the result.

PRIZE COMMENTS.—"The enter tainment given by Miss Griffin at the Presbyterian church last night, was in the highest degree meritori ous. The pretty little lady capti vated every heart in the audience before she had spoken a half dozen lines. Her powers of mimicry are truly wonderful, while her quaint ways and pure, sweet voice are very taking with her hearers." Miss Griffin will appear at the University tomorrow night in some of her most fascinating readings.

HAVOC AMONG TELEPHONES.—A sad accident for the telephones oc curred in this city yesterday. Rep airs were being made on several of the different lines of wires which net the city when somewhere along the electric car line a wire was al lowed to come in contact with the wire of that road. The result was most disastrous to the telephones as thirty-three were burnt out. The connection between the different parts of the city have been shut off to-day in consequence of the accident. A man was sent for from Portland to come and make the repairs at once. Such an oc currence as that must be expected in a city like Salem. A few years ago when there were but few wires in the city accidents of the kind were rare, but since Salem is assuming the dignity of a metropolis there is not so much room for care ness, though some one doubtless was careless in this case. It is not yet learned who was to blame for the accident.

AT THE RIVER FRONT.—A JOUR NAL reporter went down to the river this morning to see if the river had begun to make any indications al lowing boats to come to this city. Little encouragement was given there. The river, so said the cap tain of the steam ferry, is out about six or eight inches higher than during the lowest stage of the pas summer and fall. The rains have not been sufficient to have much effect on the water in the river. The ground was so dry that it is hardly yet well soaked, and small stream which are the feeders to the Willa mette are not yet well filled. A few more days of rain will start these small streams and then the river will begin to change her color from a dark blue to a dusky yellow. At the best it will be along in January, very likely, before any boats can come to this city.

DOUBTFUL RUMOR.—The rumor is current in this city of another reason for having the Willamette uni versity moved to Portland, though the rumors are not very probable and are doubtless all assumed. The rumor has it that some of the heirs of the donor of the lands of the University sustained by some of the Portland members of the board of trustees, are figuring largely in this scheme in order that they may out step the legality of the school hold ing the lands. These lands are now very valuable and doubtless the heirs would like to own them, and if there was the least hope of ob taining them, might constrain them to undertake such a scheme. Some of the heirs now live in Portland, and possibly would like to see the school there. What there may be in such rumors, to one can say. Though doubtless they are ill founded.

Lovely Tea Set.—Sroat & Gile's. WORK STOPPED.—Work on the bridge was stopped yesterday at noon, on account of the wind. The strong south wind, which has pre vailed for the past two days, has made it dangerous for the men to work on that high structure. The bridge catches the full force of the wind, which comes sweeping down the river and is sheered off by strik ing the city, which gives the bridge the force of the double current.

A CLOSE CALL.—A workman had a close call at the bridge Wednesday. He was walking on top of the high frame work on one of the iron beams when his foot slipped from under him and he fell on his back on the beam, which is something like a hundred feet above the water and thirty feet above the floor of the bridge. It seemed almost miracu lous how he could have caught on the way he did. When he fell he himself thought the end had come.

Beautiful Staud Lamps.—Sroat & Gile's. THE THIEF OVERTAKEN.—The merchant who entered the residence of C. A. Kinkel at Tangent, and carried away a lot of clothing, and other articles, besides a small amount of money, was caught at Harrisburg and brought to this city.—Albany Herald.

THIRTY DAYS IN JAIL.—Vernon Osborne, one of the boys who were arrested for stealing socks, was sen tenced to thirty days in jail by Police Judge Conn yesterday. Roxie Jones the other lad was dis charged. The Jones boy was the smaller and having been led into the wire of stealing by the other chap was dealt with less severely. Neither of the boys are so small but they know better than to commit such crimes, they are some 15 or 16 years old. Osborne's career is well known in this city. This is not his first ex perience behind prison bars. He is the same lad who stole some money in North Salem a year ago and was in jail for some time, was bailed out by his father who afterwards would not stand by the boy and had him returned to custody. Osborne is certainly not a model child and a month imprisonment will not make such a boy of him. A few years in a good reform school might check his downward career.

PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH.—We had the honor of signing a peti tion to the legislature asking for money to build a wagon road up the river to the mines and timber. We igned the paper and at the same time were thinking it but another evidence of the corruption of the age. All look to the government for aid in any and all things they cannot do single-handed. This we think is but a chaff, that the Lion county rep resentatives may sell their birth right for a mess of pottage. Will they do it? Shall there be an organized aid on the state to get money for or all things legitimate or other wise? We don't like this kind of procedure.—Albany Democrat.

CUT HIS FINGERS.—Wm. Hocum, one of the boys employed in Ellis & Whitney's barn, met with a pain ful accident yesterday afternoon, while running a feed cutter. The machine became choked, and he put his right hand in the chute to clean out the straw, and reached around with his left hand to turn the crank to raise the knife. The awkward position to turn it with his left hand while his right hand was in the box caused him to turn it the wrong way and instead of raising the knife it brought it down on his fingers, al most severing the first and second fingers from his hand.

A MONEY MATTER.—The board of managers of the Willamette Uni versity of Salem were up all last night figuring on a proposition from Portland to move the University there. As a real estate speculation it may be a big thing; but it displays a bad spirit to move a college long supported just for a bigger house.—Albany Democrat.

HAVE QUIT BORING.—The Salem Water company have quit boring for an artesian flow in the Willa mette river, though they yet have hopes in such a scheme. The rainy season and the strong wind prevent the work from being pursued this winter. The work will probably be resumed next summer. They have reached a depth of about forty feet.

Watch out for the New Year's JOURNAL. It will be the very thing to send to your friends. Considerable excitement was oc casioned by the prolonged absence of the wife of one of our prominent citi zens. A diligent inquiry at last revealed the fact that she was last seen headed down town. This clue was followed up and she was at last located in Lunn's dry goods store, where she had been spending some time in the examination of their complete stock of dry goods. It will be unnecessary to state that she had not been shopping for nothing and had laid in a good supply of goods.
