New Books, Periodicals and Publications.

TWO PAPERS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE.

Since the first of November, subscribers to the St. Louis Republic, weekly, have been getting two papers of six pages every week in place of one of 10 pages. This gives them the news half a week sooner than the time that any weekly could bring it. The Republic also prints three special state editions, for Missouri, Illinois and Texas, with the local news of those states need not be put in the paper sent to other states; thus making more room for general news. The Republic also offers to send one copy for a year free to anyone sending four new subscriptions. The regular subscription price is $1 a year. Sample copies and a premium catalogue of 48 pages will be sent free on application. Address, "The Republic,"

St. Louis, Mo."

"Kindergarten Stories and Morning Talks," written and compiled by Sara E. White, published by Ginn & Co., Boston, cloth, 212 p. This is a text book for the teacher and comprises a full regimen for each week from September to June. As the talks and stories are composed or arranged by a practical working kindergarten, there is no reason why this book may not be of value to new beginners or mothers conducting work at home. The work is rich in suggestions from nature, adapted to child minds. There are hundreds of good stories for which the juveniles are always clamorous.

The work is not intended to take the place of original effort, as the soul of the new education cannot find expression in any prepared formula.

But it will prove excellent as an outline for original exertion, if such thing as system is to be permitted.

The book is remarkable for its wide reach of quotations from the child literature of the age, and in this respect is a revelation of the present world-thought, "a little child shall lead them."

Capt. Jack Crawford, "The Poet Scout," who was a victim of the Lakish wreck at Salem, sends us a copy of his volume of poems, 182 pages, well illustrated, with preface by Leigh Irvine. These rugged rhythms, many of them in the uncommon form of miners' dialect, or jargon of the scout among half breeds and cowboys of the plains, have still a tinge of poetic romance, achievement and daring that will endear them to the hearts of many generations. Capt. Crawford has that ready gift of poesy so noticeable in Burns, and many of his swiftly cast-off extemporizations are genuine in their way. On one occasion he composed in fifteen minutes a quite long poem on the miner's life. One verse will declare his poetic call;

"There's a vein of love and pathos

In each hardy miner's breast,

And the thoughts of home and loved ones.

As he lays him down to rest,

Are as sweet to him—though humble—

As to King upon his throne,

For the miner's heart of lingers

With the loving ones at home!

The poems on "The Death of Custer," "Comrade, Why this Look of Sadness?" "Grizzly Jake," "Wild

Bill," "Mustered Out," "Christmas Day in the Black Hills," and the "Veteran and his Grandson," are all more or less familiar to newspaper readers. We hope to present our readers from time to time with something from the pen of "The Poet Scout," tho' full arrangements are not yet completed.

Mrs. Southworth's new book,

"India, Pearl of Pearl River," is issued this day by her publishers,

T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, in uniform shape, style and price with her "Missing Bride,"

"Changed Brides," "Tried for Her Life," "Cruel as the Grave," "The Family Doom," "The Maiden

Widow," "Miriam," "The Brides'

Fate," "The Bridal Eve," "The Discarded Daughter," and "Retribution," already published by them, and selling at the low price of twenty-five cents a copy, each, re-tall. At the low price at which "India," is now published it should have an enormous sale, as it no doubt will, for all will want it, it having never before been published to sell under $1.50 a copy, but now to place it in the hands of the "million," it has been published to sell at the low price of twenty-five cents a copy. There is no use of recommending Mrs. Southworth's works, as their fame is well known over the entire world. "India," will be found for sale by all news agents and at all news stands, everywhere, or copies of it will be sent per mail, to any one, to any place, on remitting the price, to the publishers.

Good Housekeeping for December 6 is made a Christmas number, and is the last of the fortnightly issue of this very popular journal. Henceforth it will take its place with the monthly. While it has been a deservedly successful publication thus far, we shall look to see it attain an even greater degree of popularity in the new form. The publishers announce several new features for the coming year, prominent among which will be "Ten Months in the Kitchen," by Miss Parlor, and a special series of Western Fashion papers, with illustrations peculiar to Good Housekeeping. The number of pages will be more than doubled, and the price will henceforth be uniformly 20 cents per number, or $2.40 per year. Clark W. Bryan & Co., Springfield, Mass., publisher.

William Dean Howells, in the "Editor's Study" in Harper's Magazine for January, after reviewing some noteworthy books recently published, will say a few words about the difficult art of keeping enemies. "To make enemies," he remarks, "is perfectly easy; the difficult thing is to keep them; the first you know they are no longer hating you, they are not even thinking of you. Any author can test the fact in his own case. Read a bitter critique of your book the morning it is printed, and the world is filled with forever; read it next month, and the world is gone; forever; read it again, and the world is back again."

A WORD to Legislators.

SHERIDAN, Oregon, Dec. 19, '90.

ED. JOURNAL: As the Oregon legislature is soon to convene at the capitol to transact business for the people of the state, a word of warning to them in time should not be out of place, and when they are called on to vote appropriations for different purposes not to forget that they are voting away the money of those who elected them to office and who voted for them with the understanding that they would defend the people's rights. We have a good set of legislators, no doubt, but they will have to withstand a heavy pressure from the autocrats and monopolists. So we give warning to all that if they vote for the repeal of the mortgage tax law, usury law and the exemption law they need not again ask us for our votes. Look out gentlemen; fair warning. A FARMER.

An Equivalent for Suicide.

If we allow our bodily infirmities to make away with us through neglect, have we not the obligation to care for our infirmities? Careless, thoughtless, unwise, unthrifty living is the cause of many infirmities. Most people of average information know that this is simply the unvarnished truth, and that the best way to cure infirmities is to follow the simple rules of common sense. The following article from the "American Farmer" is a good example of what is to be done. It is well worth reading.
