Times Mountaineer: Now the U. WASHINGTON.

DEMOCRATIC STRATEGY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Senator Aldrich moved that the senate proceed to the consideration of the resolution to amend the rules by the adoption of the plan of Cloture. The point of order made on the democratic side was that unfinished business was on the motion to correct the journal of Tuesday's proceedings. The vice president indicated his desire to hear argument on the point and the positions on each side were stated by various senators, Stewart arguing strongly on the democratic side.

The Vice President ruled Aldrich's motion to proceed to the consideration of the cloture rule in order, and overruled Harris' point of order. Harris appealed but the chair was sustained, Messrs Teller, Wolcott and Stewart voted with the democrats. Aldrich moved to proceed to the consideration of his resolution "Cloture" and Gorman moved to table it. Vote, yeas 30 nays 35. Vote then taken on motion to consider the cloture rule, which prevailed by a vote of 36 to 32.

Immediately after, however, Harris called up his point of order made against the cloture resolution on Tuesday "that it was not explicit enough to meet the rules," but the Vice President ruled against him. Haris took an appeal and was permitted to debate it. He is now reading from an apparently inexhaustible mass of manuscript to kill time.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited, and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or, in fact, at any time, and the better it is known the more popular it be comes.

He was carried to his home and medical aid was summoned and he is now getting along nicely, although he has been suffering much pain. He will likely be confined to the house for several weeks.

Long Creek Eagle: Gilliam county's representative intends to introduce a bill in the legislature reducing the salary of Gilliam county's stock inspector from $800 to $250 per annum. The number of sheep in Gilliam at present is only about one fourth of what there was five years ago, and a compensation of $250 would be allowing about $5 per day for services actually rendered.

THE PROPOSED BALLOT LAW.

SALEM, Jan. 21.—[EDITOR OREGONIAN.]—One year ago the Ballot Reform League of Oregon was organized in Portland, as declared at the time, for the sole purpose of drafting a bill embodying the principles of the Australian ballot system and securing its enactment into a law of this state at this session of the legislature. On the 20th instant the bill was introduced in both branches—by Raley (democrat), as senate bill 32 and by Hall (republican), as house bill 122. They are the same as the 10,000 pamphlet copies of the bill which have been distributed throughout the state. (With some more verbal corrections and improvements, made by the executive committee of the league.)

The bill is likely to be defeated, and not become a law, for the following reasons.

Senator Joseph Simon insists upon amending it by tacking on to it some provisions regulating primary elections. He would require the judges and clerks of primary elections to be sworn, keep poll books and tally sheets, and he would also punish bribery and repeating as crimes. He is not willing to introduce these provisions in the form of a bill, but insists upon tacking them on to the league's bill as a rider. In the house a number of influential members, who may be styled the anti-Simon faction, insist that this shall not be done, and reiterate, if it is done it will kill the bill. Some of them argue that Mr. Simon don't want our Australian bill, and takes this means to kill it. That his real motive is not to wisely or well regulate the primaries, but that it is a covert way to greatly strengthen himself by bringing into service his organized and faithful Portland police. That as long as the primaries are not regulated by law, his police are unable to interfere, except in case of a breach of the peace; whereas, if they could make arrests on the pretense of bribery and repeating, they would walk off anti-Simon workers and leave the field clear for their own workers. After the object was accomplished the prosecutions would be dropped. Thus the faction controlling the police force would virtually control the primaries, and thus the conventions and thus the party nominations. The same police force could be employed on occasion to help his Bellinger-Goldsmith faction at the democratic primaries, and thus control the democratic nominations. Between the two he would be as strong under the Australian system as he is under the present system. They say: "Leave the primaries alone. They are a party affair. It is strange it was never discovered until now they were wrong or needed regulating by law."

Thus, between these factions, our Australian bill is likely to be torn to pieces.

What do the Federated Trades unions in Portland want done, and what have they to say on this subject? Have they no longer any need for a simple, inexpensive way of making nominations and printing and distributing ballots? Have they lost interest in a compulsory secret ballot?

Likewise the granges all over the state? Have they concluded to go out of politics?

Likewise all the business men who enrolled themselves in the Ballot Reform League?

What are you all going to do about it? Do you want your bill passed, or do you wish elections to continue to be conducted as heretofore? If you want the bill drafted by the league enacted without amendment you must attend to the matter now, while it is pending in both branches of the legislature. Mr. Simon had enough republican votes in caucus to make him president, and he certainly has several democratic votes at his command. These will suffice to tack on riders, or amendments, or hang up the bill in committee. Are you all going to stand by and see it done?

Do you think he lacks the courage to do it? Did he lack courage to virtually appoint the two circuit court judges in Multnomah county four years ago, or defeat the nominee of his own party for the supreme court at the same election? Has he never beaten a bill before, or repealed a section of the charter of the city of Portland? As the law stands is he not a police commissioner for life? Need a police commissioner for life have much fear of doing anything?

It simply comes down to this: It is not reasonable to expect professional politicians to want such a bill as ours. It would be as reasonable as to suppose that a cat would want a bell tied round its neck. The professional politicians will kill this bill as effectually as they did the one last session, unless the people who do want it make themselves heard here. If you have changed your minds and don't want the bill enacted, I will go home. If you do want it, I would like you to instruct your representatives and senators here, to please enact above bills (S. B. 31 and H. B. 122) without amendment.

My address here is care of the state librarian.

Secretary of the Late Ballot Reform League of Oregon.

LEGISLATIVE REVIEW.

JOURNAL Editorial Headquarters, Legislative Assembly.)

The house bill requiring wills to be recorded in all counties where decedent holds real estate is open to a number of objections not brought out in debate, that will perhaps occur to senators. It increases the expenses entailed upon property by death and must be paid out of the estate. It increases the danger and liability of improper recording and hence the invalidating of parts or whole of the will. It encumbers county real estate records with matter that will have to be recorded when property of decedent is settled in court, deeds from which will have to be recorded in each county where property is willed. This law is not felt necessary in other states, and if its workings could be fully investigated, as it would operate if it became a law, it would be a burden and an expense on the people.

The 2d biennial report of the railroad commission, containing report and testimony taken on Lobish wreck, has been delivered to the legislature. It is a fine looking volume, and a good job of printing and binding.

OREGON CLIPS.

Register: Tillamook is struck with the roller skating craze. As soon as a railroad enters this far-famed county the people will be up to the times and not before.

Tillamook Headlight: The wreck of the Struan is scattered all along the beach below Cape Lookout and is a total loss. The settlers in that vicinity will have all the lumber they want for some time to come.

Baker City Democrat: Experience in Grant county has proven that sheep cease to thrive when fed a few weeks on timothy or wild hay. Alfalfa alone seems to possess every nutritious properly necessary to their general health. Some of the sheepmen down the valley are well supplied with alfalfa hay, having cut as many as three crops from the same ground the past season.

Walla Walla Journal: If our legislature was to appropriate $250,000 toward the opening of the Columbia, and Oregon would follow suit, it would be infinitely better than blowing that amount into a World's Fair for some men to have a good time on.

Palouse Reporter: The car load of supplies for the destitute of Nebraska has started on its good mission. Each side of the car was covered with canvas upon which were inscribed in large letters: "Food for the Nebraska sufferers, from the Board of Trade and Farmers' Alliance, Palouse City, Washington." The outside of the car will create a sensation along the line that will result in some good to this community.

Baker City Reveille. Reports from the Blue river mines are that snow has fallen to a depth of five or six feet and the work of the company has been necessarily suspended. A number of prospectors have left the camp and moved down the river for the winter.

Localizer: The cry for cars was very great six weeks or two months ago. At this time there is a blockade of cars at Tacoma. There are forty cars loaded with wheat side tracked in the yards. The elevators and all the warehouses are filled and there is an average of seventy-five cars arriving daily. There is nearly 2,000,000 bushels of wheat stored awaiting shipment. There are several vessels due, which will relieve the storage places some when they come in.

General Debility

"For four years my wife suffered with large tumor bunches on the glands under her arms, and general debility of the whole system. She became so poor in health that we were on the verge of despair regarding her recovery. Physicians did not seem to understand her case; at all events she never derived any benefit from their treatment. She finally concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The immediate effect was so marked and satisfactory that she continued to take it, and this is the result: She has gained in weight
