DRAMA AT JEFFERSON.

For the benefit of the Trombone

Band, last Saturday evening, Feb. 14th, the people of Jefferson and vicinity had the pleasure of witnessing one of George W. Baker's Frienssee of Veat Furkey Family popular dramas, "Rebecca's Tri- Style Rice Fritters with umph," by the following cast of characters: Mrs. Fanule Murphy, Beef as Mrs. Leland (an aged widow), She played her part well. Clara String Perry, as Mrs. Rokeman, a wealthy old lady, (though her part being a difficult one, was well rendered). Carrie Shoemaker, a Rebecca, a foundling, (aged ninetern). Miss Text Shoemaker is one of our popular school teachers. She has a graceful manner on the stage, and with her well cultivated voice, rendered her part second to none. Clarissa Codman, an old maid, was represented by Miss. Avis Hudelson, daughter of our popular hardware merchant, A. B. Hudelson, Miss Hudelson, one of our efficient school teachers, while on the stage, was self-possessed and acted her part well. The character Gyps, a colored girl, was carried by Miss Ida Sanders, in a manuer which reflects credit on her as an actress. Miss Sue Reeves, as Dors Gains, did well. Sue is one of our coming young ladies, and the manuer in which she carried her part entitles her to much credit.
