num lot, and were anxious to secure a flower as a keepsake. Two men were detailed to watch the grave during Saturday night. Saturday rumors were freely circulated that the body was to be snatched. The family have become alarmed, and have taken the precaution to set a watch over the grave. Last night several stalwart men were patrolling the cemetery. The guard will be kept on for some time.

TWO FOOLS.

MILAN, Tenn., April 14.—News reaches here of a novel encounter which took place Saturday afternoon at Brazil. John Gibson and William Knox fell in love with Miss Carrie Moss, and have been paying marked attention to her for the past few months, neither, however seeming to make much progress. A few days since the young men got together to talk the matter over, and as they could come to no pleasant agreement, it was decided, with the young lady's consent, to settle the matter by a fight of six rounds, Miss Moss to act as referee. Saturday afternoon they went out one mile south of Brazil, attended by Miss Moss and four friends. The two combatants leaped into the ring, grasped each other's hands and the fair referee called time, smiling at both. Knox made a feint with his right which Gibson easily parried, and letting drive his left sent his opponent to the earth. Little fighting was done in the second, third and fourth rounds. In the fifth round it was plainly seen that Gibson was being worsted, though he was determined. He rushed at Knox who knocked him down with a heavy left-hander. This dazed Gibson, and he was easily knocked down again, and failing to come to time the fight was given to Knox. Then the girl threw herself into Knox's arms. Gibson, it is said, will leave at once for Texas.

ROBBERY AT TURNER.

TURNER, April 14.—The blacksmith shop of J. D. Brown was broken open last night and several large rasps and two cold chisels taken. These were then used to pry open the front door of A. H. Miller's hardware store. About fifteen or twenty dollars' worth of goods were taken out of the show case, consisting of razors and pocket knives. The drugstore owned by O. H. P. Cornelius was next entered from the back, the bolt being broken off with a cold chisel. Here but little was taken—a little tobacco and a few other articles of small value. They were either discouraged with their success or frightened as they left their tools.

CORONER'S INQUEST ON CURTIS.

Robbery at Turner, State News, House Blown up, Burglars Captured at Astoria, Etc.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 14.—In a letter read at the Commerial congress to-day; President Harrison said: The extraordinary developments in the productionofagriculture which has taken place in a recent period in this country by reason of the rapid enlargement of the area of tillage under the favoring land laws of the United States very naturally has called attention to the value and indeed of necessity of larger markets. I am one of those who believe the home market must necessarily be the best for producers as it usually emancipates him, in proportion to its nearness, from exacting transportation companies. If the farmer could deliver his surplus produce to the consumer out of his farm wagon his independence and his profits would be larger and surer. It seems to me quite possible to attain a larger increased market for our staple farm products without impairing our home market by opening manufacturing trades in a competition in which foreign producers, paying a lower scale of wages would have the advantage. A policy that would retire a number of people engaged in mercantile pursuits or diminish their ability to purchase food products by reducing wages cannot be helpful to those now engaged in agriculture.

Passing to the consideration of currency the president said: "The question at the base of all my consideration of currency is that any dollar, paper or coin, issued by the United States must be made and kept in its commercial use as good as any other dollar. If we have dollars of different values, only the poorest will circulate. I have always believed, and do now, more than ever, believe in bi-metalism and favor a full use of silver in connection with our currency, that is compatible with the maintenance of the parity of the gold and silver dollar in their commercial uses. Nothing, in my judgment, would so much retard restoration in the world as legislation attempted by the United States that would result in placing this country upon the basis of mono-metalism. The legislation adopted by the fifty-first congress, I was assured by leading advocates of free coinage and representatives of the silver states, would promptly and permanently bring silver to 1.29 per ounce and keep it there. That anticipation has not been realized. Our larger use of silver has apparently, and for reasons not agreed upon, diminished the demand for silver in China and India.

CORONERS INQUEST ON JOHN CURTIS.

PORTLAND April 14.—For the purpose of inquiring into and determining the death of John E. Curtis, the bar-tender, who was found dead with a bullet wound in his forehead at Harrington's lodging honse, in East Portland, last Saturday morning, Coroner River held an inquest beginning yesterday. Many witnesses were examined but little information was obtained. Marshal A. M. Cox testified as to the discovery of the body. He found it lying face downward in the corner of the room with the pistol lying on a level with the feet. Nothing about the room was disturbed and the deceased must evidently have died instantly. The witness knew that Curtis had been quite friendly with Mrs. Jennie Gibbs and not long ago had had some trouble with her. Outside of this he knew nothing of the relations existing between them, except what had been rumored about the town.

T. B. West, the husband of Mrs. West, stated that he knew Curtis by sight, but he was not aware that there were any criminal relations existing between the deceased and his wife. The witness saw the latter about 12 o'clock Friday night. He left DeBoest's saloon and went to his room. His wife was there at the time. She was not undressed, and stated she had just come in. She was hanging a cloak when he went in. Witness said he had been supporting his wife ever since their divorce about three years ago. She told me some time ago there was a man who cared for her and would probably marry her if he had money. When told of Curtis' death on Saturday morning, she appeared very much excited and said that the deceased wanted to marry her the evening before, but she had refused.

Frank Ellis, intimate friend of his, testified he met Curtis the last time and went to supper together Friday evening, but Curtis stopped and waited for Mrs. West, whom he saw coming. Curtis had often spoken of Mrs. West, but never declared his intention of marrying her. Mrs. West had often said Curtis was the only man she ever loved. Deceased also spoke of Mrs. Gibbs at times, and said he once liked her but had changed his mind. Witness also testified that Certis was in good spirits, and in his opinion would be the last man in the world to commit suicide.

Dr. J. M. Eaton, ex-coroner of San Francisco and now a practicing physician in this city, gave testimony which was, to say the least, rather straightforward and a trifle sensational. He said he had had several years' experience in examining gunshot wounds, and he, after a careful examination of the wound in deceased's forehead, was certain that it had not been self-inflicted. The character of the wound he saw proved this beyond a doubt. In the first place, in all cases of suicide, the weapon is always held close to the skin. When the discharge takes place, in such cases, the powder and ball penetrate without scattering. Such a gun as the one used in this case would undoubtedly have been blood-stained if held to the flesh, and from all indications, it must have been discharged at a distance of four or five feet from the dead man. The track of the bullet resembled raw beef, and the powder was scattered all over the face. The witness gave it as his firm opinion that the wound could not have been self-inflicted, and the position of the pistol on the floor cut no figure whatever. Death, he said must have been instantaneous.

CURTIS WAS MURLERED.

PORTLAND, April 14.—The coroner's jury in the case of John E. Curtis, the bartender who was found dead in a lodging house in East Portland with a bullet wound in his forehead last Saturday morning, brought in a verdict that Curtis came to his death by the hand of an unknown person or persons.

BLEW UP THE HOUSE.

PORTLAND, April 14.—Word has reached here from La Center, Washington, of a terrible accident which occurred near the latter place yesterday. A farmer named Holcomb had placed some giant powder in the stove, and the powder exploded, demolishing the house and setting fire to the ruins. Two daughters of Holcomb, aged fourteen and sixteen respectively, were instantly killed, and Holcomb and his wife were seriously if not fatally injured by the force of the explosion.

The road will be run up Coos river and across the Coast range direct to the town of Winchester, six miles north of Roseburg. This is one of four proposed roads with Coos bay as a terminal point, with good prospects of being the first completed. The line is sixty miles in length.

Nearly Frantic.

Has it ever been your misfortune to be brought into frequent contract with a person excessively nervous. If so, you must be aware that trivial causes, unnoticed by the vigorous, drive a nervous invalid to the verge of distraction. It is as unnecessary to particularize these as it is impossible to guard against them. The root of the evil is usually imperfect digestion and assimilation. To assist these functions, and through their renewed, complete discharge to reinforce weak nerves, in conjunction with other portions of the physical organism, is within the power of Hostetter Stomach Bitters, systematically and continuously used. There is no disappointment here, no matter what or how grievous the failures of other so called tonics. No sedative or opiate—avoid both!—can compare with this invigorating nerve tranquilizer. Consitpation, billousness, malaria, rheumatism, kidney troubles are cured by it.

"A 1" From a Catholic Archbishop down to the Poorest of the Poor all testify, not only to the virtues of

ST. JACOBS OIL,

The Great Remedy For Pain,

but to its superiority over all other remedies, expressed thus:

It Cures Promptly, Permanently;

which means strictly, that the pain-stricken seek a prompt relief with no return of the pain, and this, they say, St. Jacobs Oil will give. This is its excellence.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

GOV. PENNOYER'S VIEW.

The Democratic Party Must Favor Free Coinage or Face Defeat.

At the Jefferson banquet at Portland in a speech Governor Pennoyer said:

We have within our party, I regret to say, some advisers who counsel that in the forthcoming presidential campaign, we should entirely devote our attention to the oppression of the government through its tariff policy and that we should entirely ignore the oppression of government through its financial policy. Such advice should be given on some other day than on either Jefferson's or Jackson's day. These gentlemen that would have but one issue reminds me of the quack doctor who had but one remedy, and who when called upon to visit a sick man, always endeavored to throw him into fits, affirming that if he could do so he was all right, as his remedy was a sure cure for fits. The story is told of a traveler who with an Arab companion was traversing a desert, and who after starting out one morning for the day's journey espied a camel feeding at a distance. After riding awhile the Arab called his attention to the camel and assured him that although he had never before seen the animal he was confident that he had one blind eye. Upon reaching the camel such was found to be the fact. Upon inquiry of the Arab how he was aware of the fact, was informed that they had, at a distance back, struck its trail, and that he had noticed that the camel had cropped herbage on only one side of it. Now, gentlemen, I want to impress the fact upon you, that the great masses of the people of this country are as sagacious where their political rights and interests are concerned as was this wild son of the desert in matters pertaining to his nomadic life. And I want to warn you that if the democratic party goes into the next presidential canvass with a blind eye in regard to the wrongs and abuses of our present financial policy, it cannot hope or expect to win the confidence and support of the people. Should we not learn a lesson from experience? In the last presidential canvass the democratic platform was silent in regard to the free coinage of silver which was the policy of the government for eighty years from its foundation, and which was the policy of every democratic administration except the last one and it was defeated.

Nor was that the whole result of such ignominious silence. At the last fall state and congressional elections, a new party sprang into existance, almost as suddenly as that exceeding great army which rose up before the prophet's vision after the breath of the four winds had swept over the valley of dry bones, and panoplied, as Minerva, sprang from the brain of Jove, winning victories in two or three states, and developing the most remarkable growth and strength in several others. The members of that new organization were divided upon the tariff question, but in regard to the support of the long established policy of the democrats as to the free coinage of both gold and silver and the issuance of the money of the country, by the government alone, they were to a man united. If the democratic party had been true to the interests of the people on this financial question, this party would not now have existed.

And now I want to say to you here tonight that if in the next presidential campaign the democratic party falters and fails to be outspoken upon this finance question, which effects the interests of the great masses of our people to as great an extent as does the tariff question; if it fails to favor the free coinage of silver and the seperation of the moneys of the government from the banking institutions, it will be defeated, and may I not add, if it should thus prove untrue, both to its own long-established policy and to the interests of the great masses of the people, that it ought to be defeated.

Wonderful Results often follow the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Severe cases of scrofula, upon which other preparations have been powerless, yield to the peculiar curative powers of this medicine. Distressing cases of dyspepsia, exruciating complaints of the kidneys and liver, agonizing itch and pain of salt rheum, distressing cases of catarrh, and aches and pains of rheumatism, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood, and at the same time tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives strength to every function of the body. Give it a trial.

General Debility

"For four years my wife suffered with large tumor bunches on the glands under the arms, and general debility of the whole system. She became so poor in health that we were on the verge of despair regarding her recovery. Physicians did not seem to understand her case; at all events she never derived any benefit from their treatment. She finally concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The immediate effect was so marked and satisfactory that she continued to take it, and this is the result. She has gained in weight and is stronger and in better health than she has been for years. The bunches under her arms have diminished, and we believe Hood's Sarsaparilla will be too much for them in time." J. J. NORCROSS 226 Commercial Street, Boston, Mass.

From 84 to 111 Pounds

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthing plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspepsic sufferers. Price 25 cents.

The Spring Medicine.

All who realize the necessity of purifying the blood know that Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup can be relied upon. Mr. B. C. Robinson, of Marshall, Mich., says:

I have suffered intensely from billiousness and rheumatism for three years, and tried many remedies. Hearing of Hibbard's Syrup I bought a bottle and found it helped me. I have now used four bottles and it has restored my liver and kidneys to healthy action, and done more to purify my blood than anything I have ever taken. I recommend it as a wonderful blood medicine. Very truly yours, B. C. Robinson, Marshall, Mich.
