

are a disgusting crowd. They set more like beasts than human beings. All are ill-clad, seem to have noidea of decency, and have become so turbulent that an indignant public are up in arms. The government provides no sleeping places for them, and they have been quartering in the city prison and on the floors of the custom house and jail. The men and women lie scattered about the sidewalks and corridors of the government buildings, besmearing everything with tobacco juice. If a lady enters the postoffice she is surrounded by the women, who examine her clothing, handling it with their filthy fingers, asking insolent questions and often becoming so bold that ladies have to appeal loudly for aid. It is no uncommon thing to see a score of men asleep on the sidewalk in the middle of the day. Boarding houses will not have them because of their filthy ways. They never bathe, and their hair does not know what a comb is. Many of the women are young and they behave in a most indecent manner. Most of them are barefooted. They wear calico dresses and sunbonnets. They loaf around saloons, block the pavements, and have become so outrageous in their conduct that a protest will be sent to Washington.

FIRE AT LOS ANGELES.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 18.—The beautiful residence of Baron Roginat, at East Los Angeles, was burned last evening. The establishment was estimated to be worth $25,000 and was insured for but $5000. Most of the furniture, piano, mirrors and library were saved. Among the items destroyed was a chandelier which cost $5000. The origin of the fire is not positively known, but is believed to be from a crack in an earthen chimney in the kitchen.

MARTIAL LAW IN HAYTI.
NEW YORK, N. Y., May 19.—Martial law has been proclaimed in Port au Prince. Armed soldiers patrol the streets, night and day, and no one is allowed to enter or leave the city without a passport. The Haytian Capitol is literally in a state of siege and the cause of this condition of affairs is the agitation caused by the supporters of General Legets, the deposed president.

TRAIN BLOWN TO PIECES.
TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 19.—A train containing a large quantity of dynamite was blown up a short distance from the depot this morning. The shock was terrific, and the entire train was demolished. The fireman on the locomotive of the train was blown with the tender of the locomotive into the river. The shock of the explosion was felt for many miles in all directions and it is impossible to indicate the extent of the damage. In Tarrytown and vicinity the ground is literally tunneled by force of the explosion.

NATIONAL UNION CONFERENCE.
CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 19.—The opening day of the National Union Conference was blessed with a mild temperature. The morning hours were occupied by the state delegations perfecting their organization. The one feature that has attracted some attention this morning is the apparent apathy of the South. Delegates from that section being few in number. Wide interest is attached to the presence among delegates of an unusually large number of prominent Labor men, particularly Knights of Labor leaders. It is rumored the Knights are in active alliance with the Southern delegates and others to prevent the convention organizing a third party at this time.

MEET IN PORTLAND.
PORTLAND, May 19.—The Grand Lodge L. O. O. F. of Oregon, met in this city today instead of East Portland, as intended. The change was made owing to the inability of the East Portland Lodge to secure a suitable hall to meet in.

FOREIGN.

AN UNFINISHED SOUNDRIEL.
LONDON, May 19.—It is stated that Duncan, the American who attempted to kill his wife in Mount Snowden, Wales, has made a full confession of the facts connected with the tragedy. His statements go to show that he contracted a union with a young Scandinavian woman, which he afterwards regretted, and, not wishing to take her home with him to America, he decided to kill her and conceal the body, and then proceed with his return to America. His former statement that he intended to commit suicide after the murder is not credited, and he does not now persist in it. The authorities state that while the man may be extremely eccentric, as claimed by his friends, they have no doubt of being able to show a sufficient motive for a deliberately-planned crime.

QUEEN NATALIE EXPELLED.
BELGRADE, May 19.—After consultation between the ministers and regents this morning it was decided to expel Queen Natalie from Serbia. The queen under an escort of gendarmes was taken to the station and placed on a train which left for the Hungarian frontier. The queen requested that no resistance be made in her behalf by students and citizens. Popular indignation runs high against the minister of war who has been most active in insisting upon the queen's expulsion. In a fight which took place last night between the gendarmes who attacked students and citizens in defending the queen's palace one man was killed and fifty more or less severely injured.

ROSDALE ADDITION TO SALEM.
The Cheapest of All Additions to the Capital City—On the Market Monday, May 25.

Every lot level, high dry and No. one black soil and no gravel. Not a single lot in the entire addition that is not within three blocks of the electric street car line, and many of them on the line, as the electric car line runs through the addition. Consequently this addition is practically inside property. A glance at the map will establish the fact to the entire satisfaction of the careful investor in real estate, especially when he takes into account that the location is one of the very finest and most desirable, a location that cannot be excelled in beauty and healthfulness and within a few blocks of the North Salem school building and but a short distance from the East Salem High school. Being located directly on the electric street car line, it is within easy and quick communication with any part of the growing city. The purchasers of this valuable property fully recognized the fact that the location was one which must, in the near future, become the very center of a prosperous and beautiful portion of Salem. Look at the character of the soil and the property.

Consider its central location to schools, its accessibility by virtue of the electric street car line, compare the future development of the city. What rational conclusion can be arrived at? Verily it requires no prophet to fully establish the fact that this property must and will double in value in an incredibly short time, and the investor who buys now will reap the benefit.

Stop paying rent. Get a home. It is just as easy as paying rent, when you can buy at the prices and terms this property is offered at. The man who owns his home is in a fair position to secure a fortune even if it is a humble cottage he will be far happier than if he occupied the sky parlor of a tenement in the heart of the city, and when you save in rent will secure you a home in Rosedale addition, where you can have an electric street car every twenty minutes to the city.

Be sure and see this choice addition, which will be offered on sale Monday, May 25th, by all real estate men in Salem, who will give prices and terms.

On The Train.
A correspondent of the Inter Ocean tells the following incident. It took place on one of the Southern roads going to Louisville, Ky.: A number of passengers boarded the train at Nashville, among them a well-dressed young woman of bright appearance without an escort. She asked the porter for a pillow and settled herself for an all-day rest, seemingly an unusual treat. However, she had no more than comfortably reclined when she was aroused by the distressing cry of infants. She inquired the cause, and the porter told her there was a very sick woman in one of the sections of the sleeper, who had two crying infants, one two years old, the other about five months. She had in some unaccountable manner found her way into the sleeper and to a berth at 4 A. M., while the conductor was asleep and the porter waited on passengers at a way station. When he found her she had her tickets in her hand and was too ill to speak, and there was no one to care for her and the children.

Wide awake now, the young woman went to see for herself, and such a sight as met her view! The woman's dress was undone at the neck, and displayed an eruption which undoubtedly covered her face, matted with grease and dirt. The two-year-old was sitting up, munching a piece of bread and butter, crumbling the most of it among the sheets. The baby was lying on its back crying for want of care and food, and the stench which came forth from that berth was more than delicate olfactory nerves ought to be expected to endure.

All the girl's energies were now aroused to cope with the emergency of this occasion. Here it was ten o'clock, the sick woman had been on the train since 4 A. M. and nothing done for her.

So this young Samaritan (as the passengers called her) rolled up her sleeves, pinned a towel on to protect her dress, then called the conductor and told him that he and the porter must help her to change the condition of things, or there would be no comfort for any one on board that day. Seeing she meant business, he placed himself in readiness to obey orders.

She had the seats opposite the woman curtained off, a pail of warm water, a piece of soap, several towels, sheets and pillow-cases brought to her. Search was made in the sleeper and baggage car for the sick woman's baggage, but none could be found.

She took the babe up and found that its clothing consisted almost wholly of a piece of an old shawl wrapped about its little neglected body, which evidently had not been removed for two days. It was cast to the winds in a twinkling, and the water and soap were applied vigorously. In telling the experience afterwards, she said she was more than repaid for what she did by the smiles and coolings of perfect content of the little one as soon as the first application of water touched the little body. The cooling expressed much more than it would have done on the lap of food, devoted mother. After the baby was thoroughly scrubbed, she dressed it in a sheet and pillow-case, then took it to the passengers to find some one to care for it until she made the other one presentable.

There were no women on board so she sought for a fatherly looking gentleman. She spied one about fifty years of age, and put the child in his arms, telling him she chose him because he had such paternal air. This is where the laugh came in, for he proved to be a bachelor. However, he did his clumsy best until the little one screamed for its foster-mother and he was obliged to take it to her, to the great amusement of the other passengers.

From that time until 5 P. M., she cared for the two as well as the mother, and the picture she made feeding, soothing, yes, even caressing those babies, clothed in sparkling white, made a picture commented on by every passenger on board, and one they can never forget. We ascertained that she is the editor of The Kindergarten, a magazine published at Chicago for the purpose of uplifting childhood. May she live long and have the strength to carry on her work!

Pray that the Southern Monster May Meet With Death.
The people of Louisiana will have the opportunity of showing what sort of moral fibre they possess, when they shall be called upon next spring to vote on a proposed amendment to the constitution renewing the franchise of the lottery company for a period of twenty-five years, on consideration of a large sum of money, to be paid by the company annually toward the support of schools and other public purposes. It will be remembered that Governor Nichols vetoed the act of the legislature which proposed to submit this vote to the people, and it failed to pass over the veto. But the two houses claimed that the governor's approval was not necessary in the case of legislation which simply proposed to amend the state constitution. The supreme court, by a recent decision, confirmed the position taken by the legislature. So the vote will be taken, and the company will doubtless use every means in its power, between now and April, to sophisticate the public conscience and persuade the people that the plausible end will in this case justify the nefarious means. It will mark a new and glorious era for the Southern state if its people refuse to be cajoled, and decline the tempting bribe.
