TARPLEY-BUGBY.—The Seattle Post Intelligencer, of May 19, has the following of interest to Marion county people.

On board are fifteen shipwrecked sailors of the unfortunate schooner Premier, which went to pieces April 30, on the rocks at Cape St. John, Western Alaska, and she also brought down a distinguished wedding party.

Wm. Brown believes it advisable to wait until next year. We want a first-class celebration or none.

Col. W. N. Ladue says give a mild celebration this year and reserve the energy for next year, when an effort should be made to secure the encampment of the militia.

C. L. Keller thinks a celebration is not a benefit to the city in general. The hotel men, cigar stores and eating houses will profit, but not other business houses.

Leo Willis thinks it wise to celebrate and keep the people and money at home and afford a place for the people in the country to go to spend the day and cultivate patriotism.

David Simpson says it is an important thing to have a good celebration, and Salem should not stand back because some city fifty or a hundred miles away is making arrangements to be patriotic.

Squire Farrar said the council had ordered the awnings, signs and hitching posts down and were liable to change the date of Independence day. He did not favor a celebration.

R. M. Wade & Co. are not particular about a celebration, but are of the opinion that it is not advisable to attempt a celebration every year.

Thus it will be seen that the opinion of business men are divided on the subject of celebration. This makes it more difficult for the committee to do anything to assure the success of what may be attempted.

FOURTH OF JULY IN SALEM.

The Opinions of Business Men on What this City Should Do—Conflicting Ideas.

Whether Salem should have a celebration the coming Fourth of July or not, and what kind it should be, is the all-absorbing question among the people on the streets the past few days.

T. C. Shaw is of the opinion that it is not best to endeavor to have a celebration. He says if we do try we will make a flat failure, every thing is against us, the band is gone, the military companies are gone, and we haven't the attractions.

R. B. Cannon said his experience in California, was that where a town celebrated every year, the interest was not kept up.

Joseph Fishburne thinks it will not be a success, and we want nothing of last year's demonstration.

G. W. Johnson says it is a good thing and can be made a success even with the band and militia in Eugene.

R. S. Wallace says it is a good thing and should be had.

G. E. Krause says Salem is too much of a town to allow the day to pass unobserved; the way to make it a success is to get in and do something.

J. Westcott says something new can be devised to attract the people in the absence of the band and militia.

W. F. Boothby, we should not start in unless it is to succeed. The success of last year should be equalled or not attempted should be made.

J. C. Brown & Co. are willing to do their part and will aid in any scheme, but do not believe it feasible to have a celebration this year.

J. H. Lunn had nothing to say on the subject.

Wm. Brown believes it advisable to wait until next year. We want a first-class celebration or none.

HE AIDED THE DRUNK.—Wednesday afternoon a man was picked up in the rear of G. W. Johnson & Son's clothing store in a drunken condition.

He was lodged in the cooler to sober up and stand trial this morning. In the night a young fellow, who desired to befriend the prisoner, thought he could aid him to gain his liberty.

A bachelor can possibly afford to be a growler, but a man with family responsibilities—never.

If Salem celebrates the Fourth of July everyone must lend a hand or success will not be the result.

Today and tomorrow we offer a fine line of our own make all wool men's suits at $8. No fake, come and see for yourselves.

The frame work for the handsome two-story residence of T. Holverson is being put up. This fine residence will stand on the corner of Chemeketa and Winter streets, and is being erected by John Gray.

The damage suits which were transferred to the United States court will come up before Judge Deady in Portland this week.

E. C. Cross can sell meat cheaper than any other market in Salem. He does his own selecting of beef cattle and only takes the best.

The Salem Canning company's prize for the best peak crate of strawberries, to be exhibited at the strawberry fair is $5.

The old house on the corner of Summer and Court streets has been removed to give place for the new residence of Maj. F. E. Hodgkin.

People wonder why we are able to sell woolen goods and clothing so cheap. It is because all middlemen's profits are eliminated and we sell our own manufacture.

Miss Mabel Gray, of Portland, is visiting in the city.

Surveyor-General W. H. Byars, of Portland, was in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrence O'Brien have returned from a protracted visit to friends in Los Angeles and other points in Southern California.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Vegetables are becoming abundant and cheap.

Fresh cherries are selling at 20 cents a pound in the Salem market.

A fair quality of butter can be had in the Salem market at 15 cents a pound.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—A shooting affray is reported to have occurred near Wheatland in Yamhill county Monday night in which the parties engaged in it were both more or less injured, but probably neither one fatally.

The participants were a farmer, John W. Smith, who is said to be a quiet and respected citizen and John Brooks, a barber, whose reputation is not the best.

Brooks had been working on the farm of Mr. Smith for some time, but for some cause was discharged.

This angered him and after hanging about for a few days went to the Smith farm Monday night where the tragedy took place.

Brooks is now in the county jail at McMinnville where he lies severely injured with two bullet wounds in the face.

Smith who also has two wounds was not arrested.
