POOR SALARY.

NEW YORK, June 12.—William H. Forrest, the bookkeeper of the Churchman office, who was sent to the Elmira reformatory by Judge Cowing in the court of general sessions for forgery, made way with much more money than was at first supposed. Accountants are now examining his books, and they estimate that he took at least $1000. He forged and raised checks, and also stole cash that was turned into the advertising department, destroying all vouchers. When the payroll was made out it was his duty to draw the check, which usually amounted to $700, and hand it to one of the firm of M. H. Mallory & Co. to be signed. Several times he raised a $700 check to $1700, and cleared $1000 for himself by the operation. Forrest admits stealing $1500. When the accountants are through, the exact amount of his wrong-doing will be ascertained. Forrest has a wife and child. He was paid a salary of $12 a week.

THE RUSSIAN JEWS.

BERLIN, June 12.—The Berlin associated press correspondent had a conversation with Herr Goldberger, the well known Jewish financiar, who was recently expelled from Russia. He went from this city in the interest of the banking house with which he is connected, having been furnished with a special consular pass by the Russian consul general here. At St. Petersburg, M. Vicshnigradesky, Russian minis of finance, and other persons of high standing, showed the Berlin banker special attention. But this did not prevent the police of St. Petersburg from inscribing upon his pass. "The Jew Goldberger is here on toleration and under police supervision." Herr Goldberger does not understand Russian, and thought it was some regular police annotation. He learned differently when he reached Moscow. The "Pristaw" called upon him and told him he must leave at once. The hotel manager told him a few roubles would fix it all right, but Goldberger declined to pay blackmail, and left at once. He did not care to establish a bank in a country where each policeman had the power of levying blackmail.

Herr Goldberger described the awful scenes of expulsion, which he had witnessed at Moscow during his two days' stay. None of the accounts so far published tell the whole story. The misery and persecution are simply indescribable. Contrary to the accepted version, Goldberger says the czar is well aware of the cruelties practiced. Goldberger thinks Russia will not only suffer from commercial disaster sure to follow the expulsion of the Jews, but that these measures have brought about a feeling of insecurity among Russian protestants and among foreigners residing in Russia.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

ILLINOIS $300,000.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 12.—The conference committee of the legislature agreed today on an appropriation of $300,000 for the Illinois exhibit at the World's fair. The senate adopted the report and the house will undoubtedly adopt it tomorrow.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

CHICAGO, June 12.—At a meeting of the board of control of the National World's fair commission today. A preamble and resolutions were adopted setting forth that the board has learned that efforts are being made by individuals and by corporations manifestly organized for the purpose to obtain authoritative recognition so as to constitute such person a quasi-official agent for advertisment of the exposition to foreign countries. Such efforts are clearly inspired by expected gain, have not for the primary and principal object the promotion and success of the exposition. The board therefore declares that no person shall be permitted to exercise such functions without approval of either the national commission, board of control, or director general, through this department of foreign affairs.

HAYTIAN AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The state and navy departments are becoming impatient at the delay in receiving full and accurate reports of the condition of affairs in Hayti. Yesterday the state department received a letter from Minister Douglass, supplemental to his dispatch of the 28th of May. There are few details given. The minister merely reiterates what he stated in his cablegram, namely, that the insurrection did not amount to much; that it was little more than a street robbery by which one or two lives were lost. Notwithstanding Mr. Douglass' temperate report, the officials of the state and navy departments are anticipating trouble. The question of closing the United States legation in Port au Prince is being seriously considered by the government.

MINISTER TO CHINA.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—It was reported yesterday that President Harrison has decided to send ex-Governor and ex-Senator Gilbert A. Pierce, of North Dakota, as our representative to China. Minister Pierce is now an editorial writer on the Minneapolis Tribune. He is a native of Indianapolis, and his personal relations with President Harrison were of so intimate a nature that during his senatorship his utterances in reference to administration matters were usually accepted as authoritative. The sending of Governor Pierce to China will, it is thought, be followed by the appointment of ex-Senator Blair as minister to Japan. The salary is $12,000 a year, the same as that attached to the Chinese mission, while the court to which he will be acceded is a far more desirable one from an American standpoint.

A SHOPLIFTER.

IRONWOOD, Mich., June 12.—A most remarkable story of theft was brought to light by the arrest of Mary Boulgie, of this place. For some time the merchants have missed goods from their stores. Mary Boulgie, it appears, went to Davis & Fehr's store on Wednesday and asked to have a piece of goods changed. The clerk recognized it as a piece that had been stolen, and this led to her arrest. Search of her house revealed over $6000 worth of stolen goods. She became terrified and confessed everything. She said she had been stealing for five years, and had stolen over $1000 worth of goods in Cincinnati when she was there last summer, and twice as much from Chicago houses. She said, when asked what she did with the plunder, that she was running a store at Hurley, Wis., and found no trouble in selling all she stole. She was locked up, and was held in $12,000 bonds for trial.

STATE.

SHOT BY A WOMAN.

CANYONVILLE, Or., June 12.—Samuel L. Booth, a bachelor and an old pioneer residing twelve miles south of Canyonville, was shot by Mrs. Mary Booth, wife of Winfield Booth, Wednesday about 2 o'clock. Dr. Devore was called and immediately went to the scene of the shooting. He pronounced the wound fatal. The shot entered the lower part of the left shoulder and came out a little above and on the inside of the left nipple, inflicting an ugly wound.

The cause of the shooting, it seems, was that Booth and the woman had some words about some firewood that the old man had carefully collected and placed in the dooryard. Mrs. Booth, it appears, burned it up in a heap, whereupon Booth went into the house and complained to her about it. Mrs. Booth at once grabbed a gun and said: "You old s— of a b—, I will kill you." Booth was standing near a partition door. He threw up his hands and said: "My God! don't shoot me," closing the door at the same time. Mrs. Booth shot through the door. The wounded man crawled away from the house about 300 yards, where by hallooing he made some school children hear him. Booth is is 75 years old. He sent for Justice Lemens, who drew up his will. He willed all his property to a sister who lives in Michigan. Deputy Sheriff Dillard went to arrest the woman about 3 o'clock yestrday morning.

FOREIGN.

BALMACEDA'S CIRCULAR.

LONDON, June 12.—President Balmaceda has sent the following dispatch to Reuter's telegraph company from Santiago.

"Surprise and disdain have been produced here by false and calminous statement which the rebels have published in the European press. The congress lately elected here works regularly. It has approved the acts of the government and invested it with extraordinary powers, and authorized it to contract loans. Perfect order prevails. The army is well disciplined, and is actuated by great esprit du corps. The government cannot be vanquished by rebels who are only able to prolong the struggle to enrich themselves out of the nitrate deposits. They have undertaken no expedition against the government forces, and are completely discredited. The warships Lynch and Condell have gone northwest."

GERMAN NOTES.

BERLIN, June 12.—The Austrian heir-apparent, the Arch Duke Franz, is recovering from a severe attack of illness, which has caused great anxiety to the imperial family.

The Austrian reichgrath has begun the discussion of the budget and will remain in session for about a month. The Austro-Hungarian delegation will meet in October.

HOW HE WAS CAUGHT.

BERLIN, June 12.—A peculiar story of domestic trouble in the family of a well-known banker of this city has been revealed as a consequence of the capture of a party of tourists by Turkish brigands. When the news of the outrage by banditti was first made known, anxiety was displayed by Madame Graeger over the fate of her husband, who was one of the prisoners, and who was carried off to the banditti's stronghold while she was left behind and obliged to remain at Adrianople in suspense, not knowing for many days whether or not she would ever be permitted to see her beloved spouse again. It so happened that Herr Graeger had left his wife in Berlin when he started on his return journey, and that worthy lady read with much surprise the story of the grief of the lady who was known to the authorities of Adrianople as the wife of the imprisoned tourist. She caused inquiries to be made in a quiet way, and discovered that her husband had been joined at Pesth by a handsome young lady, with whom he continued his travels, introducing her as his wife. Herr Graeger is now on his way home, having been released, along with his fellow-unfortunates, in consideration of a large payment of a ransom. It is needless to say that he will receive a warm welcome.

NO LAUGHING MATTER.

A Dentist Who Will Harness His Patients Before Giving Them Gas.

Dr. Maurice B. Smith, a dentist, in future will have an arrangement of straps attached to the operating chair which will prevent patients who are more muscular than the doctor from jumping up and attacking him while recovering from the effects of nitrous oxide gas.

The doctor has had rather a rough experience with at least two of his patients, who, before they had fully recovered from the effects of the gas, made things decidedly unpleasant for him. One of the patients, a stalwart man, measuring over six feet in height and weighing about 200 pounds, gave the doctor a good trouncing. It appears that the man had two teeth drawn while under the influence of the gas, and when semi-conscious he made a sudden attack upon the doctor. The latter grabbed the man about the body and told him that the teeth were out and to keep quiet. While in the act of drawing away from the patient the doctor was struck either on the nose or behind the ear.

The patient then sprang out of the chair and struck the doctor about the face, knocking him senseless to the floor, and began kicking him. A lady assistant stood by powerless. The dentist's wife, who was in an adjoining room, heard the noise, ran into the operating room and caught hold of the patient's coat and tried to drag him away from her husband. The wife was struck in the neck twice by the patient. The latter, after coming to his senses, commenced to apologize, and offered to pay for all the damage done. Dr. Ransley, a neighboring physician, was summoned, and upon arriving at the dentist's he found that the latter's nose was broken, both eyes discolored, and he had several bruises on the head and body.

Dr. Smith, in speaking of the affair, said: "I have just come from the harness maker's, where I have arranged for a series of straps to be placed on the chair so that a patient will be rendered powerless in case he becomes unruly while under the influence of the gas. The patient that attacked me was evidently dreaming about fighting, and on account of seeing my face last before taking the gas, and seeing me only while semi-conscious, he thought I was the aggressor and immediately began to pitch into me.

"The patient, when conscious, offered to pay for all the damage he had done, but as the damage amounted to breaking my nose and giving me a pair of black eyes I could not appraise the value. About two weeks ago a patient, while under the influence of gas, imagined he was in a fight and made a dive for his back pocket. I caught his arms and held him while my lady assistant extracted a revolver from his pocket."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Chorus Girls' Requirements.

"It is not an easy task to get good chorus girls," said an operatic manager yesterday. "Of course there are plenty of girls—such as they are—ambitious to shine as lyric stars. Something more than ambition, however, is necessary. One of the requisites is a pretty face, another a comely figure, and another, of course, is musical ability. It is not an easy job to train thirty or forty girls who are unfamiliar with the comic opera stage. Four weeks are required to drill them tolerably well, and then they will need frequent rehearsing after beginning their public performances. A director must have Job's proverbial patience to teach a lot of jabbering, untamed chorus girls how to sing and march in harmony.

"The salaries of chorus girls range from ten to twenty dollars a week, although fifteen dollars is about the average. The male members of a chorus get a little more than girls. Some of the smaller road opera companies play throughout the year, and they are boons to a large class of girls and young men who would otherwise be idle during the summer. Summer opera snaps, though, are becoming the proper thing.

"Several companies are formed in New York for a ten or twelve weeks' engagement every spring. The salaries of the summer companies are considerably less than those in the regular season, however."—New York Telegram.

Uses of the Papaw Tree.

In the West Indies one of the characteristics of an intelligent cook is the care with which he or she will see to it that a papaw tree is growing within a short distance of the kitchen door. The fruit of the papaw, if large and well grown, is not to be despised as a breakfast dish, and its rich golden flesh is to many much more palatable than that of the popular melon. But the attractiveness of the p paw for the cook consists in its leaves, which possess the remarkable property of rendering meat tender. The toughest beefsteak or the most hopeless old rooster can be made soft and comparatively juicy by being wrapped for an hour or two in the large, dark green papaw leaves.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Loss in Handling Gold.

By careful experiments made at the United States mint it has been shown that $5 are lost by abrasion every time $1,000,000 in gold coin are handled. The experiments were conducted with bags containing $5,000 each, and it was shown that the mere lifting of the 200 bags making up $1,000,000 to a truck to be removed to another vault resulted in the loss stated, and that their transfer from the truck again made a second similar loss.—Iron Industry Gazette.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 12.—Mrs. Stuart Kearney, the young wife of the private secretary to Walter B. Brooks, of the Canton Company, was shot and instantly killed while getting some linen from a bureau drawer late Tuesday night. The pistol was lying in the drawer, and the theory is that the weapon became entangled in the clothing, and was discharged. The bullet entered the breast in the region of the heart, and death followed almost immediately. No one was in the room at the time. The idea of suicide is not entertained, as Mrs. Kearney was of a very amiable disposition, and had a very pleasant summer house at Sykesville. She was 24 years of age, and had one child.
