SUGGESTED COMMENT.

The Mill City Gazette has enlarged to a six-col. folio and is alive to all local interests.

Marion county should secure space for a big display of fruit at the Portland Exposition.

Senators Mitchell and Dolph supported the regular republican ticket at the Portland city election.

With a chance to make millions, Sir John Macdonald, the late Canadian premier, died a poor man.

The Cottage Grove Leader enters on its third year as a local paper in Lane county, under F. W. Chausse.

The Ashland Tidings and Jacksonville Times were chosen as official county papers in Jackson county.

The Woodburn Independent man can congratulate himself on securing a remarkable amount of free advertising in the press of the state.

Astoria will have a chance to be advertised as she never was before on the occasion of the meeting of the state press association in August.

Mr. James L. Stewart, in assuming editorial charge announces that the Fossil Journal enters upon its fifth year with good prospects of continued success.

The Albany Democrat man has discussed free trade so long that it has disturbed his mathematical balance and he declares there are a million dogs in Albany.

It is publication of the truth that hurts, and the JOURNAL cannot suppress news of importance to the public without incurring reprimands from some of its critical exchanges.

In place of allowing the producer to be taxed up in traffic charges on watered stock to the amount of three times the value of railroads, the state should secure the building of three times as many roads.

In 1868 the per capita indebtedness of Canada was $22.47; in 1891 it is $48. In 1868 the per capita indebtedness of the United States was $67.10; it is now $14. In the aspect of the case, at least, it might pay Canada to enter the Union.

The military department under Col. J. D. Lecher is in fine shape and the cadets present a neat appearance and show that they have been under careful drill. They have military drill every morning at 8 o'clock.—Corvallis Gazette.

"Can the character be read from the handwriting?" Most assuredly it can. Everyone can remember being influenced favorably or unfavorably by the penmanship of some unknown person, and has been astonished to find how true the conclusions were; and some of the world's foremost thinkers have maintained that the handwriting furnishes a more exact key to the character than the head, face, or form. Character reading from handwriting is a fascinating study; and if you wish to learn all about it you must read the excellent and profusely illustrated article, "How to Read Character by Handwriting," by Prof. Nelson Thorpe, published in the July number of Demorest's Family Magazine, and you will be still more interested in the subject.

The Chicago & Nashville flyer was badly wrecked on the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Seabrook, Ky., Saturday. Engineer A. L. Clark was killed, Fireman Gunn fatally injured and two postal clerks badly hurt. The passengers were badly shaken up and bruised, but none were seriously injured.

It is semi-officially stated in St. Petersburg that Arnold White, agent of Baron Hirsch, who had been sent to Russia in order to make arrangements for the emigration of Jews, has been very favorably received by the higher authorities, who greatly favor the scheme.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar, read what he says.

TELESCOPE, O. Jan. 10, 1887. Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—I have been in the general practice of medicine for some 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with so much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours truly, J. O. FROST, M. D., Office, 215 Summit Street.

We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

SALEM MENTIONS.

The Dayton Herald comments on the amount of Sabbath breaking prevalent in Salem.

Salem, the Capital City of Oregon is a beautiful city. It is not only a beautiful city, but a live progressive one. It is often called the "City of Churches," which denotes much piety and morality in its citizens.—Dayton Herald.

A novel and commendable feature of Salem's Fourth of July celebration will be the grouping of those present by their respective states, and have each state in the Union represented if possible. This project certainly has much merit and many advantages for the people.—Junction City Pilot.

The strawberry fair and rose show held in Salem last week was a complete success in every sense of the word. It couldn't have been otherwise. The valley leads the world in the production of the luscious strawberries and floral beauties. Could eastern eyes behold such a display as was exhibited at the fair at Salem, it would require every man of the Oregon National Guards to keep back emigrants.

A Good Idea.

Hon. John Bookwalter, of Springfield, Ohio, said to a reporter a few days ago:

"I am on my way to Nebraska on a special mission. I have always believed that the United States farmer leads a lonesome, dismal life. He lacks the pleasure of intercourse with others socially, and for the purpose of consultation and comparison. His ideas are not whetted to the keenness they might have. My theory is one I have seen operate with advantage in France, Germany and Switzerland, the formation of farming communities, a small village, for example, centrally located in the midst of a series of farms. The tenants work their land by day and return to their community at night. Then there is a chance for recreation and for the brushing up of ideas for discussion as to the advantage or disadvantage of this or that theory. You can readily see the advantage of this plan. One butcher, one baker, one doctor can do all the work in their respective lines. I am going to build a large number of houses for my tenants in my town of Bookwater, Nebraska, and try the experiment. I am convinced that it will be a success, and shall voluntarily build a large town house and establish an agricultural library. I think the plan is ideal. It combines all the advantages of city and country life; a little town not big enough to have any of the vices; a peaceful, rural community."

"Can the character be read from the handwriting?" Most assuredly it can. Everyone can remember being influenced favorably or unfavorably by the penmanship of some unknown person, and has been astonished to find how true the conclusions were; and some of the world's foremost thinkers have maintained that the handwriting furnishes a more exact key to the character than the head, face, or form. MISCELLANY.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

St. Louis, June 14.—Five members of the executive committee of the people's party met yesterday behind closed doors to pass upon matters of importance in connection with the preparation for the campaign of 1892. At the morning session reports were received from gentlemen representing different parts of the country. General Weaver, of Iowa; George F. Galther, of Alabama; G. G. Smith, of Kentucky; M. M. Wilkins, of Kansas; Mr. Wilkins, of Illinois, and others reported the prospect of the party in their states most favorable. In Kentucky and Ohio a special fight will be made, and the active work of preparing for the campaign is left in the hands of Taubeneck and Schilling.

The secretary was instructed to establish a literary bureau to furnish items of interest to the reform press, which now numbers between 600 and 700 papers. A weekly letter is to be prepared and published by these papers. A medal was ordered commemorative of the party's convention at Cincinnati on May 19. The medal is to be made of aluminum, and will be distributed to different alliances to be sold, the proceeds to be devoted to campaign purposes next year. A constitution was adopted for people's party clubs.

These organizations are to be formed in wards, townships and counties, all to be under the supervision of county committees, as provided for in a resolution of this committee May 21, 1891. They have a right to add to their number any such additional members as they may have, who shall, with them, constitute the executive committee of the people's party, with full power to elect their own officers. After further talk, the following resolution was passed.

The national executive committee is unalterably opposed to fusion with any other party, and will not recognize any individual, committee or organization that proposes or enters into such fusion as affiliated with the people's party.

The members entered into a general discussion of the best campaign policy for 1892. The opinion was that the principal issues to be contended for will be the sub-treasury plan, opposition to banks of issue, to advocate government control or ownership of means of communication and transportation (telegraph and railroads) and to uphold the interests of wage-earners as against the encroachments of capital.

After the transaction of routine business the committee adjourned, subject to call of the chairman.

BLAINE WILL RUN.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 14.—Details of the anti-Harrison meeting, at which it was determined to organize Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan for Blaine, came to the surface on Saturday, and have furnished food for much speculation among Harrison republicans.

The meeting was called by a secret circular sent to the leading men who oppose Harrison. About fifty persons responded to this call. They assembled one night recently in the law office of A. G. Harris, Ex-Congressman Conger, of Ohio, a member of the national republican committee, was chosen to preside over the meeting, and on taking the chair said that he understood from the letter which called him there that the meeting was to be held in the interest of Mr. Blaine, that he was not authorized by Mr. Blaine to speak for him, but he could assure the meeting there would be no more letters such as paralyzed Blaine's friends three years ago. He was satisfied that Mr. Blaine could be nominated, and he was equally positive the nomination would be accepted. He referred to it as a remarkable fact that with the single exception of John C. New, not one of the members of the national committee was favorable to Harrison's renomination. The others present made brief speeches in the same line, and there was perfect harmony. It was determined to organize Blaine's friends in Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and committees were appointed for each of these states to take charge of the work. It was also determined to hold another and fuller conference, but the time and place were kept a profound secret.
