Grange, last Saturday afternoon. While foreman J. Keys was pouring blasting powder in a hole thirteen feet deep, the powder ignited from a spark at the bottom, and ran up the hole to the powder can, which was exploded. Keys was badly burned about the face and hands. Ten minutes later another hole, twelve feet distant, was accidentally discharged by the fuse catching fire from the first explosion. A large mass of rock was thrown on the workmen on the side hill below. One man's skull was fractured and he may die. Another man had an arm broken and five others were more less hurt.

DISAPPOINTED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 18.—The Union station has been crowded this week with incurables on their way home from Mollinger's chapel and residence on Troy hill. The majority of these unfortunates are a perfectly disappointed lot. They came here firmly believing that the noted priest possessed supernatural healing power, though he has never made such claims himself. Most of them were very poor people who had spent their last money to make the trip to Troy hill. Some were carried to their train on stretchers, while others came to the depot on crutches and wheeled chairs. Father Mollinger was a very busy man yesterday. About 1000 of his patients were escorted into his presence before their departure, for his final blessing. While a great majority of the patients have been but little benefitted, others report what seem to be almost miraculous cures.

LOST HIS DIAMONDS.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Luis Schlessinger, a Spaniard who came from Guatemala to this country to sail for France, lost a small leather bag containing money and jewelry to the amount of $40,000, June 6. He had gone aboard the steamer La Gascoyne, and left the bag in the state room while he walked the deck a few minutes before turning in. When he returned the bag was missing.

BOGUS PHYSICIANS.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 18.—It has been discovered that medical diplomas are being issued from this city much under the plan exposed in Philadelphia a few years ago. An alleged doctor named Smith was arrested in London, England, recently, and fined for sailing under false colors. In his defense Smith exhibited to the court a document purporting to confer upon him the degree of doctor of medicine. He showed that he obtained his alleged diploma by sending a fee of $30 to an Indianapolis medical college. Reputable Indianapolis physicians will investigate this matter. It is charged that the courses of several smaller colleges are too short; that they lack thoroughness, and that they are granting diplomas on a year or two course, and that some of those who secured diplomas are illiterate.

A NEBRASKA STORM.

OMAHA, June 18.—One of the heaviest rains known for years fell all over the state. Along the line of the Burlington & Missouri road, in Southern Nebraska and in Kansas, several washouts resulted. On the Elkhorn Valley road a bad washout occurred at Battle Creek, caused by a water spout, and inundated the town, sweeping away several houses. The town is half overflowed at present, and people have to go about in boats. It is thought the mill dam will go, and large damage has already been done to crops. Several miles of track have been washed out, and also bridges, which will delay trains for two days. At Humphrey, Bartholomew Bogus, a farmer, was killed by lightning. At Palmer, the wife and grandmother of Vacla Antone were struck by lightning and killed.

REDUCTION IN RATES.

OLYMPIA, June 18. — President Oakes and other Northern Pacific officials stopped in Olympia yesterday to inspect the terminal grounds and the immense tunnel, which crosses the city under Seventh street. Governor Ferry had a conference with him regarding the reduction of wheat rates from Eastern Washington, which resulted in a statement by President Oakes that the announcement of the reduced rates would be made in a few days, tho' to what extent he could not say. This particularly pleased Governor Ferry, and as the latter said, obviates the necessity for calling an extra session of the legislature, which he would have been compelled to do had not concessions been effected with the railroad. The state of Washington is losing $10,000 a day on public lands, which are being settled up, and "next to this," continued the governor, "reduction of wheat rates is the most important question before the people."

The Trial of the Hunt Lynchers.

COLONEL COMPTON TO BE TRIED.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—In accordance with the findings of the court of inquiry in the case of the lynching of Hunt by United States troops at Fort Walla Walla, Washington, Secretary Proctor this morning ordered a court marshal to try Col. Chas. E. Compton, fourth cavalry, for negligence in failing to take proper steps to prevent the lynching. Court will meet on July 1st.

THE HUNT LYNCHERS.

WALLA WALLA, June 18.—Yesterday morning when court opened the room was again crowded with spectators. The first case called up was the one against the seven soldiers Hon. Thos. H. Brents, attorney for the defendants, stated that Patrick McMenamon desired a seperate trial, which was granted by the court. Prosecuting Attorney Blandford stated that the state would proceed with the trial of the other six soldiers. The clerk then called the jury. During the examination of talesmen as to their qualifications to act in the capacity of jurors in this case all were excused except three men upon the grounds of having formed an opinion as to either the guilt or innocence of the soldiers on trial ro on account of their opposition to capital punishment. The judge then ordered the clerk to issue a venire for twelve more names, which was made returnable by the sheriff at 2 o'clock, when the work of securing a jury was resumed. At 3 o'clock the second venire was exhausted and only five jurors had been secured. The judge then ordered the clerk to issued another venire, which was returned at 3:30, and out of which the remainder of the jurors was secured. After they had been accepted by both the state and defence Prosecuting Attorney Blandford addressed them, stating in brief that the state intended to prove that the six soldiers aided in taking A. J. Hunt from the county jail while in the custody of the sheriff and murdered him in the courtyard. Hon. Geo. T. Thompson, in answer to the statement of the prosecuting attorney, stated that the defense intended to show beyond a doubt that the state could not prove that the men charged with the crime were guilty, and further, they were glad to proceed with the case, as the men had been in close confinement for several weeks. The judge informed all witnesses for the state and defense they must retire to the witness room and not come into court during the progress of the trial except when summoned to testify.

A LOW CASH BALANCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 18.—The treasurer's statement issued today shows a net cash balance of but $1,235,000 which is the lowest figurres yet reached.

GENERAL SCHOFIELD MARRIED.

KEOKUK, Iowa, June 18.—The marriage of General Schofield, commander-in-chief, army of the United States to Miss Georgie Kilbourne, of this city took place in St. John's Episcopal church today. As far as was consistent with the high rank of General Schofield and the social prominence of his bride, the wedding was devoid of display. The only military features being the general and his staff appearing in full uniform. Only intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present.

The wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of Mrs. Kilbourne. The National Guards and a camp of Sons of Veterans escorted General Schofield to the hotel at Keokuk where a public reception was held. Forty-five hundred children, each carrying a small flag, were presented, in addition to the veterans and citizens. Late this afternoon General Schofield and bride left on a special car for San Francisco and other western points.

CATTLE ON THE STRIP.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark., June 18—Treasurer Ross, of the Cherokee nation, has opened his headquarters here and will prosecute a vigorous campaign against the cattlemen who have invaded the strip against the order of the government. He will demand payment of one dollar per head for the 150,000 cattle on the strip. If this is not paid, he will order out the Indian police and drive them off. Cattlemen are defiant and say they will fight the police.

TILL TAPPING.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, June 18.—Harry C. Silver, a young man of good family, residing here, was arrested at a late hour Thursday night for robbing a money drawer in the drugstore of Homer S. Myers. Sums of money ranging from $5 to $40 have been missed from the drawer nearly every night for the last two weeks, and suspicion fell upon Silver, who was in the habit of lounging about the store when the clerk was closing up. The money drawer was back of the prescription case and out of sight. Tuesday evening the money in the drawer was marked and an officer secreted in an adjoining room where he could observe the proceedings through a hole in the partition. Silver came into the store at 10 o'clock, spoke to the clerk and lounged behind the prescription case. The officer who saw him take a key from his pocket, open the drawer and extract some money and put it in his pocket then sprang out and arrested him. The marked money was found on his person. Silver is in jail awaiting examination. He is about twenty years old, moved in good social circles and the revelation of his rascality was a great surprise to all. He had no employment, and the amount of money he had recently been spending excited suspicion. He came here with his family from Denver about three months ago. His father and one brother live at Seattle.

CHICAGO, June 18.—A joint committee of the trades unions of this city have decided to send a letter to President Harrison asking that in all work done by the federal government in connection with the world's fair an eight hour day be recognized; all disputes to be settled by arbitration and not less than the recognized minimum scale of wages for various trades be paid. A circular of the minimum scale of wages has been issued to the working men of America and Europe warning them not to come to Chicago in expectation of getting plenty of work and high wages in the construction of the world's fair buildings.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

BOONE, Ia., June 18.—A Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul express train, going east, plunged into Coon river Tuesday night, in a storm, killing five or six persons, fatally injuring from twelve to fifteen. The disaster was caused by heavy rains undermining the approach to the bridge. The train consisted of an engine and seven cars, all of which went into the river except two sleepers in the rear. The engineer of the train was killed. No definite particulars can be procured, as railroad people are reticent about the affair.

Later advices from the scene of the wreck on the St. Paul railway at Coon Rapids, Ia., state that but one life was lost outright; one victim will probably die and twenty-one are injured, some of them severely. Among the injured are William Longenderfer, of Watsonville, Cal., and M. Rust, Boulder, Colo.; Express Messenge Addrojd is missing. The bridge is a total wreck and will be impassible for at least twelve hours. Superintendent Goodnow arrived at daybreak from Omaha, and is doing all in his power to care for the wounded. Physicians on the ground are busy caring for the injured, preparatory to sending them to their homes.

S. B. CRANSTON DEAD.

LINKVILLE, Or., June 18.—Samuel B. Cranston, a well-known lawyer of this county, died yesterday, aged 61.

A MURDERER.

PENDLETON, Ore., June 18.—Word has just reached here from Monument, Grant county, of a double murder which occurred there several days ago. A man named Churchill, who owns a blacksmith shop at Monument, went away from home and left his assistant in charge of the shop. Churchill has a small field adjoining his shop, where persons coming into town have been accustomed to turn their horses, using the blacksmith shop as an entrance, as the gate had been nailed. Churchill instructed his assistant to allow no more horses in the field. On his return home, he found his order had been disobeyed, and a quarrel ensued between himself and the assistant. Churchill drew his revolver and shot the man dead. Churchill then mounted his horse and made his escape. At the head of Shea creek, in Morrow county, he shot and mortally wounded a German whom he met, presumably thinking he was a member of a posse in pursuit of him. A posse has been on the murderer's track several times, but he has thus far eluded them. The names of neither of them could be learned.

FOREIGN.

HE SIMPLY LIES.

ROME, June 18.—Signor Corte, late Italian consul at New Orleans, in his report on the lynching there, says the victims belonged to no particular society, but were murdered simply because they were Italians and competitors in the labor market; furthermore, that after the lynching he and his secretary barricaded themselves in the consulate. The lynchers were only prevented from attacking the consulate by the intervention of influential citizens.

ALSACE AND LORRAINE.

BERLIN, June, 18.—The strengthening of the garrisons in Alsace and Lorraine is being rapidly pushed. One reason for this is that the soldiers are required in increasing numbers as sentries, etc., to enforce the passport regulations with the new rigor recently infused by the kaiser, but, notwithstanding the sentries and their instructions, the Alsatians and Lorrainers continue to pine for France and to lose no ready opportunity to deceive their conquerors and prove their contempt for German officialism. It is said that not less than one-third of the young men of Lorraine are now in the French armies, and ardent for the war that may liberate the territory severed from France.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ills., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as ever she was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Fry's Drug Store, large bottles 50 cts. and $100.

MUSHROOMS.—Mr. Matteson, of the Aumsville Red Hill Berry farm, has not only originated a strawberry of unsurpassed quality, but now enters the ring as champion mushroom raiser of Oregon. This is a new crop for the webfoot state, but as usual Oregon is able to produce a luxury in open air that other lands raise under glass or down cellar. A sample received today measures 18¾ inches in circumference, and weighs half a pound. It is big enough to mushroom sauce a whole beef. How is that for an Oregon production.

"Dinner for Two. Appetite for One!" says a dyspeptic to the waiter, ordering for self and friend. And suppose he had had an appetite it would have agonized him, subsequently, to gratify it. Of the abominable pangs that even a little meal causes the confirmed victim of indigestion, Purgatory on earth—no less. Altogether unnecessary, though. Begin at once, systematically, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, ye unfortunates with refractory stomachs. In saying this we only echo the recorded experience of thousands who have used the great stomachic to their lasting benefit. For the inaction of a sluggish liver, and for tardy or inaction of the bowels, both very ap... to accompany dyspepsia, this fine regulator is equally efficient. Malarial complaints, kidney trouble, rheumatism and neuralgia depart when resort is had to the Bitters.

DIED AT THE LEVER.

Heroic Death of a Brave but Foolhardy Knight of the Throttle.

In my long service as a railroad engineer I have become well acquainted with oil and smoke, coal and cinders. It was while "firing" that the practical knowledge of my engine was gained. It takes time to learn to fire well, so as to have the highest pressure of steam at the grade where needed. His fire must be kept steady and hot, and it is necessary that he know the road as well as the engine.

What with shoveling coal, oiling his engine and looking after his stock of coal and water the fireman is a busy man.

When I began firing under Nell Aness I knew him to be a good hearted, pleasant fellow, and he always spoke pleasantly to me while I was learning my duties, and I must have been a trying chap at first.

One bitter cold night in the month of January found us pulling out of Omaha, westward bound, about twenty minutes late.

Our train was heavy, the rails frosty, and the wheels seemed to stick to the line, while the icy winds almost froze the blood in our veins. We used every ounce of steam. It takes more coal to make steam on such a night, though the fire seems to burn fiercer and brighter.

As we pulled out Nell showed in his determined manner and by the way he handled her that he meant to make up the twenty minutes, for all ahead our line was clear.

On we sped, counting off the milestones at the rate of forty an hour where the road was level. Ah, these bleak winter nights!

Hopefully we peer into the darkness, but can only see what the headlight shows us.

"No. 145" eastbound freight train running to Omaha would either sidetrack at a small station called Sheldon or one three miles further east called Elbling, until we passed. We passed Elbling at 10:45, and it was a comfort to think there would be no delay on our road, and we swept swiftly onward toward Sheldon, where we expected "No. 145" to be safely sidetracked, since she had not run into Elbling.

But an unavoidable accident had occurred just around a curve, where the road followed the smooth, winding bank of the Platte.

An axle had broken and got one of their cars off the track. The train hands—conductor and brakemen—were in the caboose for warmth, and did not notice the accident for a time. The train was finally brought to a standstill, and as they did so other cars were derailed, which threw the whole train into confusion. Signals are often obscure in the frosty air, and they said we came upon them very quickly after the signal lanterns were gotten out.

As we shot around the curve going at a great speed I saw the steam from the freight engine. Nell was looking out on his side.

"We are lost, Nell!" I shouted. "No. 145 is on our line." In an instant we had shut off, reversed and whistled for brakes.

As we came up I swung out, for I saw death ahead of us.

"Jump, Nell!" I cried. He glanced toward me, and then straight ahead. The look on his face seemed to say to me, "It is all right for you to go; I must not leave my engine!" In that one lightning glance I seemed to see the brave, heroic soul of my engineer shining in his honest, pleasant face. Then I jumped, rolled over and over down the steep river bank, and landed on the ice. There was a mighty crash, and I saw from the spot where I had fallen, dazed but unhurt, our engine and several cars pitched headlong down the embankment. The silence of the night was broken by agonizing cries for help and heartrending screams and prayers.

We who were uninjured worked with a will. Twelve passengers were killed and many injured. I looked and watched for Nell, hoping he would soon be seen at work among us. After clearing away piles of wreck, we found him at dawn lying under his engine in the shallow water beneath the ice. He met death fearlessly with his hand on the lever, giving his own life in the hope that others might be saved. Brave Nell Aness! He was, indeed, a hero.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Turning the Tables on the Church.

One of the earlier yeomen of Bridgton was a pump maker, a good citizen, but with "no religious preferences." One day he was waited upon by one of the church assessors, who handed him a bill for the support of preaching.

"I hain't heard no preaching," said the old man, somewhat surprised.

"Well, brother, it's your own fault then," replied the churchman. "It's been accessible to all, every Sabbath for a year."

The old gentleman acknowledged the corn and paid. Not long after this the parish received from him a bill for a pump.

"We have bought no pump of you," was the answer.

"Well, then," replied the old gentleman, with a twinkle in his eye, "it's your own fault, for I have been making them for years."—Lewiston Journal.

John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says. "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life.
