urged her to marry him. This she refused to do. Leundry thereupon pulled out a revolver and fired right at the girl's head. The bullet grazed her left ear, and she fell in a swoon. The brute then planted his foot on her prostrate body, and aiming at her heart, he fired the second shot. He then shot himself as stated. Doctors say that he cannot possibly recover. He met Miss Corrigan some weeks ago and at once became infatuated. She never liked him, and as much as possible repelled his attentions. The affair may impair her mind, it is feared.

FIRE AT LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—Shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday the Solomon block was destroyed by fire. It was a two-story brick block, occupied by the Cable grocery, Pacific States restaurant, Harris & Dukeman, wholesale jewelers, and a number of small offices and lodgings. The building is valued at $65,000, and was insured for $18,000. Harris & Dukeman's loss is $5000, insured for $1500. There were numerous other losses, considerable in the aggregate, but small individually.

MASONRY DENOUNCED.

BOSTON, June 23.—During the regular Monday meeting of the Baptist ministers the Rev. J. B Stoddard delirvered an address on the influence of secret societies, and denounced Masonry in the strongest terms. The Rev. Mr. Cleveland, of Melrose, arose and said he was a Mason and could not listen to the unjust and uncalled for abuse. He made a point of order. It was defeated, 50 to 7, and Mr. Cleveland, after requesting the conference to strike his name from the membership roll, left the hall.

FIVE BOYS DROWNED AT WASHINGTON

The Anaconda not Sold, The Treasury Balance, Wants our Governor, A Young Scoundrel, State and Foreign News, Etc.

BEARDSLEY'S SENTENCE SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—John Beardsley, ex-city treasurer, who several days ago pleaded guilty of embezzlement of public funds, was brought to court for sentence today, but on motion of the district attorney the sentence was suspended indefinitely.

District attorney opened the proceedings by stating that he wished to call some witnesses, from whom the court could get information on which to pass sentence. An expert accountant had testified that Beardsley, in his two years and a half of incumbency of the office of city treasurer, had received $200,000 interest on the public funds, and that Beardsley used $500,000 in speculation and had leaned $600,000 to one banking firm and $200,000 to another. He also loaned $400,000 to the Bradford Mills Company, of which he was owner. Beardsley also sold and converted to his own use, $57,000 worth of government bonds he held for the city, but this money was subsequently returned. Expert found that Beardsley's stock operations had cost him in the neighborhood of $100,000.

THREE BOYS DROWNED.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—While diving from a spring-plank yesterday, John Chanlis, aged 10, nephew of the late millionaire Chanlis, struck his head on the bottom and was drowned. When young John McKeown, son of the millionaire oil king, jumped in to save him, the half-unconscious boy dragged him down. Walter Jones, aged 13, son of the presiding elder of the Washington district of the Methodist Episcopal church, leaped in in a brave effort to save his two friends, but was overcome and all three were drowned.

TWO OTHERS DROWNED.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Two sad cases of drowning occurred here yesterday of boys adout 15 years of age. One of them, Charles Davis, while carrying a milkcan on board a steamboat, slipped from the gangplank, and although a brave man jumped after him and tried to save him, he went down in sight of his frantic and heartbroken mother, who stood on the wharf. The other, Roger Connell, a colored boy, while bathing got beyond his depth and lost his life.

THE ANACONDA MINE.

NEW YORK, June 23.—A San Francisco dispatch was published Sunday in which it was said the famous Anaconda copper mine, near Butte, Mont., had been sold for $25-000,000 to an English syndicate. The owners of the mine are Marcus Daly, J. B. Haggin and Lloyd Tevis. Mr. Haggin was first seen by a Tribune reporter. He said positively there was not a word of truth in the report and he did not know whether the mine ever would be sold. Marcus Daly was seen by a reporter and said: "Less than a week ago there was not money enough in the world to buy the Anaconda."

TREASURY BALANCE.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—A statement prepared in the office of the secretary of the treasury giving operations to date shows a net balance in the treasury of $4,765,000.

A YOUNG SCOUNDREL.

PARKERSBURG, W.Va., June 23.—Clarence Neal, a boy 18 years of age, who killed his father when only 14 years old, committed another bloody crime while attending a church festival at Riverside Friday night. Neal got into a difficulty with another boy named Dobson. After the boys had been seperated a short time, Neal went in search of Dobson with the intention of killing him. Charles Skidmore, a boy of 15, was standing by leaning against a tree, and as he was dressed like Dobson, Neal mistook him for the latter. He slipped up beside Skidmore and struck him on the head with a loaded whip, crushing his skull and inflicting fatal wounds. Neal killed his father four years ago with an iron poker, and, although it was proven that he had threatened his father, on account of his youth and through sympathy for his family, he was acquitted on the ground of self-defense. The boy has always been vicious and feared by all who knew him.

A QUEEN'S ESCAPE.

BERLIN, June 23.—A Dresden dispatch says that Queen Carola of Saxony is suffering from severe nervous prostration as a result of her narrow escape from death, a few days ago, while visiting Baron Gudonus, at his estate in Monrovia. It appears that while the queen was being driven to the railway station, a tremendous thunder storm and a flash of lightning struck the carriage. The horses began to rear and started to run, but the coachman held bravely to the reins and got them under control. The queen, who behaved with remarkable calmness at the time of the danger, afterward suffered from reaction and became prostrated.

A PLUCKY WOMAN.

LONDON, June 23.—In cabling from Zanzibar to her relatives here, Mrs. French-Sheldon made no mention of her serious illness as described in a cable by Reuter from the same place. In catching the steamer Madeira for her return, Mrs. Sheldon carried out the exact program we arranged before starting. She spent a month in Kilimanjaro district, and even visited places not included in her original plans; for instance, no one expected that in her trip toward Mount Kilimanjaro, where she had been preceded by such experienced explorers as Thomson, Johnstone and Myers, she would be able to add much to the existing geographical knowledge. In point of fact, her aim was to study the people of Kilimanjaro plateau. She had, however, been fortunate enough to explore for the first time Lake Chela, which because of its situation at the bottom of a crater with perpendicular sides, was suppsoed to be inaccessable. At Taneta, Mrs. Sheldon met with Mr. Anstruther, who intended to explore Lake Chela, which is situated about ten miles north of Taneta. With great difficulty a road was cut through the trees and creepers down to the surface of the lake. Mrs. Sheldon's porters found an old pontoon which had been abandoned at Taueta by a Russian prince which they improvised into a boat. Only one of seventy porters could be induced to join Mrs. Sheldon and Mr. Anstruther in exploring this "devil's water," as they called it. They found plenty of crocodiles and wild ducks in the lakes. Curiously enough, there was a rapid current in the water, showing that the lake itself is in the course of an underground river.

AFFAIRS IN CHILI.

NEW YORK, June 23.—A correspondent at Iuique, telegraphs to his paper that Balmaceda is likely to have trouble with the British government over the collection from a vessel flying the British flag, of duty on nitrate brought into Lochilla. The British minister has made a vigorous protest. What action Balmaceda will take cannot be learned but, it is probable he will return the money. The correspondent also states it would seem the British government is doing all in its power without resort to arms to aid the insurgent's cause. He further states the prospect looks very gloomy for Balmaceda.

TOOK BUCKET AND ALL.

PORTLAND, June 23.—P. Chaperon, a French baker in business at No, 92 Harrison street, at the corner of Fifth, was politely relieved of $150 at an early hour Sunday morning. Chaperon has been in the habit of leaving his weeks' earnings in a tin bucket in his cellar. Sunday morning, as usual, he left the shop about 7 o'clock to deliver bread and cakes to his customers. When he returned at 11:30 the money was missing. The bucket was gone also. The bucket contained $135.30 in cash and two checks, one for $13,15 and the other for $1,55. The payment on the checks has been stopped. This is the third time Chaperon has been robbed within six months.

SHOOTING AT PRINEVILLE.

PORTLAND, Or., June 23.—A letter from Prineville tells of a serious shooting affray which occurred last Thursday. B. F. Isenhoot, of that city, and Allan Henry, a Chico, Cal., stockman, who has a ranch in Crook county, have been in litigation for some time over land and stock worth $20,000. Thursday last Isenhoot walked into Templeton's drug store at Prineville and presenting a revolver, began firing on Henry without a word of warning. Henry was shot in the left side just below the heart, the ball lodging in the heart. Dr. Gesner extracted the ball and thinks that Henry will recover. Isenhoot fled and at last accounts had not been apprehended.

SWEATING BY ELECTRICITY.

Clever Japanese Rogues Who Can Steal Fifty Cents from an Eagle.

The methods of the Japanese, who, for the purpose of defrauding the government, will spend days on the scooping out of a small silver coin, which he eventually fills with baser metal, are much improved on in these progressive days. A large number of short weight gold coins are in circulation, and the frequency with which they are met with has led to investigations which show that there has been for some time a systematic scheme for robbing the government by stealing metal from the coins.

Some years ago a series of tests were made by the government for the purpose of defining the actual loss by abrasion in the moving of gold coins. It was found that five dollars was lost by abrasion every time $1,000,000 in gold coin was handled. Bags containing $5,000 each were lifted to a truck to be removed to another vault, and the mere lifting of the 200 bags caused the loss stated, and their transfer from the truck again made a second similar loss.

This shows how readily gold can be removed from the coins, but this method is much too slow for the clever rogues, who realize the value of scientific appliances. The work of abrasion is now done by electricity, after the manner of the electroplating of gold. An ordinary galvanic battery and some cheap acid is procured.

The coin is placed in the fluid, and attached to it are wires from the poles of the battery, leading to another piece of metal prepared to receive, in the form of plating, the metal to be removed from the coin. Sufficient gold to form a plating is quickly transferred, and, as it is removed uniformly from all parts of the coin, the liability of disfigurement is reduced to a minimum, the only effect being to blur the characters slightly.

In this way about fifty cents' worth of gold can be removed from a ten dollar goldpiece without a very marked change in the appearance of the coin. The eye of an expert, however, detects the alteration at a glance. One of the employes in the New York sub-treasury is said to have become so skilled in this branch of the work by years of experience that he can tell by mere touch, with closed eyes, whether a piece is spurious metal or has been tampered with.

It is stated that the sweating of gold by electricity in this country is practiced almost entirely by foreign swindlers who have been driven from their own country for similar offenses.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

While the Angels Listened.

Little Frances is three years old.

She is the proud possessor of a fat rubber doll which goes by the name of Edna.

Frances and Edna are inseparable companions.

One day Frances' mamma discovered the newly polished window pane covered with finger marks, and she spoke to the child in this wise:

"Frances, mamma didn't see who made all those finger marks on mamma's nice clean window pane, because her back was turned, but the dear Lord up in the sky saw who did it, and the angels wrote it down in a big book. Now tell me, Frances, do you know who marked up mamma's window?"

"Yes'm," replied Baby Frances, looking mamma straight in the eye.

"Now, you must tell me right, you know, because the angels are listening."

"Yes'm."

"Frances, who marked up mamma's window like that?"

"Edna," replied the tot promptly, pointing to her rubber doll.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

He—I cannot hold you to your promise of marriage until I have first confessed three terrible tragedies which have saddened my life.

She (with emotion)—Go on.

He—The first occurred at a summer resort. I took a girl out in a boat, we got caught in a whirlpool, the boat upset, and in spite of my exertions to save her she was drowned.

She—You were not to blame for that. Do not worry about it longer.

He—The second occurred in the winter. I was out skating with a young lady, when she suddenly disappeared through an airhole, and in an instant was beyond human aid.

She—That certainly was not your fault. I will marry you, of course.

He—The third also happened in the winter. I took a girl out sleighing and she froze to death.

She—Begone!—New York Weekly.

A New Kind of a Card.

"Here is a card that typifies my line of business," said an energetic tradesman to a friend, handing out a business card so light and thin that but for its elasticity and crackle a blind man would have said that it was gold leaf. It was thinner than ordinary writing paper, and yet it had the elastic qualities of fine bristol board. "That card is made of aluminium," said the tradesman, "and it is a novelty. It is the finest card made, and as I sell the finest goods made it typifies my business. It is more durable than anything that I have been able to find, and I have tried everything made of paper, metal, wood and celluloid."—New York Times.
