Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge: "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done such offective work in my family as Boschee's Sore Throat, winter a lady called German Syrup. Last Hoarseness, at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in ature as a few doses had given her relief." @

WILLIAM AND HIS SMILE.

The Chienge Police Meet an Original Character in Overalla. The most original character with whom the police have had to do for months struck town on Tuesday. His name is William Rexford, and he halls from a farm near Sioux City, Ia. William is a blonde faced. long eared country boy of nineteen years, wears blue overalls, a hickory shirt and an expansive, guileless smile. After leaving the train William bought a lifteen cent dinner, and then found himself penntless and alone in a strange city. But William was not dismayed. He trudged along Milwaukee avenue, gazing at the sights and attracting no small degree of attention himself. He stopped to look in the window of George Toborg's gun store. Then he grinned more broadly than ever and entered the store.

He priced several revolvers and finally selected a large double action one and said he'd take it. He also said he would take a he'd take it. He also said he would take a crop will be a success. Clean goods box of cartridges, and started to load the weapon.

The trade at the Salem Woolen Mid-

The proprietor anxiously interfered and offered to do the loading himself, fearful that this guileless country lad did not know how. Then Mr. Toborg explained how the weapon worked and bauded it beck to William with a "four dollars, please," smile, which made William grin oader than ever.

"Hand over yer cash, mister," said Willism, still smiling, and leveling the loaded revolver at the proprietor's head.
He threw up his hands and gasped.

Murder! murder!" and fell, rather than ran, the whole length of the store and out of doors. There he found Officers Dietz The two officers, with dark lanterns and cocked revolvers, searched the rear of the store for the guileless William, and their groped their way down to the basement. William was behind a post, revolver in hand. He received the officers with his hearty eating, is relieved at once by takin one of Carter's Little Laver Fills, immediately after dinner. Don't forget this. "Well, Pil be gosh derned!"

William is lodging at the Rawson street olice station, where he has already become great favorite. He has confided to his new found friends that he thought it would be an easy matter to replenish his pocket-book in Chicago by holding up people. He said he was "down to Omaha" a couple years ago, and "held up a well dressed feller and pulled $500 outen his pockets."

"But," continued William, in smiling onfidence and giving his overalls a hitch, they ketched me and sent me up for a year. Then I went back to farmin'. On my way back to Chicago I stopped off for a eek ag'n and had just fair luck." William says he has no "pertickler" ob-jections to going to Joliet "fer a spell."-

Trials of a Popular Teacher. A young woman who teaches school in a neighboring town is now suffering from the results of a sincere act of kindness that she recently performed. The young woman thought it would be a nice thing that she recently performed. The young woman thought it would be a nice thing one pleasant, sunny day not long ago to give the children of her class an outing. There were about thirty in the class, and they were all youngsters of tender years. She informed them at the noon hour that she would take them for a walk in the she would take them for a walk in the afternoon, and at the request of several who wanted their little brothers and sisters to go along she gave permission to all of them to bring their friends if they chose. This was what caused all her trouble. She did not know how popular she was and what an attraction the prospect of a walk in the fields was to the children of the

When school was over she started out with her class. The route had been pre-viously announced, and as they went along they met contingents of the friends MRS. M. J. PATTON, Studio and Art Gallery in Eldridge block, opposite Smith's art store. Lessons given, pictures for sale or painted to order. Those interunder the charge of one young woman. Everything went fairly well in the city, but when the fields were reached the children broke ranks and scattered and the young woman was unable to control them, although she did her best.

The weather changed and the rain began A. R. WILLARD, Blacksmith and horse-shoer. All work guaranteed. Shop on State street, near court house. The weather changed and the rain began to fall, and the young woman gathered her charges about her as best she could and charges about her as best she could and started for home, the children straggling along after her. The rain was not serious, and most of the children, dropping out of line as it neared their homes, reached their mothers in safety, but in the hurry some straggled and were lost, and through the early hours of the evening their distracted parents sought for them, finally discover ing them in the police station. The young woman is now receiving a great deal of blame for letting the children go adrift, and she says that probably she deserves it, although it seems to her to be rather hard, in view of her kind intentions.-New York Tribune.
