LOST HIS REASON.

ST. PAUL, July 3.—Andrew Row, a wealthy miner and stock breeder, who owns vast property about Wardner, Idaho, was taken from the east-bound train at Wasaca, Minn., in a violent state of insanity. He said he wanted to die, and asked Sheriff Reynolds what means he could propose to pursue in killing him. Mr. Row is on his way to Europe, and said he had arranged to visit a couple of brothers and a cousin at Norrisville, Eau Claire county, Wis. His tickets read to that point from Spokane Falls, Wash. He says he lost his reason one night when the train came to a sudden stop, and he thought it had left the track. On his person were found drafts on Idaho and Washington banks for $10,000, cash to the amount of $230, and a gold and silver watch. His valise contained a note for $600, deeds to mining property and valuable specimens. He lost some on the road. Dispatches regarding his condition have been sent to his friends in Europe, Idaho and Wisconsin. In the meantime he is confined in the Wasaca jail.

MURDERED.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 3.—James Hawkins, Joe Lockett, Jr., and Howard Dobson went from Acker's mills to Buffalo, Feelman county, a few miles from this city, where Hawkins made several purchases, showing a roll of money. In the evening Lockett told the other two to go a certain route home, and he would overtake them. Hawkins and Dobson started home, and when at the foot of a mountain were halted by two masked men. Dobson ran, and the two men fired a number of shots at Hawkins, several of them taking effect. Hawkins was found yesterday morning, and just before dying described the appearance of the highwaymen. Dobson was arrested and said Luther Glenn and Joe Lockett Jr., were the masked men who killed Hawkins. Hawkins boarded with Lockett's father, and was supposed to have a large sum of money. Glenn was arrested in the afternoon and Lockett late in the evening. A strong guard is watching the jail at Winfield where the prisoners are. It is feared they will be lynched.

A STEAMSHIP SUNK.

NEW ORLEANS, July 3.—News is received here of the sinking of the Southern Pacific Company's steamboat, Helen Mead, in the Gulf of Mexico, when en route from this city to Nicaragua in tow of the steamship William Hewis. The vessel was bought at Vicksburg to run on the Blue Field river in Nicaragua as a transport, and was brought here and coppered. Soon after leaving here she sprung a leak, and sunk shortly after. Her crew had been transferred to the Hewis.

THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE ACT.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 3.—The grand jury returned some indictments for a violation of the inter-state commerce act. A prominent official of the Wabash railway, is said to be among those indicted roads, gave a firm a rebate on flour exported. An official of the Grand Trunk is also said to have been indicted.

PARNELL AND THE BISHOPS.

DUBLIN, July 3.—The Irish Roman Catholic bishops have reaffirmed the declaration that Parnell is unfit to be the leader of the Irish people, and that he is unworthy of the confidence of Roman Catholics. They call upon Irishmen to repudiate them.

OLD STRIKERS DISMISSED.

ALBANY, N. Y. July 3.—The employes of the New York Central & Hudson River Railway Company say the men that struck last August and were reinstated after the collapse of the strikers, are being dismissed now. It is believed they were blacklisted and now that the company has recovered from the effects of the strike, it is ridding itself of these men.

H. CLAY KING GUILTY.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 3.—The verdict of the jury in the H. Clay King for killing D. H. Preston, is guilty of murder in the first degree.

YACHTS REPORTED LOST.

DETROIT, July 3.—The Detroit Yacht club, fleet of 26 yachts left here last night to take part in the regatta today at New Baltimore, Mich. The fleet was caught in a heavy wind storm on Lake St. Clair and so far only seven boats have reached their destination. Much anxiety is felt for the safety of the other 19 boats and their crews.

"Hunger is the Best Sauce."

As a rule, a person who has a good appetite has good health. But how many there are who enjoy nothing they eat, and sit down to meals only as an unpleasant duty. Nature's antidotes for this condition are so happily combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla that it soon restores good digestion, creates an appetite, and removes and vitalizes the blood so that the beneficial effects of good food is imparted the whole body. Truly hunger is the best sauce, and Hood's Sarsaparilla induces hunger.

The Coming Line.

FEARFUL TRAIN WRECK.

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO., July 3.—Nineteen passengers were killed and burned to cinders at three this morning by a freight train telescoping a passenger train on Erie Railroad at Ravenna, Ohio, forty miles west of here. Thirty eight or forty were injured. The passenger train was standing at the depot when freight train struck it. Two sleeping cars and a day coach took fire and were quickly destroyed. Train was bound for New York and heavily loaded with passengers going to spend the Fourth with friends. A special train was sent from here with surgeons and nurses to care for the wounded. Fire spread rapidly and it was impossible to rescue many of the injured and they were cremated in the wreck. The accident in loss of life and property is the most extensive ever suffered by the Erie Railway. The day coach contained a party of people from Findlay coming here to spend the Fourth.

Many passengers on the train were asleep when the awful crash came and a number were crushed to death in their berths. A terrible scene followed, there were cries for help from all parts of the train, mingled with the dying moans of others whose lives were crushed out. Soon the wreck caught fire and flames crowded upon those who were held fast in the debris. In several instances persons were slowly burned to death while pleading with their last breath for help which could not be rendered. The fire was finally extinguished but not until several persons had perished. Some were so badly burned and disfigured it will be a difficult task to identify them. Coroner will begin an inquest this afternoon. The company officials will render all assistance possible and will make most thorough investigation. It would appear the whole accident was due the carelessness of some one leaving the switch open. The heavy freight train was running at the rate of 40 miles an hour and it struck the passenger train with full force.

Following is the list of dead: David Relishn, F. Huff, A. Dutherp, W. Kane, F. Burns, Kimball Demeen, S. Coyle, O. Harding, D. Ryan, C. Cassidy, W. Newcomb, P. Noland and a nurse unknown. All but three were burned to a crisp. Thomas Colvig was taken out of the wreck alive. He was terribly crushed and burned and his suffering was awful. In an agonizing voice he called to his friend. "Billy, for God's sake get an axe and kill me." He died soon after. Henry Gildea was badly injured and died soon after being taken to the hotel. Dead and injured were employed in Richardson Glass works at Findlay, Ohio, which shut down yesterday for the summer, and they were on their way to Corning, N. Y., their home. They were all on an extra car, attached to the train, and only one is known to have been on the sleeper and that was Nurse J. Griffin.

A NEGRO LYNCHED.

FORT GAINES, July 3.—About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, the 15-year-old daughter of a prominent man residing near Bluffton was aroused from sleep by the rude touch of a negro man, whom she saw standing over her. Her screams frightened the miscreant and also brought her father to the rescue, who fired at the negro as he ran off, but without effect. Suspicion pointed to Dan Buck, a negro of bad character residing on the place, and he was arrested. On being closely questioned he confessed, admitting his atrocious purpose, and also admitting that he had served a five-year sentence in the penitentiary of Alabama for a similar offence. He was lodged in the calaboose at Bluffton. Soon the citizens of the surrounding country began coming into Bluffton armed with Winchester rifles, double-barrelled shotguns and pistols. When about 200 had assembled, the sheriff was placed under guard and the crowd battered down the door of the calaboose, threw a rope around the culprit's neck and dragged him to the woods near by. He was stripped, swung up by the heels and literally riddled with bullets. The verdict of the jury of inquest was: "We find that Dan Buck, having confessed the crime of attempt to rape a respectable white girl, the citizens rose up en masse and killed him."

A PAMPERED DOG.

ST. PAUL, July 3.—The will of Mrs. May I. Dayton, who died in San Francisco June 8, was filed here and is both a literary and legal curosity. The property is mostly in Minnesota and is valued at about $250,000. She cuts off her husband with as little as possible, gives the bulk of her fortune to James C. Reed, of New York, and makes provision for the keeping of her beloved dog, Tanso, by setting aside five dollars a week for him as long as he shall live. Reed will get about $200,000. He was private secretary for the late President Arthur and it is claimed is a son of Mrs. Dayton by an early marriage. She leaves Lyman C. Dayton, her husband, only so much of her Minnesota real estate as he would have been entitled to had no will been made. She makes small bequests to a dozen lady friends in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Minnesota. A copy of the will was served on Mr. Dayton in Minneapolis this afternoon. He immediately became furious, denounced the will as a forgery and filed a petition for letters of administration, alleging that Mrs. Dayton died without leaving any last will and testament, and that there are no heirs except himself. The hearing of the case is set for July 14th, and a bitter and prolonged contest is foreshadowed.

ARRESTED FOR BOYCOTTING.

PORTYAND, July 3.—J. O'Brien, president of the federated trades and C. M. Carson, president of the Baker's Union, were arrested this morning on warrants sworn out by the OregonGerman Bakery Company. The men are accused of causing a distribution of handbills declaring a boycott against the bakery company.

THE PLATE PRINTERS.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Gompers and Secretary Evans, of the federation of labor, arrived from New York yesterday afternoon, and called on Secretary Foster in relation to the troubles in the bureau of engraving and printing. They formally protested against the injustice of showing any favoritism to a particular class of plate printers. He believed that the rules governing the employment of plate printers should be strictly observed.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, last night made public a lengthy statement regarding the controversy over the employment of plate printers. He begins in asserting that the statements credited to Secretary Foster are entirely false. The secretary has stated that the matter was not the subject of discussion at Mansfield between Senators Sherman and McKinley and himself. Powderly asserts that the matter was discussed at Mansfield, and a settlement advised, and Powderly holds proof over McKinley's signature. On the 30th of June Secretary Foster concluded an agreement with Messrs. Devlin and Cavanaugh to reinstate the discharged men, and even went so far as to write a letter to one of them embodying the agreement. That letter Powderly says he holds. According to Devlin's memoranda, the terms were: "That the seven men dropped from the rolls in the plate printing department shall be restored to their former places, or places of equal importance and pay, and shall be treated with the same fairness and consideration as other plate printers, by the chief and assistants in the bureau; that four of them shall be restored withiu ten days, and the balance within two weeks from date."

STRIKERS BADLY BEATEN.

PITTSBURG, July 3.—The carpenters who will go to work after the 4th at their employers' terms have done two things they did not count on during the nine week's strike. They have forced a score of small contractors into the power of the master builders, who advanced them money, thus making the builders' association more of a monopoly than ever. An unexpected effect of the failure is the black eye received by the federation of labor. That order will lose several thousand members from this district, owing to its non-fulfillment of a promise to provide money for the strikers. This is also true of the great coke strike.

STATE.

BIG FIRE IN PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, July 3.—Early this morning a fire occurred in the three story brick block and two story frame building corner of Clay and Front streets. The frame building was occupied by the foundry of Honeyman & Company and was totally consumed. The brick block contained Johnson & Lehman's flour and feed mill, and E. E. Henry's mattress factory. It was only partially destroyed. The total loss will reach about $40,000. The principal losers are the Honeyman Foundry company, $24,000; insurance, $8000; Johnson & Lehman $3,000, insurance $2,000. E. E. Henry $10,000; insurance 6,000. Other small losses will aggregate about $3,000. It is thought the fire was of incendiary origin.

BITTEN BY A VENOMOUS COBRA.

Rapidity with Which the Poison Courses Through a Victim's Veins.

The African cobra is known as the "spitting snake" on account of its power to throw its venom quite a distance into the eyes of its enemy. It is a lazy reptile, save when stirred to anger, when it cannot be equaled for swiftness and accuracy in spitting or biting its victim.

The spitting is accomplished by expelling the breath sharply through the mouth, so that the soapy venom flies straight as a pea thrown from a pipe into the victim's eyes.

This cobra attains the length of six feet, and is large and powerful. It is doubly formidable from the fact that it can swim in the rivers very swiftly, and has no fear. In swimming the cobra moves along very rapidly, with its snout and beady eyes just above the water's surface.

"When I was stationed with my regiment in Ceylon I had experiences with the Indian breed of cobra that were very exciting," says Lieutenant Jephson.

"My servants rushed into the bungalow one morning, begging me to save the life of a man who had been bitten by a cobra. I hastened out on to the veranda, to find a crowd of men and women bringing in a man in a state of semi-unconsciousness. They showed me two deep red spots in his instep, where the serpent's fangs had been.

"I felt of his legs, and found that they were already 'stone' cold, although the man had been bitten but ten minutes before.

"Drawing my knife from my pocket I opened the sharpest blade and proceeded at once to cut deeply into the man's instep around the bitten part and cut the flesh away. Meanwhile I had sent in for a redhot poker.

"When the iron came I pressed its glowing end forcibly against the wound, searing the flesh about the instep. Then I poured a quart of whisky down the poor wretch's throat as rapidly as possible.

"He was so paralyzed from the effect of the swift poison that he suffered no pain from the searing of his flesh, but murmured only:

"'Burn, Dory, burn!'

"I watched him anxiously for half an hour, when he was able to open his eyes. Then I gave him more whisky, and found that his pulse was much better. Another hour found him able to rise, after which I had the servants exercise him as much as possible in order to counteract the deadly coma which constantly came on.

"The next morning the man was quite well save for the deep wound in his instep. I am sorry to say that he was always lame afterward, for it seems that I had severed a cord in his instep in my surgical attempt. But he became a sort of a pensioner in my bungalow, following me around as a grateful dog would do.

"I used to point to him with pride when my guests were present and say, 'I cured that man of a cobra's bite.'

"There is a vine which grows in India called the aristolochia indica which has cured many persons bitten by cobras, I am informed. They say that they crush a young leaf and apply it to the wound as soon as possible after the bite is inflicted."—San Francisco Examiner.

To Tell When a Car Is Loaded.

A device that will enable a railroad employe to determine when a car is loaded consistent with safety or with economical wear has been a "long felt want" in railroad circles. An apparatus has been invented to supply this demand, and owing to its simplicity it is likely to come into general favor. The device consists of two distinct parts, the upper part being attached to the truck, above the spring on the side of the car, while the other part is fixed below the spring.

An adjustable pin is carried by the top part, and the bottom end of this touches the index finger that works over the dial of the bottom piece. When the apparatus is once adjusted the index, as the car is loaded, will indicate on the dial "full load" or "overloaded," as the case may be.—Exchange.

Slang in 1832.

In 1832 Coleridge, in his "Table Talk," spoke of the word talented as follows: "I regret to see that vile and barbarous vocable 'talented' stealing out of the newspapers into the leading reviews and most respectable publications of today. Why not 'shillinged,' 'farthinged,' 'tenpenced,' etc.? The formation of a participle passive from a noun is a license which nothing but a very peculiar felicity can excuse. If mere convenience is to justify such attempts upon the idiom, you cannot stop till the language becomes, in the proper sense of the word, corrupt. Most of these pieces of slang come from America."

California's Model Constitution.

California's first constitution was adopted in 1849, and the state has had a new constitution since then. It was adopted in 1876, and furnishes an admirable illustration of the manner in which people who do not enjoy the benefit of the town meeting provide for the most minute and intimate subjects in the fundamental law of the state.—Henry Loomis Nelson in Harper's.
