

times by the persons who murdered the children.

She has been arrested and taken to Orleans. The only theory advanced is that the old lady was demented.

SHE LOVED FIRE.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Josephine Mochroff, the 17-year-old girl who was arrested with her father Henry Mochroff on Sunday last on suspicion of arson in having set fire to the premises in which they lived in Williamsburgh, made a confession to the fire marshal in which she acknowledged herself guilty. Fire Marshal Lewis will request Justice Kenyon to have her mental condition inquired into. She says she set fire to her father's house six times last Sunday between 8 o'clock in the afternoon and 8 at night. "I poured oil over the floor and other places," she said, "and then I lit a match and set fire to it. No one was present while I was doing it and no one told me to do it. I did it because I love the fire and like to see it blaze."

A TERRIBLE STORM.

ST. PAUL, July 17.—The Pioneer-Press special from West Superior, Wis., says: A wind storm of terrific violence swept over Superior yesterday. There was heavy rain, and the air was heavily charged with electricity. The storm lasted only a short time, but in that time did great damage to property, besides taking at least five lives and injuring a number of persons.

During the height of the storm an alarm of fire was turned in from the Fifth ward, and the department responded, to find the new large three-story hotel in course of construction on Third street, near Lamborn avenue, a mass of ruins. The structure was blown down, and the cry went up that the wreck was the tomb of many men. The news flashed over the city, and a hundred citizens rushed to the spot. In spite of the rain, the visitors rushed in and assisted the firemen in the rescue. Fully 2000 people were at the ruins. So far as learned the dead are: John Laur, Chas. Lucio, Herman Pansey, an unknown man, and John Schofield. Among the more seriously injured are: John Brown and John Lov, who will probably die. An eye witness of the disaster says he saw a crowd of workmen run into the building to seek shelter from the storm. Fully thirty or forty men must have been inside. This disaster was the central feature, but much damage was done in all directions.

PORT OF PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Or., July 17.—A meeting of the commission having the directions of the affairs of the Port of Portland was held at 11:30 yesterday at Ladd & Tilton's bank.

President W. S. Ladd presided.

The intention of the commission is to issue bonds to the amount of $500,000, divided as follows: Three hundred bonds of $1000 each, $300,000; 200 bonds of $500 each, $100,000; and 1000 bonds of $100 each, $100,000. On these interest at 8 per cent will be paid.

Now that the act is declared constitutional it is believed that no trouble will arise in disposing of the bonds.

UNITED WORKMEN.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 17.—The grand lodge of the Ancient Order United Workmen in session here transacted the following business: It was decided the grand lodge session shall be changed from a biennial to an annual one. The grand lodge laws were intended to have all work done in the workman degree, other than the opening and closing, which is done in the grand lodge degree. This affords all Workmen in good standing an opportunity to sit in the grand lodge in the business session. The committee on dissolution, that is, the separation of the lodge of Washington and British Columbia from the present grand lodge, presented the report. Reference was made to Grand Master Daly, Grand Foreman Colson, and all the past grand masters present at the session. The report favors the separation, and gives an agreement under which the division would be made a separation. It will take effect December 3, 1891, at which time Supreme Grand Master Workman Kingsley will reorganize the grand lodge of Washington. It is possible that the grand lodge of British Columbia, under the act and authority of the supreme lodge, will be annexed to the grand lodge of Ontario. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Grand master, D. Solis Cohen; grand foreman, B. J. Hawthorne; Eugene; grand overseer, J. L. Rand; Baker City; grand recorder, Newton Clark; Riverside; grand receiver, R. L. Durban; Hope; grand trustee, William Armstrong; three years' supreme representatives, J. J. Daly, T. A. Stevens and H. L. Smith.

HAD NO AUTHORITY.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 17.—This is the third day of the inquest in the Brown case and more than a dozen witnesses have testified. Bredvoe and Coates were the men who dealt the blows which killed Brown. Marshal Gard testified he did not depose the men who tried to make the arrest of the sailors and they had no legal authority for the assault. The injured men now on board the Charleston are recovering.

EARTHQUAKE.

HOLLISTER, Cal., July 17.—Quite a severe earthquake was felt here early this morning. No damage.

GORED BY A BULL.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 17.—Walter Shattuck, a farmer living near the village of Liverpool had a terrible encounter with a mad bull Wednesday, and now lies at the point of death. The bull got out of the pasture, and Mr. Shattuck took a club to drive him back. The bull went along for a few rods, and then turned upon Mr. Shattuck, knocking him down. The animal jumped upon the man, and tried to gore him. Mr. Shattuck caught the bull by the ring in his nose with one hand and with the other grasped the animal's tongue. His wife and daughter saw the fight from the house, and hurried to the rescue. When they reached him he sent his daughter to the barn for a pitchfork, and when she returned he instructed her to run the tine of the fork through the ring and pinion the bull's head to the ground. She did this and released her father. Mr. Shattuck's clothing was torn to shreds and he was dreadfully cut and bruised.

WILL RETURN TO WORK.

SEATTLE, July 17.—A special to the Globe says that in a talk had with P. B. Cornwall, president of the Black Diamond Mining company, it was learned that an agreement had been arrived at with the miners and that they would resume work at the mines. Mr. Cornwall was not ready to make the arrangement public. Forty-five officers and men belonging to Company G, of Tacoma, have arrived from New Castle. They intended going to Tacoma, but there was a hitch in the arrangements made for their transportation and they were compelled to stay in the armory all night, where beds were provided for them.

CASE OF CANNIBALISM.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 17.—About 100 miles southwest of this city on the outskirts of a thick pine forest on Snake river, in Pine City, a place of but a few hundred people. The other day a fishing party from that place returned from the woods bringing with them a wild woman and her 15-year-old daughter. The daughter tells a story of terrible suffering and privation. She says that the husband and father of the family was eaten by wolves while intoxicated last March. Since that time they have had no food. The young children died of starvation and were cooked and eaten one, by one by the mother and eldest daughter. The mother's mind finally gave way, and she is now a raving maniac. They were taken to the county jail, where they will be provided for, pending investigation, as it is thought in all probability one or more of the children were murdered by the demented mother.

WAR SHIP NEEDED.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The World correspondent at Port Au Prince, Hayti, sends the following: The question of indemnity for the killing of M. Renaud, the French subject, on May 28, has not yet been settled, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The French government demands $20,000 indemnity. For three weeks two French war vessels, the Naida and the cruiser Magona have been in port, their presence being undoubtedly due chiefly to the Renaud affair. This morning the Naida sailed for Canada with the admiral on board, the Magona being the only warship in port. This has encouraged the native feeling of independence, and the need of an American vessel at Port au Prince is present demanded in view of the critical state of affairs. All American citizens here quite in saying that their safety and their business interests demand the presence of a man-of-war. The native feeling against foreigners in general, but Americans particularly, is most hostile and outspoken. Conservative and cool-headed Americans in Port au Prince who are not alarmists declare that should another outbreak occur and no war ship be in port at the time there would almost surely be a number of Americans killed. This feeling of hostility is largely due to the Mole St. Nicholas affair, the natives believing that the possession of the Mole St. Nicholas by the United States would be but the first step toward that country gaining complete possession of the entire island. The truthful, but not complimentary, manner in which Hayti and its people and the happenings have been presented through the columns of the American press, has also aroused much enmity against citizens of the United States.

THE HERO OF PHILIPPI.

TOM BROWN DEAD.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 17.—General Tom Brown, who for many years represented the Burns district in congress, died at Martinsville, Ind., this morning.

STATE.

WILL HAVE TO WAIT.

PORTLAND, Or., July 17.—Hon. C. H. Meussdorffer, the father of the free bridge bill, will have to postpone the trip to Germany, which he has so long contemplated. He vowed not long ago that he would never visit the Vaterland until there was a free bridge across the Willamette at Portland. When the people accepted consolidation he was filled with hope, and thought the city would have a free bridge by July 4th, but alas! it was not so. Now he will have to wait until the supreme court passes on the validity of his bridge bill, which will not be till October at least.

BRIDGE COMMISSION.

This much was decided when the bridge commission met yesterday to open bids for the $500,000 bridge bonds. There were but two bids, and the highest was that of Harris & Co., of New York, 50 cents. Both were rejected, and the commission will advertise again. Harris & Co. made a private bid which the commission refused to take chances, and stipulated that their bids should be contingent upon the decision of the supreme court on the validity of the Meussdorffer act. In view of these circumstances the commission has decided to institute a special case, and has hired Williams & Wood and Killen, Starr & Thomas to represent it.

BURGLARY.

PORTLAND, July 17.—At an early hour this morning burglars entered the store of E. W. Allen, seedsman, and breaking open the safe rifled it of its contents. It contained about $50 in cash and a lot of pension certificates which are of no value except to the owners. No clue to the burglars.

PORTLAND UNIVERSITY.

This New Institution of Learning Now Ready for Public Favor.

The prospectus of the above named establishment is now before the people and the school will be opened for students at St. Helens Hall, Sept. 14th next. Beautiful grounds have been selected for buildings, while plans are being matured and material collected for their erection at an early date. The officers are: C. C. Stratton, D. D., president; Rev. Thos. Van Scoy, dean; D. L. Edwards, A. M., principal of the preparatory department, all of whom are well and favorably known in the educational circles of Oregon. The curriculum covers seven departments, including college of Liberal arts, preparatory, normal, business, music, art and theology. Law, medicine and all other departments belonging to a fully organized university will be added as rapidly as demanded. A thorough faculty is being provided, and all the college classes will be represented, including a full senior class.

FOREIGN.

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL.

LONDON, July 17.—Yesterday at the session of the International Congregational Council, Rev. Dr. J. K. McLean, of Oakland, Cal., delivered an address on the subject of "Home Missions." During the afternoon Cyrus W. Northrop, of Minneapolis, stated to the council that the conference upon public morals, which the council will hold in City temple next Monday, and at which Rev. Joseph Parker will preside, is exciting great interest. A resolution will be there submitted to the effect that the time has arrived for the recognition of truth; that the moral law is equally binding upon man and woman, and that all statutory disabilities on account of sex or sect should be repealed; and that the privileges of adulterers and regulators of prostitutes should be abolished. It will also be urged that the age of consent should be raised to 16 years.

OUTRAGES IN IRELAND.

LONDON, July 17.—Outrages upon the boycotted tenants in and near Tipperary, who refused to join the plan of campaign and defied its promoters, still continue in spite of the efforts of the constables to suppress them and apprehend the miscreants, whose acts are invariably committed under the cover of darkness. On Tuesday night the house of Patrick Brady, an evicted tenant who returned to his holding last winter, was attacked with stones which smashed every window in the building, and later in the night an unsuccessful attempt was made to set the dwelling on fire, the house at the time being occupied by Brady, his wife, his mother and four children. On the same night the house of a farmer named Sweeney was attacked, but the assailants were repulsed by the copious use of hot water thrown upon them from the upper windows. One of the marauders was recognized, and the police are in pursuit of him.

RECIPROcity.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 17.—Senator Rodriguez, charge d'affaires of San Salvador, says his country is arranging for reciprocity with the United States.

RAISING SHEEP IN NEW ENGLAND.

No Season Why There Should Not Be as Large Flocks Kept Now as Ever.

In 1887 the total number of sheep in the United States, according to the official reports of the department of agriculture, was 44,750,000; the number in New England was 1,250,000, or a little less than one forty-fourth of the whole number. Maine led off with 535,000; Vermont was second, with 375,000; New Hampshire third, with 195,000; Massachusetts fourth, 63,000; Connecticut fifth, 53,000, and Rhode Island sixth, 20,000.

Vermont was first in the list till 1877, when Maine surpassed it, and has maintained the supremacy ever since. In 1840 the census returns accredited Vermont with 1,600,000. In 1857 the number, according to the department of agriculture, was only 375,000. The total in New England in 1820 was 3,350,000; in 1857, 1,237,000. During the decade there was a gradual increase till 1881, when the number was 1,575,000. Since then it has been gradually diminishing.

The production of wool in 1840 was 8,441,000 pounds; in 1880, 5,983,000 pounds. Every state shows a great falling off in those forty years except Maine, which has steadily increased. Massachusetts fell from 942,000 pounds to 290,000, and Connecticut from 852,000 to 230,000.

The casual reader may infer from such statistics that New England agriculture is declining, that the farmers as a class are less prosperous and have fewer of the necessities, conveniences or luxuries which make life desirable now than did the farmers of a previous generation. Nothing could be further from the truth, as is proven by comparing the home of the average farmer of today with the homes of those of earlier years.

Yet New England agriculture has not made the advance it should have made and which it has facilities for making. What has the increase in the production of fruits, garden vegetables and milk, there is still room for keeping up the price of wool to the highest point ever reached, and this without interfering materially with the production of most other crops. It is an old maxim, the more animals the more manure, and the more manure the more crop. We need animals to consume the coarser vegetation of the farm and convert it into money products, and fertilizers for growing other crops and maintaining the productive power of the soil. No state in New England need keep fewer sheep now than were ever kept, and there is no state which would not be richer for the large flocks of years ago.—New England Farmer.

AN EYE TO BUSINESS.

A merchant in one of our western towns is a prominent member of a church there, and in the absence of the pastor sometimes fills the pulpit. After returning from New York, where he had been selecting a stock of goods, he found that the minister had been suddenly called away. Here was his chance. Rushing into the pulpit after the congregation had assembled, and throwing his hat behind him, as he only could do it, he exclaimed, pausing for breath:

"Brethren, my most excuse me for being late, but I have just returned from New York, where I have purchased one of the handsomest and best assorted stock of dry goods ever exhibited in this city, and which will be duly advertised in the daily papers. Let us pray!"—Hartford Times.

SELF IDENTIFYING OFFSPRING.

There is a negro woman living out in the country near Waynesboro who has queer ideas as to the naming of children. Instead of bestowing upon them the Biblical names so popular with the Afro-American citizen, she has developed a nomenclature from their physical peculiarities. For instance, one has very thick lips, and his name is Lips; another has very big feet, and he is called Feet; another is blessed with a pair of very bowed legs, and he is known as Crooks. She gives as a reason that she could not remember the ordinary names, but as they are, she has only to look at them and she knows what to call them.—Atlanta Constitution.

GREETING THE NEW MOON IN FIJI.

In Colo, the mountainous interior of Vid Levu, the largest island of the Fiji group, the natives have a very curious method of greeting the new moon. On seeing the thin crescent rising above the hills they salute it with a prolonged "Ah!" at the same time quivering rapidly on their open mouths with their left hands, thus producing a rapid vibratory sound. An old chief when asked regarding the meaning and origin of this curious custom said: "We always look and hunt for the moon in the sky, and when it comes we do as you see to show our pleasure at finding it again. We don't know the meaning of what we do; our fathers always did so."—St. Louis Republic.

JUSTICE AT LAST.

In Paris the advertisement must be true. A Paris tobaccoist, who had perhaps been in America, advertised a certain cigar to be "the best in the world for five cents." He was arrested, failed to prove it "the best," and was fined sixty dollars for "malicious intention to deceive."—San Francisco Bulletin.
