

"August Flower"

The Hon. J. W. Pennington is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my own use, and found it does me more good than any other remedy. I have been troubled with what I call Sick Headache, a pain comes in the back part of my head first, and then soon a general headache until I become sick and vomit. At times, too, I have a fullness after eating, a pressure after eating at the pit of the stomach, and sometimes, when food seemed to rise up in my throat and mouth. When I feel this coming on if I take a little August Flower it relieves me, and is the best remedy I have ever taken for it. For this reason I take it and recommend it to others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."

Treatment for Poisoning.

The principal narcotic poisons are landanum, morphine and opium. Of landanum the fatal dose is at least two grains. Two grains and a half of the extract are said by Tannar to be equal to four grains of crude opium, while De Quincy could take sixteen ounces of the tincture of opium daily. Infants have been killed by a single drop of landanum, which is equal to about the twentieth of a grain of opium. No one should use landanum, opium or morphine without the express orders and daily watchful care of a physician, for all these drugs have an entirely different action in health and sickness.

When an excessive dose of any of these narcotics is suspected, a physician should be immediately called, and, pending his arrival, every effort should be made to keep the patient awake. The symptoms of poisoning are gradually increasing drowsiness, drowsiness, stupor, slow, heavy breathing, weak pulse, pallor and final coma. There may be nausea and even convulsions. The first remedial action is to free the stomach by the means of emetics or the stomach pump; then rouse the patient by slapping the chest and neck with a wet towel, dashing cold water about the head and face, walking up and down—out of doors if that is necessary—giving electric shocks, and even artificial respiration when other means fail to rouse the patient which precedes death. Strong coffee may be useful as an adjunct. The case should be in the hands of a competent physician. In a word, keep the patient awake until the doctor arrives, loosen the clothing and keep the head cool.—Harper's Bazar.

Does the Moon Cause Earthquakes?

With regard to the phases of the moon's motions, M. Briscoe found that in four years, 1886 to 1890, the number of earthquakes near new and full moons exceeded the number at the quarters very nearly in the proportion of six to four. In a number of exceedingly elaborate calculations M. Briscoe has endeavored to show that, however the figures were handled, they always present the same general conclusions, but there are not yet sufficient facts to justify more than a passing allusion to this curious speculation.

It does, however, appear to be an inevitable deduction from the evidence, not only that earthquakes occur more frequently at the periods of new and full moons, but that their frequency increases at the time when the moon is nearest the earth and diminishes when it is most distant, and, moreover, that earthquakes are more frequent when the moon is near the meridian than when she is ninety degrees from it. M. Perrey, the French scientist, tried to figure out some connection between moon phases and earthquakes as long ago as 1844.—St. Louis Republic.

Luxurious Life in the Army.

Said a prominent army officer in the Southern hotel to a group of officers and civilians: "Service in the army for the private soldier is a delight to what it used to be before the war. There is not a post scarcely in the country not accessible by railroad and which has not a daily mail. The quarters or barracks to which he is now assigned are simply palatial. At Fort Riley, for instance, the men's barracks are splendidly arranged and handsomely furnished. Each company's quarters is furnished with a library, billiard room, gymnasium, marble tub bathrooms; the squad rooms or dormitories are nicely furnished with iron bedssteads, and the walls are hung with pictures about army life on the march or in battle. The mess hall at Fort Riley seats 1,200 men at each meal. The chef de cuisine is a civilian salaried at $150 a month. A mess hall of this capacity is to be built at Fort Leavenworth, and the post, Fort Sheridan, at Chicago, and Fort Logan, near Denver, are being built with every convenience.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Why is it that English people can't understand jokes?

They are not always stupid, and they are fond of enjoying themselves, but where an American sees a capital joke and goes into fits of laughter the Englishman sits grave as a preacher.

"Here's an account of a singular accident," said an American at the club, reading his paper to an English acquaintance. "A man sat on a buzz saw buried both of him in the same grave, I suppose."

"All both of him? How's that?" said the other solemnly.

You can't put head and brain into a brass door knob, as Mr. F.'s aunt piously expressed it in "Little Dorrit," and you can't make the ordinary Englishman grasp such an extremely American joke as the one just given.—Washington Star.

Pleasing His Wife.

Jinks—Why do you offer such a large reward for the return of that contemptible pug dog?

Winks—To please my wife.

Jinks—But such a reward will be sure to bring him back.

"No, it won't. He's dead."—New York Weekly.

Have You Ever Noticed It?

Quot your about the three cent piece. You always take it for a dime with your change; but you can never induce any one else to do so.—Puck.

A Better Scheme.

"Do you play by note?"

"No," replied the violin virtuoso, "I play for cash."—Puck.
