

The total catch for the season. The vessel was spoken by the Thetis at Sand Point, June 23d, and after being furnished with a copy of the agreement and proclamation, and advised that to enter the sea she started for home. Captain Blissett says he considered everything was all up when he saw the British minister at Washington had assented to the agreement.

GRASSHOPPERS IN OHIO AND IOWA.
DAYTON, Ohio, July 29.—Grasshoppers are ruining the oat prospect in twenty counties along the Ohio and Indiana border line. The crop is ruined by small green hoppers on farms after rain. Many growers cut the oats green, but the hoppers followed it into the shock and are now into the corn.

WATERLOO, Iowa, July 29.—Grasshoppers are damaging the oat crop in this section of the state.

HAYMEYER DEAD.
NEW YORK, July 29.—Frederick O. Haymeyer died last night at his home at Throggs Neck, Westchester county, aged 85 years, from the grip. He was the founder of the well known Haymeyer sugar firm, and was a great benefactor to the town of Westchester.

AN OLD PIONEER DEAD.
PORTLAND, July 29.—John Lemuel Scott, an Oregon pioneer, died at his home in East Portland this morning, aged 69. He formerly lived in Yamhill county.

SCENE IN COURT.
COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—William J. Elliott, former proprietor and editor of the Sunday Capital, was convicted yesterday of murder in the second degree. When the clerk began to read the verdict there was a highly sensational scene. When he read "indictment for murder in the first degree," Mrs. P. J. Elliott thought he meant guilty of murder in the first degree, and made a suppressed scream and fell back into the chair. As the clerk reached the words "guilty of murder in the second degree," Miss Maroney arose, gave vent to a cry and fell back in a fainting fit. Mrs. W. J. Elliott was very pale, but made no demonstration. W. J. Elliott had his youngest boy on his lap when the verdict was being read, and covered the child's eyes and mouth so he could not see or make an outcry. As the verdict of the jury was read Elliott became so enraged that he pulled off a G. A. B. button from the lapel of his coat, and threw it spitefully in the direction of the jury. Elliott's wife and children were escorted to the jail, where a tearful scene was enacted. The comments of the crowd were various, the general noise being one of relief that the long agony was over, only a few expressing dissatisfaction when the tenor of the verdict became known.

STRIKE OF TREES.
QUINCY, Mass., July 29.—By a strike of trees in the boat and shoe factory of John E. Drake, two thousand hands are thrown out of employment.

REPROBITY.

FARMER'S ENCAMPMENT.

The Grand Race Between Tenny and Longstreet.

ADJUSTING RAIL ROAD RATES.

A Severe Accident, A Boiler for Breakfast, Cloud Burst, Drowning of a Baby, The Republican Committee, Devoted to Science, State and Foreign News, Etc.

FARMER'S ENCAMPMENT.
SULPHUR SPRINGS, July 29.—Senator Pfeiffer was orator at farmers' encampment last night. More than 4000 people were present to hear the Kansas senator. He wanted the governor to loan people money at one per cent to lift 9,000,000 mortgages and to pull the teeth and close the mouth of the great red dragon in Wall street. He proposed to do this with flat money issued directly to the people who had mortgaged their home. His speech lasted two hours and he closed by saying the peoples' party would finally elect a president, congress and senate and if the supreme court was not with them they would make another.

A RACE FOR BLOOD.
NEW YORK, July 29.—The event of the week in the racing world will be the match between Longstreet and Tenny for $5,000 a side at Morris Park today and the public will know just how fast Longstreet is and whether his owner, Michael F. Dwyer, is correct in pronouncing the sturdy son of Longfellow a better race horse than Luke Blackburn, George Kenney or Hindoo.

Longstreet has had a remarkable string of victories this year, but he has not defeated a first class race horse. Kingston is in the Dwyer string and the Brown horse has been going great guns of late. Kingston was beaten by Tenny in the Ocean stakes on July 4th, but Kingston was not himself that day and it is idle to suppose that Longstreet has not been tried by the Brown horse. Tenny's owner is fond of good things, and certainly imagines that he has the race as good as won. The swayback's race in the Brooklyn handicap and the form he displayed in the metropolitan stakes when Tristan, to whom he was conceded a great deal of weight, came along and beat him out by a narrow margin in the fastest time for a mile and furlong, are indications that Tenny in 1891 is as good as Tenny in 1890, who chased Salvatore home in the great match of Sheepshank when a mile and a quarter was run in 2:05. Longstreet will not be meeting Tulla Blackburn, Lizzie Tanner or anything of that calibre when he goes to the post today, and Tenny will have something more than a lame horse to beat on the same occasion.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.
PITTSBURG, July 29.—The Puddling department of the Frankston mill on second avenue collapsed this morning, killing four men and injuring eight others. The men were engaged in building when the supports gave away and the entire structure came down with a crash.

BOILERS FOR BREAKFAST.
VICKSBURG, Miss., July 29.—A boiler explosion occurred at the Hill City Oil Works. The engineer and fireman were mortally wounded. The boiler was blown to an immense height, landing 200 feet away on a private residence, passing through the roof and second story and falling in the midst of the breakfast table, around which the family were gathered. One man was slightly injured by debris from the ceiling. The other members of the family were unhurt.

CLOUDBURST.
AUSTIN, Nev., July 29.—This town was visit-d by a cloudburst yesterday and great damage done. Clouds had overhung the mountain tops for several days, and shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon steam whistles gave people warning. In three minutes the gushing waters from the summit of the mountains had reached Main street, coming wave over wave, carrying everything before them, including buildings weighing over a ton. The city railway was torn from its bed, awnings were torn down, and water mains were uprooted from three feet under ground. A majority of business houses are filled with mud to the depth of three or four feet. The water raged terrifically as it came down. The streets present the appearance of a volcanic eruption. The damage will reach ten thousand dollars. The water receded in three hours, but the indications are that another flood will come, and the people are prepared to flee to the hills at a moment's notice.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—The National republican executive committee met this afternoon, as far as can be gathered from the utterances of members, the principal business will be the determination of the time and place for the meeting of the national republican committee, which is to fix the time and place for holding the national convention. Every effort is being made by Chairman Quay's fellow members to induce him to refrain from presenting his resignation today.

DEVOTED TO SCIENCE.
WEBB CITY, Mo., July 29.—J. H. Thomas, scientific oil man, who has devoted some time to the study of electricity, has been found dead in his workshop having killed himself in his theory to test the correctness of his theory of electrocution. His theory was to place one electrode over the pit of his stomach and the other at his back passing the current through the great ganglion of pneumogastric nerve causing instant paralysis of the heart and lungs. When found he had constructed an ingenious apparatus and the strength of the current was shown to be only 1200 volts. There was no burn or blister on the body.

THE OMAHA BRIDGE.
OMAHA, Neb., July 29.—Justice Brewer this morning refused to grant the application of the Union Pacific for a supersedeas in the bridge case. This afternoon he will pass upon the application of the Rock Island to run its trains across the bridge under the present rules of the Union Pacific and will enter a decree which will probably demand immediate compliance with the terms of the contract.

STATE.
RAILROAD RATES.
PORTLAND, July 29.—For over six months the lumber manufacturers and shippers of Portland have been striving to obtain a reduction in rates to Colorado common point, from the Union Pacific, and, failing, have determined to appeal to the Western Traffic association. This course was decided upon at a meeting of representatives of Oregon and Washington lumbermen's exchange, the railroad and transportation committee of the chamber of commerce, and the Portland bureau. After a long discussion of rates from Portland to Denver, and Colorado common points, compared with rates from southwestern points to the same territory, Chairman Jones was authorized to appoint a committee of three to proceed to Omaha to urge a reduction, and, if necessary, to lay the matter before the Western Traffic association.

SAB OCCURRENCE.
PORTLAND, July 29.—The 17-months' old baby of Captain Braze, of the steamer Topsy, was drowned at the dock yesterday at the foot at Jefferson street. The baby was lying in its carriage, which was standing on the boat; a gust of wind blew the baby carriage into the river, and the infant was drowned in the sight of its mother.

NEW WHEAT.
PORTLAND, July 29.—More new wheat has been received. Twenty carloads have come since the first lot of eight cars arrived Friday night. These twenty cars make some 6000 sacks, and are consigned to C. Cesar & Co. This makes twenty-eight cars which have arrived. The first eight were sold to Balfour, Guthrie & Co., who loaded them on the Eastport. The present lot has not been disposed of, but it is expected that it will be sold to the same firm to fill the cargo of the ship.

WEATHER REPORT.

The Suggestive Path in Life
It is but irritated by good health, is shown of half its distinctive features. Hints of distinguished men and women have already been given for a past when young, full of vigor and hope, though battling with conditions that seemed well, with insurmountable odds, their pulses beat, their veins tingled with the glow of joyous health. Character, its value, would you ever more feel that good would you—as of course—step, and, in great periods of their use, at a persistence, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, foremost among tonics, most reliable of vitalizing medicines. Nervousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, a sense of oppression, a feeling of weakness, a loss of appetite and sleep, this grand reparative of a debilitated physique and impaired constitutional vigor speedily prevails against. Rheumatism and neuralgia, sciatica, muscular disorders, kidney troubles, and the growing infirmities of age, are admirably relieved by this designed agent.

Don't Care to Eat.
It is with the greatest confidence that Hood's Sarsaparilla is recommended for loss of appetite, indigestion, sick headache and similar troubles. This medicine gently tones the stomach, assists the digestion, and makes one "real hungry." Persons in delicate health, after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a few days, find themselves longing for and eating the plainest food with unexpected relish.

The Globe Real Estate Co. don't try to bluff any one but give prices on Yew Park annex that can't be duplicated by any other firm in the city. Call and let them show their lots they will bear inspection. Real Estate men are buying them at the prices given, knowing them to be a bargain.

Dyspepsia
Many people miserable, and often unable to self-destruct. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, nervousness, loss of appetite, a "stomach" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are the more common symptoms. After getting well of itself, it requires quiescence, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently yet efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and, by thus overcoming the local symptoms, cures the tired mind, headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I had little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After getting well of myself, I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, painting, and from being more or less shut up in room with fresh paint. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Waterbury, Mass.

MURPHY & DESART, Near Fair Grounds, Salem, Oregon.

He Fought the Police.
Perhaps one of the happiest of the long list of marriages between American girls and foreigners is that of the eldest daughter of General Edward Beale, now the wife of Mr. Bakmetieff, of Russia, secretary of legation at Athens. Twelve or thirteen years ago, as an attaché of the Russian legation, the young foreigner met and at once fell desperately in love with Miss Beale. The young people carried on their love-making under the cover of friendly darkness in Lafayette square, Washington.

One night the watchman went his rounds, as usual, and thinking the square to be empty, carefully locked the gates and departed to his home. Unconscious of this fact, the lovers roused from their absorbing conversation and prepared to leave the square. Their consternation at finding themselves imprisoned was in no wise improved by the subsequent discovery that not a soul seemed to be stirring on the streets who could come to their rescue.

The was no help for it. The only way out of the difficulty was to climb the massive iron spike fence. With great difficulty the young lady climbed to the top, when, to her horror, just as her feet sought to secure a resting place in the descent, the gruff voice of a policeman shouted menacingly in their ears.

Rapidly giving directions in French to Miss Beale to proceed with all speed possible and run for home while he engaged the intruder in conflict, Mr. Bakmetieff successfully tussled with the fellow until, happy in the knowledge that his instructions had been carried out, he gave himself into custody of the officer, knowing that, as a member of a foreign legation, he would be liberated immediately upon arrival at headquarters.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Sorrow of Dr. Chapin's Last Days.
A prominent clergyman speaking of the relations existing between clergymen, told me the following astonishing anecdote. He said that no clergyman who has ever been pastor of a New York church was more popular, in his day more famous, or had a wider repute than Dr. Edwin Chapin. Chapin was a Universalist, and Horace Greeley was one of his parishioners.

Dr. Chapin was smitten with a mortal disease, and it was publicly announced in the newspapers. He had some heart trouble, which did not prevent friends from seeing him, but it was known it would end his life in a brief time. He had been sick for some time, when one day the Rev. Dr. Armitage called. He was shown into Chapin's room and found the distinguished clergyman lying upon a sofa. When he saw Armitage he burst into tears and Dr. Armitage was surprised.

Chapin said: "Doctor, I can't help these tears, but they express gladness rather than sorrow. Do you know that you are the first clergyman of all those who have professed friendship for me who has called to see me or even sent a message of sympathy to me in my illness. Not a single clergyman has been so considerate, and I tell you it has been a bitter sorrow to me at this time."

Two days later this great orator was dead, and the only religious ministrations or sympathetic call he had during his final illness was that of this Baptist clergyman.—New York Cor. Philadelphian Press.

Ever the Same.
When Commodore Billings and Mr. Main were on the river Kahima they had for attendant a young man from Kamoa, an island between Kamtschatka and North America. One day Mr. Main asked him, "What will the savages do to me if I fall into their power?"

"Sir," said the youth, "I will never fall into their power if I remain with you. I always carry a sharp knife, and if I see you pursued and unable to escape I will plunge my knife into your heart, then the savages can do nothing to you."

This recalls the words of the French knight reported by Joinville. "Swear to me," said Queen Margaret, "that if the Saracens become masters of Damietta you will cut off my head before they can take me."

"Willingly," returned the knight. "I had already thought of doing so if the contingency arrived."—A 25 ct. Year Round.

An Egg Episode.
The young woman who writes her name and address on the eggs before she sends them to market has received a proposal. It came from a man who proposed that hereafter she send strictly fresh eggs instead of the stale ones she had been in the habit of selling. She no longer counts her chickens before they are hatched.—Detroit Free Press.

A Month Without a Full Moon.
The month of February, 1866, was the most remarkable month in the world's history. January had two full moons, and so had March, but February had none. This had not occurred since the creation of the world, and according to some astronomers the same thing may not occur again for a period of 2,500,000 years.—London Tit-Bits.

More Powerful Than Quinine.
A medicament more powerful than quinine in counteracting fevers is said to have been discovered in Mexico. It is a plant called the pompolano, the root of which contains a substance analogous to quinine.—Current Literature.

Happy Messengers.
Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicine combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like a good and new lease on life. Only 50c, a bottle at Fry's Drug Store."
