GRAND OLD MARION.-Reports to the state crop bureau from this county show that the late rains caused no damage, merely retarding the threshing. Wheat is yielding from 25 to 40 bushels to the acre. On a field near Hubbard from 23 acres 980 bushels were threshed. This land has been under cultivation for 35 years. The threshers on a farm near Liucoln report remarkaable yields of grain. Sixty acres of oats made an average of 50 bushels per acre, and the average on 25 acres of wheat was 40 bushels. On a farm near Salem a yield of wheat averaged 35 bushels to the acre. The The land has yielded grain over 30 years and has never been been fertilized and only summer fallowed about once every four years. The first wheat of the crop of 1891 was received and regularly taken in on the morning of the 12th, at the Salem flouring mills. It was of the regulation Oregon grade, large white berry, and brought 764 cents per bushel. The market has advanced to 78 cents and promises to 75 cents. These figures are such as to encourage growers, and since the rains have done no appreciable damage there is no reason why times should not be unusually good with valley farmers this fall. The threshers are working as they never worked before and the grain is generally in good condition.
