WHULD NOT WORK. LONDON, Aug. 27 .- The efforts of The London Times to arouse jealoney on the part of the South American republics toward the United States have not aroused the feeling intended, judging from the remarks made by an attache of the Chilian legation who said: "The United to The Herald from Valparaiso, States has respected the rights of Chill, (via Galveston) says: Neither Chill more faithfully, or at least as of the armies now confronting each faithfully, as any nation in the other along the eastern shore of I learn, an essential and important as can be learned, the commanding change in Chill. MONTREAL, Aug. 27.-The little son of Homer Frechet, of 108 St. Hubert street, of this city, was bitten to death by a ferocious dog Tuesday night. When the frantic mother of the child endeavored to drive the dog away, he attacked her, and only disisted when cut to pieces by a neighbor who came to her assistance. Mr. Frechet, who is an ameteur fancier, recently purchased three dogs, one of which was a cross between a hound and a bulldog. The latter was considered peaceable, and gave no signs of being dangerous. Shortly after 7 o'clock while Mrs.

Frechet was intertaining a visitor, she heard her 4-year-old son, who was playing in the yard scream. Rushing to the window, she was horrified to see the dog attacking the child, and tearing great pieces of flesh from its body. With all the heroism of a mother's daring. the woman flew to the rescue. The sight she saw was a terrible one. The boards of the yard were covered with blood, while pieces of flesh were scattered around, though fainting she attacked the infuriated beast, and a terrific struggle en-

It was an unarmed woman against a demon, and she was fast being overcome by the brute, when J. B. e, who resides near by, came to her assistance. At this moment the woman fainted and the dog turned his attention to the new intruder. Another desperate battle ensued, but Masse was armed with a knife which he wielded to good purpose, but the dog having a secure grip on the man never let go until its head was nearly severed from its body. Medical assistance was summoned but the child was beyond all human aid and soon expired. The face was unrecognizable, while over a dozen pieces of flesh had been torn from the body. The injuries sustained by Mrs. Frechet and Masse, while serious, are not fatal.

TRAMPED TO DEATH. TANGIERS, Aug. 27,-The elephant presented by Queen Victoria to the sultan of Morocco is being utilized by that potentate at Fez in trampling the life out of the unforunates taken captive in the recent rebellion. The sultan is highly pleased with this new mode of crushing his enemies, and has a new lot brought on every day. They are laid in a row and the elephant is made to step on them. The strange animal has struck terror into the Moors, who firms the report that the insurgent never saw one before, both on account of its size and the interesting ceda. use to which it is being put by the sultan. So after giving out his text from Ecclesiastics vii, 2, 'It is better to go to the house of mourning than to the house of feasting,' he flatly commenced his sermon with these words, 'That I deny!'

"A similar case of determination to rouse the attention of his audience to his text," continues Ramsay, "though of a less refined character than Sterne's, I have heard told of an illiterate but clever Methodist preacher who was a collier of the district of Somerset in which I had a curacy for seven years. He gave out for a text 'I can do all things.' He then paused, and looking at the Bible keenly, said, in his own representing the great gambling in- dreadful. How a Frenchman Ate Bats. When Horace Vernet went to Africa to paint the glories of French conquest. he found among other campaign curiosities a zonave who was roasting rats, spitted on his ramrod, over a little campfire. He had never eaten rats, said this ingenious veteran, but he had eaten cats, which ate rats, and he proposed to pursue his gustatory investigations to the fountain head. We know from history that rats helped out the short rations of that campaign, and at the Louvre you may see the artist's painted souvenir of the experiment which led to his replenishment of the army's exhausted flesh pots. - Alfred Trumble in New York Epoch.
