BALMACEDA COMMITTS SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The Herald's Valparaiso, Chile, dispatch says: Ex-consul Balmaceda, of Chile, shot himself through the temple in his room at the Argentine legation in Santiago, at 7:30 a. m. Saturday.

The story became known here this afternoon, and created excitement. Every part of the city this evening is brilliantly illuminated, and on every hand is heard the sounds of rejoicing. Later accounts from the capital confirm the sensational news and give the details of his suicide.

It now seems that Balmaceda left Santiago August 29th last, in the hope of making his escape from Chile, but, seeing that the avenue of retreat was cut off, he returned there on September 2d, and went thence to the Argentine legation. I learned today the route taken by Balmaceda, after the disastrous battle of Valparaiso and the surrender of Santiago, August 29th. In company with ex-Alcalde Victor Echauren, he left in a carriage and drove to a point two miles outside the city. He took a special train and locomotive that was in waiting. Balmaceda disguised himself with a heavy Spanish cloak, but was recognized by the driver of the carriage, a Scotchman. The train went at a high rate of speed as far as Linderos; forty-five miles south of Santiago. There more carriages were in waiting. Hurriedly alighting from the train they entered the carriage and were again driven rapidly away. The route was toward San Antonio bay. All trace of the fugitives was, however, lost. The police of Santiago learned of the route taken and searched for the carriages. They were unsuccessful, but I learn from a detective who was engaged on the case that September 2d the carriages were traced to the outskirts of Santiago. His intention had been to go on board the vessel Condell, which he expected to find lying in San Antonio bay. Upon arriving there, however, he discovered to his chagrin that the vessel had sailed. Since his return to the Argentine legation from Santiago Balmaceda has been in an extraordinary nervous condition. No one, with the exception of the minister of the Argentine Republic, and one other man, who was devoted to the unfortunate ex-president cause, was permitted to talk with him. All the different schemes of flight were considered by the hunted ex-president. Senor Urribarri went to the theatre last night. When he returned to the legation he had a long and earnest talk with Balmaceda relative to the idea, previously broached, about the advisability of giving himself up to the Junta.

Balmaceda and Senor Urribarri went to bed at midnight. Senor Urribarri, about 8 a. m. today, heard a pistol shot in the bedroom that had been assigned to Balmaceda. She notified her husband. Before he went to Balmaceda's room he ran around to the house of Carlos Walker and brought that gentleman back to the legation. Upon breaking the door of Balmaceda's room it was found that he had shot himself. The body was still warm. There was a gaping wound in the temple. The body was undressed and lay on the bed. The revolver was still held in his right hand. Domingo Torro, Balmaceda's brother-in-law and the minister to Chili from Uruguay, Malchor Corra soon arrived at the legation. Senor Oroncho ran to Moneda and informed the Junta of what had happened. A commission was promptly issued. It comprised Carlos Walker, Martinez Malchor, Concho and Judge Adguerra, of the supreme court. They went direct to the legation from the office of the Junta and viewed the body. They drew up a process verbal certifying to the facts already stated. The German minister, Gutschmidt, accompanied the commission to the legation as an old friend of Balmaceda's.

Gradually the news spread all over Santiago. The excitement created is indescribable. Great crowds of terribly excited people gathered around the Argentine legation. They shouted and went into a frenzy over the death of their enemy. Above all the discord were heard cries congratulating the un-
