are concerned, says the captain, and will remain so for a great many years to come, but the trade of the country is greatly overdone just now and no one will make any great profit out of it.

NOVEL METHODS OF ADVERTISING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—California's world's fair commissioners have called a meeting for the 13th inst. They think that by that time the supreme court will have filed a decision as to the constitutionality of the $300,000 appropriation made by the last legislature. In the meantime Secretary Thompson is engaged in working up the county organizations, so that there is sure to be a California display at Chicago in 1893 whether the $300,000 is secured or not. The secretary is communicating with the county boards of supervisors and prominent citizens in the interior so as to secure members to the World's Fair association. Those who join are required to pay only $1 for a nicely engrossed certificate, and for $1 they may name honorary members outside the state. Certificates will then be forwarded to the eastern and other non-resident members, accompanied by an invitation to visit the California exhibit and view the state's resources, if the recipient goes to the exposition. This is considered an excellent way to advertise the state.

Campbell, of Solano; Geo. J. Campbell, Siskiyou; Thos. Frazier, Eldorado; F. S. Sprague, Yolo; J. W. Ragsdale, Sonoma; Eli Denison, W. E. Dargie, and W. E. Simpson, Alameda; G. G. A Wonder Worker.

Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found before he had used half of a dollar bottle that he was much better; he continued to use it and is today enjoying good health. If you have any throat, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at Fry's drugstore, 225 Com. St.

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in trength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDRICK, Saugerties, New York.

STOLE HALF A MILLION.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The Ulster County Savings institution has closed its doors and is in charge of Bank Superintendent Preston. The examiners have been at work since Tuesday and have already found that $463,000 have been stolen by Treasurer Ostrander and Matthew T. Trumpbour, assistant treasurer, and it is feared the stealings will reach over that amount. At midnight last night Superintendent Preston swore to a complaint charging Trumpbour with perjury in swearing to false statements contained in the July report of the bank to the banking department, and Trumpbour was arrested. He was just preparing to flee from town. Ostrander was arrested about two weeks ago for embezzling $75,000 and was under bonds of $20,000. His bondsmen last night turned him over to Sheriff Dill and he was also locked up in jail. The system adopted by Ostrander and Trumpbour was most ingenious, and for twenty years has baffled the skill of expert examiners in the employ of the state in carrying it out. Deceit and perjury were frequently and effectively employed. The statement showed: resources $2,135,000; due depositors, $1,888,000; surplus, $247,000. It is impossible to tell or even conjecture the effect of the closing of the bank will have on the people of Ulster county. The majority of the depositors were poor people.

The people had great confidence in the institution and it is said a number of the bonds mentioned in the statement by the trustees were hypothecated in New York by Ostrander and Trumpbour. Another method mentioned was that deposits in many cases were entered on the bank register for only one-half and one-third of the amount received, while the entries in the depositors' books were for the full amount, the difference being taken by the thieves. The streets of Kingston are filled with people, and deputies are arriving on every train and by all manner of vehicles. Occasionally some of the excited farmers threaten to break into the bank building and get their money, while others suggest lynching. Business is virtually suspended. A man who had $700 on deposit has developed symptoms of insanity and it is feared it will be necessary to take him to the asylum. The city officials, fearing the threats to burn the jail where Ostrander and Trumpbour are confined, have summoned the fire department, members of which are now watching the bank building, court house and jail opposite.

The prisoners were arraigned this afternoon. Their examination was set for Monday morning. It is stated on the street today that after its affairs are wound up the bank will pay depositors seventy-five cents on the dollar.

INDIGNATION MEETING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—A large number of citizens attended the mass meeting last night to express their sentiments regarding the recent action of Superior Judge Murphy in deciding that the present grand jury is an illegal body. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, that no honest man has anything to fear from the grand jury, and that the past proof of its grand character lies in the fact that all the political pirates in this city, the bosses of both parties, their corrupt creatures, and dishonest public officials are its outspoken opponents.

Resolved, that, considering the degrading condition of public affairs in this city and state, the low tone of political morality, the fixing of juries and courts, the bribing of supervisors and legislators, the debauchment of public servants in obeying the behests of irresponsible so-called bosses, we hail any remedy, however erartic, as necessary and welcome.

Resolved, That we denounce the conduct of Judge D. J. Murphy as contrary to law, and a betrayal of the people, and we proclaim to the world that by his decision he has arrayed himself on the side of the corrupt element of the community in the battle for honest government which has now only begun, and which will never cease until our whole body politic is purged of that evil that effects it.

A CRAZY BRIDEGROOM.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 3.—A stylish-looking bridal couple registered at the Kimball house Thursday night as George W. Kildow and wife. They were assigned to the bridal chamber. An electric bell upon the annunciator yesterday morning called the hotel clerk to the room. The door was opened by Mr. Kildow, who inquired: "Do you believe in the Lord Jesus Christ?" "I do," most humbly answered the clerk. "Enter thou then into the abode" said Kildow, and he quickly turned the key upon the clerk, who found himself in the room with a raving lunatic on one side of him, while over in the corner crouched the terrified and weeping bride. The mad man's antics were curious, but he was soon quieted and placed under arrest, while some ladies came to the relief of the bride. The unfortunate man was so violent that he had to be taken down to the calaboose and put in a cell. He is a well known Presbyterian preacher of West Virginia. He had married Miss McNaughton in Richville and started on his bridal trip. The bride had spent the night dodging the movements of a mad man, not knowing what to do. Later in the day the Presbyterian clergymen interested themselves in the case. The doctors declare that the aberration is only temporary.

MURDER OF DAVE GRANT.

WALLACE, Idaho, Oct. 3.—Dave Grant, shift boss at the Gem Mine, was killed by Chas. Stowe, yesterday. Stowe was discharged by Grant on Thursday, afternoon. He came up Friday morning to go on the shift, and asked Grant for candles. Grant told him that he had been discharged, and he could not work there any longer. Stowe insisted on going to work, and became abusive. Finally Grant knocked him down. Stowe got up and stabbed him with a miner's candlestick twice, once just above the heart, the next just below the first one, which must have pierced his heart, as Grant died almost instantly. Grant was formerly from Utah, latterly from Wood River.

SUGAR BOUNTY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct 3.—The first payments of the bounty under the law giving a bounty of 2 cents on each pound of sugar produced in the United States, was made at the treasury department today. They are both in favor of the Chino Valley Sugar Co., Chino, Calif., on two claims for the production of 34,000 pounds of beet sugar, and amounted to $680.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland this morning. Mother and daughter are doing well. The child weighed eight pounds.

STATE.

ASPHYXIATED AT OSWEGO.

PORTLAND, Oct. 3.—At the Oswego iron and steel works, five miles from this city, yesterday, T. VanTuynbruck and Peter Ranch were asphyxiated by gas in the blast stove. The men came out of the stove about 10 o'clock to get a drink of water, and at the same time requested the other workmen to call them at noon. When call was given no response was received, and it was found that the men were dead. They were working at a height of sixty feet in the interior of the stove. It is supposed that gas swept over from the main furnace into the stove and suffocated the men. Ranch leaves a family.

HORSE THIEVES ARRESTED.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 3.—Deputy Sheriff Wrightman, of Marion county, arrived in Jacksonville yesterday with a warrant for the arrest of Ed Brissell and Green Hayes, who are wanted in Yamhill county on a charge of larceny. The men were arrested at Ashland by Deputy Sheriff Taylor, of this county, who brought them down and placed them in the county jail last night. They stole a horse and buggy, which was found by Deputy Wrightman in Marion county, and he was so close on the trail of the men that he came south, already to find them in custody here. Deputy Sheriff Wrightman started north with his prisoners on the evening train.

FOREIGN.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct 3.—The most disastrous fire that has visited Halifax for years occurred yesterday. It broke out before 1 o'clock in the Marlin planing mill, on Taylor's wharf, near the Cunard wharves. In a few minutes the place was all ablaze, and the fire spread rapidly. A gentle breeze from the north carried showers of live sparks to the buildings, vessels and wharves south of the fire. The whole department was called out, and engines from Dartmouth came over to render assistance. Within an hour Merlin's mill, Wilson's blacksmith shop, John Taylor & Co.'s big fish warehouse filled with pickled fish, Brookfield Bros.' warehouse and yards, and Taylor & Brookfield's wharves were destroyed. By this time the fire had spread to Liverpool wharf on the north and burned out Butler's spar yard, B. Swenerton, miller's agent, Halifax broom factory, J. B. Neilley & Co., commission merchants, and Stratford Bros., oil dealers. Large quantities of petroleum were stored on this wharf and there were great fears of an explosion. This was prevented by rolling the oil into the dock. The fire spread simultaneously to the south wharf, and soon the immense fish warehouses of John Taylor & Co. were a prey to the flames. The loss will be heavy. A score of schooners at the burning wharves were moved out into the harbor.

GLADSTONE'S SPEECH.

NEWCASTLE, England, Oct. 3.—Over four thousand persons were packed in the Tyneside theatre last night, to hear Gladstone. The appearance of the noted statesman and his wife was the signal for a prolonged ovation, with which Gladstone was obviously delighted. The resolution expressed effection for and undiminished confidence in Gladstone, was carried with renewed acclamations. When the cheering had subsided, Gladstone rose to speak. Looking back to '86 they saw, he said, what was believed to be a crushing liberal defeat. But during the years which have elapsed the horizon has brightened. There were many precursors of certain victory, and that victory could not be far distant. Mr. Gladstone spoke a word of congratulation and hope in regard to the temperance question, reviewing the work and added. "Those approaching my period of life may not witness it, but many of you will see through it. It is a thorough and efficient record of laws connected with the traffic in alcohol, with the acknowledgment of the right of local populations to settle the question whether, within their borders, the traffic at public houses shall exist" (Cheers).

Touching the question of the abolition of hereditary peers, Gladstone said it is at present rather in the shade, owing to the priority of the claims of other subjects. He should not be sorry if it would remain in the shade longer, provided the lease were gained by its forbearance and wisdom in dealing with public sentiment. He warned the house of lords, however, it might make the matter a burning question if the peers were tempted to listen to the counsel given by Lord Salisbury when he contemplated the possibility of a liberal victory, and remined them that all would not be over, even if the commons should pass the home rule bill. That the house of lords might interpose itself between the judgment of the nation and the incorporation of that judgment in the form of law. Gladstone said there was much in favor of giving it a forward place on the liberal platform.

A STRIKE AT THE LORDS.

NEW CASTLE, Eng., Oct. 3.—At the session of the liberal congress yesterday a resolution favoring the abolishing of the house of lords was introduced by Sir Wilfred Lawson, who, with Sir Henry Fowler, made a speech favoring such action. The resolution and speeches elicted much enthusiasm.

BOULANGER'S FUNERAL.

BRUSSELS, Oct 3.—The funeral of Gen. Boulanger took place today. As a large crowd of people were expected, the local authorities had taken the precaution to provide an imposing police force for the emergency, the number of policemen present, however, were unequal to the task of keeping the excited throng in anything like decent order. The coffin was covered with a hundred floral wreaths, tied with tri colored ribbons mostly from France.

THE GERMAN ARMY.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The German artillery maneuvers which have been in progress in Juterberk, about twenty miles south of Berlin, have been attended by Count Schleffer chief of the general staff, and 240 staff officers, three regiments of artilleryguards and four other regiments. A fort built on the shooting range eight years ago was made use of, and other works were erected for a test of the guns. A large number of heavy fortress guns were tried for the first time, the results being so satisfactory as to surprise the most experienced artillery officer. A feature of the occasion was the use of strong farm horses to draw cannon about the field instead of transport horses used last year, and which were found too weak even for the lighter guns then employed. The artillery maneuvers are considered by the kaiser as hardly less important than those of the cavalry, and an elaborate report of the proceedings is being prepared for imperial information.

The proposition to reduce the term of full military service to two years has been received with favor by a portion of the German press, and is known to be favorably regarded by the kaiser. The very vastness and expense of the German military system however, makes it difficult, if not impossible, to effect the change, which would be a great relief to the people. Some high military authorities say that it would impair the military vigor of the empire, while others have a contrary opinion.

A FAMILY ROW.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 3.—Margaret Evans, the mother-in-law of Thos Carr, has made a startling confession relating to the murder of her son-in-law, his wife and sister-in-law, whose bodies were discovered a few days since in Carr's farmhouse near Vanceburgh. Mrs. Evans herself lay unconscious on a bed from the effects of a serious wound. According to the first story, Carr murdered his wife with a corn knife, and then attacked his mother-in-law. Thinking that he had killed them both, he took his own life. Various circumstances, however, tended to disprove this story, and Mrs. Evans has at last told a more truthful account of the murder. She says that a fight occurred in the house because Rosa Burrows, Carr's sister-in-law, accused her own sister of having been intimate with Lee White. This accusation angered Mrs. Carr, who snatched a gun which stood in the corner of the room and attempted to shoot Rosa. The latter grasped an ax to defend herself. Carr then took a hand in the fight, and Mrs. Evans, his mother-in-law, determined to take sides with her eldest daughter, Rosa Burrows. A terrific combat followed. Carr, with his corn knife, hacked off one of Rosa's arms and then cut her throat. Mrs. Evans made a lunge at Carr's wife, inflicting a mortal wound from which she died shortly after. Carr himself was badly wounded, and as he dropped to the floor from sheer exhaustion through loss of blood, his mother-in-law struck him with an ax. That ended the fight.

Pimples.

The old idea was that facial eruptions were due to a "blood humor," for which they gave potash. Thus the old Sarsaparillas contain potash, a drastic mineral, that instead of decreasing, actually creates more eruptions. You have noticed this when taking other Sarsaparillas. It is however now known that the stomach, the blood creating power, is the seat of all vitiating or cleansing operations. A stomach clogged by indigestion or constipation, vitiates the blood, result pimples. A clean stomach and healthful digestion purifies it and they disappear. Thus Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is compounded after the modern idea to regulate the bowels and stimulate the digestion. The effect is immediate. A short testimonial to contrast the action of the potash Sarsaparillas and Joy's. Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 400 Hayes St., S. F., writes: "I have for years had indigestion. I tried a popular Sarsaparilla but it actually caused more pimples to break out on my face. Hearing that Joy's was a later preparation and acted differently, I tried it and the pimples immediately disappeared."

WHY WOMEN FAIL.

In the Telegraph Business They Marry and Upset the Service.

Not long ago a new telegraph service was organized on one of the West India islands under the supervision of an English governmental staff. The island was a long way behind the times in its method of communication and everything else, and the establishment of postal telegraph stations all round the island was looked upon as inaugurating a more hopeful and progressive era. The chief of the department found that women were cheaper than men, so the stations were placed in charge of a bright and promising corps of deft wristed young ladies, who took kindly to their new task, and for awhile every thing went smoothly.

Presently, however, an epidemic fell on many of these island towns, and it invariably took the same form. The clerk from a merchant's office or store would be missing in the middle of the day when the fierce tropical sun was beating down on the white glaring streets, and driving every white man within the jalousies of his coolest piazza, or the horse of the young planter, who had ridden into town from the coffee mountains or the adjacent sugar estate, would be hitched up for an unconscionable time under the heavy shaded mango tree, the fruit of which could be plucked from the windows of the spick and span station, which contained the whole secret of these unwonted phenomena.

In a single year the service went to pieces, and the chief had to face the fact that nearly every member of his staff had either resigned already or was about to resign, in consequence of approaching matrimony.

The officers of the Western Union company seem to be having a similar experience. They complain that the innate propensity of the telegraph girls to get married is a source of constant disarrangement and change in their offices. Just as soon as a woman gets broken in thoroughly and can handle a heavy wire almost as well as a man she falls in love with some telegrapher and marries. In most cases the women quit work and go to housekeeping, while the husband has to thump the key twice as hard to stave off bankruptcy.

This, however, makes no difference; not a single one seems to be deterred by the experience of her predecessor, and the old story perpetually repeats itself. In point of fact, the business of matrimony seems to flourish better in telegraph offices than in the bureaus where men and women are supposed to meet their fate at so much per head; and so seriously is the routine of the telegraph offices disturbed thereby that the companies declare they would give up women operators altogether in the large offices if it were not for the sake of economy.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Stories of the Meeting House.

Mr. Spurgeon has been reviewing a book on "Primitive Methodism on the Yorkshire Wolds," and finds in it some stories very much to his mind. He is especially pleased with one criticism of a sermon.

"Ah, say, mister, you preached a goodish sermon tonight, but if it had been cut short at beath ends, and set afire in the middle, it wad a dean us mare good."

Mr. Spurgeon "scarcely remembers a better criticism than this."

Another story is of a not very fluent young man, who, being in the habit of saying in his prayers, "Lord, help me to pray," was answered one night by an old man's ejaculations, "And the Lord help thee to give ower."

Mr. Spurgeon also likes the story of a clergyman who, at a noisy prayer meeting, commanded silence and said: "My dear friends, the Lord is not deaf. Now don't you think you could pray a little more quietly? You remember, when the temple was being built at Jerusalem, there was no sound of any tool heard in it while building."

"Yes, sir," said one of the brothers, "that's all very true; but, you see, we're not building the temple; we're only blasting the rocks."

Partial Success with an Artificial Cell.

M. Traube succeeded in making an artificial cell that would grow. He took a drop of gelatine, which, after being boiled for thirty-six hours, lost its coagulability. After drying it for several hours in the air by the aid of a rod fixed in the cork of a vessel partly filled with a solution of tannin he plunged the drop of gelatine into the tannin. The outer portion of the gelatine, which dissolved, combined with the tannin and produced a closed cell. This distended more and more, growing after the manner of a living cell, but would not stop at the limit of growth or separate into two or more cells as in living tissues.—New York Times.

He Got the Pass.

An application for an annual pass was once made to Commodore Vanderbilt by the president of a road about twenty-five miles long. "Your road doesn't seem to cover a great amount of territory," suggested the commodore to the applicant. "No," said the applicant, "it isn't quite so long as the New York Central, but, by gracious, Mr. Vanderbilt, it's just as wide!" The pass was issued.—San Francisco Argonaut.
