At times he became profane in his remarks about the disturbers, which only increased their shouts of derision. At last he gave in, and, stopping his lecture, he called upon the stage the six fasters who begin their fifty days' fast in a museum, and introduced them to the audience. After this digression he attempted to speak, but the merry students again interrupted him. Then Mr. Train brought on the stage a colored man who whistled several airs, got an encore and whistled some more, getting a second encore, and gave a song with a whistling interlude. He was then presented with a boutonniere and a silver dollar by Mr. Train amid great cheering. Once more Mr. Train tried to continue his lecture, and once more he was shut off by the disturbers. Then he introduced Mrs. Elesnor Fletcher Bishop, the mother of the dead mindreader, who told how her son had been murdered by three doctors, and spoke of her vain efforts to obtain justice. Mr. Train then called for volunteers, and several young men who had not the best ear for music, and no voice to speak of, excited the laughter and cat-calls of the gang by their wofui breaks.

A man jumped on the stage and undertook to quiet Mr. Train by telling him to go on with the lecture and the noise would stop. Train was apparently angry that the stranger should speak to him, for he attacked him, striking him behind the ear, landing him on the hall floor. Then some of the crowd took possession of the door and refused to let anybody out. At the same time one of the men turned the gas off, bats were thrown into the darkness and ladies and children screamed with fright. Some one turned on the gas again before a panic occured. Train finally gained the attention of the crowd and said:

"This is the last time I will ever speak to an American audience. Hereafter, I am dumb, except to children. I shall not fast, but pack up my things and go to Chicago, where I shall spend the balance of my days. D—n the American people, anyhow. They dont appreciate me. Henceforth I belong to the little ones."

It was said he subsequently tore up his fasting contract, tickets and everything else relating the American public. At a late hour the crowd opened the doors and went home.

SHOCKING INHUMANITY.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Oct. 6.—Another case of shocking inhumanity was witnessed Sunday night in the Union depot. A German immigrant woman who arrived with her husband and three small children on a midnight train en route to Noble, Ia., was taken suddenly sick preliminary to childbirth. Admittance to St. Francis hospital was refused, and the attendance of a physician was unattainable. One prominent physician arrived on the scene at the critical moment, but learning there was no money in the job refused to do anything, and coolly walked away. Lying upon a rough bench the woman gave birth to a male child and was permitted to lie there all night suffering agony until a charitable gentleman came to her aid with money and an order for shelter in a private house. The public is indignant at several cases of cruel inhumanity exhibited by charitable and public officials recently.

THREE MEN KILLED.

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Oct. 6.—Three carpenters, named Ceres, Brown and Proctor, at work on the bridge of the narrow guage road, near Tomales, were killed this morning, being run into by a train. They were working with a large gang of men at the time, others of whom were also injured.

"August Flower"

I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. The doctors told me it was chronic. I had a fullness after eating and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. I suffered frequently from a Water Brash of clear matter. Sometimes a deathly Sickness at the Stomach would overtake me. Then again I would have the terrible pains of Wind Colic. At such times I would try to belch and could not. I was working then for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Cor. Irwin and Western Ave., Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. Finally I used August Flower, and after using just one bottle for two weeks, was entirely relieved of all the trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I would like to refer you to Mr. McHenry, for whom I worked, who knows all about my condition, and from whom I bought the medicine. I live with my wife and family at 39 James St., Allegheny City, Pa. Signed, JOHN D. COX.

THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST LEAGUE.

PORTLAND, Oct. 6.—The regular annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Baseball league was held in parlor 321 of the Portland hotel yesterday at 11 o'clock. It was unanimously ordered that the pennant be delivered to the Portland club, and they be declared the champions for 1891. W. E. Rockwell, Seattle, ex-treasurer of the league, was elected president; H. T. Hudson, of Portland, elected vice president. The election of secretary was deferred until next meeting. The subject of consolidating the California and Northwest leagues was not brought before the meeting, but is understood that a majority of the directors of the Northwest league favor consolidation. The matter has been discussed here, but no definite plan of circuit has been decided upon. In case the two leagues are consolidated it is certain that Spokane will be left out on account of her geographical position. The circuits have been discussed; one includes Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Jose, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. The other substitutes Salem for Los Angeles. The latter proposition appears to be received in a more favorable light than the former. It is claimed that the expense in transportation to Los Angeles from San Francisco would amount to more than the excess of receipts at Los Angeles over Salem. Salem being on the line between San Francisco and Portland, no additional expense would be incurred by playing there.

MRS. FRANK LESLIE MARRIED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Frank Leslie was married Sunday evening to Mr. William Wilde. The ceremony was strictly private and was performed by Rev. Charles F. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers.

TESTING ARMOR PLATES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The most interesting and important armor plate test, so far as this country is concerned, will take place this month at the naval proving ground at Indian head on the Potomac. Last year the results were in favor of nickel steel as against all steel plates. The attack will be mainly made on the former, although all steel plates will be fired at, that no opportunity for practical comparison may be lost. There has been predicted that no foundry on this side of the Atlantic could supply the armor plate for the new United States vessels of war, and that the navy department would be forced to go to Crugot, in France, for victorious nickel steel, or, all else failing, to Cammel, in England, where the destroyed plate of compound plate of the Annapolis trial was made. Almost within one year from the time of those trials, however, two companies have produced eight plates which are to be made the subject of this month's test at Indian Head. It will be interesting to note whether these initial productions of domestic foundries equal, or excel, in all those qualities which go to make up a perfect armor plate the manufacturers of more experienced English and French foundries. There is no reason to believe, say ordinary experts, that this equally at least shall not be attained. Foreign processes of manufacture have been purchased by two domestic companies and with improvements in the method of treatment suggested by proverbial American ingenuity and inventiveness, the expectation that better general results will be obtained is not unreasonable. Such trials as have been held with small plates of domestic manufacture have been emminently satisfactory, and the tests of the three-inch nickel plates of the Harvey process at Annapolis last May suggested the line of subsequent operations.

ROUGH VOYAGE.

SAN FRANCISCO., Oct. 6.—The British steamer West Indian arrived Sunday from Iquique. This was one of the vessels chartered to carry supplies to Chili during the war. Everything was quiet at Iquique when the West Indian left, and all the troops and warships were down at Valparaiso, so the crew of steamer saw nothing of a startling nature during their stay. A deck-load of hay taken down on the steamer was nearly all spoiled by heavy rains near the equator, but was well insured. On the way back to California, the steamer had a rough time of it after crossing the line, and had to combat against a very heavy head sea that often swept her decks in spite of the fact that she was in ballast. About five days before she reached San Diego, a very heavy sea broke over the port bow and swept the decks fore and aft. Mr. Lock, chief officer of the vessel, was forward at the time, and it dashed him against one of the boats, knocking him senseless. The boat was torn from the davits and landed on the after part of the deck by the whee', while tons of water poured down into the cabins and engine rooms. It is probable the West Indian will return to trade between this port and Victoria.

ACCIDENTS AT A FUNERAL.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 6.—A series of frightful accidents occurred in a funeral procession at Altoona, yesterday, in which one man was killed outright, four persons fatally injured, and a score bruised. A procession of forty carriages was following the remains of Nichol Hempstreet from the church to the cemetery some distance from town. While the procession was winding downhill the team at the rear of the others became frightened at a steam thresher and started to run. The road was narrow, and the team ran into and upset a dozen carriages, breaking six into splinters, and scattering the occupants. Other teams started to run away, and a panic ensued; many women jumped out of carriages only to be trampled on by runaway teams. Edwin Destrell, of Altoona, was killed, Joseph Perdue, of Grinnell, and Mrs. J. O. Mason, aged 70; F. S. Sayre, and Mrs. R. C. Lane, of Newton, fatally injured. Twenty others were more or less hurt.

MISSING CASHIER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 6.—The story that William Livsey, the missing ex-cashier of the state treasury, whose evidence is wanted by the legislative investigating committee, is in Canada, is generally credited here. Mr. Livsey's father lives in Canada, and it is thought he went there when he was discovered in Milwaukee. It is understood that the state authorities want him badly, and, as a consequence, little surprise was expressed when it became known that Pattison and other state officials are arranging to secure his extradition. Governor Pattison was asked on what charge Livsey would be arrested in Canada in order to secure his extradition, but declined to say anything on the subject, and said he preferred not to be quoted. The governor remarked casually that Livsey was wanted, and his manner betokened that at the proper time there would be brought out evidence strong enough to secure his extradition. It is said that the matter is in the hands of the attorney-general.

DR. BRIGG'S CASE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—New York presbytery resumed its work this morning. After the routine work disposed of Rev. A. Schiland, of the committee, appointed to answer Dr. Briggs protest of May the 11th, arose and read his report. Dr. Birch, chairman, of the prosecuting committee, announced he was about to serve Dr. Briggs with a copy of the indictment and by arrangement with accused the trial was set for Wednesday, November 4th. Trial will be public in all probability, although the manner of conducting the trial has yet to be decided.

FOUR TRAMPS DROWNED.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Two freight trains ran off the transfer Sunday, and four tramps were drowned in the river in them.

STATUTE TO JEFF DAVIS.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct., 6.—The freight and duty on Jeff Davis' statute, $295, was paid by the contractor after having laid in the depot here two months. It was quietly carried to the Capitol yard, opened and inspected by the Monumental Association. But it has not yet been decided whether or not it will be accepted. Some old friends of Mr. Davis declare that the likeness is not good, while others say it is like he looked after his surrender. The bust from which the statute is modeled was made in London during his visit there after the war. It is of Italian marble, 6 feet high and weighs 1,500 pounds.

The committee agreed to refer the matter of acceptance to a new committee of twenty-five citizens, composed of persons to whom Mr. Davis was well kown, Mrs. Belmont Manship, vice-president of the association, to name the committee.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

STAPLETON, S. I. Oct. 6.—A wagon containing four persons, a man, woman, and two children was struck by a railroad train at the crossing in Giffords this morning. The man was instantly killed and the children were picked up in a dying condition.

SNOW IN THE EAST.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 6.—A dispatch from Luverne in Southern Minnesota says: It is snowing here today and work in the fields has been suspended.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 6—Snow began falling here at nine this morning and continued for about an hour. This is the first snow fall here of the season.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 6.—A tramp named William Downey was arrested Sunday night for the murder of Mrs. Henry Cosert and her son Jopling, the burning of the bodies and of the victims' home, and the robbery of $1000 in gold. The scene of the tragedy was in Raleigh county. The family was a thrifty one and lived in a solitary place. Mrs. Cursert had a great liking for gold, and turned all she saved into it. For years she had been hoarding her savings at her home, and had accumulated about $1000. The charred remains of herself and son were found by a passerby, who, on Saturday morning, saw the smoking timbers of what was once their home. The community is much excited and would lynch the tramp if the evidence against him was stronger.

TO ALCATRAZ.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Corporal Clarence Arnold and Private Chas. E. Trumpower, of Troop D, Fourth cavalry, have been taken to the military prison on Alcatraz island. They were implicated in the killing of A. G. Hunt, who shot a member of a troop over a gambling table in Walla Walla, Corporal Arnold was in charge of the carbines, and the charge against him was allowing the men to take the guns, and further for going out to the jail and helping take Hunt out with intent to kill him. Trumpower was recognized as one of the jail breakers. The sentence of Arnold was that he be dishonorably discharged and be confined at such a place as the reviewing authority may direct for eight years. Trumpower received the same sentence, except that his term was for five years.

MARITAL RECIPROCITY.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—News comes from the west that Colonel Forsyth, formerly of General Sheridan's staff, has just succeeded in winning the hand of the daughter of his old friend, Dr. Dallas Bache, a Philadelphian also in the military service, and that Miss Forsyth, the colonel's daughter, has become engaged to Dr. Bache. Each of the men is 60 years of age, and each has been a widower for about the same length of time. Neither of the young women is much over 20 years of age. It was at one of the military forts near Omaha that the gallant heroes fell victims and surrendered. Each was accompanied by his family, and here it was that each wooed the other's daughter. None of the arrangements for the weddings have been announced, but the smallest details will be watched for eagerly in this city. Dr. Dallas Bache is a direct descendant of Benjamin Franklin, and is connected with the family of the late George Dallas, V. P. W. James, J. K. Polk, as well as the poet Byron, who, in his letters, makes mention of "My cousins, the Dallases in America." Colonel Forsyth was sent to Pine Ridge during the Indian outbreak there. He was very active, but charges were made that he had overstepped his authority. He was courtmartialed for it, but was acquitted. His marriage several years ago was a social event of national interest. It attracted people from all parts of the country to Columbus, O., where he married the daughter of the late William Dennison, governor of Ohio.

JONES' TALK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Lieut. Gov. Jones has issued a card, in which he says: "If successful in this election, nothing can defeat Mr. Flower as the presidential candidate in '92, which would place the national government completely under the control of Tammany Hall as the city of New York now is, and this would make Mr. Sheehan governor. Those who desire this summation of events should sustain right or wrong, and those who do not should at least pause and think."

SECRETARY OF WAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Herald's Washington correspondent telegraphs as follows: If ex-Governor Chiney, of New Hampshire, is not selected to succeed General Proctor, there will be a great surprise among a number of officials at the war department. Just where these gentlemen get their information from is not known, but several of them having close relationship with Mr. Proctor express themselves as very certain of Governor Chiney's appointment. A noteworthy circumstance is the persistence with which they adhere to this belief. Since Mr. Procter's return to Washington, Governor Chiney was one of the first possibilities spoken of among the army people, but as General Lew Wallace and others loomed up the gossip about the former subsided. Within the last few days, however, his name has come to the front again, and, as previously intimated, the army people have practically accepted his appointment as a foregone conclusion.

INCORRECT REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The department of state has informed the legation of the United States at Lima, that the report of the assassination of four American miners at Cajamaquilla, Peru, was incorrect. An an attack was made on them by Indians and one of the miners was wounded. The others escaped with the the loss of all their property.

GRAND JURY WAS LEGAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 5,—Attorney General Hart has filed a lengthy review in Supreme Court today, touching upon the impanelment of the present grand jury. The court in bank, Justice McFarland being only one absent, decided the case presented no points in controversy that could be taken up by the supreme court and dismissed the writ Attorney General Hart in an interview later claimed this course virtually established the legality of the jury's acts.

FOREIGN.

TO BLOW UP A PALACE.

TRIESTE, Oct. 6.—A commotion occurred here yesterday when it became known that an attempt was made to blow up the Episcopal palace. A porter in the palace found a large petard or bomb in one of the hallways. Attached to the petard was a burning fuse. The porter immediately pulled the fuse from the petard and extinguished it. The matter is being thoroughly investigated.

THE PILGRIM EPISODE.

ROME, Oct. 6.—The streets were filled yesterday with people shouting for the king, mingled with cries against the pilgrims and the pope. The day passed off, however, without any violence. In Naples similar scenes were enacted. In Milan the people threatened violence to some foreigners who refused to join in the expressions of loyalty, and in Florence the French residents thought it prudent to remain in doors. Everywhere the greatest devotion was expressed for the royal family and the cause of Italian unity. The incident in the Pantheon raised a flame that shot like wild fire from one end of the peninsula to the other.

ENGLISH NOBILITY.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The late Earl of Portsmouth was a fair representative of titled aristocracy, leading a quiet life and of no use to anybody but himself. He was descended from one of the "regicide judges" who, after the restoration of Charles II, was hauled around the city with a halter around his neck, and then imprisoned for life. From this ancestor, probably, the earl inherited his whig principles, and then transmitted them to his son, who has sat for about ten years in parliament. The son is a prig in manner, but has some ability. The death of the earl is said to have been caused by a fit of temper in connection with his son-in-law.

SUFFERING RUSSIA.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The newspapers of St. Petersburg denounce the conduct of the merchants and members of the nobility for seeking a profit from their stores of corn while the poor peasants are starving. They make a strong appeal to the government to revoke the edict prohibiting the export of rye and substitute, therefor, a heavy tax on exportation of all cereals. A report from the Baku districts and elsewhere are to the effect that thousands of persons are dying of starvation.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hill's Catarrh Cure.

Fire Sunday morning destroyed elevator A, of the Baltimore & Ohio company's system at Low's Point, Md., together with 13,000 bushels of wheat and all the machinery. The loss is estimated at about $600,000. It required the utmost effort of the firemen to prevent the fire from spreading to the surrounding property.

Count Emerich Esterhazy was drowned in the Danube near Pressburg. He fell, with a carriage, horses and driver, over a dam eighteen feet high. The driver says the count compelled him to drive to the river despite his protests, but the fact that a trunk, known to have been fastened on the carriage, has been found loose on the river bank, partially rifled, points to the connivance of the coachman. The count leaves an immense fortune.

A Picturesque Newsboy.

A chubby, gentle looking little fellow, about six years of age, stood at a Broadway corner selling evening papers. Half a dozen other little chaps in the same line of business were jagging him.

And not a little professional jealousy was at the bottom of it, for the boy was gotten up a la Buffalo Bill, with long hair cut straight across the forehead in front and falling over his shoulders behind, a broad brimmed straw hat, blue trousers with gold lace down the legs and attached to a rather full waist that was once white, but now showed signs of several recent rough and tumble encounters. In this toggery the little fellow not only attracted more attention, but sold more papers than his rivals. He warily kept his back to the iron railing and his face toward his tormentors.

"Wot ye doin' here, Billy? Ye ain't no business here. Stick to the av."

"Why don't yer ma cut yer hair, sonny?"

"Got der War Cry?"

The bedeviled boy stood all this sort of chaff like another Roderick Dhu. He never said a word until one of the lads jostled him. Then he let out a string of profane language that almost curdled the blood of a benevolent old gentleman who had just invented a nickel in the outfit.

"Blank, blank ye! Don't yer put yer hands on me! See? I'll lick der everlastin stuffin out yer. I've done yer up before. Miky, an I'll do it agin ef yer don't leave me alone, now. See?"

They let the wild Indian scout from Harlem flats alone, too, I noticed after that. But he has never attempted to work that particular corner since then. —New York Herald.

The Geranium Saved Her Life.

The father and brother of a dear little woman died of consumption, and she firmly believed she would soon follow them with the same dread disease. She had a friend who believed the invalid had inherited her mother's stronger constitution, and if she could only be aroused and the idea banished from her mind that she would soon die she might be a well woman. Arguments were in vain, and, as the friend was going away for years, she gave a geranium to the dear little woman, with the request that she would take care of it, and also that she would work out in the garden through the spring and summer two hours a day. "I might as well do it," said the invalid, "for I shall not live but a few weeks or months at the longest."

Very feeble were her first attempts at gardening, and she would often say on coming in, "I shall die now, anyway." But the next day found her out again. The geranium was cared for, and gradually other plants were added. She became very much interested in gardening, and her mind was taken up in reading and in caring for her flowers. In the winter a bay window was full of blooming plants. It is now three years since she began this new cure, and it has worked wonders. She is a healthy, happy woman now and says that "women stay in the house too much, are afraid of their clothes, and the tight lacing makes a short breath, and then they say, 'We are not strong enough to work in a garden.'" Shut up the pill boxes and throw away the bottles. Breathe the fresh air and take your medicine at the end of a light hoe handle, and see if you don't save doctor's bills.—Vick's Magazine.

Swindles on the Easily Deluded.

The class of lawyers who used to gather a revenue from the deluded "heirs" to imaginary estates in England seem to have been turning their attention to New York city as a more profitable field. The old colonial grants of land and ancient transfers by lease and otherwise enable them to raise a cloud of dust over the title to property which has become of vast value, and to lead the supposed heirs of owners of a hundred years ago to imagine that they can recover many millions if they will assess themselves for legal expenses.

The claimants of the Edwards estate dream of $200,000,000 or so on lower Broadway, and a western parson lays claim to a modest $100,000,000 on the Harlem flats, these being only samples of the preposterous claims which the lawyers who pocket the assessments encourage.

It is sad to think of the eager hopes that are excited, the constantly disappointed expectations and the worriment that are caused by this class of pestiferous hunters for flaws in ancient titles out of which they derive a revenue by the mere process of exciting the cupidity of heirs whose real claims, if any ever existed, were long ago cut off by adverse possession.—New York Epoch.

Curious Aberration.

A good woman at Bar le Duc was standing over her fire the other day, holding her prayer book in one hand and in the other a large piece of bacon, which she intended putting into the pan before going to mass. Absentmindedly she threw in the prayer book and walked off with the bacon under her arm, and did not perceive her mistake until she was about to enter the church, when a dog, allured by the smell, seized the bacon and ran away with it.—Omnibus Illustre.

Much Needed Sympathy.

Two Boulevardiers meet. "Allow me to condole with you, my dear Gontran. I have just heard of your aunt's death. It is a terrible loss for you."

"Right you are. She has cut me off with a shilling."—Le Calendrier.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited, and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or, in fact, at any time, and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Bad Blood.

Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indigestion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally becomes impregnated with the effete matter. The old Sarsaparillas attempt to reach this condition by attacking the blood with the drastic mineral "potash." Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is modern. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It arouses the liver, kidneys and bowels and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried off through the natural channels.

Charles Lee, at Beamish's Third and Market Sts., S. F., writes: "I took it for vitiated blood and while on the first bottle became convinced of its merits, for I could feel it was working a change. It cleansed, purified and braced me up generally, and everything is now working full and regular."
