

to do about it, Fuller told Denson that the charges were "without the slightest foundation, and that he would never pay one cent of damages. At the interview, Denson said he would see Miss Kendall again.

Fuller's attorney received a writ from the young lady that Denson had called again and pressed her hard for definite dates and circumstances upon which to base a suit for heavy damages. He promised to return at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with a statement for her to sign, without which he would have nothing to show Fuller. Fearing that she would be forced to sign this, Miss Kendall requested Mr. Fuller to send an attorney who should secure himself in an adjoining room. Mr. Fuller did more than this—he came himself, with Attorney Bull, a reporter and Detective John Curran. The young lady had been ill for two or three days and had a hand held by the side of her bed. They hid and waited for fifteen minutes for the sound of the bell to summon them, when a piercing scream from the girl rent the air and then the cry "Save me! save me!" and the fall of a body. In an instant Fuller and his friends darted into the room. Denson completely cornered, leaned for support against the bed. His face was deathly white and for a moment he was powerless to speak. He then tried to reach the door and dart away, but being intercepted broke down, sank into a chair and begged piteously for mercy.

In the interview between Denson and young Fuller which followed he told that it was all Whittier's plan to ruin his old partner's son, drive him from the state and secure his interest in the great firm at his own price. Whittier employed Denson to work up the case and get the base article into the papers, and he even told the sum it took to get the blackmailing matter printed.

Fuller and his attorney met W. Frank Whittier in the office of Newlands, Allen & Perrin, and Whittier denied every accusation of course. Proceedings will be commenced against Whittier. S. C. Denson lived in Sacramento for years and was for two terms Superior Judge. The firm of Whittier, Fuller & Co., is one of the largest, if not the greatest of the kind west of St. Louis.

AN INGERSOLL IN PETTICOATS. New York, Oct. 10.—James Owen O'Connor, who has achieved a local notoriety as a comic tragedian, sent notices to the Jersey City papers today of the disappearance of his wife. He says they quarreled over a newspaper article declaring that he was no better an actor than Booth or Barrett.

"When her temper grew hot," he says, "I said to her, 'Madame, in the name of God, forbear!' She replied with blasphemy, and I said: 'Well, for an Ingersoll in petticoats you beat all!' Then she left the house, and I don't know where she has gone."

Later in the day he sent this dispatch to the publishers of the newspapers: "Have my ad taken out of type; my wife's sanctuaries has joyfully been discovered; negotiating for her return home." He says that the little domestic drama was not arranged as an advertising job.

The World Enriched. The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited, and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time, or, in fact, at any time, and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Baby cried, Mother sighed, Doctor prescribed: Castoria!

Have YOU figured it out?

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Paris, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says: "I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for indigestion, and Constipation of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle." I am also troubled with indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonsful before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed.

PARNELL'S REMAINS.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—An enormous concourse of people surrounded Walsingham Terrace this morning to view the opening of the casket containing the remains of the late Charles Stuart Parnell.

The route of the funeral procession to the railroad station was lined with masses of people, who silently and respectfully, watched its passage. Mrs. Parnell was utterly unable to accompany the remains to Dublin. She is too ill to undertake the journey.

U. S. STRAMER WRECKED.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 10.—U. S. S. Dispatch went ashore last night in a heavy gale on Annapolis shoals, on the east coast of Virginia, about sixty miles northeast of Cape Charles. It is not known exactly in how great a peril she and her crew are now. It is impossible to reach the ship from the shore at present. The Dispatch left New York yesterday, and was on her way to Washington, when she went aground. The Yachtie will be buried down to the scene of the accident from Brooklyn navy yard as soon as she can get under way.

ELOPED WITH A NEGRO.

ROME, N. Y., Oct. 10.—A rather sensational elopement occurred in Herkimer county a few weeks ago, the facts of which have just been made public. In the little town of Litchfield, a few miles south of Ilion, lived Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, who were married about five years ago. Two children were born to them, and their marriage was considered a happy one by all until recently, when Mr. Smith became abusive to his wife. When intoxicated he would sometimes beat her terribly. Beckley Smith, colored, worked on the farm for Mr. Smith. He often saw the quarrels between husband and wife, and took the woman's part. Mrs. Smith formed a warm attachment for the negro and the latter part of August the couple eloped. They went to Herkimer, and until a few days ago no trace of them could be found. Recently Mr. Smith learned that the couple were living together as man and wife in the northern part of Herkimer county. He swore out warrants, charging assault in the second degree against the man, and outrage of public decency against the woman. The woman was examined before a justice in Ilion and released. The young negro is still in the Herkimer jail. Mr. Smith is a good-looking woman about 27 years of age. Her many acquaintances are shocked to learn of the elopement, and the matter has caused much excitement in the vicinity.

UNDERGROUND MYSTERY.

GALVESTON, Mo., Oct. 10.—Great excitement has been caused in this neighborhood the past few days by the report that a party of mineral prospectors had been driven from a cave a few miles from this place by cave-dwelling bandits. It appears that a Mexican and two other men were searching for minerals which are known to exist in the hills of this and adjoining counties, and on entering an underground passage they were confronted by several persons who warned them to proceed at the peril of their lives, and not to return. The stay of the prospectors was limited to the time it took the bandits to count twelve. The bandits would have but little chat with the prospectors and said they recognized the voice of Sheriff Davidson and a man they called Edwards. There being no sheriff by that name in this region the impression was created that they were fugitives from justice, finding temporary refuge in these cavernous hills.

A warrant was sworn out and placed in the hands of Sheriff Bookout of this county, who with about forty or fifty citizens of this and Taney counties, are keeping a strict surveillance over all avenues to the rocky cavern. When our informant left, bowlers had been rolled into the entrance, and every means resorted to to compel a peaceful surrender. All manner of wild stories of hidden treasures and bloody cut-throats are afloat, and at this time it is difficult to arrive at the exact situation. A large party from this town joined the sheriff and are endeavoring to find the bottom of what seems an unorthodox mystery. Spanish treasure, rich minerals, escaped criminals and other weird theories are advanced as the "how to the affair, and it is likely to be some days yet before the whole truth is known. One thing is very certain—a more spacious and unapproachable underground chamber could not have been found than the one selected by these Spanish and Mexican Rob Roy's, if such they be. THEY THANKED GOD. ST. CHARLES, Mo., Oct. 10.—A queer-looking outfit passed through here. It was made up of a man, his wife and a 1-year-old child. They came from Kansas City and were going to a town in Illinois. They had been two weeks in crossing the state and had walked the entire distance. The men carried a heavy pack which contained the quilts and other things necessary to housekeeping in the open fields. The woman pushed before her a baby carriage, in which was the little one and under which was slung a blackened colporteur and frying-pan. The baby was tanned as brown as a berry, and the sun had faded its hair.

Said the man, "It is impossible to get work in Kansas City, and we take this method of getting to my wife's people in Illinois."

"Thank God, we will soon be there!" said the woman.

FIRE AT SHORT RANGE.

BUTLER, Mo., Oct. 10.—Last night between 9 and 10 o'clock Thomas Baldwin on returning home found Cy Patton and Hal Evans, two young men of the city, at his house, and without ceremony opened fire on them with a revolver, firing two shots at them without effect as they ran away. Baldwin then went in pursuit, and the three met half an hour later at the corner of the Bates County National bank on the public square, and Baldwin at short range again began to shoot, the first shot taking effect in Evans' left shoulder. Three more shots were fired in quick succession at Patton as he ran, but without effect. Patton and Evans had called at Baldwin's house to visit a Miss Coater from Holden.

BURNED TO DEATH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Annie Kiozkowaska was burned to death this morning in a tenement house fire.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

POTSDAM, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Early this morning a freight train broke in two near Hyde Park, and a way freight following, crashed into the latter half. Joe Muger, engineer on the way freight, and A. Small, fireman, jumped before the collision occurred. Small was instantly killed, and Muger badly hurt, but not fatally. Daniel C. Rockwell, brakeman on the way freight, was killed, and a brakeman on the heavy freight was also killed.

MOB LAW IN OMAHA.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 10.—Public sentiment, which was wrought up highly here yesterday by the execution of the murderer, Neal, was roused to a higher pitch when a report became current that little Lizzie Yates, the 5-year-old victim of a lustful assassin by Joe Coe, a disreputable negro, had died. "We will lynch the nigger," was soon heard on every side, and it was evident the people meant what they said. Last night there suddenly came the sound of a great crowd of men hurrying toward the county jail, and in a remarkably short time that building was surrounded. Yells filled the air, hundreds shouting at once what to do. The mob stood resolute for some time. Meanwhile a few policemen and a force of deputy sheriffs was concentrated. A rush was then made for the South street door of the jail, but the crowd was stopped by a glittering revolver in the hand of Police Captain Corback, who asked what they wanted. "We want that nigger," was the reply; "and we will get him. Get out of the way." "If you take a step this way, I will kill you," said the captain, and his nerve had the due effect.

The crowd then assaulted the east door with sledges and steel rails. Then ex-Governor Boyd pushed his way through the crowd to the door and shouted, "It will be a disgrace to Omaha, and I implore you to be quiet and desist from unlawful efforts. Let the law take its due course." His words were cut off by a man who shouted, "You are not governor here. Get out. Go attend your opera house!" and smash went a steel rail against the first steel door. In five minutes it was open, and the second one assailed. During this time Omaha's police officers to the number of ninety men were gathered, but concentration was impossible. The officers were lost in the crowd. Some one suggested that the fire department be called out and the hose turned on, but it was not the kind of a mob that melts. Firemen came and laid the hose whereupon the mob carried the hose up and drove the firemen away. They were after the "nigger."

The crowd soon effected an entrance to the cell, all the time keeping up a din of yells and curses. The police attempted to stop the mob, but were powerless. The negro begged and pleaded, but it was of no use. His shrieks for mercy were answered with blows that brought his executors nearer. At this time the door was open. Then, with one last yell of terror, the negro was seized by the hands of men eager for his blood, and thrust through the corridor. There is a drive-way fifty yards long leading from the jail; this is paved with rough granite and over it the unfortunate wretch was dragged. In all probability he was unconscious, if not dead, by the time the street was reached. A rope was thrown over the trolley wire of the electric car line, and in a minute high in the air there swung the lifeless form of a colored freed.

CRAZED BY HIS SON.

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 10.—R. C. Vaughn, a well known business man, committed suicide by lying down on the track and letting a train run over him. The waywardness of his son, who is wanted for burglary, is supposed to have driven him insane. FURTHER EXPERIMENTS USELESS. GOODLAND, Kan., Oct. 10.—Frank Melbourne, the Australian rainmaker, closed his experimenting at this place yesterday. To the committee of citizens whom he had been under contract to he explained that the cold nights counteracted all the work he did during the day, and that it was useless for him to experiment further. Since his experimenting began northwestern Kansas has had more rain than has ever fallen here before, and all the people are satisfied with his explanation. At a mass meeting of citizens last night Melbourne was asked to submit a proposition for watering the forty counties in western Kansas, and he agreed to do it for 10 cents for each cultivated acre. There is this year 2,000,000 acres under cultivation in the counties which it is proposed to water.

DID NOT SUCCEED.

PALIS, Tex., Oct. 10.—An attempt was made to hold up the south bound passenger train at 3 o'clock this morning. Several shots were fired. The conductor knocked one of the robbers down with his lamp just as the man was preparing to fire his pistol at the conductors breast.

DESTITUTION IN MEXICO.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—A dispatch from San Antonio, Tex., says: There is great destitution among the lower classes of Mexicans in the states of Chihuahua and Durango. There are about 4000 people seeking employment. These men and their families are half starved and in utter want. Hundreds of unfortunate subsist entirely on the magray plant. The drought is broken, and there are indications of better times.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 10.—Senator Barasoff estimates no fewer than thirty millions of destitute peasants in Russia now and they must be provided for for the next ten months. It will require three hundred and twenty million pounds of grain to feed them. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining the export of linseed cake from Russia is prohibited. Famine in the Volga valley has caused a widespread sickness. Thousands of unfortunate peasants are already prostrated by typhus fever.

NOTING IN BRAZIL.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 10.—The rioting which began at the Italian theatre Thursday evening continued during the night. Troops were called out and patrolled the city until this morning. A number of persons are said to have been killed. Further trouble is apprehended.

STATE.

FROM MEMPHISVILLE.

MEMPHISVILLE, Or., Oct. 10.—McQuillan, a farm hand, eighteen years old, was tangled up with a team while plowing, three miles south of here today. The horses fell on him crushing him severely, breaking his legs and thrusting the bones through the flesh at the knees.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 10.—Special to CAPITAL JOURNAL: Frank Ingram charged with murder, killing his brother Henry, near Tangent, Thursday evening, waived examination today and was held without bail to await the action of the grand jury. One witness is held under bonds.

BORN.

WRIGHT.—Saturday morning, Oct. 10th, 1891, to Mr. and Mrs. Addison C. Wright, a 10 pound son.

DIED.

HUNT.—Saturday, Oct. 10th, 1891, at her home in Salem, Elizabeth N. wife of G. W. Hunt, of paralysis, aged 57 years. Elizabeth N. Smith was born in Jackson county, Mo., July 25th, 1834. She came across the plains to Oregon in 1847, and was married to G. W. Hunt on Aug. 3d, 1851. Last May Mrs. Hunt was stricken with Pylarisis from which she has been a constant sufferer until relieved by death. Husband and five children—three daughters and two sons—survive this hardy pioneer mother, who has a large circle of acquaintances mourn the loss of a good neighbor and friend. The funeral will be held Sunday, Oct. 11th, at 2 o'clock p. m., from the residence at 115 High street, and the body will be interred in Old Fellows' cemetery.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube, hearing will be destroyed forever; cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hill's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

The Mendeat Cough.

An Old Town lady had her faith in human nature somewhat shaken recently. A woman apparently in distress, accompanied by a daughter said to her, in consumption. The lady while out of the room for bread for her indigent callers overheard the woman say to her consumptive daughter: "Why don't you cough more! You don't cough half enough." Augusta (Me.) Journal.

Family Secrets Given Away.

In the infant class one Sunday the lesson was about disobedience and its punishment. "Little children have to mind, or they are not nice," said the teacher. "Older people have to obey laws or be punished. Do any of you know how older people are punished?" Little Florence answered: "Oh, yes, I know! The husbands scold the wives, and the wives scold the husbands."—New York Tribune.

Accidents from Falls.

The most common form of accident is a fall. During the year ending April 30, 1891, there were reported at police headquarters in the city of New York 3,223 accidents resulting in serious or fatal injuries; and 3,058 of these were the results of fall. Of 12,422 claims paid by our accident company, 4,814 were for injuries received from falls.—James R. Fitcher in Forum.

An Incident of Missouri Life.

"I saw a woman, spade in hand, working out her poll tax as I came to town this morning," said George W. Jones, of Osage township. "I sorted graded on my sense of the eternal fitness of things, so I paid her tax for her."—Nevada (Mo.) Mail.

Delight Followed by Torment.

What man or woman will deny that a good dinner is a present delight. Equally undeniable is it that when a well cooked repast is succeeded by a fit of indigestion, nature is converted into torture, pain, change your dyspepsia to your dinner. No, my dear sir, your gastric department was not so tender to begin with. Had you regarded it with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, you could have taken your dinner without the slightest inconvenience. This is a complaint, and entirely refers to the digestive system, besides, the liver and bowels, which must act harmoniously with the digestive, besides, the three fall out of gear. Take the Bitters for all ailments of the stomach, and you will find a prompt and permanent relief. It is a purifier and promoter of consciousness. It has no peer.

LOVE'S FOREVER.

"Then must we really part forever?" Some rashly spoken word had chilled her. And sorrowfully she turned away. From the soft speech whose potent way Had evening after evening thrilled her.

Responsive to the plaintive plea That certified his heart's endeavor. She glanced at him disdainfully. And cold as rolls the polar sea Her voice pronounced the word "Forever!"

A sob! A moan! With leaden feet From the veranda he descended. Tread noisily the curvy street, Praying to find a winding sheet, And whatsoever with it blended.

"This vow must cease!" he said, then laid His hand upon a dagger straightway: A gasp! a shudder! then the blade Was pocketed, and tracks were made Back toward the cruel maiden's gateway.

A form rushed out, four arms did lock As if they never meant to sever. And twenty minutes by the clock Had marked the bounds of Love's forever.

A Gypsy Queen.

She says she's English, and she must be, for her accent is decidedly Cockney. She says she's the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter, with no sons between; but such a run of girl babies is a little less credible. Her tents are up in the shelter of a clump of trees on Nostrand avenue, Brooklyn, just beyond the boulevard. There are only two of them, for she hasn't a numerous following.

But there is a wagon with bravery of fresh paint and varnish that is a veritable house on wheels. One tent is a parlor, or perhaps one should say a throne room. It has a gay hammock slung in it and gay mats on the board floor.

Queen Patience has black curly hair and dark eyes, and she wears a scarlet gown. She has a scarlet kerchief over her head, and she looks picturesque, though her employment is not royal, when she's not telling fortunes she's apt to be washing.

She has a tub out of doors under a maple. Really, washing's not such bad work when the tricky winds rustle the leaves and the locusts and grasshoppers are vouch; for alas! the times change and faith grows dim, and it's not now such very profitable work to lift the veil of the future.—New York Recorder.

The American Postal Service.

Some idea of the magnitude of the postal service may be gathered from the fact that the combined length of the railway postal routes of the country is 144,575 miles, while in 1890 reached the enormous total of 186,375,384 miles. Germany, which comes next, only has 23,202 miles and a total transportation of 83,207,000 miles per annum.

But while our railway service is of great magnitude there are the star route and steamboat services, which extend over 251,792 miles, with a total annual transportation of over 12,000,000 miles. To carry on successfully this immense service requires the work of over 90,000 persons. The postal correspondence of this country with foreign lands falls a little below that of Germany. Of the 90,000,000 pieces sent abroad during 1890, 70,000,000 were carried by vessels of foreign register.—Chicago Mail.

A Pallindrome.

A pallindrome is a line or phrase that reads the same backward as forward. The Latin language is full of such linguistic freaks; the English has but few. One at least is inimitable. It represents our first parent politely introducing himself to Eve in these words: "Madam, I'm Adam."

The following phrase lacks but one letter of being even more remarkable: "Lewd did I live, evil did I dwell." From the Latin we have, "Roma tibi subito motibus ibit amor" (Rome will come to you suddenly with violence).—Detroit Free Press.

Bad Blood. 25c Want Column

Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indigestion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally becomes impure. It is caused by the liver, kidneys and bowels and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried off through the natural channels.

Charles Lee, at Beahm's Third and Market Sts., S. F., writes: "I took your medicine, and blood and white on the first bottle became convinced of its merits, for I could feel it was working a change. It cleansed, purified and renewed me generally, and everything is now working full and regular."
