ANOTHER BIG FIRE.

One Million Dollars Goes Up in St. Paul.

PALO ALTO BEATS THE RECORD.

Found With His Skull Crushed, W. C. T. U., To Drive Out Chinese, Off For Chili, Killing Frosts, The Episcopal Congress, The Farmers' Alliance.

BIG FIRE IN ST. PAUL.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—St. Paul last night suffered one of the most disastrous fires in its history. The buildings damaged being those of Griggs, Cooper & Co., wholesale grocery, and Farwell, Ozmon, Kirk & Co., wholesale hardware. The total loss is estimated at from $600,000 to $1,000,000. The estates are covered by insurance.

No definite information is obtainable as to the cause of the fire, but it is thought to have originated in some packing on the fourth floor.

PALO ALTO IS KING.

STOCKTON, Cal., Nov. 18.—The grand old steeple that has been the pride of the city since the days of the great Alton, is now king. The great Alton at the independence track, is dethroned. His proud record of 2:30 has been lowered half a second, and lowered handsomely too. There were few people at the race course in the afternoon to see the greatest performance of the wonderful record meeting, which has been going on over the six-shaped track for the last six weeks. Not a horse's record beating trot, nor a horse's marvelous mile was so much a treat as old Palo Alto's feat yesterday. He was driven up and down the course.

Palo Alto came back to the loop and scored once in fine shape. He then returned and came up again, trotting steadily and fast to the wire, with the runner two lengths behind him. Marvin nodded for the word, and the magnificent stallion was off for the battle of his life. He went the mile straight in 2:30. The horse went a mile yesterday in 2:19, which made him right for the performance. Hereafter Marvin has tried to hold him down to the half to save him for a finish, but this time he let him go away at his speed, holding him on to his feet. He went along his usual track in the middle of the course, with the runner close up, and made the quarter in 9:31, and the half mile in 1:02. This was a terrific gap. Marvin held him back on the next quarter to keep him strong for the finish, making the quarter in 33 seconds and reaching the three-quarter post in 1:30—two seconds faster than he made the distance yesterday. On he went, making a wonderful finish, coming the last quarter in 32 without a skip and going under the wire strong, a winner of the world's steeple record, in 2:30. Palo Alto goes home in the morning to retire to the stud, having won the mark Marvin had set for him.

FOUND WITH HIS SKULL CRUSHED, ROSALIA, Wash., Nov.—Monday night a German farmer named Eley, living five miles from Rosalia, was found on the roadside with his skull fractured in two places. It is thought that he met with foul play, as the wounds have the appearance of being inflicted with some blunt instrument. Eley had been to Rosalia, where he had his posed of a load of wheat, but when found had no money on his person. He has not regained consciousness, and no clue to the perpetrator of the deed has been found. He will hardly survive, although everything is being done for him.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—At yesterday's session of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union a number of reports were listened to and the following officers elected:

Miss Frances Willard, president, received 343 votes out of 396; Mrs. Mary Woodbridge, recording secretary; Mrs. Caroline E. Buell, of Chicago, corresponding secretary, and Miss Esther Fugh, of Chicago, treasurer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—The longer the alliance remains in session the further apart grow the various factions, appears to be the situation this morning. It seems to be impossible to settle the various organization down to any definite expression or any united policy. The third party is in earnest and every move has more or less a direct reference to this issue. A split on the sub-treasury and land loan principles now seems inevitable. The open meeting of the alliance this morning was a complete fizzle and lasted but a few minutes. When the executive session opened trouble over the sub-treasury began. A communication was received from the executive committee and the sub-treasury alliance asking a hearing for the protests prepared by Hope Yeaman, Missouri, under instructions from St. Louis convention last September.

THE EPISCOPAL CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Episcopal congress convened here yesterday. The services were held at the Epiphany church, which was crowded. Communion was held. The Rev. Phillips Brooks, bishop of Manchester, delivering the communion address. At the conclusion of the religious exercises, ex-Senator Edmunds, the presiding officer, delivered an address, in which it was stated many important topics were to be discussed during the evening and the hope expressed that the cause of religion would be advanced thereby. Memorial services were also held, the secretary, the Rev. Wilder, delivering an address in memory of those who have died since the last meeting. In the evening "Theism and Evolution" were discussed and several papers read.

CHINESE TO BE DRIVEN OUT OF BUTTE.

BUTTE, MONT., Nov. 18.—A well-organized movement has been inaugurated here to rid the town of the Chinese element. The subject was taken up about a week ago by the Workingmen's Union, which has a large membership. The matter was called to the attention of the Miners' Union and other labor organizations, which sent delegates to a meeting at which it was decided to begin the effort three weeks from date. It is a question whether or not the movement will succeed. No violence is to be resorted to, but every effort will be put forth to discourage the employment of Chinese in any capacity, and a systematic boycott against Chinese laundries and restaurants will be started. From census of Chinese taken by the labor organizations, it is ascertained that they have a population of 1600 in Butte.

AN OLD PHYSIC GARDEN.

It Was Lensed to the Apothecaries Company in 1873 and still exists.

The proposal to build over the builder the Apothecaries' Physic garden, facing the river of Chelsea, has had a good result. It has elicited the fact, to the great relief of all lovers of picturesque London, that the conditions of his bequest save it from the fate which has overtaken Gerard's garden at Holborn, and Tradescant's garden at Lambeth, its older rivals. The garden, which is the oldest of its kind in England, was leased to the Apothecaries' company by Lord Cheney in 1673, and in 1723 was finally presented to the company by Sir Hans Sloane, whose statue, erected eleven years later, still adorns it.

Evelyn alludes in his diary to a visit to "the Apothecaries' garden of simple," "well stocked with plants under Morgan, a skilful botanist," and he mentions among the rarities he saw there "the tree bearing Jesus' bark, which has done such wonders in quartan agues," a tulip tree and a tea shrub. Evelyn's friend Pepps, too, must have delighted in the wonders of the garden.

He records with patriotic pride that "we have the best walks of gravel in the world, France having none, nor Italy, and our green of our bowling alleys is better than any they have," and he approves the existing "fashion of gardens to make them plain," "only with a little statues, or fountains, which may be handsome, and so fitted with another pot of such or such a flower or green as the season of the year will bear."

Here at Chelsea was made, in 1694, one of the earliest attempts to overcome the English climate, and rear the flowers of sunnier climes by the aid of artificial heat, which was obtained by placing charcoal embers in a hole in the floor of the greenhouse. During the management of Philip Miller, "the Prince of Gardeners" (from 1722 to 1771), the gardens acquired an almost unrivalled reputation throughout Europe. The are happily safe in the custody of the Apothecaries' society, by whom they are maintained for the use of the medical schools of London.—Black and White.

When a Man Talks Best.

Among the chief social conditions necessary for conversation are these: The members of any social group must neither be too intimate, too numerous, nor too unequal. In family life, men and women, long familiar, are apt to know too much and to hope too little. Few, indeed, are the strictly domestic circles in which mental energy would be found for much sustained or animated conversation of the right sort. Some may be too selfish to exert themselves there. Others are chilled by their surroundings. They find themselves underestimated; or, worse, they know every one there so well—and again have they traveled over each other's minds; or they perhaps remember the desolating saying that "there is in every man or woman something which, if you knew it, would make you hate them." For purposes of conversation a man will often find himself more at home when away from home, and among those who, as distinguished from relatives on the one hand and acquaintances on the other, are to be called friends.—Gentleman's Magazine.

The Bread Englishmen Eat.

J. W. Balch, a grain broker, of Detroit, says: In England the bread making is not done in the family, but by the baker. The Englishman does not buy his bread by the barrel, but gets his bread from the baker. The latter uses several kinds of flour. He takes three barrels of Duluth wheat—hard spring wheat containing a good deal of gluten. In this strong flour he can mix a good deal of water, and he prefers to sell water when he can. Then he adds a barrel of ordinary spring wheat flour and one of white flour (to give good color) made from wheat grown on the Pacific coast. The time was when Michigan used to supply this soft wheat used to make the bread white, but white wheat is running out in Michigan and also in New York. So the world is looking to the western fields.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Ammonia Potent.

Many people are slowly absorbing ammonia without knowing it. The use of ammonia in the manufacture has greatly increased of late, and it is unquestionably used as an adulterant in certain food preparations. Official analyses have plainly showed its use even in such cheap articles of every day consumption as baking powder. The continued absorption of ammonia in even minute quantities as an adulterant in food is injurious not merely from its effect upon the complexion, but because it destroys the coating of the stomach and causes dyspepsia and kindred evils.

Professor Long, of Chicago, is an authority for the statement that if to fifty mill parts of water there is one part of ammonia the water is dangerous.—St. Paul Globe.

At the Harvest of Death.

Each gain is prematurely reaped by the scythe of disease. One who has been troubled by a golden shower of rain. It is a golden shower that has been attended to in time. Nothing is truer than that—bodily ailments not only grow apace, but bring on another. This illness, continuation, and increase of later ailments more or less severe, their cause is more or less directly related to the condition of the kidneys, of what does not attract attention is paid to their early warning. Check those "winter" ailments with Hester's stomach Bitters and forestall the luxurious remedy, who exacts the forfeiture of life as the penalty for disregarding the uses of a preservative.
