CAN IT AFFORD IT?

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer: There can be no doubt of the predictions of Mr. Mills toward free trade, and he is a Democrat, and an honest one. That this doctrine is not the all-pervading one in the south, we quote the excerpt from the Atlanta Constitution: "Mr. Mills is a free trader. He was speaking in the west last year, and he repeated it in a speech made in Cincinnati a few weeks ago in behalf of the Democratic party. Mr. Mills' idea of tariff reform is free trade. This is the difference between him and the other candidates and between him and other Democrats. Is this the test and measure of Democracy? Is this the doctrine which, according to the humble Bynum and the candid goldbug organ, makes Mr. Mills' Democracy respondent? "Mr. Mills has the courage of his convictions; he is a free trader and he makes no bones of proclaiming the fact. This is the issue that will be made by his election to the speaker's place. Can the Democratic party afford to go before the country on the issue thus made? We have no argument to make on the issue. The only question is one of policy. Can the Democratic party at this time afford to go before the country on the issue of free trade as Mr. Mills has made it? If it can, well and good. If it can not, it is the duty of Democrats to place some other Democrats in the speaker's chair.

"Repellent as is the Democracy of Mr. Mills, it is better for the Democratic party to be safe than sorry." Let no one hereafter say that Mr. Mills is classed only by Republicans as a free trader. He is a free trader and everybody knows it, Democrats not excepted. As to the Constitution's very pertinent query, "Can the Democratic party at this time afford to go before the country on the issue of free trade as Mr. Mills has made it?" we only have to say that we believe and hope that it will go before the country on that very issue. Whether it can afford it will be proved when the books are made up after next November's vote. We are inclined to think that they will show that it could not.

GOING BACK ON SILVER. Wallace Yates writes to the Portland Telegram and says: "For Democrats to commit themselves as a party to free coinage of American silver would be the height of inconsistency. If there is anything to which that party is especially opposed it is the doctrine of protection. Yet free coinage of American silver means the protection of American silver producers against silver miners elsewhere. It means that the twelve millions or so of seigniorage now going into the United States treasury shall be transferred to the pockets of the silver kings, and the people taxed additionally to make up that amount; in other words, the counterpart of the sugar bounty business. Silver men should be satisfied with things as they are. Four and a half million ounces a month exceeds the total American production of last year by some four million ounces, and no doubt will take all of this year's product." Wallace Yates is level-headed. He sees the end clearly and distinctly.—East Oregonian.

The above quotation with approval is from the two leading Democratic papers in Oregon, that were a few months ago for free silver and whose party in Oregon is pledged to free coinage of silver. The people should realize that but for extensions of the silver coinage since 1873 this nation would be trying to get along with about half its present circulating medium and a population twelve millions greater than 1873. The extensions of silver coinage were made under Republican administrations and the law compelling the increased coinage was enforced by Republican secretaries of the treasury.

These Democratic papers are now so anxious to go back on free coinage that they seem willing to approve all that Republicans have done! If the coinage can only be stopped now they are well to say all that has been done under Republicans is excellent. Is not this their attitude in the above article? We believe it is.

SUGGESTED COMMENT.

Albany has an "Apollo" club. Is it "Apollo" in appearance or "Apollo" in art?

A new Democratic paper is to be started, it is reported, in Baltimore, to honor Senator Gorman for the presidency. Senator Gorman denies the soft impeachment, and says Cleveland is the fittest candidate for the office.

All attempts of Democratic and Hermann papers to draw some expression out of Mr. Geer have failed so far.

Saturday in Pendleton 200 sacks of Scotch Flax wheat were sold by Andrew Nelson to W. S. Byers for $1 per bushel.

The way for Salem to be a distinctly progressive and successful city is to continue to have a distinctly progressive way of doing things. That is the Salem way.

Lyman C. Knapp, governor of Alaska has our thanks for a copy of his annual report to the secretary of the Interior. It contains much valuable information in regard to Uncle Sam's refrigerator territory.

Quoting this paper the Albany Democrat says: "THE SALEM JOURNAL strikes the key note as follows: The only issue at the coming city election next Monday is bound up in the one word Progress. The only issue at large for the city of Salem is found in that word Progress."

The Atlanta Constitution vigorously and almost viciously opposes Mills for speaker, because he is a "free trader." But the Constitution is also ardent in its advocacy of forcing silver coinage to the front as a national issue. Besides, it desires the election of the Georgiana, Crisp, as speaker.—Portland Telegram. The Constitution is about right.

J. H. Stine, who was murdered in Yamhill county a few days ago, had been editor of the following papers: The Gazette, at Heppner, Independent, at Hillsboro, West Side, at Independence, Courier at Grant's Pass, Brownsville Informant, now Times, Lebanon Express, St. Helens Mist and the Whittson Advance, of which he was editor at the time of his death. That is a great record as a newspaper starter and Stine had been better off if he had never started his last one.

A Salem paper says "not half the states of the Union made appropriations for the world's fair." This is about as correct as most of its other statements. All but about half a dozen states made appropriations, and one of them, New York, will undoubtedly make a large appropriation this winter, unless the legislature gets into another political deadlock.—Portland paper. There is nothing to prevent the next Oregon legislature making an appropriation, unless it is defeated by the superior wisdom or superior folly so plentiful at Portland.

The Salem JOURNAL urges the abolishment of all convict labor in one breath, and in the next it says: "THE JOURNAL believes all the able-bodied men sent to the state prison should be put at as hard work as the men in the contract works are. Only it would be better if all the men could be put to work out of doors. The convicts should all be worked at the same grade of manual labor and as much out of doors as possible. They should not displace free labor by being worked gratuitously about state institutions, or at the contract system, after the declarations made in Oregon's political platforms." But at what sort of work they are to be put in order not to come in competition with free labor it has not yet explained.—Portland Telegram. Why cannot work be provided the convicts by setting them to building heavy broken rock wagon roads, so much needed in Oregon? We have suggested this several times, and would like to hear The Telegram's objections thereto.

MISCELLANY.

RUSSELL SAGE'S CASE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Yesterday the chief clerk of Russell Sage said arrangements had been made for the temporary transaction of the business of Sage's office at the office of Caldwell & Barker. Osborne had a large force of men at work overhauling the great pile of rubbish, picking out valuable papers which the explosion had scattered all over the premises. The men who were injured by the explosion are mostly doing well.

Washington, E. Conner says he called upon Sage and found him looking bright and cheerful. He will be all right again in a few days. He said no bonds were lost, the only loss will be by the destruction of office and furniture. Inspector Byrnes is exerting himself to try and locate and identify the bomb-thrower. The entire detective force of the city are put on the case.

It is now believed to be an undisputed fact that only two people were killed, the bomb-thrower and B. F. Norton, Sage's private secretary. So thoroughly has Russell Sage recovered from the effects of the explosion that he has just announced his intention of resuming business Monday.

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Hiram D. Wilson, the lunatic sent to the state hospital some time ago, is not the bomb-thrower who made the attempt on the life of Russell Sage.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The bomb-thrower has been identified, but so far his name has not been ascertained. He was a rampant anarchist, and believed to have hailed from San Francisco. In conversation in this city a few weeks ago the bomb-thrower said he had been arrested for making incendiary speeches in San Francisco. Captain Henry Horne a museum lecturer has identified the head of the bomb-thrower as that of a man who had a conversation with him two weeks ago.

The man, whose name he has forgotten, wanted Horne to go out lecturing on monopolies, railroads and socialistic topics. Horne says all that the man told him he was going to write up all capitalists like Gould and Sage, and if they did not come to him he would blow them all up.

Wm. D. Tyler, of Tacoma, Wash., called at the morgue Saturday afternoon and viewed the dead man's face. The visitor thought the face bore a striking resemblance to that of a man named Wilson who was at one time business manager of the Tacoma Ledger, and who had been in the insane asylum in Illinois.

The police reported that they had found portions of a human body in the ruins near Sage's office. He believed the remains were part of the bomb-thrower's body. Horne gave Inspector Byrnes a card which the bomb-thrower sent him. On it was written: "Capt. Harry Horne—I called, but failed to see you this afternoon, Wednesday, Oct. 12th. Would you please write me where you are stopping and when I can see you there, and oblige D. W. Southworth, San Francisco, care Morris hotel, 11 West street." The inspector sent the telegram to Chief of Police Crowley of San Francisco, asking if there had been any person arrested in San Francisco in the past two years for making incendiary speeches on the subject of capitalists, etc.

QUICK WORK OF A CHICAGO JUDGE. CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—At 11 o'clock Saturday Judge Collins began the call of his divorce calendar. By 2 o'clock he was through, and twenty cases had been presented. One minute after court adjourned Christiana Wolter began to prove her charge that her husband was too cruel to live with. She succeeded in her proof in seven minutes. The next two cases occupied eight minutes each and were concluded in that time. John Heraker took seven minutes to prove that his wife, Mary, deserted him. At 11:45 o'clock, Lulu Mitchell testified to her husband's cruelty. At 11:45 o'clock, Catharine Flomen demanded separation from John Flomen, and at 11:57 o'clock Mrs. Lizette Neal declared her George guilty of drunkenness. At 11:40 o'clock, Matiel Guggin ac-
