MATTHEWS DRESSMAKING PARLORS,
331 Commercial St.

AN OREGON BEAUTY.—These are not scarce at all but this particular one will be displayed each afternoon in front of "The City" meat market (E. C. Cross, at 108 State street). She is a 5-year-old heifer, weighing 2140 pounds, one of the sixteen Christmas beavers which Mr. Cross will have butchered for his holiday trade. This heifer is a pure bred registered Durham, raised by Ladd & Reed on their Broadmead fine stock farm, from whom Mr. Cross bought her. She is a perfect beauty, and will be admired by every lover of good stock—and she will make beef for a king or anybody else. There could be no finer beef. She must have cost a pile of money, but this does not seem to worry Mr. Cross. He is ambitious to have the best of his kind here. This 2150 pound heifer will set off his Christmas display in fine style.

TRIM THE TREES.—If a movement could be started that would result in a general systematic trimming of the trees along all the streets it would be a grand good thing. A city overgrown with great spreading trees looks much like a boy with uncombed, unkempt hair. The trees have grown so large they hide half of the electric light and physicians say their shade and moisture is not beneficial. The city should take steps to have the trees along the streets trimmed in a heroic manner if the property owners will not do it. The streets would be dryer too. Let it be done.

MASONIC.—Pacific Lodge No. 50 A. F. and A. M. holds regular session this Friday evening. Multnomah R. A. C. No. 1 has elected officers as follows: J. J. Murphy, H. P. Davis, K.; J. H. Ross, S.; J. A. Carson, Sec.; J. H. Albert, Treas.; G. B. Gray, C. H.; R. P. Boise, Jr., P. S.; T. L. Golden, R. A. C.; F. C. Perrine, M. 3d V.; D. J. Fry, M. 2d V.; W. H. Byrd, M. 1st V.; F. Folsom, Tyler.

SHOVELLING MUD.—That is the new diversion of tramps, drunks, and criminals in Salem. A tramp cart under direction of the street commissioner will occupy their time filling the same with the beautiful mud such as appears in unlimited quantities on our streets. The fluid filth is carted off and dumped on private grounds at such a load.

Children's tea sets, building blocks, picture books, scrap albums, everything to make the youngsters happy at the Racket store.

See those 10, 25 and 50 cent counters at G. F. Smith's for genuine bargains.

ALWAYS A SUCCESS.

The G. A. R. Fair Attraction Attended by a Crowd—A Genuine Success for Tonight.

Thursday evening was devoted to the statue. This evening will be given to realism and life scenes. The classical features of Mrs. England's night were surprisingly superb and she will come very near winning the $55 prize if indeed she does not win it outright. The prize will be announced Saturday night. Miss Lena Morgan's singing was very good. The artist was a trifle timid as she stepped on the boards but this soon vanished and all were delighted. Miss Ames, professor of elocution at Willamette university, has prepared the program for tonight as follows:

PART FIRST.
Recitation: "On the Rappahannock" Miss Stella Ames.
Piano solo, Rigolito de Verdi. Miss Anna Krebs.
The Little Housemaids. Misses Maude Savage, Louisa Van Wagner, Edna Starr, Mattie Southwick, Olive Gwynne, Wanda Bellinger, Emily Thatcher, Clara Damara, Nerva Griswold, Edna Polle, Nellie Evans, Ada Dayton, Gerlie Denham, Gladie Suter, Bertha Kay, Pearl Anderson, Inez Adair, Anna Golden.
Arrangement, exercises and training by Miss Ames.

Vocal solo.—Selected Miss Lena Morgan.
Recitation: "How Ruby Played" Miss Ames.
Harmonic gymnastics, training by Miss Ames. Miss Mary Steiner, accompanist.
Order of presenting harmonic gymnastics:
First Expression: A—Bowing; B—Expectation; tableau, a, (repeated) "Twice here I drop the parting tear, to cross the ocean foam"; b, (repeated) sentiment, "It fills my soul with joy to greet my home once more."
Second Expression: A—Series of poses; B—Animation. Tableau: "A charm from the skies seems to welcome us there."
Third Expression: H—Sitation, aspiration, antagonism, recoil and supplication. Tableau: Sentiment. "To him, who in the love of nature holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language."

Concert recitation.—"The Bagle Song"—Tennyson
Miss Cook Martzell, Mabel James, Ethel Hughes, Mabel Adair, Ollie Rounds, Myrtle Marsh, Frances Uren, Anna Alderson, Cora Litchfield, Rilla McCulloch, Mabel Ingersoll, B. Beatrice Burkhardt.
Vocal solo.—Selected Miss Lena Morgan.
MUSICAL—PART FIRST.
March, "Comrade's Greeting, Faust Overture, "A Night in New York"—Brooks
Clarinet solo, "Trylene Air Varie"—Mr. Chas. Poppa
Overture, "Lustig"—Keler Bela
PART SECOND.
Cornet solo, "Culver Polka," Steinhauser.—Mr. W. E. McElroy
Waltz, "Daughter of Love" Bennett Medley, "Buds and Blossoms" Wallace.
Overture, "Le Clair"—Dalbey

WELL PLEASED.—Messrs. White and Cline went out to the State reform school Thursday and report themselves well pleased with what they found. They are favorably impressed with the management of Supt. Miles and his lady and approve the principles upon which they run the school. There are nine boys there and all the arrangements go to show that Oregon has a model institution for the proper training of erring youth.

MT. ANGEL.—J. H. Palmer who has since the town started conducted a general merchandise business at this live town of our county, has just sold out to a Mr. Buell of Olympia. He paid $1600 for the store and lot and will take the stock on inventory prices. Mr. Palmer will still make his home at Mt. Angel. There have been a number of real estate transfers of late and the town is growing.

Smyrna figs and white seedless raisins. Sroat & Gile.
Oysters in every style at Hollenbrand's.
Buy your Christmas presents at the Opera House corner and save money.
12-17-td.
Everything for Christmas in their line at Clark & Eppley's, 100 Court street.
The Lewis & Dryden Railway Guide for December is out. It is the most complete publication of the kind on the coast.
Child's folding street carts—something new, at the Racket store.
Chamber set very pretty, new and low priced—Sroat & Gile.

A COOL SNAP.—A cottage on the electric road at a rare bargain. Call on C. E. McNally, architect, Bush-streman block.
12-16-1w
WANTED.—A good woman cook at the Home restaurant, Postoffice block.
12-16-1w
The first and last and all the "high grade" china ever brought to Salem—viz. Haviland china—has been at the Bue Front.
Ten dozen Christmas hats at $1.50 apiece just opened at Chas. Calvert.

Military Note in Europe.

European civilization today is based on the idea that war is not only an imminent possibility, but a probability, and a great class in every country has been trained to look upon bloodshedding as its proper vocation. The great prizes are reserved for soldiers; honors, fame, position and the monarch's favor go to the sons of Mars. The military budget exceeds, many times over, the cost of the powder and shot wasted in Europe between any dawn and dusk would probably pay the running expenses of all her public hospitals. In each government, whether it be constitutional or autocratic, the army may, with truth, be said to direct legislation, for the legislatures, willingly or unwillingly, vote the appropriations demanded by the war department.

Even if a legislature dares to question or protest it is quickly frightened into acquiescing by an alarming report from the minister for war. Thus the military class controls government, and has laws passed to suit itself, and prevents all attempts to cut down or to abolish its power. It intimidates the state not less really, though less openly, than the Pretorian guard intimidated old Rome. Kings and ministers do indeed assure the public that they chiefly endeavor and desire to preserve peace, but in the next breath they call for larger funds and more recruits. Kaisers meet and kiss each other on both cheeks. They extol the sweetness of brotherly love, they attend each other's grand maneuvers, and then they increase the garrisons along their respective frontiers. A strange method, this, for testifying to their peaceable intentions!—William R. Thayer in Forum.

How Stonewall Jackson Kept Sunday.
The religion of Stonewall Jackson is an enigma to many who study the life of the great soldier, while to others it is a scorn and a derision. To those who seek a subject for caricature, the eccentricities in which he carried some things to an extreme furnish plenty of material for their small wit. Such was his rigid observance of the Sabbath. Not only did he refrain from all worldly occupations on that day, he would not even write a letter, nor read one if he received it, even though it was from her who was to be his wife. He was sure that it would keep its sweetness till the next day, and meanwhile he had the pleasure of anticipation.

Nay, more, he would not post a letter on Saturday, lest it should travel on Sunday. One exception, however, he had to fight a battle on that holy day; but that he looked upon as "a work of necessity," if not of "mercy," and then he would keep Monday! So scrupulous was he not to defraud the Lord of his just due that he would sometimes keep two or three days running to balance the account!—Rev. H. M. Field, D. D., in Harper's.

Homer, Horace and Algebra.
A Hastings street man, not classically educated, sent his boy off to college and the young man wrote home about his studies, his living and so on, and the proud father was telling a friend about it on the street the other day. "That boy of mine is a corker, I tell you," he said enthusiastically. "He's away at college, isn't he?" queried the friend.

"Yes, he is, and he is doing tip-top. Got a letter from him yesterday, and he's right in the swim. He's studying Homer and Horace, he says, and he wants to know if he shall take up algebra."

"And what did you tell him to do?" "Nothing yet; I wanted to see you about it first." Then confidentially: "You see you are better posted than I am on these points, and I wanted your advice. I've heard of Homer and Horace, but I'll be darned if I know who Algebra is. Do you think we ought to be studying him with the rest of them?" The friend cautiously gave instructions and the young man will probably be studying Algebra also. —Detroit Free Press.

The Light That Failed Temporarily.
The electric car was full and a certain young man was forced to sit quite close to the young woman who was with him, and this was all very agreeable to him. When the cars go under the railroad bridge on entering Hallock from Augusta it is customary to pull down the trolley, and in the evening the lamps, as a consequence, go out. What an opportune time! Click went the trolley back to the overhead wire, the lamps glowed once again and the passengers got their eyes accustomed to the change of light just in time to see the lips of that young man and woman glued together. The blushing couple were very glad to stop off the car at the next street.—Lewiston Journal.

Queer Signs.
Some signs of the tallman seen about town:
"Gents Pants Exclusively."
"Suits Turned to Defy Detection."
"The Nobbiest Pant in the City, 4.80."
"Neat Things in Coatings and Vestings."
"Fits a Specialty."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Kept Her Word.
"I often heard you say you wouldn't marry the best man in the world," remarked Gazzan to his wife teasingly. "Well, I didn't," snapped Mrs. Gazzan.—Harper's.

THE CASE OF HINES.—Some time ago one Hines was bound over, for stealing a watch, to the next term of grand jury and confined in the county jail on a bond of $150. His wife is working hard for his release, as he has been in six weeks. The family are lately from the east and the husband got out of work and got to drinking and committed the offense of which he was accused. Her expense on the county has been quite large and the watch was not worth over ten dollars.

CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP.—It begins to appear as though candidates on the Republican side would be confined to Judge Boise and Geo. H. Burnett, both of Salem. The Democrats also talk of a Salem man for the position in the person of Hon. Wm. Holmes. There may be others mentioned before the primaries are held.

TWELFTH STREET.—Commissioner Cross has succeeded in draining the pool between the depot and cannery, and has now a force at work filling it up with gravel. Rain has interfered some today, but the work will be pushed.

SPECIAL OFFER.—Two days only, Saturday and Monday, your choice of any cup and saucer in our north show window, for 25 cents. Get the E. Tea Company, 317 Commercial street.

SICK
Head-Aches

Sick-headaches are the outward indications of derangements of the stomach and bowels. As Joy's Vegetable is the only bowel regulating preparation of sarsaparilla, it is seen why it is the only appropriate sarsaparilla in sick-headaches. It is not only appropriate; it is an absolute cure. After a course of it an occasional dose at intervals will forever prevent return.

Joe M. Cox, of 750 Turk Street, San Francisco, writes: "I have been troubled with attacks of sick-headaches for the last three years from one to three times a week. Some time ago I bought two bottles of Joy's Vegetable sarsaparilla and have had one attack since and that was on the second day after I began using it."
