THE CHILEAN AFFAIR.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The correspondence which the president promised to send to congress relating to the attack upon the Baltimore's sailors at Valparaiso will not be sent now. In fact, there is reason to believe that some days will elapse before the public may know officially just what passed between the department of state and Minister Egan on one side, and the Chilean minister of foreign affairs and Minister Montt on the other. An unofficial announcement of the practical completion of judicial proceedings in Valparaiso and the intention of the Chilean legal authorities to punish three Chileans convicted of participation in the assault, has given satisfaction here, and is generally regarded as a distinct concession by the Chileans to the United States, as showing there is not in all probability to be further undue delay in the disposition of the case.

GETTING READY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Call issued today by Chairman Wilson for a meeting on Wednesday January 20th of the executive committee of the National Association Democratic clubs.

BALTIMORE ARRIVES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The United States steamer Baltimore arrived here from Chili at 9 o'clock this morning.

SUICIDE OF A FARMER.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Jan. 5.—Lorenzo D. Cleghorn, a prosperous farmer living near Messina, in this county, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself. He had asked a neighbor to accompany him to this city, and while waiting for a team to be harnessed Cleghorn walked out into the road and shot himself. It is supposed he was temporarily insane, his insanity being brought on by the grip, from which he was convalescing.

THE SALVATIONISTS.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The trouble between the Salvation Army and the authorities at Eastbourne resulted in a riot of unusual violence. For a long time there has been open war between the Salvationists and the police. The former assert that Eastbourne officials displayed a feeling of religious intolerance in their treatment of the army, and so determined were the members of the Salvation Army to maintain what they deemed their judicial rights, that they proposed to introduce a bill in parliament to amend or repeal the Eastbourne improvement act, under which the town officials prevent the Salvationists from holding meetings on the streets. Sunday the Eastbourne contingent of the Salvation Army was followed by an immense crowd who menaced them with all manners of ill treatment. Once upon the beach the Salvationists knelt down in prayer. As they did so they linked arms the better to repel the assaults of the irreligious mob, should the latter take it into the their heads to charge. The mob hooted and yelled, and finally made an ugly rush. Some of the Salvationists were thrown to the ground. The musical instruments used by the Salvationists seemed especially to excite the ire of the mob. The latter got possession of the instruments, and, after smashing them, threw them into the sea. Then a detachment of mounted police charged upon the crowd. They made no distinction between men and women. They rode down upon the crowd, trampling the rowdies, male and female alike, under the feet of the horses. Many of the crowd were severely injured.

WILL BE SHERMAN.

The Senatorial Nomination Conceded to Sherman.

ANOTHER BATCH OF NOMINATIONS.

The New York Senate, Crawford for Washington, Worse than Brutes, Fatal Quarrel, Flour and Wheat, The Telephone Wrecked, The Graves Case, Gang of Desperadoes, The House, Foreign and State News, etc.

IT WILL BE SHERMAN.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 5.—The greatest senatorial contest the Republicans of this state has ever known is practically at an end. Every political indication point to the nominations of John Sherman tomorrow, by a majority of 10 or 12 votes, over Foraker, although this is of course not conceded by the friends of the latter. The press of Ohio this morning generally considered the contest at an end. The bitterness of the Foraker people towards the national administration, is intense and W. S. Appellar, of Mansfield, one of ex-Gov. Foraker's leading managers, today says whether Sherman be nominated or not, beyond this time he will be a political blank in Ohio politics, state or national. The senatorial contest will leave sore places in every county, township and school, district, and if McKinley, the incoming governor can comprehend and realize the situation, and be able to heal up the wound he will have performed a very creditable feat. There are those who believe if Sherman is nominated to the senate, it necessitates the nomioations of Blaine as president, to swing Ohio into the Republican column.

NEW NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The presidident today sent to the senate the following nominations: Interstate commerce commisioners, Jas. W. McDill of Iowa, vice, Thos. M. Cooley, resigned; Wm. Lindsay, of Kentucky, vice, W. L. Bragg, deceased; Wm. R. Morrison of Illinois, reappointed. For fourth assistant postmaster-general, Estes G. Rathborne of Ohio. Wm. B. Hess, consul general at Constantinople; Wm. D. McCoy of Indiana, minister to Liberia; Andrew P. McCormick of Texas, circuit judge for fifth judicial circuit; Mathew T. Allen, United States attorney for the Southern district of California; Abram J. Sear, governor of Oklahoma Territory; chief engineer W. Mellville, United States engineer in chief and chief of bureau of steam engineering, with relative rank as commodore; United States consul at Sonnerburg David S. K. Buick of Roseburg, Oregon.

THE NEW YORK SENATE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Senator J.T. Edwards, who defeated Perry Vedder in Chautauqua district, is today the biggest political muddle which engages the attention of the political state. He is bigger than the legislature itself, for without him the senate cannot organize with a legal quorum. The Democrats have sixteen senators, but it takes seventeen to make a quorum. Senator Edwards designates himself an independent Republican, but he has been quoted as saying that he would sit with the Democrats to organize the senate today. The fifteen out and out Republican senators, who are said to favor the plan of absenting themselves to prevent a quorum, held a meeting here, in connection with Platt and other leaders, to determine what to do. United States Senator Hiscock will also be present. Edwards had been invited to meet with them, but his failure to respond is regarded as ominous. After a lengthy discussion all the Republicans seemed agreed on one point, and that is, unless Edwards refuses to aid the Democrats in organizing the senate it will be useless for other Republican senators to remain away. Some philosophical Republicans profess to be indifferent as to Edwards' attitude. As to his standing in the contest between Walker (Democrat), and Sherwood (Republican), in the twenty-seventh district, Edwards is said to have stated that he would not vote for Walker; that no man should be admitted to the senate who had 1640 votes less than his opponent, and that the electors of the district should have another election. Most of the senators left tonight for Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 5.—The Democratic assemblymen caucussed, naming Robert Bush, of Chemung, for (Gov. Hill's county) speaker. The Republicans named Gen. J. W. Husted, which constitutes him leader of the Republican minority. The Democratic senate caucus named Senator Canton for president pro tem. Senator Edwards said he would certainly attend the senate at the meeting today.

FIRST TIME IN 80 YEARS

ALBANY, Jan. 5.—Both branches of the legislature assembled at 11 o'clock. The senate elected the officers chosen by the Democratic caucus. Edwards, independent, voted with the Democrats. No efforts at obstruction made by the Republicans, Walker, Democrat, for the 7th senatorial district was seated.

The assembly was quietly organized and the officers nominated by the Democratic caucus were elected. A committee was then appointed by both branches and notified the governor the legislature was organized. He at once sent in his message and it was read, in it he congratulated the people of the state upon the favor, for the first time in 80 years the governor was able to address his suggestions to a legislature in political accord with the executive. He stated the paramount duty before the legislature was to provide for the enumeration of the inhabitants of the state preparatory to reapportionment of the senate and assembly districts, he also pointed out the necessity for immediate reapportionment of the congressional districts. The remainder of the message related to state affairs of minor importance.

CRAWFORD FOR WASHINGTON.

SPOKANE, Jan. 4.—Chief Joseph, of the Nez Perce Indians, his nephew, young Chief Long Hair, a Umatilla Indian, and Moses Minthorn, an educated christian Indian accompanied by Agent Crawford, of the Umatilla reservation, are expected to leave for Washington today. Joseph goes to Washington to ask the Indian authorities to allow him to return with his people to their home in the Blue mountains. After the outbreak of 1877 the Nez Perces were placed on Colville reservation, near Spokane, but they have been discontented andtake slowly to the customs of civilized society. The party will stop several days in Chicago. Agent Crawford reports that some time ago a number of chiefs of the Umatilla tribe were deposed, and taking advice of a meddling attorney they slipped away from the agency, and are now in Washington state.

WORSE THAN BRUTES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—William Harrell, 21 years old, and his newly-weded wife, aged 19, living at 608 West Fifty-fourth street, were awakened Sunday morning by some one breaking into their apartment. Seven young toughs rushed into the room, pulled him out of bed, and threatened him with death if he made an outcry. He broke away from them, however, and ran out to the street shouting for help. Hearing screams from his wife's room he rushed back to her assistance, only to find her struggling in the embrace of one of the toughs. Before he could reach her side, however, he was seized by several others, who held him and compelled him to witness a sight that cannot be described in words, as one after another of the young scoundrels ravished his wife. The poor woman fought desperately, but her assailants beat her into insensibility and accomplished their purpose. A policeman now entered the house, when the ruffians all escaped but one, whom the officer succeeded in capturing. He proved to be Richard Kane, 20 years old, of Eleventh avenue. The officer rang for an ambulance. The surgeon, who accompanied it, found the woman very badly injured, besides suffering greatly from nervous prostration. She has been in an exceedingly critical condition all day. Justice Ryan committed Kane for an examination tomorrow. His six accomplices are not yet known, but the police believe all of them will be under arrest before the day set for Kane's examination.

FATAL QUARREL.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 5.—Yesterday Charles S. Clark shot and killed Thomas Slater at the Klotz ranch, two miles east of this city. The men were partners in the dairy business and had trouble regarding an accounting. Clark brought suit against Slater in the superior court some months ago. Slater has been boarding at the Clark residence for some time past, but as he paid to much attention to Miss Winnie Clark, a young daughter, he was told he could not take his meals there any longer. He came in however, and sat down at the breakfast table, but Mrs. Clark told him if he wanted anything to eat he would have to cook it himself. Slater then tried to take the coffee pot from Mrs. Clark, when her husband came in and remarked: "Let my wife alone." Slater then assaulted Clark, and they had a desperate struggle in the dining-room. Mrs Clark, observing that Slater was trying to draw a pistol from his pocket, grabbed one of his arms and shouted to her husband to be careful. Slater kicked the women in the stomach, and she was forced to relinquish her hold on his arm. Clark succeeded in securing the revolver, and when Slater arose and started to leave the room Clark raised the weapon and shot him through the head. Clark then came to the city and surrendered himself to the sheriff.

FLOUR AND WHEAT.

SAN FRANCISCO. Jan. 5.—The wheat and flour exports from this port for the year 1891, flour being reduced to wheat centals, aggregated 20,644,000 centals, at a value of $33,105,000 as against 18,586,000 centals at a value of $22,114,000 for the year 1890.

TELEPHONE WRECKED.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 5.—The steamer Telephone of the Columbia Transportation line while on her way to this city from Astoria early this morning, ran on the breakwater at the mouth of the Willamette river and is now lying at the bottom of the river with only the forward part of the vessel above water. All the passengers and crew were safely landed.

There were eighty-five passengers aboard, they were all transferred to the steamer Undine which passed the scene soon after the accident and were brought to this city. From the pilot who has just reached this city it is learned that a heavy fog was hanging over the river at the time, just before the steamer struck he realized his dangerous position and stopped the vessel but owing to the strong current she was carried down stream, seeing this he started her up stream again and had proceeded some distance when the steamer ran aground on the breakwater which owing to the high state of the river was completely submerged. The vessel soon began to fill and her stern to slowly sink. The vessel is now completely under water with the exception of her bow which is supported and held fast by the breakwater. Had it not been for the latter fact the vessel would have sunk in seventy feet of water and the fate of the passengers been an extremely doubtful one. The amount of frieght aboard was small and did not exceed in value five hundred dollars. It is impossiple now to estimate the amount of damage. The steamer was valued at about sixty thousand dollars. It is thought she can be got off and raised without much difficulty and expense.

THE GRAVES CASE.

DEVER, Jan. 5.—Dr. Graves emphatically reiterated his denial of having made a confession. He says that Deputy Sheriff Wilson came in and woke him up at 3:30 in the morning, and said he had just come from District Attorney Stevens; that Stevens advised Graves to make a confession implicating Ballou, saying it would help him out. Graves says he refused to make any statement. Officer Wilson still maintains that the doctor confessed, but Deputy Means refuses to talk on the subject. No warrant for Ballou's arrest has been issued but the grand jury is now in session, and it is asserted that they are examining the deputy sheriffs regarding the alleged confession. Dr. Graves' wife has been out of her head most of the time since the verdict was rendered, and today she was continually raving about the doctor's being hung. It has been charged by the defense that the jury was unduly influenced during the trial by having access to the daily papers, but the jurors strenuously deny this.

GANG OF DESPERADOES.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Jan. 5.—Linwood, a village twelve miles from here, is in a ferment of excitement caused by the work of a mob of a dozen negroes, led by a white man named Puryear. This band has been terrorizing the town for some time. Its members have been circulating petitions for the removal of the railway station, but they were strongly opposed by Dr. Bryan. In revenge, the men went to Dr. Bryan's gin and fired it, and then burned the depot. They then went through the streets firing their Winchesters, to keep the villagers indoors. The sheriff immediately organized a posse, and at last accounts had lodged Puryear and three of his men in jail. The pecuniaay loss will not be very great, but the citizens are determined to rid the community of the band, and have thoroughly organized themselves into vigilance committees.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The house was called to order at noon by Clerk Kerr, who stated that he regretted to announce the illness of Speaker Crisp, and declared the only business in order was the election of a speaker pro tem. On motion of Springer, of Illinois, McMillan, of Tennessee, was elected.

To Prevent Baldness.

It has been frequently asserted that a prolific cause of baldness among men is their habit of wearing hats in their offices and other places of business. Lately some one has added to this indictment their other habit of constant and close cutting of the hair. It is with the first of these charged evils that women have to do. Hairdressers are beginning to attribute the thinness and falling out of women's hair, which is according to the hairdressers on the increase, to the fashion of continuous hat wearing. Many women, club women, fashionable women, charitable women, wear their bonnets hours at a time, and for days together. Shopping women are bonneted often from 9 to 6; indeed, in these days of inexorable distances there is hardly any class of the sisterhood which does not pass much time with covered heads.

A suggestion of a fashion writer that women shopping and going to theaters might wear a soft felt hat, to be checked at the door or stuffed in the pocket of an escort, is pertinent, and would be an excellent one to carry out. It is certainly a wise woman who will choose for all ordinary wear a light bonnet or hat, leaving the heavy jet and steel creations and overloaded articles for only occasional use or other women.—New York Times.

Using Old Dress Goods.

The remnants of party dresses and ancestral bridal robes furnished the material for some exquisite wall pockets for letters (or what not) that were sent to a woman's exchange. Circles of pasteboard the size of a small tea plate were covered on the right side with white brocade dotted with tiny rosebuds. The side next the wall was covered with silesia. The pocket piece was a half circle, cut out a little at the top so that it was slightly crescent shaped. This piece was also covered with the brocade. Around both the circle and pocket piece was laid a very narrow ball fringe with a gimp top, and the balls made over buttons. The colors in the fringe were of pink and white silk, as was also the cord by which it was to be hung.

Other pockets were covered with yellow and white, with pale pink and pale blue. A piece of moire makes a beautiful covering for these pockets.—New York Post.

Recovering Silver Money.

A few days ago an old colored man from across the Potomac in Virginia brought to the treasury an extraordinary looking lump of metal. He said that it was a lot of silver dollars, halves and quarters, which he had put in a tin can some years back and hidden in the stone wall of a barn by removing a stone and plastering up the orifice. When recently he took out the box he found that trickling water had rusted it almost away, covering the coins with oxide of iron and sticking them together in a mass. Assistant Treasurer Whelpley had the lump put into acid and treated with lye and sawdust, so that the silver pieces came out as pretty and bright as when they were minted, and the old man carried them away delighted.—Washington Letter.
