

all the Floyd county Jones faction except Jones, who filled the desperado with buckshot. He killed the sheriff of Floyd county while the latter was attempting to arrest him, and later Dick Vance, a notorious desperado. Three of his comrades attempted to waylay Hall, but he shot them all. He then went to Catlettsburg, Ky., and killed his half-brother, John Adams. Since then he has been continually taking the lives of people who were unfortunate enough to incur his ill will.

TWO PASSENGER TRAINS WRECKED.
CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Officials of the Wabash road here have received the intelligence that two passenger trains on that line, one going west from Toledo, the other coming east from Kansas City, came in collision early yesterday at Aladdin, Ill., two miles east of Hannibal, causing a disastrous and fatal wreck. Engineers Wilson and Bouchard were killed, and a number of passengers were wounded. The wounded, whose number and names are not given, were taken to Moberly, Mo. The cause of the wreck was not known, but it is stated the trains were running through a heavy fog at the time of the collision. The trains were to have passed at Aladdin, and the supposition is that a blunder or misunderstanding of train orders is responsible for the accident.

AN AMERICAN SHIP ON FIRE.
LONDON, Jan. 6.—A dispatch from Sydney, N. S. W., states a fire broke out on the American ship W. H. Lincoln, from Tacoma, and despite all efforts to extinguish the flames they are still burning. Part of her inward cargo is still aboard her. From present appearances the dispatch says the ship and everything aboard her will be consumed.

PAYMASTER ROBBED AND MURDERED.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Jan. 6.—John Gleason, paymaster for the Cleveland Iron Mining and Iron Cliffs company, was murdered and robbed yesterday. A watchman found him with a bullet hole in his head. The robbers got Gleason's watch, a small sum of money and some "black diamonds," used for drilling.

OBJECT OF THE REVOLUTION.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 6.—It is just learned that the leaders in the present revolution on the lower frontier have been working in this neighborhood for recruits since last June. It is also learned that the headquarters of the revolutionists are at New Orleans, but their removal to El Paso is contemplated, as this place will afford a better base of operations. The Mexican revolution is being led by a large amount of money, and as soon as a foothold is obtained in Mexico the revolution will begin in earnest. The idea of those backing the movement is to cut off that portion of Mexico north of the line extending from Tuxpan, on the Gulf of Mexico, to Mazatlan on the Pacific ocean, and declare a republic under the constitution, as promulgated in 1857.

SINIEWS OF WAR.

LAREDO, Tex., Jan. 6.—Startling developments in regard to the Garza revolution are coming to light. The head and front of the whole matter is just coming out. The papers found in the saddle-bags of Pablo Munez, one of the captured revolutionists, throw a great deal of light on the situation. They prove conclusively that what was forwarded four days ago is true, and that the clerical party is frantically the money with which the campaign is being conducted. In all the forays made by Garza he has not stolen or plundered the smallest article. On the other hand he has paid cash at top prices for all he has needed. Where all this money was coming from has been puzzling the American and Mexican authorities. It is now ascertained that Montes D'Oca, bishop of Monterey, is the financial agent of the clerical party in supplying Garza with funds.

COULD NOT BE TRIED AGAIN.

PHOENIA, Ill., Jan. 6.—Judge Shaw of the circuit court, yesterday quashed nineteen indictments hanging over J. Finley Hoke. The ground for the decision was the bank had not exercised proper diligence, having allowed one count to pass, and Hoke, having been extradited from Canada for only one offense, could not be tried on the others without an opportunity of getting back to Canada. Hoke was cashier of the Merchants' National bank here and got away with $180,000, for which he served five years in jail.

RAN INTO A BURNING BRIDGE.

DICKINSON, N. D., Jan. 6.—About 1:30 yesterday a double header stock train crashed through a bridge two miles this side of Sentinel butte. The head engineer discovered the bridge on fire and the air brake was applied, but too late. Both engines and the car went through, killing Fireman Clough and seriously injuring the other fireman. Both engineers jumped and saved their lives.

HIGHERBINDER'S REVENGE.

ST. FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Fong Get, bill poster of the Jackson street Chinese theatre, was shot and killed on the street this morning by an unknown highbinder. The Chinese theatre recently announced a decision to lease no more free passes to highbinder for admission to the theatre and it is supposed the murder is the result of the highbinder's revenge.

BLAINE ILL AGAIN.

He Was Taken Suddenly Ill This Morning.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST.

A Fine Special Train, Connecticut's Governor, Little Child Burned, Free Coinage, Ordinance of Large Calibre, Mother and Child Burned.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—In the senate a large number of papers were presented and referred. One was from the chamber of commerce of Seattle, Wash., praying congress to be more liberal in appropriations to enable the war and navy departments to place the country in a thorough condition for defense so as to be prepared to maintain its dignity and protect its humblest citizen in any part. The vice president laid before the senate a message from the president, transmitting the agreement by the commissioners with the Indians on the Coeurville reservation, Wash. Among bills introduced and referred was one granting pensions to soldiers in the Seminole and other Indian wars. The senate bill, introduced by Stewart, to provide for the free coinage of gold and silver bullion, was taken up, and Morrill proceeded to address the senate, in opposition to the bill.

BLAINE ILL AGAIN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Great excitement was caused in the department of state this morning over the sudden illness of Secretary Blaine. The nature of the illness is not at present known but it is said to be due altogether to a temporary stomach derangement. The alarm subsided about noon when the secretary who was attended by physicians from the war and navy departments reported him as resting quietly and being entirely out of danger. The secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be much improved and expected to be able to be out tomorrow.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6.—The last day of the senatorial contest brings with it no change in the situation. The only question agitating the public mind is "What will be Sherman's majority in the senatorial caucus?" His friends claim this morning he will receive 56 votes and Foraker but 36, but the friends of the ex-governor stoutly assert that their candidate will be beaten by twenty votes. As many maintain he still has a chance to win. The chief interest today seems to center in the question whether tonight's senatorial ballot is to be open or secret. Generally speaking the Sherman people are fighting for an open ballot and the Foraker people for a secret ballot.

A FINE SPECIAL TRAIN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Without doubt the finest special train that ever left New York pulled out of the Grand Central station at 10:15 today bearing the delegates to the first annual convention of the International League of Press Clubs, to be held in San Francisco on the 14th of this month. The train will consist of six vestibuled cars, each bearing on the letter boards the inscription, "International League of Press Clubs." There will be carried a buffet-smoker, dining-car, compartment car, which will be for the use of the ladies of the party and such newspaper men as are accompanied by their wives, and in addition there will be three sleepers with staterooms.

CONNECTICUT'S GOVERNOR.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 6.—The supreme court unanimously sustained the demurrer of Governor Bulkeley, the hold-over governor, in the quo warranto suit of Morris, late Democratic candidate. The court says the declaration of the result is an indispensable adjunct to the choice of governor, as it furnishes the only authentic evidence of election. (Judge Morris has not been declared elected by the house.) Unless the declaration is made in the way so provided the process of election is not complete. It is found, in the case that there has been no declaration by the general assembly, that the relator has been elected governor, and it is not claimed that there has been any equivalent act by any other authority. It follows that the relator, whatever any future inquiry may show, cannot now be said to have been elected to the office of governor, and the respondent remains de jure as well as de facto governor of the state. It is, therefore, the duty of all citizens, and the courts, of all departments of the state government, and both houses of the general assembly, to respect and obey him accordingly.

LITTLE CHILD BURNED.

EGGERS, Or., Jan. 6.—On Christ mas day, Mrs. Joel McCornack, being in Salslaw valley, fastened her eight months old baby in a high chair near the stove. Two other children were in the room, and during Mrs. McCornack's absence it is supposed they were playing with fire and set the baby's clothing on fire. Their cries attracted the mother's attention, and she rushed in and found the clothing of the baby in flames. She promptly extinguished the fire, but it was too late; the child having received injuries from which it died in about twenty-four hours. Mrs. McCornack is the daughter of Prof. Collier and formerly lived in Salem.

ORDNANCE OF LARGE CALIBRE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A report of the board of ordnance and fortification, embracing operations from '89, to '91, was sent to congress yesterday. It says that there are now certainly two great plants, Watervliet and Bethlehem, where forging, up to twelve-inch guns, can be turned out with reasonable dispatch, and a gun factory where they can be finished and where are assembled types of ten-inch and twelve-inch guns completed, and either tested or awaiting proofs. Four years' continuance of similar legislation and activity, and it can no longer be said that the United States is defenseless against foreign powers.

MOTHER AND CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 6.—Near Clay Center Mrs. Frazier Troxell and her little child were burned to death by an explosion of gas-line, which set fire to their clothing.

A FATAL GAME OF CARDS.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 6.—Eight men were killed in a general fight at Bright & Williams' turpentine still in Clinch county Saturday over a game of cards.

POSTOFFICE ROBBER.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 6.—A man named Francis L. Patterson was arrested here by Postoffice Inspector Watkins, yesterday, for tampering with the mails. Patterson was not an employe of the postoffice, but first gained an entry to the office through his acquaintance with Mailing Clerk Noble, who died a few weeks ago. Noble first got him to help him out with the distribution of some heavy mails, and as Patterson had long experience as a mail clerk between Denver and Salt Lake he was of great assistance to Noble until it became a regular habit of Patterson to put in an hour or two a day helping the mailing clerk. He was not on duty nor in any way recognized as an employe of the office by the postmaster, but represented himself as a postal inspector to his acquaintance.

For some months complaints have been coming in to the office here of letters containing remittances going astray. These were all of letters sent to Salt Lake, Denver or far-away points. Inspector Watkins had his suspicions directed to the mailing clerk, but was never able to catch him. He then suspected Patterson, and was lying in wait for him today. Patterson came in about 11 o'clock and went at once to the sorting table and commenced distributing mail. From his place of concealment Watkins saw Patterson slip a letter into his pocket, and afterwards, when he thought no one was looking, transferred it to his shoe, slipping it inside the elastic. He was arrested with the stolen property on his person, taken before United States Commissioner Dingee and placed under $1000 bail which was furnished by his friends. He was preparing to leave for the east to float a big mining scheme for some prospectors in this city. He is a man of good appearance, dresses well and has a wife and daughter. It is known that he served two years and a half for bigamy in the Utah penitentiary, having been proved to have a wife in Denver and another at Salt Lake.

FREE COINAGE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senator Stewart, of Nevada, added a new feature to the silver question yesterday by introducing a new resolution founded on the proposition that holders of silver bullion are entitled, under an existing law never repealed, so far as the senator can ascertain, to the duty of the proper officials of the mint to receive and coin silver bullion for the benefit of depositors. The resolution directs the committee on the judiciary to inquire if any further legislation is necessary to make it the duty of the proper officials of the mint to receive and coin silver bullion brought to the mint for coinage shall be received and coined by the proper officers for the benefit of the depositors. There is no other mode or manner provided for coinage in that act. The Blank act of 1878 revives the law of '87. The omission to enforce this provision is unaccountable. It appears to have been overlooked by all parties.

SEEKED A BREWERY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Internal Revenue Collector Quinn this afternoon seized the Jackson brewery for violation of the revenue laws.

FEVER OF EXCITEMENT.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 6.—A special from Arkaon, Kansas, says: "Everything is in a high fever of excitement this morning over the atrocious murder of Sheriff Dunn yesterday. Judge Bohlf spent last night here, and is in town this morning, arranging to go to Springfield to open court. Adjutant General Roberts, with states troops, will arrive here today at 10, and will at once proceed to Springfield, to vigorously push matters of bringing the murderous mob to justice. Warrants are now out for the arrest of thirty men, and troublous times are expected."

NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate: Walter Wynant of Missouri, supervisory surgeon of marine hospital service. Duncan A. McRae, postmaster at Seaboard, Wash.

SUFFERING.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 6.—Governor Merriam received a cablegram from Chas. Emery Smith, minister to Russia, which is sufficient to show there is a widespread suffering in Russia. Minister Smith states that the proposed contributions will be accepted with grateful appreciation.

BOTH ENGINEERS KILLED.

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Early this morning a freight train on the New York, Oswego and Western railway at Snyrna was run into by a light engine. The engineers of both engines were killed. One man is missing.

HARRISON'S NEPHEW.

PALESTINE, Tex., Jan. 6.—Carrier Harrison, a nephew of President Harrison, died on the northbound train yesterday afternoon near Franklin. Harrison was consumptive, and had been in San Antonio for his health.

Overestimates and Underestimates.

Mr. Chadband, in his celebrated oration upon truth, gives us a suggestion as to the commonest danger to which that beautiful virtue is exposed. "If the master of this house was to go forth into the city and there see an eagle, and was to come back, and was to call unto him the mistress of this house, and was to say, 'Sarah, rejoice with me, for I have seen an elephant' would that be Terewith?" Exaggeration is the most frequent fault in human speech. Often there is a kind feeling at the bottom of it. We want our Sarah to rejoice, and so the eagle, under our description of it, enlarges itself into an elephant. But there is an opposite error, and of that Mr. Chadband proceeds to treat. "Or put it, my juvenile friends, that he saw an elephant, and returning said, 'Lo, the city is but a pen, I have seen but an eagle.' would that be Terewith?" Why of course not. There are people who fancy that, while overestimates are to be sternly condemned, underestimates are innocent.

Mr. Chadband's view is the right one; to tone the elephant down into the eagle is as much an error as to magnify the eagle into the elephant. We should "nothing extenuate," but we should be quite as careful not to "set down naught in malice." Archbishop Whately, in dealing with the folly of those who thought it was safer to believe too much than too little, remarked that the traveler who went a mile past a city was as far from it as the man who stood a mile short of it.—All the Year Round.

Trials of a Father.

"A Father," writing to the New York Ledger, says: "In a recent number you say: 'It is in fact, a vulgar error to suppose a parent's authority over a female child ceases at the age of eighteen. That is an utter delusion.' Yes, but I should like to know when it begins. Having seven daughters, varying in age from two to twenty, I have some little interest in the question.

"My own contribution to the solution is my statement that—beginning with the youngest—my first regularly wakes me at six with screaming; my second paints all my photographs in her earliest maner; my third utterly declines to learn the multiplication table; my fourth refuses to dine in the nursery and howls on the stairs until called down into the parlor; my fifth objects to go to church, because the preacher is so ugly; my sixth made me stay for her at a party till three this morning; and my seventh has announced that I may tyrannize over her young affections for another long and cruel year, but on the day she is twenty-one she allies herself in marriage with her cousin Peter, whom I hate, for his own sake and his family's. If, therefore, you can give me any light which will give me any authority over one or all of these young ladies, I shall remain uncommonly obliged."

A Collection of Swords.

The names applied to the sword are more numerous than the shapes of the weapon itself. A collection of them as found in some of the museums in Europe is made up of a thousand and one different kinds, with their peculiar varying of blades, handle, pommel, spindle and hilt. They have been gathered from everywhere—the battlefield, the buried city, the temple, the sepulchers, the cave and even the lake and river bed. In these museums may be seen the curt Greek sword; the Roman weapon of as many lengths as the different countries it had conquered; the soft, pliant Gaelic blade; the hooked scimitar of the Turk with an inside edge, and the curved Arab yatagan with the edge outside; the cross handled sword of the crusader, with which he prayed and slew alternately; the Malay kris; the notched blade of Zanibar; the espada of the Spanish leader; the glive of the red clothed leader of the Middle Ages; the Eighteenth century court sword; the schiavona of Venice; the Turkish kamandar; the Kabyle flissa; the Albanian cut-throat; and the claymore of Scotland. Scabbards, too, have been of all sizes and shapes almost uncountable.—Kate Field's Washington.

Gravestone, but No Grave.

In a country graveyard near the town of Monticello, Kan., may be seen a mound of earth differing in no particular from the other graves. At the head is a slab bearing this inscription, "Sacred to the memory of John Payne, who started May 1, 1860, to cross the plains and never came back."

To one family those words mean a great deal.

For years that grave has been carefully cared for, and yet it does not contain a human body. It is a heartbroken mother's consent to act a part and made to represent the resting place of a long lost son and brother.

In the spring of 1880 John Payne was in the pride and vigor of a hopeful manhood.

He started to cross the plains. The simple inscription tells the story, "He never came back."—Chicago Tribune.

Greek Ball.

The ancient Greeks used the ballot in enacting laws and in courts where there were a large number of judges. The ballot there was originally a pebble—whole for a yes vote or pierced with a hole for a no. Sometimes there was only one stone, which was dropped into a yes or no box. Later the pebble was changed for a little bronze wheel. A few of these have been found in modern times, stamped on one side with the words "Official ballot" and on the other with the number of the judicial district.—New York Evening Sun.

La Grippe.

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by G.
