THE ATTORNEY-GENERALSHIP.

In response to the question whether this office must be filled by election in June next, the Albany Democrat has this:

"As to the office of attorney-general section 2, of the act of the legislature of 1891 creating the office of attorney-general provides that there shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state of Oregon at the general election held in June 1894, and each fourth year thereafter an attorney-general who shall hold his office for the term of four years and until his successor is elected and qualified, and the term of office of the attorney-general shall commence on the same day as secretary of state as now provided by law.

Section 5, of said act provides that upon the approval of this act and at any time when a vacancy may by any cause occur in the office of attorney-general the governor shall appoint a suitable person to be attorney-general who shall hold the office until the next general election when his successor shall be elected and shall qualify as provided for in this act. At a cursory view here one might think an attorney-general should be elected in 1892, but in view of the fact that the legislature provided that the first election should occur in 1894, and that the term of the office of attorney-general shall commence on the same day as secretary of state as now provided by law, there is scarcely room for even a mild hint that Mr. Chamberlain will not hold the office until 1894."

SUGGESTED COMMENT.

The Dalles has a Mic-Mac club. And Patrick Egan will not be recalled.

Encourage home industries by making it possible for every Salem enterprise to run at a profit if possible.

Unnecessarily to shut down a mill giving employment to labor is a crime against the laborer and his family.

The Salem way would be to make arrangements to build that viaduct before the electric railroad completes its track.

Has a physician who is addicted to use of opiates, a right to administer them? The state medical board ought to protect the people against such persons.

It is stated that the Baker County Alliance at its last session in this city, decided to nominate a ticket to be supported by the organization at the coming June election.

Roseburg Review, Dem.: The Oregon state convention should declare in unmistakable language in favor of the candidacy of Grover Cleveland for president of the United States.

The Wasco county court has decided the proper thing to ignore the result of the state board of equalization, and fix the tax levy on the report of valuations by the county assessor.

The Farmers' Alliance of Wasco county petitions the county court to appropriate $500 to pay the Interstate Artificial Rain company to produce a rain to cover 10,000 square miles--no rain, no pay.

THE JOURNAL was first to bring the president's ultimatum to congress on the Chilian outrages. It was also first to bring news of the flud and complete apology. "First in war, first in peace," etc.

James Boggs of Douglas county, who died on the 20th of January, was one of the pioneers of Oregon. He was born in Pennsylvania June 16, 1806, and emigrated to this state in 1852. He leaves an aged widow and four children, all grown, to mourn his death.

Oregon Blade: The governor of the state, who must be a man of intelligence, education, business capacity and social standing, gets $1500 a year. A representative who ought to be equally endowed gets $5 a day. A sheriff or clerk whose only capacity, it may be, is his ability to command votes, gets $5000 or $6000, or, as in Multnomah county, $20,000 to $25,000 a year. Here is work for the grauge and alliance.

The Arlington Record calls public attention to a danger that threatens that city in far away Eastern Oregon in these words: "Slowly but surely the sand below the north end of Second street has drifted in the neighborhood of the stock yards, until what was five years since valuable lots and improvements are now buried under from five to twenty feet of sand."

The Arlington Record and Fossil Journal have had a falling out over a bridal couple that moves the former to say of the edition of the latter: The vampire author of the excerpt refers to her as a Spainard, describes her as being cross-eyed and having false teeth, and as being an all-around idiot and monstrosity, and winds up by comparing the estimable lady and her husband to a team of horses.

Of course, the allusions generally are not complimentary but to call a newly married pair "a good team" is not offensive.

A Crook County note says: It is a well known fact that the pestiferous coyote is increasing his kind in this county at an alarming destructive rate. Unless a ranchman has built for himself a special picket fence, his chickens fall an easy prey to the ravenous jaws of these varmints. Sheepmen are especially losers in the respect mentioned. Next spring the cattle and horse producers of this county will lose, on the range, enough of young born stock to justify them in exerting a willingness to suppress the nuisance mentioned.

We are under obligation for a copy of Vick's Floral Guide, 1892. True and tried friends are always welcome, consequently Vick's Floral Guide is sure of a warm reception, especially when dressed as daintily as this year. The "Nellie Lewis" carnation on the front cover, and "Brilliant Poppies" on the back, are unusually attractive, and the numerous colored plates of flowers and vegetables are certainly works of art and merit. The first twenty-four pages, printed in violet ink, describe novelties and specialties. Send ten cents to James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y., and procure a copy of this attractive and useful catalogue. It costs nothing, as the ten cents can be deducted from the first order.

The Road Problem.

ED. JOURNAL: I have noticed now for several winters, and about this time of the year too, that everybody is trying to solve the problem of why we have such bad roads. The Arkansas proverb might very well be quoted, as a solution--"when it rains we can't fix 'em and when it don't rain we don't need 'em fixed"--now I had the misfortune to be a supervisor last year, and I keenly realized the necessity of having tools to work with, so that we could fix the roads when it rained and get the work done before the farmer had to commence operations on his farm not only for the farmers' convenience but for the extra benefit to the roads as well. I think now I can see an opening. The 2-mill tax is to be paid in money the same as other taxes are paid, which is certainly a move in the right direction.

Now I suggest to the citizens of the several road districts that they petition the county court for some two-wheel road scrapers and if you succeed in getting one don't use it on the Arkansas plan, but go right to work and round up the roads and see that the gutters are all drained out through the fields, and have it all done before the rains cease and the farmers begin to plow. Messrs. Sol Durbin and Frank Smith fixed up three-quarters of a mile of road last spring in this way and it is a good road yet and would have been still better had they had a scraper last fall to run over it once or twice more. I fail to see how it is possible for us ever to have good roads in the absence of tools to work with.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Yaquina bay people are expecting prosperous times over there this year.

Baker county's total tax levy is over 32 mills. It must pay to be poor in that county.

The singular insect known as the snow flea is said to be prevalent in the big timber this season.

Stock is doing well in Klamath county, and no loss has occurred as yet. There is plenty of feed on hand.

Miners in the Greenhorn are still working in their tunnels, although the snow lays out the mountain from seven to forty feet deep.

The deep snow in Harney county has virtually stopped prospecting, but miners hope to be able to fill their sacks with nuggets in the spring.

Seven feet of snow is reported on the Skekyou mountains, and it also lies to a great depth in Shasta and Skekyou counties. Fine whitefish are plentiful in Klamath lake.

The report of the commissioner of the general land office shows that the La Grande land district is second in importance in the United States. Seattle is first, and Oregon City is third. The gross receipts found in these offices respectively is as follows: Seattle, $545,078.55; La Grande, $264,064.04; Oregon City, $182,845.23.

this season raised about 150 head of fine hogs, and is of the opinion that raising porkers is one of the most profitable branches in Southern Oregon.

Lane county's stock interests are right this winter, in spite of the heavy snow. There is plenty of feed on hand, and, as the number of cattle is less than for some years, most of them will go through in good shape.

Manning M. Knapp, associate justice of the New Jersey supreme court, and presiding judge of the Hudson county circuit court, died suddenly of heart disease Tuesday afternoon while on the bench trying a case.

Walter Dewdney, provincial government agent, and brother of Hon. F. Dewdney, accidentally shot himself at Vernon, B. C., Tuesday night. He died instantly.

During the trial of Senator Quay's libel suit last week the senator caught a heavy cold. The report reached the senator's friends that he is quite ill at his home in Denver. He has been ordered by his physicians to remain in his room. The senator, it is said, is threatened with pneumonia.

Senator Hawley Tuesday introduced a bill to establish a military post near Helena, Mont., upon requisition, without cost, by the United States, of 1000 acres of land. For the erection of the necessary buildings $300,000 is appropriated.

Ben Longley, who recently received a $100 prize for the finest potato grown in the United States last year, is a resident of Union county and not of Baker county, as at first reported. Union county is very jealous of the reputation of its fertile soil.

At Skamokawa Sunday night, Frank Waldo struck Andrew Mitchell in the face with a pitcher and knocked one of his eyes out. Mitchell had given no provocation and Waldo is believed to be insane. Many have for some time considered him of unsound mind. Mitchell's eye was burst and entirely removed.

Charles Watkins, a negro, wanted at Pendleton for larceny by bailie, went to British Columbia to escape punishment, but soon came back saying he would prefer to stay in the United States and take chances on life imprisonment, than to live up in the wilds of British Columbia. He is now in jail at Pendleton awaiting trial.

Thomas Mulligan, a reservation rancher, two miles south of Pendleton was digging a well and using dynamite to facilitate matters. The dynamite having become frozen he placed one of the sticks on the stove to thaw it out. The house was completely demolished and it is said that careful search failed to find a piece of the stove large enough to throw at a dog. Thomas was badly shaken up and lost some large patches of skin and flesh on various parts of his body, but no bones were broken. He was taken to the Pendleton hospital and hopes to be able to walk in a few days.

La Grippe. The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by G. E. Good, druggist.

MISCELLANY.

FALSE BARONESS.

ST. LOUIS, S. D. Jan. 28.--Baron de Steuers, minister for the Netherlands, whose wife is in this city applying for a divorce, has charged the baroness with infidelity. The charge came up in a motion to amend the baron's answer to his wife's complaint made by his attorney, J. L. Glover. The arguments on the motion to amend will be heard today. The baron states his case as follows: "At the time my answer to the complaint was made, I had heard from various sources that the baroness had behaved improperly with one Elliott Zeborowski, alias William Elliott, but I had no proof. Since the depositions of Jeremiah McGrath, Lionel L. Powell and Leonora Layday, witness for the baroness, were taken in London, I have discovered that she joined Elliott Zeborowski a few days after she left her home in Paris and since has continually and openly lived with Elliott Zeborowski. Between June 20 and 27, 1890, she occupied lodgings in Catharine street, London, W. C., next door but one to the house on Russell square. Thereafter the baroness and Elliott Zeborowski embarked on a steam yacht and sailed to the island of Ceylon, and from there went to India. They returned together to London and went to the Caledonia hotel, Adelphi terrace, where they registered as Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott, February 10, 1891. They were also living together at Turbridge wells, England, March 29, 1890. The baroness lived with Zeborowski at the Chateau de Fontaine, in the department of the Cher, France, in the months of September and October, 1888."

YESTERDAY IN CONGRESS. WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.--In the senate among the bills presented was one incorporating the society of American florists.

Hale, from the committee on naval affairs, reported back the resolution requesting the president to report what steps, if any, were taken to have soundings made between San Francisco or any point on the Pacific coast and the Hawaiian islands; agreed to.

Morgan offered a resolution directing the secretary of state to send to the senate copies of the correspondence with the government of China relating to the nonacceptance of Blair as United States minister to China. After considerable discussion Morgan modified the resolution so as to request the president to furnish the correspondence, if not incompatible. It was then agreed to.

The resolution heretofore reported from the committee on privileges and elections, declaring Chilton, of Texas, entitled to retain his seat in senate, was agreed to without division.

IN THE HOUSE. Martin, of Indiana, presented a resolution, calling on the president to publish all correspondence whatever, had by the United States government upon matters concerning the Chilian trouble. Referred to committee on foreign affairs.

A number of bills of little importance were introduced and referred. The house then proceeded to further consideration of the proposed rules.

In the house a bill was introduced providing that all oleomargarine transported into any state or territory, or remaining therein for sale, consumption, sale or storage, shall, upon arrival there, be subjected to the laws thereof in the manner as though such oleomargarine was produced in such state or territory. The bill was referred to the committee on agriculture.

CHRISTIANIZED CHINAMAN. NEW YORK, Jan. 28.--Chu Fong, the Christianized young Chinaman, who was on trial in the general sessions before Judge Cowing on an indictment charging him with forging the signature of Van Slog, president of the Chinese Six Companies, on a promissory note for $1000, is probably the brightest-looking young Chinaman in this city. He formed the acquaintance of Lawyer Seth B. Johnson in the Sixth-avenue Baptist church in Brooklyn in the
