OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

There is nothing pleasanter to contemplate than a well-spent life, either to the individual in contemplation, or for the consideration of friends. "Troops of friends" are in fact a crown of pleasure and the high evidence of appreciation at least of those we serve, or would have served. What can be more desired than such a garland of friends who have remained firm through good and evil report, and who in spite of follies or spurts of selfishness, that at times overtake the most level-headed men in the world, have been steadfast and true.

feet. A. Parrbaker, Randolph, shipped 5500 M feet lumber by water. The total shipments by rail from Oregon points are estimated at over 200 million feet. The water shipments were large, but the Lumberman has been unable to obtain the correct figures.

The rail shipments would have been much larger were it not for the fact that freight rates on lumber via the Union Pacific were raised during the year about 25 per cent. This has had a most depressing effect on the Oregon lumber trade, and until this prohibitive rate is removed the manufacturers cannot hope for much improvement.—Northwest Lumberman.

A PRETENDED FRIEND. Chairman Springer of the Ways and Means Committee has introduced the free wool bill in congress about which he has been talking so long. It was said by him when he first made the proposition to attack the prospective duty on wool that this step was urged by wool growers and by woolen manufacturers. The organization of wool growers has declared itself opposed to putting wool on the free list. So has the national organization of woolen manufacturers. The masses of the people have become aware that since the McKinley bill schedules went into operation they have been getting woolsens at the lowest prices in years. It is apparent from this condition of things that Mr. Springer, in introducing his free wool bill, is only a pretended "farmers' friend," and represents nobody except cranky free traders.—New York Press.

SUGGESTED COMMENT. Several Orokinio parties have been held at Salem. This is leap year and Salem should leap at all opportunities to advance public improvements.

A Commercial street view should extend right through to Rural cemetery. Cut down the hill.

The government works in Oregon are to be photographed for the world's fair. If those who work the government could be added, it would be a sight.

And now the question is asked, "Who is the smartest newspaper man in Oregon, outside of Portland?" The Astorian nominates Charles Nickell, of Jacksonville.—Astorian. The question arises, what has Mr. Nickell done?

This congress district has not a particle of use for a mere place-seeking nonentity to step into Mr. Hermann's shoes. Unless a congressman can be secured who represents something in addition to what the people now have as well kept Mr. Hermann. What the people want is a representative who will do as much to open our great rivers as he does for the harbors that are of little use until the rivers are open.

In a number of Eastern cities, as well as in Europe, brick pavement is preferred to all others on account of its durability, not of such friable brick as buildings are constructed of but of a special quality. It is the opinion of a mechanic familiar with the subject that Salem streets could be paved with a double tier of brick, cross-cross, at $3 per square yard, with firm stones bracing on the edges.

Nearly all the patriotic Democratic papers, vigorously defend the course pursued by this government in its dealings with Chili, saying, "Apologize, or Get Liked." This expression is not quite so elegant as some of those employed by Congressman Breckenridge, in his partisan criticism of the course pursued by this government, but it is far more expressive of the sentiment of the people of this nation.

Col. E. D. Baker, one of the first senators from Oregon, who fell early in the struggle for the Union while leading a desperate charge at Ball's Bluff, sleeps in a neglected almost unmarked grave, in Lone Mountain Cemetery, San Francisco. It is now proposed to remove the remains to Golden Gate Park and erect a suitable monument. Would it not be more appropriate to bring Col. Baker's remains to Oregon and erect a monument to him, say at the state capital?—Oregon Courier.

The farmers of the United States do not need a bounty on beet sugar any more than they need one on potatoes. If the beet sugar industry is one that cannot be carried on successfully without contributions from the public treasury, then it would be better left alone.—Seattle Telegraph. It was by bounties that Germany and France developed beet sugar manufacture until from great importing countries they became exporters, and rank today as the greatest sugar producing countries in the world.

ing and will take part in the discussion is also suggestive of the fact that the question has passed out of the realm of speculative theory and is becoming a live issue. Five years ago these same railroad men would have been inclined to pass the topic by with a deprecating smile. They are ready now to seriously and vigorously defend the existing order.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Stock in the foothill ranges of the Willamette valley is in good condition this winter.

There will be prosperous times, according to all reports, at Yaquina bay next summer.

The poor people in Baker county are congratulating themselves, since the tax levy is 32 mills.

The Medford distillery is idle, awaiting the arrival of a man from the east who knows how to make yeast.

The next term of circuit court in Wasco county will commence February 8. Judge Bradshaw having cleared the docket at the last term, the coming one will be very short.

While other portions of Eastern Oregon are covered deeply with snow and the inhabitants freezing, the valley around Canyon City has been enjoying Chinooks and mud pretty much all winter. Snow is deep in the surrounding mountains, and the ground abundantly wet to insure grass and crops.

The placer mines all over the state will have plenty of water next spring. From every district most promising reports are received. Owners of quartz claims are putting in the winter developing their properties, and with the opening of spring many new mines will be added to our fast-increasing billion-producers.

The report of the commissioner of the general land office shows that the La Grande land district is second in importance in the United States. Seattle is first and Oregon City is third. The gross receipts found in these offices, respectively, is as follows: Seattle $345,078.55; La Grande, $264,004.04; Oregon City, $190,845.23.

Another effort is being made to secure the pardon of Sam Doane, sentenced to life imprisonment for the killing of Albert White at Pendleton. Doane has been in the penitentiary for nine years, and has become a skilled workman, being a first-class pattern-maker. For the past year he has been foreman of the foundry, and his conduct is of the best order.

Harry Fleisher, of Grant's Pass, slipped and fell in front of a locomotive, the wheels of which passed over his arm, crushing it near the shoulder. Fleisher was captain of Company E, Ninth Kansas Volunteers, and served three years during the war. After the war he owned a large flouring mill in Kansas, and was well to do. Now he is poor. Being 62 years of age, it is thought he may not recover from this accident.

At Shook Brothers' cattle ranch in Klamath county, they are feeding 1500 head of cattle now, 500 of which are calves, also 250 horses and mules. Several horses and mules and a few head of cattle are already on the range, and finding plenty of nice new year's greens on the bare hillsides. Eleven tons of hay is the amount fed daily to the stock on that ranch, and there is hay enough to last over four months longer.

For the Children. "In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. 50 cent bottles for sale by G. E. CONSTITUTION REPUBLICAN CLUB.

PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—The Young Men's Republican club at its meeting yesterday unanimously adopted the following constitution:

Article I.—This organization shall be known as the Young Men's State Republican Club of Oregon.

Article II.—This organization shall be composed of one delegate at large from each Republican club within the state, and one delegate for every twenty-five, or fraction over fifteen of the active members of the club at the time of election of delegates to the biennial meeting of the club.

Article III.—The regular meeting of this club shall be held biennially on the first Tuesday of February. The next regular meeting of this club, after this, shall be held on the first Tuesday in February, 1894.

Article IV.—Section 1.—The officers of this club shall be a president, vice-president, secretary and an executive committee, consisting of three, who are to be elected at the biennial meeting, and serve for two years until their successors are elected and qualified, except the secretary, who is to be appointed by the executive committee, and shall hold office during their pleasure. The president and vice-president shall be ex-officio members of the executive committee, any three of whom shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 2.—After the election of the first officers of the club no person shall be eligible to hold office in this organization, who is not a member of some local Republican club, and a qualified elector of the state of Oregon.

Sec. 3.—There shall be elected from each congressional district one member of the executive committee, and one member shall be elected at large.

Sec. 4.—The president shall act as chairman of all meetings of this club, and shall be ex-officio chairman of the executive committee.

The vice-president shall in the absence of the president, perform the duties of the president.

The executive committee shall have supervision of all campaign work.

The secretary shall act as such at all meetings of this club and shall perform such other duties as may be required by the executive committee.

Sec. 5.—A vacancy in any office shall be filled by the executive committee until the next meeting of this club.

Sec. 6.—The election of all officers shall be by ballot and a majority of all votes cast shall elect.

Article V.—Each local club may adopt such constitution and by-laws as shall seem best to subserve its interests not in conflict with this constitution.

Article VI.—This constitution may be altered or amended at any regular meeting of this club, by a majority vote, such amendment to be presented in writing.

On motion of W. T. House, seconded by C. E. Lockwood, it was unanimously adopted without discussion, OPPOSED TO THE USE OF BRANDY. LONDON, Jan. 30.—Lady Brooke is not receiving a very warm support in her project to raise a fund to relieve the operatives in Essex who are ill with influenza. Her idea is to distribute about 2000 bottles of brandy among the sick, on the
