

simultaneously there was a quick, guttural sound and, as he was quite likely to recover, the current was at once reappplied and continued for thirty-five seconds, when the doctors examined the subject and pronounced him dead. The first contact was made through the hands and head; the second through the head and one of the right leg. The doctors, with one exception, believe life and consciousness were destroyed at the same instant. As compared with the Kennamer execution, that of McElvaine was much less distressing.

"I am heartily sorry, Oh, God, that I have offended thee," came the muffled voice of the condemned man, and then almost in a shout, "Let 'er go!" The condemned man had given the word for his own taking off. As he spoke the bidding for his own death-stroke, Professor Laidy lowered the small lever. There was a quick, convulsive jump of the subject, there was a slight sound of straining straps as the muscles tightened and tugged in the talons impulse which followed the application of the terrific current. There was no movement in any part of the entire frame. "Close," commanded Dr. Macdonald, and the small lever at the switchboard was pushed back in place. The current was cut off at 11:12 a. m. The power was 1600 volts. The motive force had been busy forty-nine seconds. Dr. Ward reached down into the cell on the right side of the chair, and was feeling for pulse beats, when from the livid lips of the subject there showed an exudation of sputum, and almost at the same instant there came from the throat a broken exhalation of air from the lungs. Then came a shorter gasp, which was cut short in a gurgle by a re-application of the current. Quickly there came to the ears of those a-reat the chair the sound of a gentle hiss. Steam immediately cleared up from the electrode on the bars leg. "Stop," again ordered Dr. Macdonald, and the lever again cut off the current from the subject. Dr. Ward again advanced to test the wrists for probable pulsations. There were none. The mask on the face was released to show the action of any blood in the jugular vein. Dr. Ward retired, and Dr. Macdonald felt both at the wrist and neck and then the other physicians did likewise, but there came no more tremor of action anywhere. The tense figure gradually relaxed from the terrific strain under which the man labored at the moment the bolt entered the frame, the neck relaxed, the head slipped down and the entire frame sank an inert, senseless, dead substance. At 11:17 a. m., he was declared dead.

The autopsy disclosed to Dr. Macdonald that there was no evidence of imbecility or insanity, as claimed might be the case when McElvaine was on trial. The doctors all agree that McElvaine suffered absolutely no pain.

THOMPSON AGAIN.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Santiago correspondent of the London Times has sent the following to his paper: Printed and written accounts now arriving here confirm the deep impression caused in all the Spanish and Portuguese-speaking republics by the action of the United States government against Chili. They regard it as an outrage and declare that the illusions they have hitherto had respecting the great Northern republic have vanished. The legitimate influence of the United States has been destroyed, and in future South American republics must look for protection and mutual interests, both commercial and political, only among themselves. Mr. Blaine seems to have foreseen and dreaded this impending destruction of his unwarlike American policy by the unwarranted ultimatum sent to Chili. Consequently, he is throwing the entire responsibility on President Harrison. Private advice, which will be made public, now declares beyond a doubt this immense change marks the occurrence an epoch in the history of the two Americas.

Inquiry on Foot Relating to the National Banks.

DETAILS ABOUT HOTEL HOLOCAUST.

Fire at Memphis, Left his Blessing, Russian Famine, Parliament Prorogued, Meteor and Table Mountain, Perilous Journey, Young Girl's Fate, Blew out the Gas, Business Block Burns, Funeral of Spurgeon, Thompson Again, Foreign and State News, etc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Mutchler's resolutions directing an inquiry as to the failure of the Keystone and Spring Garden banks, of Philadelphia, and the Maverick National bank of Boston, was adopted. A resolution was introduced directing the committee on judiciary to inquire into the right of the secretary of the treasury to employ the hundred million dollar gold reserve for the current expenditures was referred.

The president today sent to the senate the nomination of Wm. E. Grinnell, New York, as third assistant secretary of state.

In the senate adverse reports were made by the finance committee on the following bills: For free coinage of gold and silver bullion, (Stewart); increasing the circulation medium by issuing treasury notes based on gold and silver coin and bullion, (Pfeffer); for retirement of national bank notes, free coinage of silver, and promotion of international free coinage of silver, (Plumb). Bills with adverse reports were placed on the calendar. Senate bill appropriating $300,000 for a monument and statue to General Grant was reported from the committee.

THE HOTEL HOLOCAUST.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—At 3 o'clock this morning the whole force of men at work on the ruins of the Hotel Royal commenced to clear away the debris in the cellar under which was the dining room and near the elevator shaft and staircase. Three hours later the sixteenth body was unearthed. All three bodies found this morning were those of women but none of them have been identified.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—At two o'clock this afternoon there was found the badly burned, unrecognizable body of a woman, with a shawl wrapped around her head.

A MEMPHIS FIRE.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 9.—At half past 9 o'clock last night the six-story building occupied by the Bruce Beth Hat company was discovered to be in flames. The fire spread very rapidly, and in half an hour the firemen were forced back from the building, and directed their efforts to saving the trunk factory of E. Levy next door north. By 10:30 this building and the Langstaff hardware company's store were practically in ruins, and Louvenan's hotel, probably the finest structure of the Ohio river, was in flames. In about an hour the magnificent five-story hotel building was totally destroyed. About midnight the wind changed and began to sweep the fire eastward. The firemen were forced back and in a short time two or three adjoining buildings were destroyed, including Lemon & Gale's wholesale dry goods house, Weller's hardware store, Wm. Jack's china store and Wm. Wilson's wholesale drug house. Again the wind shifted to the west, and the fire started back to 2d street. In a short time Jones, Huhn & Co's printing house and the Lilly Carriage company's plant were destroyed. At this point the firemen got the flames practically under control. The block destroyed was in the heart of the business district. The loss aggregates $1,000,000.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 9.—The total loss by last night's fire, as far as known at present, is at least $920,000, and a number of smaller losses yet to be reported, will make the amount reach a million dollars on the buildings. Their insurance is $848,000.

LEFT HIS BLESSING.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 9.—J. McLaughlin committed suicide at the Stalberth hotel Sunday night by swallowing cyanide of potassium. On a table near his bed were a revolver and a bottle of morphine. He left a note to his wife stating that she had not treated him right of late, but nevertheless he asked God to bless her and his son. He was one time a prominent hotel man in Cincinnati. Of late years he had been unemployed.

THE RUSSIAN FAMINE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The chamber of commerce has received altogether $8011 fund being for the famine sufferers in Russia. The following has been received from Smith, the American minister at St. Petersburg: "Money sent the several committees under the presidency of the American will be properly applied."

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Parliament re-assembled today. The Queen's speech, opening the session, was read. It expresses her gratitude for the sympathy of the people in her late bereavement. Among other things the message stated an agreement was concluded with the United States, defining the mode by which disputes regarding the seal fisheries in Behring sea will be referred to arbitration. Parliament will be asked to pass upon numerous measures, among which will be proposals to apply to freeland the general principles of local government already adopted in Great Britain, and a measure for increasing the number of small holdings in the agricultural districts of Great Britain.

NEBRASKA'S GOVERNOR.

LINCOLN, Feb. 9.—Governor Boyd arrived and took possession of his office yesterday. When his entry was made to the executive apartments Governor Thayer advanced with extended hand, remarking, "How do you do, governor?" Boyd bowed, but ignored the outstretched member. Thayer flushed slightly, and asked if he could be of any assistance, and receiving a negative reply left the room. Governor Boyd being asked if he intended to make a clean sweep of Republican office holders admitted that such action was in contemplation. A number of Thayer's appointees have already tendered their resignations.

After refusing the hand of ex-Governor Thayer, Boyd passed into his private office, where he informally received the hundreds who went in to see him. During the afternoon Boyd's chief appointees of last spring resumed their duties where they left off when Thayer unceremoniously took charge on a writ of quo warrant. Democrats all over Nebraska are preparing for a grand demonstration at Lincoln next Monday.

METEOR BURNES ITSELF IN TABLE MOUNTAIN.

OROVILLE, Cal., Feb. 9.—Table mountain, around which so many mysteries of nature cling, and in whose depths are caves and caverns of unknown depths and beauty, was the scene, a few nights ago, of a strange and awful sight. A ball of fire descended from the heavens with frightful rapidity, and, with a shock that made the ground tremble for nearly a mile around, buried itself deep in the earth. William and Robert Campbell own a farm some five miles from Oroville, and their home stands within a mile of the northern edge of Table mountain. On the evening in question, about 10 o'clock, they were outside of their house, seeing that all was well for the night, when suddenly the darkness was dispelled, and for a moment it was as light as day. A ball of living fire appeared in the heavens and hung for a moment over the rim of Table mountain, and then, with a rush and a roar impossible to describe, descended to the earth. A shock like that of an earthquake followed. It is hardly necessary to state that the brothers were startled. But they realized at once that it was a meteor, and determined to investigate on the morrow.

The next day they went to the spot where the mass had apparently struck. They had no difficulty in finding the place, for the light the meteor had made on the previous night, although but for a moment, had made everything clear, and they found where it had struck was an immense hole in the earth, four or five feet deep. Numerous pieces had been broken off by the fall and had also buried themselves in the ground. The top of the mass was still hot—so hot, in fact, that they could not hold their hands against it—and the surrounding bushes and green wood was burned and scorched as if it had been exposed to long-continued fire. Some days after this G. H. Stout, superintendent of schools, was at the Campbell place, and the gentlemen told him of the strange affair. Mr. Stout, naturally of a scientific turn of mind, wanted to investigate, and Robert Campbell took him to where the celestial visitor was buried. In conversation with Mr. Stout he fully corroborated all of the foregoing. He says that he and Mr. Campbell estimated that the mass must weigh fully eight tons. So far as he was able to determine, its formation apparently was lava, not differing greatly from the surrounding lava of the mountain. He also states that the surrounding trees are blackened and burned by great heat, and that from appearances he should judge that the shock of the fall must have been terrific. The meteor is easily accessible, and it will be excavated and a careful geological examination of its construction made. It may possibly be determined that Table mountain, from its peculiar mineral formation, possesses magnetic influences and acted as a sort of powerful magnet to draw the mass from its place in the depths of space.

THE CABINET MEETING.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—The meeting of the cabinet today was attended by all the members but was of short duration. The Behring sea question was considered briefly but no action was taken. The president has not yet given serious attention to the question of filling the vacancy in the United States supreme bench caused by the death of Bradley, but is expected to do so in a few weeks.

PERILOUS JOURNEY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Captain James Monahan, who for over thirty years has been a resident of Canarsie, and for twenty years of that time has followed the sea for a living, started early today on a perilous journey. Some time ago Captain Monahan declared to some friends that he intended to cross the ocean, and when questioned as to how he proposed to make the journey, surprised them by answering: "In a boat built by myself. It is to be expensive to pay for the trip." The boat is sixteen feet long and two feet wide, and is so rigged as to make its management an easy task. A small cabin is covered with canvas, which is intended to protect the provisions from an angry sea. There is room enough to carry food sufficient for 100 days, but the captain expects to make the journey in sixty. The wood used in the construction of the boat is entirely cedar.

YOUNG GIRL'S FATE.

PRISCOPT, Ariz., Feb. 9.—News received from Verde valley leaves no doubt of the terrible fate of Alice Packard, the 16-year-old girl who was seen in the company of two Indians last week. It now turns out the boy told the truth, but he is feeble-minded, and did not tell any of the neighbors until three days after the Indians had left with their victim. The boy declared that the girl was so nearly exhausted that she said she couldn't walk much further. The girl was on her way to her uncle's house when she must have been captured by the Indians. Her parents felt no alarm, as they thought she was with her uncle. Forty men are searching through the country into which they traced the Indians, but there is small prospect of finding the girl, who is now supposed to be dead. One Indian is thought to be a Navajo, and another an Apache. They probably pushed on till the girl could go no further, and then killed or abandoned her. If they have returned to the reservation it will be almost impossible to identify them.

WORLD'S FAIR.

HARTFORD, Feb. 9.—Owing to the failure of the legislature to provide for any display at the world's fair, the governor this afternoon issued a proclamation calling a convention of all interested to meet at the state house on the 23d of February for the purpose of appointing a commission to consider the expediency of raising by popular subscription an amount sufficient to defray the expenses of a proper exhibit.

THIS IS MEANT FOR YOU.

It has been truly said that half the world does not know how the other half lives. Comparatively few of us have perfect health, owing to the impure condition of our blood. But we rub along from day to day, with scarcely a thought, unless forced to our attention, of the thousands all about us who are suffering from scrofula, salt rheum and other serious blood disorders, and whose agonies can only be imagined. The marked success of Hood's Sarsaparilla for these troubles, as shown in our advertising columns frequently, certainly seems to justify urging the use of this excellent medicine by all who know that their blood is disordered. Every claim in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is fully backed up by what the medicine has done and is still doing, and when its proprietors urge its merits and its use upon all who suffer from impure blood, in great or small degree, they certainly mean to include you.

FUNERAL OF SPURGEON.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The body of Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, arrived at Newhaven from Mentone yesterday. Notwithstanding the earliness of the hour, there was a large assemblage on the quay awaiting the arrival of the steamer which brought the body from France. The coffin, which was taken ashore soon after the steamer arrived, was enclosed in a wooden case. Before it was taken to the train that was to carry it to London, this case was taken off and broken into small pieces, which were eagerly seized upon and carried off as relics. Arriving at London, the remains were conveyed to the Tabernacle, accompanied by an immense crowd.

A BLOODY FIGHT MEN AND WOMEN ON A CAROUSE.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Feb. 9.—A bloody riot occurred in a disreputable boarding house kept by a woman named Morgan, near this place, early yesterday morning. A party of six men were at the house, including, among others, Charles Knapp and John Casey, two of the party, began fighting over a young woman named Clark, who was present. Casey drew a dirk and stabbed Knapp four times. Knapp's brother came to his rescue and the rest of the gang engaged in the fight, the four women taking part. The battle was fought with knives and pistols. Casey was fightfully cut about the head by a knife in the
