POINTER FOR DEMOCRATS.

St. Louis Republican, Dem.: The New York Staats Zeitung, organ of the Germans Democrats of New York, protests earnestly against any attempt to retire the tariff issue or to substitute any other issue for it. After referring to Mr. Hill's attempts to thrust himself on the party, it says:

New York's business community, heretofore in the main favoring the Democratic party, is alarmed in the highest degree. It would, if the party continues in the direction mentioned, without the slightest doubt turn its back upon Democracy and throw the whole weight in favor of the Republican party. The Democrats would at the next election be buried under a majority in our state for which it would be hard to find a parallel in the history of the party.

The question of whether Mr. Hill can carry New York was sufficiently settled when he called the February convention. No man can command the support of a united Democratic party in New York or anywhere else who resorts to such methods of boresism.

SAVE THE CHILDREN FROM LIVES OF CRIME.

S. F. Chronicle: One of the best proofs of the merit of the kindergarten system in this city is given by the offer of New York capitalists to put up $50,000 for the establishment of a similar system in that city. These men want to secure the services of Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, to whom the success of the Golden Gate Association is mainly due, but, fortunately for San Francisco, Mrs. Cooper feels that her first duty lies near at hand. What the kindergartens have done to reduce juvenile crime in San Francisco and to make good, honest, hard-working men and women out of poor and neglected children is incalculable. The money value of this work is far beyond even the large sum that has been contributed for the support of these schools, and the charity is one which should appeal to everyone who is anxious to do his share in making life better worth living for those who start handicapped in the race.

SHALL MARION COUNTY CONTINUE REPUBLICAN?

Not a shadow of a doubt about it! It is more sure than the state and that is certain sure.

These are the impressions that come to the mind in considering the matter.

Two years ago one member of the legislative ticket was defeated, one county officer was nearly defeated and the county outside of Salem gave a majority for Penneyer.

It would seem to be not so absolutely certain sure, but it is as sure to go Republican as anything in politics is sure.

Marion county will continue to be Republican in county politics, but only with a strong, clean and able ticket and it looks as though that was to be had.

AN EARLY CONVENTION.

The meeting of the Republican county committee is called for Saturday, Feb. 27, at 1 p. m. at the Hotel Willamette, Salem.

The work of the committee will be to fix call and representation for county convention. The operation of the new Australian ballot law is intricate and there should be as much time given as possible to familiarize the people with its workings. Hence an early county convention is quite desirable. The tickets must be made up, the booths erected, the law must be given an experimental trial to allow voters to understand its workings. The counties that fully realize the importance of this will be best prepared to have the law well carried out. Call the convention early.

SUGGESTED COMMENT.

Cleveland gave the Democratic party what it was sadly in need of—an "issue." He forced it to come together against that wrong and unjust thing called "protection."—East Oregonian.

If a Republican paper were to say that the Democratic party had no principles and never attacked a wrong until forced to do the above Democratic paper would fairly howl. But is not that about what it says of its own party in the above words?

The Chicago Herald is Democratic and it thus responds to some of the Democratic critics who have carped at its support of Gen. Harrison's administration in the Chilean affair: "They are witless in intellect, ruled by personal malice of commercial subsidy, libels on the fame of Jefferson and Jackson, recant to sublime inheritance of patriotism and duty, they are hoodlums in American nationality and idiots in politics."

The Herald, the New York Sun and hundreds of other Democratic organs rose nobly to the demands of patriotism, and Republicans will prove that they belong to the same class of Americans if occasion shall ever arise.—EX.

Baker City Blade: The course being pursued by the Democratic congress makes it very evident that nothing can be expected in the way of an appropriation to aid in overcoming the obstructions to the navigation of the Columbia river, a matter so vital to interests of the great Inland Empire. They are consuming valuable time, for which the country will hold them responsible. Oregon and Washington demand an open river they must have, and all opposition had better stand from under. Let the governor call the legislature together and let the people demand of it an appropriation for the relief of the great inland country. The legislature would hardly dare refuse it.

Nothing hurts a free trade Democrat more than to see an American industry prospering, in spite of the predictions of that party since the passage of the McKinley bill. The Davenport Democrat says: "No wonder British capitalists are sending their money to this country to invest in flour, plow factories, breweries, larding mills and other industries. Americans who go across the water are telling fabulous stories of the resources of the United States as a whole and of particular sections. John W. Dwight, who owns 60,000 acres of land in North Dakota, has been saying to London friends that the crops in his state for 1891 sold for more than enough money to pay for the land which produced them. It is a good plan, Mr. Dwight, to average these things. Put the Dakota crops of 1889, 1890 and 1891 together and then divide by three."

Back from Nebraska. ED. JOURNAL: I will give your readers a few notes relative to my sojourn in Nebraska since the first of December last. On Nov. 29th I left Salem by way of Portland and Tacoma, and thence over the Canadian railway to Winnipeg; thence to St. Paul and Omaha. On the 27th of November the mercury registered 38° below zero in Manitoba and the northern part of Dakota. After arriving in Nebraska the weather was fine till Dec. 23d, when it turned cold and the mercury ranged about zero until about the 10th of January, when they had a few days that ran down to 22° and as low as 40° below; then the next day it turned warm and ran up to 70° and 80°, making a change of 130° in 24 hours, and I can assure you that I believe I would much prefer the warm rains of Oregon to the cold and changeable climate in the states farther east. Dec. 4th while in St. Paul they had a regular Oregon rain all day, which turned to a snow and finally to a storm that covered a territory or range of about 200 miles square.

Arriving at York, Neb., Dec. 6th, the farmers were found picking corn, the season having been so wet that the crop was not an average one in quantity or quality; but the failure of the preceding year's crop makes the prices hold up to a fair price, the average being 27c a bushel, while prices for all other farm produce are just about half what they are in Oregon. Best wheat is worth 65c; butter, poultry and eggs just one-half what they are elsewhere in this market.

While sojourning for two months among old friends and neighbors, I found a goodly number who were thinking of coming to the Pacific coast, and I then made arrangements to bring an excursion over the B. & M., Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads, and left them as follows: Six for Los Angeles, nine for San Jose, four for San Francisco, and ten for Mary's Hill, Cal.; myself and Mr. Fitch for Salem and one for Portland, while six others came by way of Denver for Medford, Or. Twelve more will start for Oregon about the 15th of February, and there are a great many more who want to change their locations for a warmer climate.

While I distributed a good supply of advertising matter for Salem and the Willamette valley, I think it would be a wise thing for the board of trade and the real estate firms of Salem to take steps to make a fine display of fruits, vegetables, grains, grasses, flowers, etc., including all the products of the valley, at the state fair and as many county fairs as possible, in Nebraska and Iowa, and also take steps for a fine display at the world's fair. While attending the state Farmers' Alliance at Lincoln, also horticultural and agricultural societies at the same place, they all desired that Oregon would make a display at Lincoln during the coming state fair where we would receive a warm welcome. I think such a move can be satisfactorily arranged with the railroads for transportation of the same, and such arrangements would work satisfactorily to all concerned, and be the means of bringing in large excursion parties that buy land and other property and help to develop the grand resources of this the greatest fruit and grain country on the Pacific coast. I had a great desire to see New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California, but I am fully satisfied that I don't want anything that I saw on the Santa Fe line, or anything south or east of Barstow on the S.P. railroad, and I am fully satisfied that the soil and climate of Oregon are better for all grains and fruits, other than the tropical kind, than California or the Southern states. Deserving Praise. We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell so well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Daniel J. Fry druggist, 225 Commercial street.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

It is now settled that the victims of the fire in the Hotel Royal, New York, numbered seventeen.

Robert Smith, a Denver surveyor, Wednesday eloped with Mary Saxton, a 16-year-old girl of Dayton, Washington.

Alce Mitchell, who murdered Freda Ward at Memphis, declares she is sane and is willing to be hanged.

A score of New York jewelers have been swindled out of $150,000 by the firm of D. Gundling & Co., who have suspended.

The city jail at Moorhead, Minn., was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning and J. Garring, who was in for drunkenness, was burned to death.

The contract was let for building the Washington state agricultural college, at Pullman. The successful bid was $21,997.50.

A few days ago at Birmingham, Ala., W. Seaman testified against a gang of moonshiners. Wednesday night his house was fired into by a party outside, and his 9-year-old son was killed and his wife fatally wounded.

Marion Hedspeth, the Glendale robber, who was captured at San Francisco, will be taken to St. Louis. In conversation he ascribed the detection of his whereabouts to letters which passed between himself and a St. Louis attorney who had, he says, done business for him before. When his wife was taken east, Hedspeth wrote to this attorney to take up her case, and a number of letters were sent him in this city addressed "H. V. Swanson." One of these incautiously bore an inscription to the effect that the letter was not delivered in ten days it should be returned to the attorney's address. The attorney was known to have done business for Hedspeth and the latter's identity as Swanson was soon suspected. Hedspeth said he would have left the city in a few days had he not been arrested. Hedspeth denies he had a pistol in each pocket. He said that when arrested he was receiving a number of letters with the left hand while with the right he grasped a revolver in his coat pocket. He professed to be pleased, however, that his arrest was secured without bloodshed. A number of detectives visited him, in an endeavor to connect him with several crimes, among them an Oakland robbery of the Log Cabin bakery, but Hedspeth smilingly replied the papers had connected his name with a number of affairs of which he had no knowledge. He declined to give any information regarding "Dink" Wilson, but said he (Hedspeth) had kept a restaurant while in Los Angeles.

The Temptation.

To go out of doors in rough weather is not strong, but we are many of us, compelled to face rough weather frequently. Diseases which arise from a chill are peculiar to no season of the year. This is true, therefore there should be in the closet of every household—what? Not an immediate stimulant, absolutely devoid of anything but an excitant action, but a tonic combining in the effective form of an invigorant and astringent, the quality of defense against changes of weather. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has three or four properties that no other article of its class possesses. Not only does it relieve the complaints which it eventually cures, it fortifies the system against the bad effects of changes of temperature, fatigues and too often shows in the deadly form of "chills" it produces a radical change in the general condition of the system, resulting in the fact that it is used in the effective form of an invigorant and astringent, the quality of defense against changes of weather. MISCELLANY.

SAN DIEGO FIREBOGS.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 12.—Nearly every hotel and lodging-house in the city was guarded by an increased force of watchmen, while the number of constables and patrolmen on the streets were doubled to guard against further attempts at incendiarism. No arrests have been made as yet, but the authorities are working on several clues. The opinion is gaining ground that all five fires were set by the same person.

BEERS STILL FIGHTING.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The World, referring to the resignation of President Beers, of the New York Life Insurance Company, and his probable successor, says: "Mr. McCall has known all along that Mr. Beers was opposed to him. The strength of this opposition was demonstrated when Mr. Beers was first notified by the trustees that his resignation would be accepted. He communicated with all the managers and general agents in the country and suggested that they come to New York. The most of them did, some of them coming all the way from California to support the man who had appointed them to their lucrative positions. Mr. Beers' liberality to the agents, which was criticised in the report of the state superintendent of insurance, made all of them his friends, and when they saw that his successor was to be a man to whom he was opposed, they decided to make a fight for him. Late yesterday afternoon about twenty of the managers and agents met in the company's building and discussed the situation. Mr. Beers did not want McCall, and they did not either. After the meeting, which was secret, an attorney prepared a statement for the press. This statement was to the effect that, as the trustees had decided to elect a president without consulting the agents, the latter desired to make a protest. The agents thought they should have been consulted in the matter. A committee was appointed to draft a plan of action, composed of George W. Perkins, of Chicago; L. A. Kingsley, of Boston; and D. L. C. Kersley, of Boston. Their report will be submitted at another meeting to be held today. The agents, it is expected, will present the name of some other man to the trustees as president. If he be not accepted they will protest against the election of a president. How this will affect McCall's chances remains to be seen. It shows how good a fighter Beers is.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A Washington special says: On Monday morning Attorney-General Miller walked into Private Secretary Halford's office and, after referring to Mr. Blaine's letter of withdrawal, remarked: "I don't see of what use it is now. If he had written it a month ago it would have been of service. If he had held it back for a month or so it would have done some good. It is not worth anything as it is." This information comes directly from a gentleman who was present when the conversation between the attorney-general and the private secretary took place. It goes far to make clear the feeling existing on the part of the president and his most intimate friends towards Mr. Blaine. What are Mr. Blaine's feelings towards the president and these most intimate friends is not a difficult matter to determine. Mr. Harrison is sadly disappointed by the Blaine letter. He is disappointed by its tone as well as by its unlooked-for appearance. In fact, all the prominent politicians of both the administration and the anti-administration factions in the Republican party are disconcerted by its publication at this time. There were a great many loud-mouthed Blaine men who were not at heart for Blaine, and the appearance of his letter at least a month or two before they expected it has been a sad blow to their plans. They are forced to fight in the open a great deal too soon for their own good, or the good of their schemes. It is curious to note how much less interest is taken in the secretary of state and his movements since Monday last. The rumor started yesterday that he had tendered his resignation
