THE REVIVAL.—At the C. P.

church Rev. H. L. Barkley preached again last evening to a large audience. The discourse was a plain earnest one founded on the words of Jesus, Matthew, 11th chapter and 28th verse. The churches of the city were well represented at the meeting. One of the speakers says if a few more of the city ministers could find time to attend the services it would certainly add success to the work. Services this afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30.

HORSE THIEVES.—Sheriff Croisan has received orders to arrest two young men seen in the neighborhood of Cottage Grove, Lane county, March 13th, during the night of which two horses were stolen. Each was saddled, one old and one new, $50 reward is offered.

YOUNG MAN MISSING.—A fifteen-year-old boy named Miller, living between Stayton and Aumsville, last Saturday took his gun and went out hunting. He has not been seen since, and his people have serious apprehensions that an accident has befallen him. A searching party has been out since yesterday.

A YOUNG MAN'S VICTORY.

W. L. Wade Director and Wylie A. Moore School Clerk.

At 9:30 Monday night a great shout arose among the crowd around the opera house. It was the tocsin of victory over the election of Wylie A. Moore school clerk, when the result of counting the votes was announced.

There were loud calls for the winning candidate and his hard fight for the place has caused him to have many admirers. Early in the morning he issued a circular headed "Shall Rings Rule?" and as a result goes in without any strings on him. His election meets with very general approval, and if he conducts the office as intelligently and vigorously as he did his canvass he will make a good officer.

The friends of Mr. Bridges regret that so honorable a gentleman and business man should have been the victim of a political misunderstanding. Henry Schomaker's friends made a great effort for him and his large vote shows that they consider him an honest and deserving gentleman. He got a good vote outside his party, and the result is complimentary.

THE VOTE POLLED would have been much larger, but for the short time there was to cast and record it—four hours. The quarters were cramped and there was not a proper means of access to and exit from the polls. There was a regular jam reaching half way down the stairs. The election plainly showed in this respect the necessity for reform of the ballot law.

was that only a little over one-half the votes in the district were polled. The vote was as follows:
Total vote.....1155
Increase over 1891.....231
" " 1890.....363
For W. L. Wade, director.....1147
" W. A. Moore, clerk.....547
" H. Schomaker ".....523
" J. H. Bridges ".....81
" N. O. Parrish ".....1
Scattering.....2
This gives Mr. Moore, a very competent young business man who has grown up in Salem, 24 plurality. The new school board will be composed of E. M. Waite of Salem, F. R. Smith of South Salem, and W. L. Wade of North Salem. By law Mr. Waite will be chairman, and the new board meets today to canvass the vote. The clerk has fifteen days to qualify and must give a bond for $50,000.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

First Regular Meeting Held Last Night—Good Program.

At the meeting held in Kindergarten hall last evening an interesting program was rendered, being opened by an exhibition of work done by the children in class during the day. This was fully explained by Miss Ballou, showing in detail the object of each article in the development of the child, and dwelling especially on the value of the "first gift," the ball, which is the foundation of all the work.

The society is now in charge of the following named officers. President, Rev. P. S. Knight; secretary, Mrs. E. B. Philbrook; treasurer, Miss O. Ballou. Executive officers, Mrs. Philbrook, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Kellerman, Miss Condon, Miss Coburn. A committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed to report at the meeting. An effort is being made to secure the services of one of the best lecturers on the Kindergarten in the United States.

IN THE COURT.

Supreme Court Docket—The Grace Isaacs Case Gets Another Trial.

In one of the hardest fought of the Latin wreck damage cases the railroad company has been granted a motion for a new trial. The suit was won for plaintiff by Hon. Tilmon Ford of this city some months since. Over one hundred witnesses were examined and the jury gave the girl $11,000 for spinal injuries. All the testimony will be gone over again, and much that has not yet been introduced for plaintiff. On the other trial an effort was made to charge THE JOURNAL with fighting the railroad interest at the time of the wreck, but the attorneys for the corporation did not dare introduce the paper itself as a witness in the case.

How Fast Will Trotters Go?
At present a lively interest is being taken in the discussion of the fastest possible trotters, scientists, horsemen and others venturing all sorts of wild opinions on the subject. This reminds me that the same subject was up during the summer of 1888, when many of the leading mathematicians of the country plotted "curves" and advanced theories in a vain effort to determine how fast horses will ultimately trot, and when this maximum will be reached. One of the most learned of these articles was by Professor F. E. Nipher, of this state, which appeared in the July, 1888, number of The American Journal of Science.

According to Professor Nipher's conclusions, the speed to which the American trotter will possibly approximate but never reach, is one mile in ninety two seconds, or 132. He also concludes that the time of the trotting horse will be reduced to within one second of this figure in 360 years after the year 1890, that is to say in the year of our Lord 2250. But it must be remembered that our great Missouri scientist was too astute to claim absolute certainty for his figures. He even admits that the maximum speed may possibly be as great as one second. In the course of ten years, or in 1898, he says in his article, the limit can be definitely fixed. He also remarked that he was quite sure that eventually the maximum speed of trotting and of running horses will differ only by a few seconds.

In an article following the one quoted from above, Mr. Nipher stated that he had made a new calculation based on mathematical rather than on grammatical methods. The maximum time thus obtained was eighty-one instead of ninety three seconds. The probable error of this deduction, according to the professor's opinion, is not over four seconds. From the results thus obtained it is not likely that the running horse will be able to surpass the trotter at the end of the year 2200. It is a curious speculation, to say the least, to even guess that by an artificial gait the trotting horse will finally be able to make better time than one of his species who travels as nature intended he should.—St. Louis Republic.

A Lawyer's Advice to Young Lawyers.
The closest application to the study of the law applicable to any case in hand and careful thought of what the law ought to be as applied to the case, and then the most careful study of the books to see how it has been applied in like instances.

I thought out my cases and thought out the law as applied to them and then verified or corrected my thought by the opinions of the courts. The highest legal authority has declared the common law to be the perfection of common sense, so that any man who thoughtfully applies his common sense ought to know what the common law is. The only need he has of the cases in the books is not so much to guide himself as to use them to direct the minds of the judges to adopt his common sense as the law of the case, resulting from precedents.

Therefore I want to repeat, find out the law of the case yourself first, and then by comparison of the cases pertaining to it decide it; perfect your sense as to what the law is.
I by no means advise a young man to make himself simply what is known as a "case lawyer," because lawyers of that class endeavor to remember and find a case like their own which has been decided, and they rest therein their minds without other diligence or study to see how far that decision sustained the case.—Memoirs of General B. F. Butler.

One or more of a man's senses may play him false while his reasoning powers in general remain unaffected. He may "see" what does not exist; hear voices where there is no utterance; smell an odor where there is none; have a bitter or nauseous taste where there is nothing to cause it.

NOB HILL.

THIS beautiful, elevated and slightly tract of land, on the southerly extension of the Electric Street Railway, has been platted, surveyed and staked out in blocks and lots as an addition to City of Salem, and the streets are now being opened. The grounds clear and seeded in grass, soil is good, no gravel or rocks. The current of pure water from the mountain ranges forced upward to 75 feet from the surface by the underlying strata, in addition to a 75-foot pressure from the big reservoir of the Salem Water Co., insures a never failing supply of pure water. This, in connection with the excellent natural drainage due to the elevation of the property, gives it all advantages for desirable homes in a healthy locality. This property now being put on the market at low prices for SIXTY DAYS, when expected the street car service will be in operation. Maps of the property can be seen at the office of J. C. Booth in Ladd & Bush bank building, Spalding & Rogers in the Bush-Breyman block, and the well known firm of Thomas & Johnson, next door to The Statesman office. An these gentlemen will answer all questions and show the grounds to persons wishing to purchase, or any application to the proprietor, who may easily be found, will be attended to.

SICK

Head-Aches

Sick-headaches are the outward indications of derangements of the stomach and bowels. As Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the only bowel regulating preparation of Sarsaparilla, it is seen why it is the only appropriate Sarsaparilla in sick-headaches. It is not only appropriate; it is an absolute cure. After a course of it an occasional dose at intervals will forever avert present trouble.

Joe M. Cox, of 735 Turk Street, San Francisco, writes: "I have been troubled with attacks of sick-headache for the last three years from one to three times a week. Some time ago I bought two bottles of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and have only had one attack since and that was on the second day after I began using it."
