CAUGHT IN QUICKSAND.

Extremes Peril of a Lady and Three Children.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 27.—The recent heavy storms along this coast have caused the formation of innumerable beds of quicksand which are sources of deadly peril to unwary people. The wife and three children of ex-Mayor Gilpin, of this city, were rescued from one of these traps of shifting sand yesterday just as the tide was rising, each succumbing was threatening to engulf them. Mrs. Gilpin and her children were out driving in a boggy, and the beauty of the day tempted them to turn their horse's head beachward for a drive along the shore. They drove slowly, so close to the water's edge that little ripples flowed about the horse's hoofs. They had scarcely proceeded a quarter of a mile when Mrs. Gilpin noticed that the carriage wheels were sinking to an alarming extent in the sand. The horse began to flounder, sinking to his knees at every step. At last he was unable to pull the buggy any further, and stopped panting with the exertion he had made. Too late an attempt was made to turn in shore. The horse could not move, and the hubs of the buggy's wheels were hidden in the sand. The tide was rising rapidly beating against the carriage side. Mrs. Gilpin and her children leaped far out to shore. They sank into the sand above their knees, and every struggle which they made only served to make them sink more and more. They shouted for help, but none, at that moment, was near. Unfortunately the place to which their pleasure trip had led them was an unfrequented part of the beach. Higher and higher rose the tide, and as it did so the sand grew softer and softer, letting its prisoners deeper into its deadly folds. The water had almost reached the waist of Mrs. Gilpin, and hope of rescue had deserted them, when Wilson Willis passed 100 yards away. The frantic calls for help of the imperiled people reached his ears, and he rushed to their aid. With the help of a bathroom door which he wrenched from its fastenings he managed to reach Mrs. Gilpin. His weight kept the door under water and prevented him from sinking into the shifting sand. It was hard work to get Mrs. Gilpin out, but he finally succeeded, and got beyond the edge of the quicksand to firm ground. Believed of their combined weight, the bathroom door had floated in shore. Willis secured it again, and after half an hour's struggle rescued the three children. He then spread an alarm, and the rescued people were attended to. Later they were taken home. The horse was saved by means of a tackle floated out in a boat. The carriage was lost.

SHOOTING OF GLISAN.

His Sons Says the Assault Was Unexpected and Cowardly.

PORTLAND, March 28.—E. J. Glisan, who is employed as upholsterer at the furniture house of H. E. Edwards, denounces the shooting of his father, E. T. Glisan, by Frank Kelsey, at Antelope last week, as cowardly in the extreme. It may prove fatal. Kelsey has been released on bonds until the May term of court at Dulles City. Mr. Glisan says that when his father was shot he was scarcely able to be around, having but recently recovered from a severe illness. He denies that his father was under the influence of liquor, as has been stated, or that he was armed, and maintains that the assault was unexpected as at Salem a number of years. He is a brother-in-law of R. E. Bybee.

Death of an Editor.

KANSAS CITY, March 27.—Mr. Mumford, editor of the Kansas City Times, died this morning.

Wonderful Results

Results of the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Severe cases of scrofula, upon which other preparations have been powerless, yield to the peculiar curative powers of this medicine. Distressing cases of dyspepsia, excruciating complaints of the kidneys and liver, agonizing itches and pains of rheumatism, discharges of catarrh, and aches and pains of neuralgia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood, and at the same time tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives strength to every function of the body. Give it a trial.

General Disability

For four years my wife suffered with large tumor lumps on the glands under the arms, and general debility of the whole system. She became so poor in health that we were on the verge of despair regarding her recovery. Physicians did not seem to understand her case, and all efforts she never derived any benefit from their treatment. She finally concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The immediate effect was so marked and satisfactory that she continued to take it, and this is the result she has gained in weight.

From 54 to 111 Pounds and is stronger and in better health than she has been for years. The lumps under her arms have disappeared, and we believe Hood's Sarsaparilla will be too much for them in time. J. J. NICHOLS, 25 Commercial Street, Boston, Mass.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Powder Works Blown up in California—Other News.

No Enmity Between the Men, But They Were Drunk.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 28.—The news is received from O'Brien, Wis., that last evening a fatal shooting affray occurred in O'Brien & Cummings' saloon. Mike Crowley, the bartender, shot and instantly killed Richard Harn. Crowley then turned the revolver towards his own head and fired three times, the last shot was fatal. Crowley was a single man, about forty years old. Harn aged 34, leaves a wife and four small children, and an estate valued at $20,000. There was no enmity between the men. Tragedy was the result of over indulgence in liquor.

A Disgraceful Affair.

ASHLAND, Wis., March 28.—There were some sensational scenes Saturday afternoon at the funeral of Mrs. Lang, who committed suicide Friday by hanging. Her son, Frank Allay, got drunk, went to the coroner's office, and over the dead body accused her husband of having driven the deceased to suicide, saying: "I'll save your heart's blood," but he was held before he could get at his stepfather with a knife. The funeral was to be held in the afternoon. The son came home drunk, drove off the minister and demanded a priest. In the confusion the body was driven to the cemetery at a breakneck speed, followed by the son.

Powder Works Blown up.

PINOLE, Cal., March 28.—The California powder works at Hercules Point near here were blown up this morning. Nobody was killed. Total loss of property will reach $20,000. The Oregon express was just rounding the curve when the explosion took place and passengers jumped to their feet and thought the dynamites were at work. Pieces of the destroyed building were picked up two miles distance.

Behring Sea.

LONDON, March 28.—The Star, commenting on the Behring sea correspondence, says: The dispatches do not give Lord Salisbury the better of it. He has not been consistent; Mr. Blaine has. The Americans have behaved as if they genuinely desired to protect the seals; Lord Salisbury as though he was afraid of offending the Canadians, whose only desire is to catch the seal.

Electrocuted.

SING SING, N. Y., March 28.—Jeremiah Cotto, who murdered Louis Franklin in Brooklyn last July was electrocuted this morning at 10:40. The preliminaries of the execution did not differ any from those in the past. Five shocks were given the condemned man. His right leg where the electrode was applied was severely burned, and his face was horribly discolored, even more so than any previous electrocuted criminal.

The Guns for the New Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The machinists and other employes in charge of the new guns used in turning out the ten, twelve and fourteen-inch guns, begin work at 7 o'clock and work until 5, eating their lunches near the lathe. The men in charge of the powder tanks used for firing these guns are also in a state of activity. Eight hundred tanks for six-inch guns were finished Friday, and an order was immediately issued to begin work on 1000 more six-inch tanks, 800 eight-inch and 800 twelve-inch, and a pattern is being made for the fourteen-inch guns.

Georgia Democrats for Hill.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 28.—David B. Hill starts off in the race for the control of the Georgia Democratic convention by capturing the delegates of Polk, the first county to act. In David B. Hill they recognize a statesman of broad mind, who was not prejudiced their cause and from whom they could get ardent sympathy if not relief.

Refuses Grain.

NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—The Illinois Central has refused to accept any more grain for shipment in this city, alleging that there is a lack of terminal facilities.

ON HIS WAY TO TRIAL.

Deeming Has an Exciting Trip from Perth to Melbourne.

ALBANY, Australia, March 28.—Deeming's journey from Perth to this city, where he is to embark for Melbourne, was notable for a series of exciting scenes. Frantic rushes were made for the train every time it stopped. The windows in Deeming's carriage were broken as the result of the efforts made by the infuriated people to lynch him. Women were especially violent. During the journey the prisoner had several fainting fits. Returning consciousness was marked by violent struggles, which required four men to hold him. He became composed toward the end of the journey, and was transferred to the jail quietly, but had another fit during the night. Dispatches from Perth say that Deeming's lawyer denies that his client has confessed.

Deeming's Confession.

LONDON, March 27.—The papers publish Deeming's confession to the Rain Hill and Whitechapel murders today. The story has caused the most intense excitement. There is much difficulty in fixing the two Whitechapel murders to which Deeming is said to have confessed. Although two murders are attributed to "Jack the Ripper," there is much doubt as to whether the last two were committed by the same hand that committed the other eight. The police of Leaman street station do not have much belief that Deeming committed the last two crimes. They admit, however, if the confession refers to the murder of Alice M. Kenzie, which occurred in 1888, and Mary Kelly, committed in 1889, it is possible Deeming is telling the truth.

It Is Not Believed.

LONDON, Eng., March 28.—Scotland Yard authorities have received no positive information from Melbourne regarding the confession and attack but little importance to Deeming's statements that he killed two of the Whitechapel woman and say that they believe Deeming's object in making a confession is to secure a remand and be brought to England. This is a well-known trick of criminals. The police give as a reason for saying that Deeming is not the murderer of France Cole the fact that at the time she was killed Deeming was serving a nine months' sentence at Hull for a jewelry theft.

Blazing Petroleum.

Plays Sad Havoc in Barcelona Harbor.

BARCELONA, March 28.—In the harbor here yesterday a sailor of a lighter, which was transporting petroleum from an American vessel to the docks dropped a lighted match on one side of a barrel. The barrel took fire and in a moment was in a blaze. The fire leaped from stern to stern and the crew of the lighter jumped for their lives and swam ashore or to the other boats. The lighter drifted around in the harbor, a mass of flame and the burning oil ran out on the water. Six vessels at anchor near the spot where the lighter took fire tried to get away, but the rapidly with which the blazing oil was blown toward them left them no time. The corvette Thyra caught first at the water's edge and those of the crew on board had to go away on the other side in small boats or jump and swim until picked up. The corvette's decks were on fire within a few minutes, and the vessel was burned to the water's edge and sunk within an hour. The four steamers Casilla, Albino, Waller and Pi caught shortly after the Thyra was abandoned. The Thyra crew had a hard time in escaping. Attempts were made to tow them away from the other shipping, and to bring streams of water from other boats to bear on them, but the oil in the harbor rendered these attempts so unsafe that no volunteers could be kept at the work. The warship Lepanto was started from her moorings, but before she could get under way one of the burning steamers swung up beside her and her rigging caught fire. Before this could be extinguished burning brands were blown on the decks by the rising wind and the commander was unable to keep the few men not absent on leave, fighting the flames. They lowered the boats with the aid of a launch which came out to them and escaped unharmed. The Lepanto sank last evening. The launch Casilla also was burned and sunk. Not a life was lost, although several men were injured while trying to beat back the flames from the Lepanto. The wildest panic prevailed among the ships in the harbor during the fire, and many who were at a distance from the lighter when it took fire saved themselves only by starting seaward immediately. The spectacle of the six burning ships was a scene of awful grandeur, and was viewed by thousands on the wharves.

WALT WHITMAN.

He Will be Buried on Wednesday Next.

"THE GOOD GRAY POET."

Wait Whitman Passes Peacefully Away at Camden.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.—Calmly and peacefully, like a child asleep, Walt Whitman passed away Saturday evening, at Camden, N. J. He had been weaker than usual for several days past, and at 4:30 in the afternoon he began to sink. Dr. Alex. McAllister reached the poet's bedside, and shortly after the doctor found him in a dying condition. He asked the patient if he suffered any pain, and he whispered an answer in the negative. Three minutes before death he said to an attendant, "Weary, shift." They were the last words uttered by Mr. Whitman. His breathing became fainter and fainter, and at exactly 6:43 p. m. he passed away. At the time of the "good gray poet's" death his bedside in the humble little frame cottage was surrounded by a little group consisting of Thomas B. Harrod, a close friend, Horace L. Trabel, his secretary, Dr. McAllister, the housekeeper, and Warren Fitzgerald, his faithful male attendant. The news of his death was telegraphed to Lord Tennyson and other friends in England. Dr. Buck, of Ontario, his biographer, Colonel Whitman, his brother, and also his many friends throughout the country. A plaster cast of the dead features will be made. Whitman left a carefully drawn will, but its contents are not to be made public until after the funeral ceremony. The remains of the deceased will be placed in his recently completed tomb in Haveligh cemetery, in Camden, a spot selected by Mr. Whitman when he was enjoying his usual health and where he visited many times during the construction of the tomb. No arrangements have been perfected for the funeral.

The Poet's Funeral.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 28.—The funeral of Walt Whitman takes place Wednesday. At the autopsy yesterday the organs of the poet were found in a state of disease that should, by all the laws of medicine, have killed him years ago.

COURT OF INQUIRY.

The Chief Signal Officer Charged With Violating Orders.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—An officer of the army of high rank is a court martial may be ordered within the next few days for the trial of General A. W. Greely, chief signal officer of the general orders of the war department. The particular paragraph which is claimed General Greely has violated says: "No officer, active or retired, shall directly or indirectly, without being called upon by proper authority, solicit, suggest or recommend action by members of congress for or against legislation pertaining to military affairs." General Greely's offense consists in having addressed the secretary of war and members of the committee on appropriations in opposition to placing the new military bureau of information under the immediate jurisdiction and control of the adjutant-general's office. In his letter to Secretary Elihu the organizer of the newly created bureau, which has been placed under the management of Assistant Adjutant-General Williams, General Greely, among other things, suggested that if the bureau could not be given in charge of a signal officer the secretary himself retain control of it until such a time as General Greely's friends in congress could look into the matter. To members of committee on appropriations General Greely advised withholding the necessary appropriations for the maintenance of the new bureau until the right of the chief signal officer to its control could be definitely determined. Adjutant-General Kelton brought General Greely's breach of discipline to the attention of the department in a long letter, which comments severely on the violation of general orders. In his letter General Kelton says that General Greely's action in addressing members of congress in order to bring about what he failed to secure from the secretary of war amounts to a threat of insubordination, and demands a severe rebuke, if not a court martial. Such a recommendation as this is usually sufficient for a court of inquiry, and General Greely's friends and defenders are somewhat uneasy at the outlook.

FRAME BUILDINGS BURNED.

A Supposed Incendiary Fire at Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, March 28.—At 4:30 Saturday, fire broke out in a row of frame buildings on First street, and before it was checked three buildings were burned, including their contents. The effective work of the department saved the rest of the block. The loss was $3,900; insured for $1,400. The origin of the fire is supposed to be incendiary. Two weeks ago fire started in the same block, but was extinguished before any damage was done.

A Bank Robbery.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The police today arrested five men said to be implicated in the boldest robbery since the looting of the Manhattan bank. John Fredricks' meerschaum pipe factory was entered last Sunday and at least a wagon load of property carried off. The shutters of the window through which the burglars entered were replaced and the police knew nothing of the robbery till it was reported to them. The prisoners are George Speck, alias George Smith, Allen Howard, alias Chicago Kid, Frank Bamberger, alias Boy, David Collins alias Dave, and John Goll.

AN INDIGNATION MEETING.

A Law and Order Committee Appointed at Oregon City.

OREGON CITY, March 28.—A large mass meeting of indignant citizens, presided over by Mayor Sullivan, gathered in Pope's hall Saturday night to advise relative to a case of attempted rape which occurred recently. Testimony was introduced sufficient to point to Bob Gardner and Bert Bacon as guilty of an attempt to rape a 12-year-old girl, yet the law seems unable to reach the case, and a committee of law and order, consisting of leading citizens, was appointed to formulate a plan of action, which shall insure the speedy punishment of the criminals. The committee will take immediate action, having been instructed to leave no means untried to punish the guilty ones.

Storms in the East.

OMAHA, Neb., March 27.—The heaviest snow of the season began falling at 6 o'clock Saturday, and within two hours street car traffic was completely stopped. Telephone and telegraph wires throughout the city soon went down, and communication with the outside world was rendered slow and uncertain. The snow turned to rain. No motor cars are running, and electric lights are out. A number of people have been injured by coming in contact with live wires, but none fatally.

MONTICELLO, Ill., March 27.—A tornado, accompanied by a severe hail storm, visited Platt county yesterday, damaging many thousand dollars' worth of property, leveling buildings, etc. The tornado swept over Cerro Gordo, near here, and destroyed twenty-five buildings. Barns and out-houses were carried from their foundations and destroyed. No loss of life is yet reported, but there were many narrow escapes.

KANSAS CITY, March 27.—

Dispatches from Kansas report severe wind and rain storms throughout the state. At Leavenworth out-houses, signs and fences were blown down. Telegraph facilities are impaired so that details from other points are not obtainable. The wind blew a gale here, but caused no damage.

Dynamite in Paris.

PARIS, March 28.—At 2 o'clock yesterday morning a dynamite explosion occurred at 39 Rue Clichy, where resided M. Bullose, one of the prosecuting counsel in the recent anarchist trial. The explosion was immediately followed by frenzied shrieks from the occupants of the building, who were in bed at the time. The main staircase was completely wrecked. A number of half-dressed women and children escaped hurriedly by the servants' staircase, and the fire brigade extinguished the small fire in the debris and rescued the inmates. Seven persons were seriously injured. The infernal machine was apparently deposited at the door on the second floor which was occupied by M. Bullose. The whole interior of the building was wrecked and in the two adjacent houses all the doors and windows were smashed. Much furniture was broken into fragments and the courtyard strewn with debris. Several workmen engaged on a new building opposite were injured by flying fragments of stone and glass. Ministers Loubet and Richard visited the scene during the day. M. Bullose and family escaped uninjured. Police continue the search of anarchists haunts and the seizure of anarchist publications. Two brothers named Matthieu, accomplices of Ravachol, have been arrested.

Cardinal Gibbon's Remarks.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—In the course of a sermon yesterday Cardinal Gibbon dwelt upon the reason given by Historian Gibbon for the growth and development of Christianity. Cardinal Gibbons said in part: "If the church survived it is in obedience to the decree of God, who said, 'The gates of hell shall not prevail against her.' Catholics were therefore right when he said, 'If this work (the church of Christ) of man it will come to naught, but if it be of God you cannot overthrow it.'"

Four Men Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Six men stole a boat from the wharf this morning and went for a picnic across the bay to Sausalito. On the way back the boat was caught by the tide and swept out through the Golden Gate, and when in mid-channel the boat was capsized by a heavy sea, and four men, John Brown, Richard Costello, Jesse Carter and Isaac Hannah were drowned. The other two, Mike McCullough and M. Marshall, were saved.
