The result of the conference is the organization of a national colored men's protective association, the first convention of which will be held in Indianapolis, September 22.

THE GRAND ARMY.

The Department of Louisiana Must Recognize the Colored Posts.
ALBANY, N. Y., June 6.—Captain John Palmer, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, Saturday issued a special order which shows that he is determined that the colored posts in the department of Louisiana shall be recognized by the posts composed of their white comrades. In this order the commander-in-chief says:
"The junior vice-commander of the department of Louisiana and Mississippi having refused to be governed by the action of the 25th national encampment at Detroit, and having failed to comply with the orders from these headquarters to recognize the colored posts, it becomes the duty of the commander-in-chief to suspend him, which I hereby do. Comrade A. S. Badger, a post department commander of that department, will at once assume command as commander pro tem, and recognize the colored posts, and proceed in accordance with rules and regulations governing the Grand Army of the Republic."

HIS LETTER OF INSTRUCTIONS.
In his letter of instructions to Mr. Badger, Mr. Palmer says:
"For some six months these colored posts were recognized by the department of Louisiana, after which, by illegal action, they refused to have any further connection with them, giving as the ground for such action, the assertion that these posts contained many members who were not eligible to membership, but furnishing no proof thereof. Out of this illegal action more than any other the present deplorable trouble has grown. To remove all grounds of trouble or suspicion in this matter you will at once proceed to a thorough inspection of these colored posts, examine the records as to the eligibility of every one claiming membership and report to the headquarters the result of such inspection. If the situation in any of the posts is shown to be as has been claimed, steps will at once be taken to annul the charters of such posts. You will also call a provisional encampment at some convenient time before the 1st day of July next, for the purpose of electing a department officer and transacting other business of general interest. Your attention is called to the rules of order regulating the surrender of post charters. From news received at these headquarters, it is felt that action is proposed which is in violation of the service rules."

The Catholic Vote.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Father Cronin, editor of the Catholic Union of Buffalo, had an extended conference with Secretary Blaine Friday evening. He came upon the latter's invitation. At the conclusion of the conference he said:
"Blaine will accept the nomination beyond a doubt. His mind is positively made up. Mrs. Blaine has had a great deal to do with his determination to accept. She and he are confident that his health is strong enough for him to make the contest. He will not only accept the nomination; he fully expects to receive it. He sent for me, fearing his letter to Father Ducey might be the means of alienating the Roman Catholic vote, and wanting my opinion. I told him that the Republican Catholics would not be influenced by the letter, nor will they. The real reason he refused to accept the nomination four years ago was because he feared that the Republican party would surely suffer defeat. He does not think so this time. He believes the Democrats will nominate Cleveland, and he feels sure that he can beat him, or any other candidate the Democrats may select."

Wonderful Results

Results often follow the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Severe cases of scrofula, upon which other preparations have been powerless, yield to the peculiar curative powers of this medicine. Distressing cases of dyspepsia, excruciating complaints of the kidneys and liver, agonizing itches and pain of scalp dandruff, disagreeable cases of catarrh, and aches and pains of rheumatism, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood, and at the same time tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and gives strength to every function of the body. Give it a trial.

General Debility

"For four years my wife suffered with large tumor bunches on the glands under the arms, and general debility of the whole system. She became so poor in health that we were on the verge of despair regarding her recovery. Physicians did not seem to understand her case, at all events she never derived any benefit from their treatment. She finally concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The immediate effect was so marked and satisfactory that she continued to take it, and this is the result she has gained in weight."

From 84 to 113 Pounds

and is stronger and in better health than she has been for years. The bunches under her arms have diminished, and we believe Hood's Sarsaparilla will be too much for them in time." J. J. Nonacross, 226 Commercial Street, Boston, Mass.

TERRIBLE DESTRUCTION.

Latest from Minneapolis—What the President Says.

DIRE DESTRUCTION.

Pennsylvania Oil Region's Terrible Visitation.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 6.—Never before in the history of Oil City and the oil country has such a disaster, excitement and turmoil been seen, as the city is now witnessing. At 11:45 yesterday morning, the city and the country for miles around, was startled by two explosions, occurring almost simultaneously. Oil creek was a raging torrent, and fully a thousand people were watching the waters. About 11:30 a green fluid was noticed on the water. This increased in quantity and finally colored almost the entire waters of the creek. The smell of gas and oil was perceptible, and the danger of fire was commented upon. The words were scarcely uttered when two hundred yards up the stream a mass of flames shot heavenward. The people stampeded like cattle and started for the hills. Scarcely had they started when the explosion rent the air, and the entire creek for a hundred feet seemed one seething mass of flame and smoke. The panic-stricken crowds shrieked madly in its efforts to escape. Women and children were trampled under foot and some were severely injured. An engine on the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad passed a tank of gasoline standing on a siding. The tank was leaking, and as the engine passed a mass of fire shot out into the air and the earth seemed to shake with an awful tremor. It is supposed the engineer and fireman were killed by the force of the explosion.

In an instant the fire swept madly over the entire upper part of the city, which was flooded by the oily water from the creek. Men, women and children, who were moving from their homes, were caught by the deadly flames, and if not burned to death outright, were drowned in the raging flood. Ghastrly bodies were taken from the flood, and are now lying on the railroad track unrecognized. It is impossible to give an estimate of the number of lives lost. For miles up the creek on both sides, everything is in ruins and hundreds of families are rendered homeless. Very little, if any, property was saved, and the sky for miles around is still black with the smoke from the burning dwellings and oil tanks. When the explosions occurred the people were knocked down from the force of the shocks, and every window within a radius of two blocks was broken. The panic during the height of the excitement was something fearful, and it is remarkable that no one was killed by the horses and the wild and frantic mob. The water in Oil creek is falling slowly now, and it is hoped the worst is over. In the upper part of town about 100 dwellings were destroyed by fire, and owing to the depth of the water the fire department was helpless. This part of the city is blockaded with lumber, sheds and roofs of houses, which have floated down. The sight from the billtops about town is awful, and beyond description. The loss of property is placed at from $750,000 to $1,000,000. Some 15 or 20 bodies have been recovered and identified. The third waif is as level as a field.

THE LATEST.

OIL CITY, June 6.—Few of the spectators watching the flood when the explosion occurred, can give a good idea of what happened. All agree there was a terrific explosion, the whole air was filled with flames quickly followed by two other explosions. Three gasoline tanks exploded almost instantaneously. The oil on the creek blazed up and the gas in the air burst into flames. Water, land and air were all literally ablaze. Spectators found themselves in a lake of flames. The multitude fled with screams of anguish for higher ground. In the rush many of the weak were trampled upon and badly injured. Some were hurt by horses, others ran and leaped in to the water and were drowned. The flames in the air quickly burned out but left high volumes of smoke beneath which roared fiercely the flames of burning oil on the water. Many submerged houses and shops were soon in flames and many people were confined and unable to escape from the fire within sight of thousands who heard their piteous cries. They were burned to death or leaped into the river and perished by flood and fire. It is marvelous that any from the valley of death were saved alive. It is strange that out of the commingling of fire and flood and houses that any escaped. Many of those who will live had better be dead, they are so fearfully burned and disfigured. One of the heroes of the occasion is W. L. Stewart, who after spending an hour in a boat rescuing imperiled people went down to his death under a falling blazing house.

OIL CITY, June 6.—At seven this morning 63 bodies have been found of which thirty have been identified. It is safe to say the loss of this city alone will reach 300. Between 250 and 300 houses were destroyed besides hotels, works, manufactories, etc. Over 300 homeless people are being cared for.

PTTSBURG, June 6.—The following is received from the mayor of Oil City. The loss of life becomes hourly more apparent. 63 bodies

Damage by a Cyclone.

OMAHA, June 6.—A Bee special from McCook, Neb., says that place was visited by a terrible cyclone Saturday afternoon. About 4 o'clock, while the streets were crowded, a huge funnel-shaped cloud dropped to the ground, first striking the building of H. W. Cole and carrying off the roof. It whirled it around and brought it down, with terrible force, in almost its former position, upon the heads of a number of cigar-makers, who were at work. One was severely injured. The storm-center was seen to rise up in the air and again drop to the ground about three blocks away, striking the Congregational church, in which children were rehearsing for Children's day. Two hundred small children had just finished the exercises and were going home. The church was raised from its foundations and dashed down in a mass of ruins, burying about sixty children, together with the pastor of the church and several teachers. Fortunately, the falling timber formed an arch over the heads of those in the church, and all were soon released from their imprisonment. Several were so seriously injured they cannot live. Among them are Mand Perry, Dan McAlpine, Harry Campbell, Ruth Creswell and her little sister Maud, and Laura McAllen, and the pastor, W. Stevenson. Many of the children have legs and arms broken and others hurt internally. The list of injured includes about fifty, but as many were carried home at once, it is impossible to get the exact number.

AT TITUSVILLE.

Fire and Rain Add to the Horrors of the Scene.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 6.—The city of Titusville was visited during the past twenty-four hours by one of the most disastrous fires and floods in all the history of the region. Oil creek overflowed its banks and for hours swept through the city in the proportions of an almost resistless flood. The city is without fuel, lights and waterworks, and is surrounded by water. The Perry street and Franklin street iron bridges are swept away, scores of cheap dwellings in the lower part of the city destroyed, and a large number of lives lost. Some were burned but the majority were drowned. When morning broke, hundreds of anxious people looked out of the windows, or stood on the roofs of their houses, waiting for a helping hand and trembling for their fate. To add to the horror of the scene, rain fell in torrents, and fire broke out in the refineries at different points. The burning oil swept down a raging current, and communicated to the manufacturing establishments and houses, and the destruction was increased a hundredfold.

At a late hour tonight the loss of life here, according to a conservative estimate, is 35. This is entirely within the city, while the news from tributary towns show a proportionately less. Fully a third of the business and residence portion of the city is a mass of charred embers, over which the waters rush with unabated fury. The streets are filled with crowds of wet, hungry, homeless and despairing men, women and children, most of whom lost their loved home and all their property. It is simply impossible to give any idea of the horrible scenes enacted. Men with boats and ropes battled manfully with the current, and hundreds of people, captives in their own homes on account of the surrounding waters, were rescued. Fully fifty people are yet unaccounted for, and at the present condition it is impossible to correctly state the number actually drowned and buried. Five persons were grasping a piece of timber with prospects of landing safely. When they drifted in the proximity of an oil tank, the tank exploded, and in a moment the men were enveloped in flames and death came speedily to relieve their sufferings. A mother with a babe clasped to her breast, and clinging to a plank, drifted toward the depot, around which the waters were rushing furiously. As both reached the point, the suction was so great it drew them down and they disappeared from view. Scores of cases of like fearful character are reported.

TITUSVILLE, June 6.—Never in the history of Titusville has such scenes of desolation been unfolded to the gaze, as an Associated Press reporter saw this morning, when he entered the main thoroughfare. The first sight of men carrying a dead body on a stretcher, within fifteen minutes, the sight became so common as to cause no surprise. It is now estimated that 500 were drowned or burned to death. The money loss is a million and a half to two millions. Fire was caused by a spark from a locomotive. Mechale street, occupied by the poorer classes for residence, is simply blotted out of existence, not a vestige of a dwelling left. The greatest loss of life occurred here. Whole families were swept away before they realized the danger. The Queen City laundry has just caught fire, and threatens the adjacent district.

WHAT HARRISON SAYS.

If Not Nominated on First Ballot, Don't Want It.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 6.—The following letter was made public on the authority of D. C. Marsh of East St. Louis, a relative of Senator Cullom. "Sibley M. Cullom Grand Pacific Hotel, Chicago. Dear Sir: In case I am not nominated on first ballot you will please withdraw my name from convention. Yours truly, Benjamin Harrison."

MINNEAPOLIS, June 6.—The Young Men's Republican Blaine club of Cincinnati arrived this morning and marched to the West hotel with Governor Foraker at its head. A great crowd assembled at the hotel. The Harrison men endeavored to make a counter demonstration but were pushed to the wall. Foraker made a speech predicting the nomination of Blaine, but declaring if Harrison was nominated the club would give him a loyal support.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 6.—The Michigan delegation has decided to present the name of General Alger. Platt says 50 New York delegates are for Blaine, others put the number at 54.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 6.—The following is considered the most conservative estimate yet made, Harrison 470, Blaine 417.

Halford Denies It.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Private secretary Halford says the alleged letter of Harrison to Cullom is an absolute forgery.

Failed to Turn Out the Gas.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Benjamin F. Stewart, a pioneer of '49 and one of the best-known printers on the coast, was found dead in his bed Saturday morning, having been accidentally asphyxiated by gas, which he had failed to turn out.

WHAT WOLCOTT SAYS.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 6.—Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, was called upon for his views in reference to the sudden change in the political situation. He said:

"It does not change the situation materially, except to accentuate the insult which the president, in his interview, and Secretaries Miller and Foster in theirs, attempted to inflict on Blaine. His friends have realized for some time that the president sought to minimize the efforts of the wisdom and sagacity of the secretary of state, but it appears they not only desire to ignore him, but because he did not seem disposed to write a letter every few minutes they saw fit to throw mud. The resignation may be of some help here, as it leaves vacant another office to peddle for Harrison votes. As for Colorado, we are for Blaine, and the Far Northwest is the same. Harrison could not carry Colorado."

The Election at Portland.

PORTLAND, Or., June 6.—The election is progressing very quietly. The new ballot law seems satisfactory to all. Votes are being deposited at about one per minute. A heavy vote is being polled. On the county ticket there is a hot fight, and a great deal of scratching is being done. No arrests made up to noon.

Anti-Option Bill Passed.

Rusk Favors Harrison.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—Secretary Rusk said to the Associated Press in regard to statement that an effort is made to induce him to allow the use of his name for second place on the ticket, no truth in the statement whatever, "my name cannot be used either singly or in combination against the president. No friends of mine will suggest such use."

Dam Swept Away.

ELIZ, Pa., June 6. Last evening Clark's mill dam at Union City, burst its walls. The water swept through the town, carrying thirty houses from their foundations. Many persons are badly hurt, but no fatalities. Damag., a hundred thousand. Garland, Pittsfield, Columbus and many other places, are under water.

Cullom Denies It.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 6.—Senator Cullom this afternoon denied receiving a letter from President Harrison asking Cullom to withdraw his (the president's) name if he not nominated on first ballot. He has received no letter or telegram from the president for six months.

"Thick and Glossy."

THE PRODUCTION of an abundant growth of hair, of a soft, blue texture and of the original color, often results from the use, by those who have become bald or gray, of Ayer's Hair Vigor:

"I was rapidly losing gray and bald; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—M. Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"A trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor has convinced me of its merits. Its use has not only caused the hair of my wife and daughter to be abundant and glossy, but it has given my rather stunted mustache a respectable length and appearance."—R. Britton, Oakland, Ohio.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years, and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all that I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. A CLERGYMAN'S SIN.

Attempted to Indecently Assault Two Little Girls.

LONDON, June 6.—The Rev. Charles Douglas is charged with trying to indecently assault Florence Huntley, a 13-year-old girl.

From the evidence given before the police magistrate, before whom Douglas was arraigned yesterday at Paddington, it appears that the prisoner met the girl as she was returning to her home. He accosted her and walked with her. He made improper proposals to her, and offered her a sum of money if she would accompany him. The girl refused. They were in a lonely locality, and when he saw that Florence would not do as he wished, he tried to force her. The girl struggled desperately, young as she was, and her dress was nearly torn from her. She managed to escape from the grasp of Douglas, who had thrown her down, and springing to her feet, dashed away from her assailant. A short time afterward Douglas met the 10-year-old sister of Florence, who was walking along the road, and the miscreant attempted to assault her. The cries of the child attracted the attention of a man who ran to see what the trouble was, and who grasped Douglas. He made a most desperate resistance, fighting and biting in his efforts to break away from his captor. It was no use; and then, wheedling and whining, he set forth the terrible disgrace that would come upon him if his disgrace was made public, and offered his captor a large sum of money if he would allow him to escape, but the captor, keeping a firm hold of him, marched him along until he met a constable, to whom he gave his prisoner in custody. The police magistrate remanded Douglas for trial.
