LITERARY NOTES.

One of the interesting literary announcements of the spring season and see the dying trees, the unis that of a new novel by Dorothea Gerard, the popular author of Orthodox, etc., and the joint author of A fest. The model farmer delights in new book, which bears the striking board, opening a ditch, casting out title of A Queen of Curds and Cream will be published shortly in Appletons' Town aud Country Library.

The twenty-seventh volume of the Magazine of American History closes with the June Issue, bringing its customary elaborate index for the benefit of scholars. Edward F. de Lancey writes one of the best articles in the current number, entitled "King George's personal policy in England, which forced his subjects in America, against their wishes, into a successful revolution." This scholarly paper is worth careful study as showing how easily an arbitrary and injudicious ruler can wreck a prosperous government. George III. was young and headstrong, and he meant to govern not merely reign. He kept British affairs in constant turmoll to carry out his ideas of absolute power, by which means be lost his American colonies forever. The departments are well filled, and the index illustrates the remarkable success of this magazine in its choice of precious material for permanent preservation Subscription price, $5.00 a year. With their usual appreciation of the demands of their patrons, Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., are still working hard to further improve their fashion journals and to bring them closer, if possible, in touch with Paris and its latest styles. With this end in view Mr. A. McDowell has just left for Europe intending fully to spare neither time nor money in adding new features to the firm's publications, "Paris Album of Fashion" and "La Mode de Paris;" with these two a premium is given to all subscribers for one year paying $3.50 of growth or fruit he will look for tween life and death—life if the junction with their others, "La outuriere" and "La Mode," make a list of publications that are be- thing that is detrimental to the yond competition, because their styles are not reproductions but originals made up in Paris and come out one month earlier than other fashion ournals. Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York, beg to call attention to the new and artistic covers they have had designed for their journals; these are the best work of their best artists, and we have no hesitation in saying that the contents of these jour-Warm Meals at All Hours of the Day | nais being of such a very high class make the exceptionally fine covers

The message to pupils recently is sued by the executive committee of the National Columbian Public School Celebration speaks a vigorous word to every one of the several million American boys and girls. How far the word will have effect depends upon each individual boy and girl. Once enlisted in the movement they will feel the stimulus that comes from being in a great movement, one of a mighty mass, working for a common end. When that end is the glory of such a country as ours, is it not worth a little sacrifice? We hope that the pupils their merits. Dan't. J. Fry, Drugin our public schools will be as enterprising in moving in this matter as those in any other place in the state. Our schools should move with equal step on that day with all other schools throughout the Republic. Failure to participate in this national demonstration will doubtless be cause for regret in later years to all pupils who permit themselves to be left out.
