A SHATTERED MIRROR. It Recalls a Burglar's Blunder and Hanging in Inspector Schaack's room at the East Chicago avenue police station is a small dressing mirror. Though badly shattered, the inspector would not part with it for a large sum of money, for it tells a story which, though true, is stranger than fiction. The little mirror was once the property of George High, and was the means of saving that gentleman a loss of about $25,000. About 7 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 8, 1886, Mr. High, his family and several guests were eating dinner. While they were thus engaged two bur there's a gent in the Alpine building; glars, who had evidently been "spot- he sends me five pairs of trousers toting" the house for some time, placed day and wants 'em tomorrow, sure. a ladder against the rear of the Well, he don't get em, see!
