

COLLAPSED BUILDING.

A Soldier Hung—The Aftermath of the Convention.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Lodging House in Portland Collapses.

PORTLAND, June 24.—The three two-story frame buildings, Nos. 87, 89, 91 and 93, North Front street, between Everett and Flanders, fell with a crash at exactly 9 o'clock last night, and immediately took fire from the explosion of a number of kerosene lamps. No. 87, which is the second story of the building, was occupied by Mrs. A. Baker as a lodging house. No. 89 was occupied as a restaurant. No. 91 was vacant. No. 93 was the Shamrock saloon kept by Pat Mooney.

Altogether 40 persons were in the building at the time, and, remarkably so, 25 of them escaped without a scratch. Eleven were more or less injured, and at 11:30 p. m. it was believed that three were buried under the ruins, probably killed. The ruins took fire, but it was soon extinguished. It is believed that about twenty people were in the house at the time of the collapse, but it is supposed most of them escaped. Up to 11 o'clock three persons had been taken out of the ruins. One man had his collar bone broken, a woman had a leg broken, and an Italian woman who kept a fruit stand in the building was chopped out of the debris, apparently uninjured. Firemen are still searching the ruins for bodies. The building stood on short piles, and water is several feet deep under the building.

All those who were in the building have been accounted for except a shoemaker named Laughfield and one child who are supposed to be under the debris. The lodging house was occupied principally by Japanese and Japs. The building was an old one, and the foundation is known to have been rotten for a long time. The body of Laughfield was recovered. In all about a dozen persons were injured, among them Mrs. Rivers, of Spokane. They cost $3000 when new. Mrs. Baker's loss is $1500, and she has $6000 insurance. The damage to the stock in the Japanese store is estimated at $500. Holman's saloon is gutted. His loss is about $750.

A young woman was taken out of the ruins about midnight and conveyed to St. Vincent's hospital. Her injuries are not serious. Her name is not known. The firemen had not found the body of Salfield or the baby up to 3 a. m. They will probably find the bodies this morning.

It was impossible to tell how many had been killed in the disaster. The proprietor of the house believes that there are three or four who still remain in the ruins. At about 1 o'clock this morning a fire again broke out in the wreck and two streams were turned on. The smoke that was raised was so dense that if there was any life left in the victims, suffocation would soon have extinguished it. The firemen are still at work. They propose to continue until every unfortunate one had been taken out.

PORTLAND, June 24.—The search in the ruins of the collapsed building for the bodies of the shoemaker Salfield and the baby of the variety actress was discontinued at 3:30 this morning. Injured are doing well at the different hospitals.

PORTLAND, OR, June 24.—This afternoon the bodies were recovered. Painful Injuries. Yesterday morning at about 8:30 o'clock, while working on a new hop house for W. H. Holmes on his place about four miles up the river, Don Truitt fell from a scaffold and sustained injuries that will lay him up for many days. He was working about twenty feet from the ground and in reaching to catch a rope that was being thrown to him he lost his balance and fell. About ten feet from the ground he struck a scuffling, which broke the force of the fall and caused him to alight on his feet. The fall rendered him unconscious, but yesterday evening he was resting as well as could be expected at his home. He is badly bruised about the head and body and complains of his spine.

Maxwell Will Contest. PORTLAND, June 24.—George C. Sears, assessor-elect, has been served with a notice from L. H. Maxwell, who ran on the Republican ticket at the county election for the office of assessor. The petition asks for a recount of the votes and alleges among other things that at the different polling places there were 200 votes cast and counted that were illegal, owing to the fact that the requirements of the law were not complied with, thus making the ballots irregular.

Time Extended. CORVALLIS, OR., June 24.—Yesterday was the day set for paying the balance of $1,000,000 to complete the sale of the Oregon Pacific railroad, recently bid in by Zephin Job. They have been unable to raise the funds, and Judge Pipes granted a further extension of time until September 1st.

Quay Wants to Bet. PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—Senator Quay today expressed himself satisfied that Cleveland will be easily beaten, and said: "I will bet $10,000 that Harrison is elected. If you know anyone that wants to bet, send him around."

THE CONVENTION.

No Spectators in the Next One Will Be Allowed.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Delegate Cole, of Ohio, attracted the attention of the chairman and moved that Stevenson's nomination be made by acclamation. Hensil, Pa., seconded the motion and it was unanimously adopted and great cheering.

After the usual enthusiastic outburst the business of the convention was resumed, and a number of miscellaneous resolutions referring to the affairs of the national committee and tendering thanks to the various officers of the Chicago reception committee, etc., were disposed of.

Then Hon. Patrick Collins, of Mass., stirred things up with a speech declaring that he felt free to say the time has come when a Democratic convention should be a deliberative body and not governed by outside influence. If we could, said he, be on exhibition in view of sixty-five millions of people and seven millions of Democrats who will vote the ticket, well and good, but what sense in having fifteen thousand people, who cannot hear and hardly see, prolonging the proceedings of a Democratic convention and preventing it from being deliberative? It is not the incoherence nor the disorder, but the danger of wrecking the good work of a convention that we are face to face with today, and I feel that we have reached the climax of absurdity. Mr. Collins then offered a resolution that the national committee be instructed to provide accommodations in the next convention for delegates, alternates, national committee members of the press, and none others. A great howl of protests came up from the galleries. Whereupon Mr. Collins informed the audience that it was here solely by the courtesy of the convention.

While confusion reigned through the hall, there was a crash, and the arc lights which had furnished illumination were seen descending upon the heads of the delegates. Something had given away above, and it appeared as if the numerous interruptions which had so ominously occurred at the hands of nature were about to be supplemented by one great catastrophe which would wipe out the whole national convention. Three lights immediately over the New York delegation came crashing upon the Hill men. Globes were broken, and streams of electricity flashed from carbon pipes. In a moment every one in the building was on his feet and nearly every one was making tracks for the exit. Delegates tumbled wildly over one another, and frantic yells of fear were heard. It seemed for a moment as if there was no possible way out of the panic which must have resulted in the loss of hundreds of lives. Fortunately, however, a number of cool heads among the delegates and the audience asserted themselves, and aided by the police and music by the band, contrived to get the frightened people down.

When quiet was restored, on motion of Hensil, of Pennsylvania, Collins' resolution was referred to the next national committee with an affirmative recommendation and power to act. After some further routine business, on motion of Russell of Missouri, the convention at 5:17 adjourned sine die amid great cheering.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

Close of the Commencement Exercises—Address by Prof. Condon.

EUGENE, Or., June 24.—Commencement of the University of Oregon closed yesterday with graduation exercises of the literary classes. Eight young men received the degree of A. B. The failing prize was awarded to Lenn Stevens and the Beckman prize to Frederick S. Dunn, both of Eugene. Honorable mention was made of J. E. Bronaugh. Other members of the class were H. T. Condon, John McClure, George Norris, Frank Porter and Joseph Young. President Johnson awarded diplomas and invited Prof. Thomas Condon to address the class, which he did in some very appropriate remarks. The regents held their annual meeting in the afternoon. In the evening the alumni held their annual banquet.

Another Meeting at Ulster.

LONDON, June 24.—A crowded unionist meeting was held to support an appeal of the Protestants of Ulster to England. Many titled and prominent persons were present. The Duke of Argyll delivered a speech in which he declared it was a slanderous falsehood to say the people of Ulster were aiming at religious ascendancy. They were, he said, against the ascendancy of the "village ruffian and the parish pope." The resolution commending the appeal of Ulster to the attention of the British electors was unanimously carried.

She Drowned Herself.

BANGOR, Me., June 24.—Nellie Newcomb, a girl of 16, belonging to a good family, deliberately walked in to the river yesterday at Hampden and was drowned. She left a note pinned to her dress on the bank bidding her father goodby. The son of a prominent merchant refused to marry her, it is said, and she took her life.

Ladies Attention. The finest assortment of French and German etched, be wa and cut glass ware ever brought to Salem is now at the Blue Front.

Killed in a Duel.

PARIS, June 24.—Captain Mayer, a member of the engineer corps was killed in a duel this morning by Marquis DeMores, who is now under arrest. The duel arose from a remark by DeMores that no Jew ought to be a member of the army. It was fought with swords. In an interview DeMores expressed regret at the result, but he added: Magistrates will not prevent the prosecution of the work we have undertaken, the personal question is nothing; principles are all we are but at the beginning of a civil war.

Will Not Give Them Up.

OMAHA, June 24.—The civil authorities of Sheridan county, Wyo., have made a demand on the military authorities to surrender the soldiers of the Ninth Cavalry who attacked the town of Suggs last Friday and killed a citizen. General Brooks, of the department of the Platte, has refused to turn over the prisoners to the sheriff until he can hear from Washington. He says the state of feeling in Wyoming is such that he does not consider the lives of the soldiers safe in the hands of the civil authorities.

Probably Fatal Prize Fight.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Billy Frazier's bout with Jack McAuliffe at the Manhattan Athletic club is likely to result in the death of the Boston man. When Frazier failed to respond to the call of his second to get up and get out of the ring, he was shaken gently and then raised up in a sitting position. His eyes were closed and his breathing was scarcely perceptible. Four physicians were summoned. On rubbing and chafing to restore the pugilist to consciousness, and failing, they stabbed sharp needles into the man's feet, but without much effect. Frazier was taken to Boston in a half-conscious condition at midnight. The physicians thought he had very little chance of living.

Bill Nye Bombs and Gets Hurt.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 24.—While Bill Nye, the humorist, was romping with a party of friends in the plunge bath at the Saratoga Mineral Baths, his foot slipped on the marble floor and he fell heavily on his back and side, striking a cuspidor. His back and side under the right arm were very severely cut, and he was carried to his room at Congress Hall, where a doctor sewed up the wounds. The doctor says he will not be able to get out of bed for a week and perhaps longer.

Congratulated.

CHICAGO, June 24.—General Adlai A. Stevenson the Democratic candidate for vice president, held a reception in his rooms at the hotel this morning and was visited by a large number of Democrats from all parts of the country. The general expressed that his nomination would strengthen the ticket. Henry Waterson among others said it would cause Illinois to go Democratic.

The Captured Train Robber.

WOODLAND, Cal., June 24.—John D. Ruggles, the train robber, was taken to Redding on the noon train yesterday, in charge of Under-sheriff Wyckoff and Hull, and Detective Thacker. He seemed weak, but was able to walk down the court house steps, supported by officers, to the express wagon, with a mattress arranged, on which he was taken to the depot. The physicians fear no fatal results from his wound.

Tammany will Support Ticket.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24.—Croker and Sheehan the Tammany leaders declare Tammany will give Cleveland loyal support and advice from New York to Associated Press are to effect that such a course is recognized there in order to maintain Tammany supremacy in New York city politics.

To Notify the Candidates.

CHICAGO, June 24.—The city is still crowded with enthusiastic Democrats, many remaining over to extend congratulations to the vice presidential candidate Stevenson. The committee to notify candidates will probably go to Bazzard Bay with Congressman Wilson, of Virginia at their head to notify Cleveland about July 11, thence to Bloomington, Ill., to notify Stevenson.

Soldier Hung.

OMAHA, June 24.—Clinton E. Dix, on a private in the Sixth United States Cavalry was hanged here this morning for the murder of Corporal William Carter, a member of his company. The killing grew out of the fact that Carter was ejected by command of his Captain from Fort Niobrara with a colored courtesan with whom Dix was intimate.

BUGLARS AT CORVALLIS.

They Beat Man Near to Death, Do Not Get the Money.

CORVALLIS, Or., June 24.—Burglars last night broke into the bedroom of Carl Strake, of almost killed him by beating him over the head with a club. Strake lived all alone and had about three hundred dollars in the house at the time. The burglars evidently knew this and it is supposed they slipped into the house and knocked him senseless while lying in bed making a search for the money, which they were unsuccessful in finding. No clue to guilty parties can be found.

Azrael, the Angel of Death.

Hovers near us, sometimes, than we are aware. It is safer for us, we are unwell than for our property, to ignore the possibility of his nearness. Caution is not constitutionally lacking. The promise to disregard a "slight cold" is particularly striking. This is not a mistake, however, a predecessor of its grippe, a malady which when developed of the most fatal character, as a mortality statistics attest. After a chill, or when the preliminary symptoms of influenza—such as sneezing and a dryness of the skin—are perceptible, immediate recourse should be had to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a general alterative of the blood's circulation, which diffuses an agreeable, healthful warmth through the system inductive of perspiration, by means of which the impurities are eliminated through the pores, and the further tendency counteracted. Wonderfully efficacious in all cases of malaria, rheumatism, liver complaint, rheumatism and kidney trouble. A wineglassful before retiring in cases of febrile sleep.
