DEATH FROM FIRE-ALARM.

A Child Stricken with Heart Disease—Small Fire.

Sunday morning as the alarm was sounded announcing a fire at the house of Mr. Neal, little Lindy Gordon, who had been suffering from heart disease from her infancy, dropped dead. She was quite six years of age, and never very strong, and the excitement was too much for her delicate constitution. Death was almost instantaneous, and the funeral took place yesterday afternoon. Capital engine visited the fire, and the damage was light, the loss being only about $150.

THE FIRE YESTERDAY.—Just after the parade yesterday morning the fire bell rang and the department responded in dress parade uniform. The fire was in the residence of Horace Holden, on North Front street, which was badly damaged. The blaze started in the kitchen and had made a good start before it was discovered. The loss will reach several hundred dollars, although the contents were all saved with slight damage. There was no insurance.

OPENS OFFICE.—Capt. D. C. Sherman, late county clerk, has opened an office in the Gray block where he will be ready to look after pension claims, notary and probate business. At the latter, Mr. Sherman is without doubt an expert, as he has had wide experience.

PARALYZED.—Mrs. Harrison, an elderly lady living in East Salem was stricken with paralysis yesterday while coming down town on the electric car.

DRESS PARADE.—There will be a Dress Parade of the Second Regiment O. N. G. at 6:30 this evening on Wilson avenue.

SALEM'S CELEBRATION.

The Capital City Outdoes Herself.

A MOST BRILLIANT EVENT.

An Immense Crowd—Fine Weather—Military Encampment.

For several days the people of the capital city had been busy decorating and preparing for the day we celebrate, so Monday, July 4th 1892, found Salem in her "best suit of clothes."

The business houses and many residences of the city were lavishly adorned with bunting, while the stars and stripes were flying in every quarter. Long before the "rosy fingered messenger of dawn" arose above the eastern horizon, our valley resounded the echoes of an hundred guns, and soon the people came pouring in from every direction. The day was cool and balmy, as perfect as could be asked, and from the start success was assured to the various committees who had worked so unceasingly for days.

The military encampment on Willson avenue was the first attraction to claim the interest of the crowd. Soldier life has a charm for old and young, and the Second Regiment boys sustained their good reputation most notably.

The work of forming the industrial parade was begun at 9 o'clock and so numerous were the turn-outs that it was after ten before.

THE PROCESSION was ready to start. It was made up in the following order:

Monmouth normal cadet band, carriage, with president of the day, speaker, chaplain and reader. Chariot containing "Columbia," Miss Gussie Steiner drawn by white horses and escorted by Geo. Washington, Wm. Plaster. "The ship of state," a mammoth three-masted float containing 44 children representing the states and commanded by Ed. Sullivan as "Brother Jonathan." This was followed by appropriate representations of the territories of New Mexico, Alaska, Utah, Arizona, and "Oklahoma or bust."

Second Regiment O. N. G. band. Second Regiment O. N. G. and Marine cadets. Pioneer store, J. G. Wright. O'Rourke band. Willamette university. Cherrington Bros. Mrs. D. L. Fiestor. Gray Bros. eight vehicles. Geo. C. Will. Howard & son. Myers steam wood saw. "Musketto slew" academy? band. Glover & Pugh. Keller & Marsh. J. L. Mitchell. Hatch & Moffett. M. T. Kineman. Shaw & Downing. Thomas & Johnson. Bicycle club. Jefferson cornet band. J. W. West. Woodburn cornet band. Strong's Bakery. Westcott & Irwin's restaurant. Salem cigar factory. G. Steiner's fish market. Ed. Lamport. G. Stoiz. Rustler wood saw. Davison & White. A. Beamer. F. S. Dearborn. Independence band. Alert Hook and Ladder company. Tiger engine No. 2. Tiger hose cart. Tiger tender team. Capital engine No. 1. Capital hose cart. Capital tender team.

AT MARION SQUARE.

The exercises were opened by band music, and after the interruption caused by a fire elsewhere announced, Rev. J. L. Parrish offered prayer, which was followed by the reading of the declaration by Miss Jennie Booth. "Columbia" was now sung in a strong, clear voice by Mrs. J. H. Strickler and chorus. Mayor D'Arcy now arose to introduce the speaker, and after paying some eloquent compliments to the chaplain and the reader of the occasion presented Hon. Lydell Baker in most appropriate words. Mr. Baker is a cultured orator, and ably entertained his hearers with a ringing, patriotic address.

THE PRIZES AWARDED.

1:30—Fat man's race, sixty yards, (all over 300 pounds) 1st prize $7; 2d prize $3; Entries, W. S. Clement 208 pounds, G. S. Wright 234, Wm. R. Shearer 215, Bert Hatch 209; winners, Wright 1st, Clement 2d, time 8 1/2.

Little girl's spoon race, 100 feet, 1st prize, $5; 2d prize $3; 3d prize $2; eleven entries; 1st, Bertha Kay; 2d, Mattie Southwick; 3rd, Alice McKinnon.

Three-legged race, free for all fifty yards, 1st prize, $1; 2d prize $1; Five couples entered; Kays-Neal, 1st; Pickens-McWitter, 2d.

Wet test—100 yards to hydrant and lay 200 feet of hose and get water through nozzle. Won by No. 3 Co. Time, 31.

Dry test—100 yards to hydrant and lay 200 feet of hose and screw on nozzle. Time called when nozzle strikes the ground. Won by same.

Tender race—100 yards. Won by Tiger tender team.

The committee appointed to adjudicate the prizes for the industrial exhibits beg to report that, with some difficulty, from the general merit of the many excellent exhibits they have selected as worthy of the first prize, Westcott & Irwin's restaurant and bakery; second prize, Davison & White's fish and game market; third prize, Beamer's saddlery; fourth prize, Steiner's big saloon; and as deserving honorable mention, Gray's agricultural implements, Mrs. Fiestor's millinery, Glover & Pugh's blacksmithing, Stoiz's feed and commission, Howard's horse moving, Will's music and sewing machines, Cherrington's photography and Steiner & Sonne-man's grocery.

A conservative citizen estimates 30,000 people in Salem yesterday, and all were comfortably cared for. Chief Marshal Cross and deputies W. L. Simorai, N. H. Looney, O. A. Condit and M. W. Hunt, did faithful and efficient work in controlling the crowds for the day.

One of the most practical displays of the industrial parade was that of Gray Bros., the hardware and implement merchants. They had a train of eight Studebaker wagons, ranging from the largest to the smallest. This is the best and most celebrated wagon in the world, one that is built on honor. A Walter A. Wood harvester was also in the procession. This machine is the pride of the farmer, and Gray Bros. are selling lots of them this season. Ever since this firm has been in business their sales have been constantly increasing. In fact they are the only firm in the Willamette valley that has received a second car load of wagons this season. Their ample store and ware room facilities enable them to handle goods in the easiest shape and they can please all patrons with any thing from a carpet tack to the heaviest piece of machinery.

MILITARY.

The dress parade on Willson avenue last evening, as well as the guard mount this morning, was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd of admirers of the military boys.

The sham battle took place on Lord's hill at about noon today, was witnessed by thousands. It began by a skirmish near the south Commercial street bridge, which was followed by a charge from the other side. A retreat was neatly made under heavy firing. The artillery rendered active service while the infantry sent volley after volley back and forth. The officers and men all filled their parts well, and the battle proved a grand success. This was the event of the day and pleased every body.

PLAN OF THE BATTLE.

H. and E. Companies, and the Marine Cadets, with two pieces of artillery attempted to hold the hill, which B, F and C companies attacked. After a sharp and spirited engagement, the hill was captured by the attacking force, who seized the cannons, and rolled them down the hill and the engagement was over.

One of the happy features of the occasion was the presence of the Marine Cadets from Eugene, boys ranging from six to twelve years of age. They were the pets of the encampment, and are a well drilled company.

Capt. Yoran, of Eugene, was slightly wounded in the right hand. Private McCrady of C company received a severe powder shot in the head, and several other participants were slightly wounded in the sham battle.

LATER—Private Little, of Independence, who was struck in the neck with a gun, is reported very low this afternoon. His spine is injured.

NOTES BY THE WAYSIDE.

One of the displays in yesterday's procession that attracted general attention, and especially that of the little folks, was that of Ed Lamport, the pioneer harness and saddlery man. The float contained his dapple gray show horse, with Eddie Lamport as groom, and was driven by George Phillips. Mr. Lamport has been in the business 25 years, and his superior quality of work and goods inspires him a steady and constantly growing business.

Geo. C. Will, the musical instrument and sewing machine rustler, was in the procession with every department of his business fully represented. A beautiful Emerson piano was being played by Archie McCully, while the White, New Home and Wheeler & Wilson sewing machines were shown off to the best advantage. Mr. Will, in connection with his brothers does a large business in this valley, embracing, Albany, Corvallis and Salem.

Probably the most unique exhibit was that of Mrs. D. L. Fiestor who appeared with Misses Rose Barr, Florence Masher, Ella Shipp, and Linnie Rindlett in an open carriage. Over their heads was suspended an immense hat about four feet in diameter elaborately trimmed with lace, flowers, poppies and red, white and blue ribbon. This exhibit was artistic, represented the business perfectly, and showed Mrs. Fiestor's usual enterprise as well as excellent handiwork.

Barnum's Motto, "Advertise your business" designated the methods of Davison & White's business, as it appeared on their 4th, of July display in yesterday's procession. They also took one of the premiums for their excellent turn-out. This firm has built up a fine business in our city and aside from their keeping a strictly first class stock they claim that liberal advertising has contributed largely to the secret of their success.

Steiner, the fish man, had a very original exhibit, the leading feature of which was a salmon about a rod long made of canvass carried by a man walking in the center. The lone fisherman, with fishing suit and netting wrapped about him, was dulle, as well as the boy with a silver dollar on his line for bait-celated wagon in the world, one that is built on honor. A Walter A. Wood harvester was also in the procession. This machine is the pride of the farmer, and Gray Bros. are selling lots of them this season. Ever since this firm has been in business their sales have been constantly increasing. In fact they are the only firm in the Willamette valley that has received a second car load of wagons this season. Their ample store and ware room facilities enable them to handle goods in the easiest shape and they can please all patrons with any thing from a carpet tack to the heaviest piece of machinery.

OUR STREETS AGAIN.

Business Men Will Petition for Improvement—Their Plans.

A petition is being generally circulated among the property owners asking for the improvement of Commercial street, which will probably come up before the meeting of the council to night. This petition it is understood, asks for an improvement similar to that on South Commercial street, including cement curbs and gutters, with catch basins to carry off the water. It asks that only a few inches shall be excavated, and that this be graded up with fine gravel, to be tamped and rolled into a solid condition. The present concrete walks are to constitute the curbs where they are full width. This is almost the exact plan intended to be used in the crushed rock undertaking, with the exception that six inches of gravel is required instead one foot deep of rock.

It is pleasing to note that Salem's property owners are in earnest about paving our streets, and it is only to be hoped that the work can be commenced early in the approaching dull season.
