"What is it for?" we coninually cry from the cradle to the So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is August Flower for?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dysia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, ssesses one of the largest manuacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia. G. G. GREEN, Sole Man'fr, Woodbury, N.J.

We must do somehe fills all this place-the loving, living, dying Christ-and each one of us will have to ask and answer for himself the question, "What shall I do, then, with Jesus?" Well, my friends, there are three or four things you can do with

WHEN JESUS COMES. You can, in the first place, let him stand without a word of recognition: but I do not think your sense of common courtesy will allow that. He comes walking on such a long journey, you will certainly give him a chair on which he may sit. He is so weary, you would not let him stand without some recognition. If a beggar comes to your door, you recognize him and say, "What do on want?" If you meet a stranger faint in the street, you say, "What is the matter with you?" and your common humanity, and your common sympathy, and your common sense of propriety will not allow you to let him stand without recognition—the wounded one of the hills. You will ask, What makes him weep? where was he hurt? who wounded him? whence came he? whither goes he? I know there have been men who have with outrageous indifference hated Christ, but I know very well that that is not what you will do with Jesus.

Another thing you can do with him -you can thrust him back from your heart and tell him to stand aside. If an inoffensive person comes and persists in standing close up to you, and heaven of holy beings, the best. In a you have in various ways given him to understand that you do not want his presence or his society, then you ask the est and the most sympathetic. reason of his impertinence and bid him away. Well, that is what we can do with Jesus.

He has stood close by us a great while -ten, twenty, thirty, forty years. He has stood close by you three times a day breaking bread for your household, all night watching by your pillow. He has been in the nursery among your children, he has been in the store among your goods, he has been in the factory amid the flying wheels, and now if you do not like his society you can bid him away: aye, if he will not go you can take him by the throat and tell him you do not want his breath on your

When the Christian commission went into the army during the war there were a great multitude of hungry men and only a few loaves of bread, and the delegate of the commission was cutting the bread and giving it out to wounded and dying men. Some one came up and said, "Cut those slices thinner, or there will not be enough to go around." And then the delegate cut the slices very thin and handed the bread around until they all had some, but not much. But, blessed be God, there is no need of economy in this Gospel. THE SOUL'S GREAT CHANCE, I have to say that the question will after awhile change, and it will not be what shall we do with Christ, but what will Christ do with us? Ring all the bells of eternity at the burning of a world. In that day what do you think Christ will do with us? Why, Christ will say: "There is that man whom I called. There is that woman whose soul I importuned. But they would not any of my ways. I gave them innumerable opportunities of salvation. They rejected them all. Depart; I never knew you." Blessed be God, that day has not come. Halt, ye destinies of eterdoes in the way of kindness toward us. nity, and give us one more chance. One more chance, and this is it.

Shifting the Responsibility.

As I was walking along the street the other day a lady and child were walking along in front of me, but being in a hurry I passed on. Just as I was going by the couple I overheard the mother speaking to the child in words that indicated that the child had been doing something wrong and the mother was reproving the action. When the lady had finished, the child looked up innocently and said, "Well, mamma, God didn't make me nice."-Boston News,

A clever ruse was that adopted by counsel, who afterward attained to distinction, who had to examine a witness in a disputed will case. One of the witnesses to the will was the deceased man's valet, who swore that after signing his name at the bidding of his master he then, also acting under instructions, carefully sealed the document by means of the taper by the bedside.

The witness was induced to describe every minute detail of the whole process, the exact time, the position of the taper, the size and quality of the sealing wax, "which," said the counsel, glancing at the document in his hand, "was of the ordinary red description?" "Red sealing wax, certainly," answered the witness.

Wonderful Work of Bees.

Bees must, in order to collect a pound of clover honey, deprive 62,000 clover blossoms of their nectar. To do this the 62,000 flowers must be visited by an aggregate of 3,750,000 bees; or, in other words, to collect his pound of honey one bee must make 3,750,900 trips from and to the hive. The enormous amount of work here involved precludes the idea of any one bee ever living long enough to gather more than a fraction of a pound of nectarine sweets. As bees are known to fly for miles in quest of suitable fields of operation, it is clear that a single ounce of honey represents millions of miles of travel. It is no wonder that these industrious little insects have earned the reputation of being "busy" bees, -St. Louis Republic.
