CHATS ABOUT MEN.

Senator Manderson plays a strong game of chess. Carlyle's two brothers reside on farms near Grand Rapids, Mich.

Joseph Arch, the pioneer in the agricultural laborers' movement in England, is only sixty-six, but is said to be quite broken down.

Roch and Rulm, two American cadets, carried off first honors in naval architecture at the last commencement of the University of Glasgow.

Mr. Gladstone is very much attached to a little black Pomeranian dog, Pete by name, which was given him some years ago by a friend in Germany.

The largest child ever born, it is said, was the son of Bates, the "Kentucky Giant," and his wife, the "Nova Scotia Giantess." This infant Hercules weighed 23 3/4 pounds.

Roscoe Conkling's fine portrait, by Cuyler Ten Eyck, has been placed in the vice president's room at the Capitol in Washington, and obtains as much praise as attention from visitors.

Frederick L. Ames is said to be the richest man in New England, and there is no man in any part of the country who gets more comfort out of his home or takes greater pride in its surroundings than he does.

A gentleman whom scarcely any one recognized had the privilege of the floor of the senate chamber on the day of Senator Barbour's funeral. He looked about sixty years of age. He proved to be the ex-senator from Iowa, Mr. Jones, who has reached his ninetieth year.

The late historian Freeman had a great liking for architectural sketches, and at his death had accumulated a large collection of drawings made by himself of notable buildings in England and on the Continent. But he cared nothing for paintings, and never on his journeys through Europe went into a picture gallery.

THE NEWEST NOVELTIES.

In recent times of all sorts the shell takes the lead.

Column clocks are for boudoirs and Louis XVI rooms.

Lamps of glass are six feet high and mounted in brass.

Three swans—blue, pink and white—with linked necks, form a new table ornament for flowers.

A great deal is done in faience with appliques of metals. There are flower ornaments or grotesqueries.

Small articles, as vases, cups, bowls covered with flowers with spread petals such as daisies have been brought over.

The English gold ornamented glass is having great vogue. The German glass is much more finely ornamented. The contours in the English glass are bolder.

Onyx clocks in the shape of green porphyries, with round columns supporting pediments, are exquisite. Some clocks have the pillars and pilasters covered with gilt and colored tracery.

There are numerous displays of ornamental glass. The Webb cameo glass is striking, but has many successful imitations in cheaper glasses which would deceive all but the cognoscenti.

There are new mechanical clocks. One represents the engine of a ferry-boat, another a pile driver with the figure of a man. The materials are silver and bronze, and the workmanship is exquisite.—Jewelers' Circular.

AROUND THE THRONES.

The Princess of Wales fits and makes gowns for herself and family.

There are fourteen great gates to the Escorial, the palace of Spanish kings, and the building is lighted by 1,110 outer and 1,578 inner windows.

No nihilist will ever get a chance at the czar of Russia with a razor, at least in the guise of a barber. The autocrat has his whiskers carefully trimmed, but with scissors.

Emperor William has given 15,000 marks to aid the publication of an elaborate literary souvenir of the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America. The work will be edited by the Berlin Geographical Society.

The Shah of Persia has more than $35,000,000 worth of ornaments, gems and precious stones in one strong room, 20 by 14 feet. There are scabbards in this treasury said to be worth $1,000,000 each. When leaving home the Shah, it is said, locks up his jewelry and travels "in paste."

Tip-O-Tip, son of the late Zulu King Cetewayo, is in this country and aims to secure an education here before returning to his own people. To pay his expenses in college he is giving small entertainments of native songs, chants, translations of the English to the Zulu tongue and in answering questions.

ODDS AND ENDS.

It is said that three-fourths of the entire manufacturing capital of the United States is based on patents.

France has had thirty-eight ambassadors to England since 1814, while in the same period the queen has had but eight representatives at Paris.

More than a fourth of the gold and more than a third of the silver produced throughout the world in the year 1891 was mined in the United States.

A mob of seventy-five women prevented a wedding in a town in Kentucky recently, for the reason that the bride's husband had been dead but two weeks.

The next lord mayor of London will be a Roman Catholic and he will appoint a Catholic priest as his chaplain. It will be the first instance of a Roman Catholic holding the latter position since the Reformation.

The streets of London are cleaned between 8 in the evening and 9 in the morning. Many of the carriageways are washed daily by means of a hose, and the courts and alleys inhabited by the poorer classes are cleaned once a day.

Everybody knows what it is, and that is the reason they go to Hellebbrand's for that pure ice cream soda.

In Cookery

The ROYAL BAKING POWDER, besides rendering the food more palatable and wholesome, is, because of its higher leavening power, the most economical.

The United States Government, after elaborate tests, reports the ROYAL BAKING POWDER to be of greater leavening strength than any other. (Bulletin 13, Ag. Dep., p. 559.)

YOUTH.

Youth—it is all the joy that laughs in the soft spring grasses. That bows in the sap of the tree and lifts the bud to the sun. That burns in the fallow earth as the phantom of winter passes. And rings out the chant of the grave in the song of a hope begun.

The skies are older than death; the seas have shaken the valleys. Which are full today of the peace of slumbering woods and streams. The ages have left their prints in each fluctuant moment which rallies. From ruin and change and night, from infinite darks of dreams.

But Youth, with a fresh delight, and mindless of sad years fashioned. In the cruel tolls of the world, in the bitter stripes of the soul, Looks out and is glad of itself, glad and intense and impassioned.

See the day at its dawn, and cries to its birds and its fountains.

See the day at its dusk and the splendors that sink in the west.

Watches the purple clouds as they shadow the peaks of the mountains, And follows the trace of the moon to a deep and a dreamless rest.

Oh, whether it watches or sleeps, or whether it speaks or hears.

The past is a faith forgotten, and death is an unfeeling thing: It is only the day which is here, the day which trembles and darkens.

That holds for the heart of Youth the wonders that thrill and cling.

It is only the day which is here, which is full of a living story.

That starts the blood of Youth to a sense of exquisite power.

That fills the earth and the heavens with a strange and beautiful glory.

And measures the sweetness of Time by the flight of a joyous hour.

—George Edgar Montgomery in Youth's Companion.

A Good Mine "Salted."

Very funny was the salting of a mine in Colorado which was bought by ex-Senator Tabor by order from some friends of his in Denver.

Chicken Bill, a prospector of rather disreputable notoriety, did the job, performing it so successfully that $40,000 was paid over to him for the property without any question.

He was so elated over the transaction as to be unable to keep the secret, communicating it to a number of intimate friends.

In this manner the news reached Denver, and the people who had employed Tabor as their agent in the matter refused to receive the mine.

So Tabor, finding it left upon his hands, determined to make the best of the situation and proceeded to dig farther in the hole.

He pierced the rock ten feet farther and came upon a body of ore which proved to be one of the richest ever found in the state.—Kansas City Times.

How Climate Has Changed.

In Switzerland a mean temperature equal to that of north Africa at the present time is shown by its fossil flora to have prevailed during the Miocene or Middle Tertiary epoch.

Anthropoid apes lived in Germany and France; fig and cinnamon trees flourished at Dantzic; in Greenland, up to 70 degrees of latitude, magnolia bloomed and vines ripened their fruit, while in Spitzbergen and even in Grinnell Land, within little more than 8 degrees of the pole, swamp cypresses and walnuts, cedars, limes, planes and poplars grew freely.

lilies covered over standing pools, and irises lifted their tall heads by the margins of streams and rivers.—Edinburgh Review.

A Really Wonderful Razor.

A well known Auburn man is the owner of a razor which for wear and tear probably has no equal in the two cities.

It descended to him from his grandfather fifteen years ago, and since that time he has used it incessantly, shaving himself twice a week with it. The razor has been honed only once since he has owned it, and is apparently in as good condition today as it was fifteen years ago.

It hasn't even commenced causing profanity as yet, and that is something to be proud of in a razor.—Bangor (Me.) Commercial.

Shipping Cinnamon.

Cinnamon is so extraordinarily sensitive that great care has to be taken with regard to its surroundings on board ship, as a bale of very fine cinnamon will lose much of its delicate aroma if packed among boxes of coarser bark.

Various expedients have been tried to remedy this. The Portuguese and Dutch isolated the bales by packing them in cocoonant fiber, or in cattle hides; but it is found that the only real safeguard is to pack bags of pepper between the bales.—Two Happy Years in Ceylon.

The Value of Pearls.

Nothing varies so much in value as pearls. With them fashion affects the market constantly. Sometimes white ones are sought, while other tints at intervals are in demand.

For some years past black pearls have been the rage. A fine specimen worth $150 will fetch $200, perhaps, if another can be got to match it perfectly.—Woman.

Before Starting on a Journey

A person usually desires to gain some information as to the most desirable route to take, and will purchase tickets via the one that will afford him the quickest and best service. Before starting on a trip to Chicago or any point East, you should provide yourself with a map and the table of the Wisconsin Central Line. The trains run on this route are vestibule and are equipped with Pullman's latest Drawing Room sleepers, elegant Day Coaches and Dining Cars of latest design, but especially for this service, and are exquisite in furnishings and convenient and comfortable in arrangement and so complete in every detail that they have no superior in comfort and elegance of that day. Their service is pronounced by all the most elegant ever inaugurated, and is operated in the interest of its patrons.

Fast trains via the Wisconsin Central Lines leave Minneapolis daily at 12:45 p. m. and 2:25 p. m., and St. Paul at 1:30 p. m. and 3:15 p. m., making favorable connections with all trains from the West and Southwest.

For tickets, maps, pamphlets and full information apply to G. F. McVell, G. F. and T. A., Minneapolis, Minn., and to J. C. Pond, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Ill. 1-157
