HER BABY WAS DEAD.

Pathetic Story Showing the Strength of a Monkey Mother's Love. One morning on a rocky hill, sparsely covered with small trees.

Perhaps the dog surprised the monkeys on the open ground and pressed the mother so hard that she dropped her offspring to save her own life.

"It was a young man of more than a third of his age who knew better than to grab her elbow after the fashion prevalent in Bridgeport and Kalamazoo."

"It was a Spoonmower in the diplomatic service in President Madison's time. There were plenty of them in both armies during the war of the rebellion."

"There was a Spoonmower in Shakespeare's time." A Spoonmower was an officer at the court of King George III.

There were Spoonmowers in the diplomatic service in President Madison's time. There were plenty of them in both armies during the war of the rebellion.

Famine in Abyssinia. Famine is this year not confined to Russia. There is dearth bordering on famine in a few districts of Germany and Italy.

A Jeweler's Letter to a Jeweler. A jeweler of Boone, Ia., received the following communication, which accompanied a watch sent to him by a Quaker customer to be repaired.

DEAR SIR:—I herby send thee my pocket clock, which stands in need of thy friendly correction. The last time it was at thy friendly shop it was in no way benefited or profited thereby.

Breaking up a Witness. Probably it is not too much to say that many a cause apparently hopeless from the first has taken an unexpected turn by an accidental happy hit or the prompt adoption of some smart ruse on the part of counsel.

An Experiment in Ventilation. In the new Institute of Hygiene, at the University of Pennsylvania, the steam radiators are set in a novel way and are made to play an important part in the ventilation of the building.

An Envious Mortal. First Visitor (to museum)—Did you see that man dining on carpet tacks and nails and things!

Punishment. Mamma (warningly)—A little girl who was jumping rope dropped dead. Little Daughter—Was it on Sunday—Good News.

Everybody knows what this, and that is the reason they go to Heltenbrand's for that pure ice cream soda.
