

HOT WEATHER.

Watson, of Georgia, Says Congress are a Drunken Lot.

Hot Spell Broken.
ST. PAUL, July 29.—Specials covering the stretch of territory from Montana to Iowa show the hot spell is broken. The temperature fell 20 degrees in as many minutes as it had risen in as many minutes at many points in Iowa and points northward. At Great Falls, Mont., the mercury dropped 20 degrees in five minutes with frost. In Iowa the fall in temperature was accompanied by a heavy rain.

Cooler.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 29.—The temperature has fallen twenty-four degrees since noon.

Bather Hard on Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—At the opening of the house, Watson, of Georgia, was taken to task for stating in a campaign pamphlet that drunken members reel through the aisles and drunken members speak on grave issues. Watson declared that every word in the pamphlet was literally true and he was ready to defend every word. He denied the use to punish him. The incident created much excitement but members contented themselves with hissing Watson. Finally Boatner introduced a resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate and report on Watson's charges, which was adopted. The house then resumed consideration of the works farm amendments to the sundry civil bill, and filibustering by the opponents began again, led by Cummings, of New York.

No change in the situation at 3:30 p. m. No prospect of cessation of filibustering.

Horrible Russian Murder.

LONDON, July 29.—Another terrible murder story comes from Russia. A band of robbers entered the house of a Jewish inn-keeper in search of plunder. They killed the father, mother and five daughters, then found another daughter hidden away, and after forcing her to confess where the family savings were hidden, stabbed her repeatedly in the body.

From Pulpit to Race Track.

FORT MOORE, July 29.—The Rev. Mr. Tyrell, the Methodist preacher, who offered to whip a man for doubting the accuracy of his timing on a horse race, has handed in his resignation to the presiding elders. It was promptly accepted. Mr. Tyrell announces his intention of going into the business of horseracing.

Loss by Homestead Strikers.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—It is estimated the loss on account of Homestead strike so far is over a million dollars. Strike is seriously affecting business in town as many merchants have not the capital to grant long credits. One groceryman failed this morning. Non-union men are receiving many threatening letters.

McKinley in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Governor McKinley arrived here yesterday on his way to Madison, Wis., where he is to take part in a joint political debate this afternoon. The name of his opponent is not known here.

Telephone Girls on a Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 29.—All the girls employed in the Central Telephone Exchange struck yesterday against obnoxious rules. Telephoning is at a standstill.

Only Leaders to be Tried.

LARAMIE, Wyo., July 29.—There are the best reasons for believing the cases against 35 of the 43 cattlemen who invaded Johnson county, will be dismissed and only organizers and leaders of raid tried.

Terrific Wind Storm.

DELL RAPIDS, S. D., July 29.—Wednesday afternoon a terrific wind storm, rain and hail swept over this section of the country, leaving destruction in its track. Barley harvest was in progress at the time. Thousands of acres are laid waste.

Will be Brought Back.

PORTLAND, July 29.—George Prescott who is under indictment for Peasey and who forfeited his bond will be brought back here for trial.

Considerable Rain.

DUBLINGTON, Iowa, July 29.—24 waves reached here this morning. Temperature has fallen 20 degrees with considerable rain.

Iams Will Bring Suit.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—Private Secretary Iams today announced that he will bring suit for $10,000 damages against the Reading combine.

Exonerated the Officials.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 29.—The coroner today exonerated Clack county officials from all blame in connection with the suicide of the murderer of Mamie Monday for Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The House adjourned today for the sixth day of the session. The session will resume Monday.

KNOCKING DOWN.

Portland Streetcar Conductors in Jail.

PORTLAND, July 29.—For a long time past George B. Markle has been aware that certain conductors, both on the 2d and Washington street electric car lines, have been systematically robbing the company, and steps were taken to fasten the crime on the guilty one.

Yesterday ten conductors were arrested by the city detectives, five from each line. Joe Allison, Louis Oppman, R. E. Frazier, J. M. Beckley and R. B. Jacobs, of the Washington street line, were arrested by Detectives Griffin and Holsapple, while Day and Simmons took J. M. Atkins, S. E. DeLoet, R. H. Turnbull, J. F. Dean and Peafe into custody.

The men arrested on the Washington street line are confined in the city jail, while those from the 2d street road occupy separate cells in the county jail. They are all in solitary confinement, and no one is allowed to see them.

Mr. Markle was seen yesterday and made the appended statement to a reporter:

"We have known for a long time that we were being robbed right and left by the employees. Some months ago we commenced to gather evidence against the suspected conductors, and we find that we have been losing on an average of $4000 a month through the dishonesty of our employees.

"We now have evidence most conclusive against ten men, and they are under arrest. We have many more spotted, but the men arrested are the ones who, we think, have been doing the most robbing, and so we are going to make an example of them."

A number more conductors were arrested yesterday afternoon, making twenty-one. The companies have been gathering evidence against the conductors for the past six months. The main loss has been at 2d and Washington streets, where passengers are transferred from one line to another. Here conductors manipulated transfers to their own advantage.

State Troops Leaving.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—A carload of non-union men came in from Cincinnati this morning. At Belair a crowd of strikers' sympathizers tried to get into the car, but being unable to do so, they were turned back. The men were being taken to quarters provided by the Amalgamated association. Last evening a number of strikers boarded a coal train on the Mackey road, passed through the Carnegie works, and hurled lumps of coal at non-union men. Orders were issued to the provost guard to prevent such occurrences.

Charleston Going to Peru.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The Southern Pacific station, which has been without a ship since the late Chilean trouble, is soon to be represented by the United States steamer Charleston, and soon it is thought the Southern Pacific station will have headquarters at Callao, Peru, will be permanently established. The immediate cause of the orders, which have just been issued for the Charleston to proceed to Peru, is the unstable condition of affairs between Chile and Peru. She was selected for this service at the request of the state department upon the representation of our minister at Lima, who thinks it advisable that there should be at least one ship in southern waters at the present time. The Charleston is now en route from Puget Sound to Mare Island, where the damages caused by the fire will be repaired, and the vessel put in good condition before her departure for Peru.

Punishment of Iams.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—Private Secretary Iams today announced that he will bring suit for $10,000 damages against the Reading combine.

An Attempt to Force Men.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—A train passed through here yesterday carrying fifty-six men from Cincinnati to work in the Carnegie mill at Homestead. Before they reached their destination, however, a riot occurred. The men had not been told that their destination was Homestead, and when they made the discovery a break was made to get away. The guards charged the men and attempted to prevent their making their escape, and a riot ensued in which twenty men were more or less injured.

Chemical Works Blown Up.

ORANGE, N. J., July 29.—The Crane chemical works at Springfield were blown up about 8 o'clock last night, and several buildings of the plant shattered. A number of employees' houses in the vicinity were blown down and a number of persons slightly injured. One man is missing. The shock was tremendous; the vibrations being felt in this city, four miles away.

FROM HOMESTEAD.

Fully 700 Men Employed at Carnegies.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—The Carnegie company has prepared a scale for Union mills and Beaver Falls plant which the new men or the former men who return will be required to sign. Wages will be the same as the amalgamated, but no association will be recognized. At the Homestead plant the force has steadily increased. An Associated Press representative went through yesterday and found fully seven hundred men at work. Three heavy plates were rolled between his eyes, and seemingly with ease. Work is being specially directed on naval contracts. Superintendent Potter says they have all the laborers and yard men they want, and that it is astonishing how rapidly some of the new men are learning the work which the strikers asserted could not possibly be done by even skilled workmen, because they had no knowledge of machinery.

Counsel for the strikers stated this evening that the proposed suits against Erick, Potter, and Levey, for conspiracy, have been temporarily abandoned, and nothing will be done until Erick has recovered.

The police do not expect any more arrests of anarchists at present. Inspector McReilly said the matter had been taken up by the police authorities all over the United States, and anarchists are being watched. The matter has aroused the country, and the police of each city has decided to find out just how strong the anarchists are. No one here had any idea of the number there were here. It is reported that Jones and Laughlin, of the American Iron works, have decided to take issue with the Amalgamated association. The works are among the largest in the country, and employ 3,500 men.

THE HOP MARKET.

CHANCES ARE GOOD FOR HIGH PRICES THIS YEAR.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—William Darby, a hop-buyer for Bass & Co., of Burton-on-Trent, England, probably the largest brewers in the world, said yesterday: "I don't know where we are to get our hops this year. For many years the county of Kent has been the chief point of hop production in England, but except last year, when the crop was very large, the yield has become steadily smaller, compelling us to use hops grown in Germany and other countries in northern Europe. American hops contain a larger percentage of extract than the European variety, but until quite recently they were carelessly cured and badly packed, and consequently sold for far less than they would had proper care been exercised. This year the English and German hop crops are a failure, owing to too much heat early in the growth of the plant, and then wet weather just as the blossoms came. The hop loss, too, after an absence of a year or two, reappeared, so that the crop this year is the smallest for some years. In the Eastern states the intensely hot weather that has prevailed for weeks has done much damage, while in Eastern Oregon, where some of the best hops in the country are grown, the cold, dry weather of the last few weeks has greatly retarded the growth and development of the plant. I expect to see higher prices for hops than have ruled for some years."

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS.

The Denver Club of Pennsylvania in Oregon.

PORTLAND, July 29.—The Denver club, 150 strong, representing the club and flower of the Knights Templars of Pennsylvania, arrived here at 7:30 o'clock in their special train over the Northern Pacific road, and were received by a reception committee consisting of D. C. McKee, P. S. Malcolm, the president officer of the local Knights Templars, Oregon commandery, and were conveyed in carriages to the Hotel Portland, where they are now stopping.

At the hotel the party was served breakfast, and then an informal reception of the ladies was held in the parlors of the Portland during the morning, the wives of the local members acting as a reception committee. At 2 o'clock carriages were procured and the visitors driven over the city. Last evening a reception was held at the Masonic hall from 8 to 10 o'clock. P. S. Malcolm, the president officer of the local Scottish rite, and T. McF. Patton delivered addresses of welcome, and other prominent members of the order assisted in entertaining the guests.

The visitors are members of the Denver club of Philadelphia, a social organization composed of the different commanderies of Knights Templars in the state of Pennsylvania. The club was organized January 1, 1890, to attend the 25th triennial convocation of the grand encampment, Knights Templars of the United States, to be held in Denver, August 9, 1892. The party comprises fifty-four ladies, over a dozen children and over four score gentlemen, making 150 in all.

Refused Bail.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—On the hearing of Sylvester Critchlow, one of the Homestead strikers, yesterday for release on bail, several witnesses swore they saw Critchlow load and fire a gun at the barges. Judge Magee refused to admit him to bail, on the ground that his acts were close to murder in the first degree. His attorneys claim he was not there.

Finsley and Pirock, the suspected anarchists, were released yesterday. There was no evidence against them. The authorities say the anarchists are thoroughly frightened.

A deputy sheriff is scouring Homestead to arrest the men against whom warrants are out. Most of them have disappeared. Three anarchists gained admission to the mill some days ago, but were discovered distributing anarchistic literature, and driven out. Officers are hunting for them, but they have disappeared.

The Fairbairn Plan a Failure.

ST. PAUL, July 29.—The famous Fairbairn plan for which Archibald Fairbairn went to Rome to fight has proved a failure at Stillwater, Minn. It is announced that St. Michael's parish of that city, which has been directed the past year under the new plan, will conduct its schools as parochial this year.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

It is the best remedy for Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, and all the sudden Throat and Lung Troubles to which young people are subject. Keep this medicine in the house. Hon. C. Edwards Lester, late U. S. Consul to Italy, and author of various popular works, writes:—

"With all sorts of exposure, in all sorts of climates, I have never, to this day, had any cold nor any affection of the throat or lungs which did not yield to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral within 24 hours. Of course I have never allowed myself to be without this remedy in all my voyages and travels. Under my own observation, it has given relief to a vast number of persons; while in acute cases of pulmonary inflammation, such as whooping cough, and in children, life has been preserved through its effects. I recommend its use in light and frequent doses. Properly administered, in accordance with your directions, it is a priceless blessing in any house."

No one was present at the time they fell in, but it is supposed they were playing on the logs, as is the custom. They were all near the ages of 7 and 8 years.

WOMEN AS EQUESTRIANS.

They Learn the Art of Riding More Easily Than Men.

"Women learn to ride a horse more quickly and more easily than men," said a riding master to me a short time since. "Why that should be so I cannot exactly tell, but my impression has always been that they acquire anything more readily than the opposite sex, possibly because they give more undivided attention to whatever they are engaged at. Very often a lady will become a fair rider with only fifteen or twenty lessons, whereas a man after twenty-five or thirty lessons will sometimes know less of the art of equitation at the end than he did at the beginning."

"Easiest of all to teach are children, who frequently get a fair seat and a pretty good notion of riding in eight or ten lessons. With riding it is somewhat as with swimming—in youth it is learned with much less effort and is never afterward forgotten. The grown person who has understood in childhood how to manage a horse is always at home on the back of such an animal, though many years have elapsed since mounting one."

"The most difficult persons to instruct in the art of riding are those who have been at home in the saddle all their lives, having been accustomed to horses in rural parts or on the plains. They think they know it all, but the only thing they understand is how to gallop. Of the mode of equitation proper for parks and the avenues of a city they have no notion whatever. They are harder to teach than if they had never sat in a saddle before, because they have to begin by unlearning most of what they know. In this respect riding is like dancing, for a dancing master will tell you that the hardest part of the work is to make his pupils relinquish the wrong steps and style which they are apt to have previously acquired. It is almost impossible in many cases to induce individuals who have been used to riding to shorten their stirrups and adopt the correct method for the English saddle. Of course the English style of riding is the only proper one from the point of view of fashion. Even the French have imitated it closely."

"It is always an important matter that rider and horse should be suited to each other. For example, a short and stout man finds a big round-barreled beast a very uncomfortable mount, because his grip in the saddle is only from the thigh to the knee, whereas the tall and thin man has a grip from thigh to calf. Accordingly, the latter should have the big bodied animal, while the former should bestride a slim and well bred horse. Grace and elegance in riding are to a great extent dependent on the individual; no amount of training will render a clumsy person graceful on horseback or on foot. In one way women are harder on horses than men, because their weight is not so evenly distributed. On the other hand, men average at least thirty pounds heavier and ride faster, but they exercise better judgment as to gait. A woman through sheer ignorance will sometimes spoil a horse."

—New York Letter.

A Queer Legend of Talled Men.

When a native Hollander wants to show his hatred for an Englishman he simply refers to him as a "steert man"—in other words, "the man with a tail." The legend says that Thomas a Becket cursed the Kentishmen who spitefully cut off the tail of his horse while he was riding the animal through the country, and that the entire generation of Kent which followed wore tails like those of horses. John Bale, Edward VI's bishop of Ossory, mentions the legend, but gives some variations in the cause of the ignoble punishment. He says John Capgrave and Alexander of Essey sayeth that "for casting fyshes tayles at St. Augustine, Dorsetshire men had tayles ever after that."

But Polydorus applies it to Kentish men at Stroud, by Rochester, "for cutting off Thomas Becket's horse's tail." One account says that only the cure was "afflicted with large, drooping tayles, like brutes; their posterity being not so affected."—St. Louis Republic.

The Thing to Do.

A pathetic story was told me about two little children who with their father and mother live in Lake View. The head of the family had been too earnest a worshiper at the shrine of Bacchus. He came home in a somewhat merry condition, whereat the wife entered a solemn protest. One word led to another and in a short time a first grade domestic broil had burst upon the ordinarily quiet household. The mother left the house indignant. The father also left. Thus the two little children were alone and, after crying one another for awhile with tears flowing from the tear bags, the little girl dropped upon her knees with the remark, "Brother, isn't it about time for us to pray?"—Chicago Post.

When Judgment is Necessary.

Good judgment is very valuable in the care of babies. Common sense will dictate whether to pursue an aggressive course and choke the child until it can cry no longer, or a policy of masterly inactivity and let it yell in peace.—Detroit Tribune.
